

Nursing Home Folks Enjoy Flower Show

On Wednesday, March 22nd, a group of patients from the Chetwynde Nursing Home visited the annual Flower Show in Boston. Mrs. Catherine Baptie, Mrs. Lillian Gilliland, Mrs. Atilla DeBenedictis, Miss Eileen O'Connor, Miss Catherine Cohen and Mrs. Helen Irving enjoyed the beauty of the exhibits. Mrs. Georgia Daniels, whose father is at the Chetwynde, Mrs. Beverly Harmon, nurse at Chetwynde and Miss Carole Berns, Activities Director, accompanied the patients.

Danger In Simple Solutions Parents Warned At Lecture

"You can't raise kids with a cookbook, there is a danger in simplistic solutions. The art of parenthood is to take the opinion and teaching of the experts, meld it with your own ideas and decide for yourself," Dr. Joseph Sabbath, parent, and child psychiatrist spoke on the question, "Do We Need New Guidelines for Adolescents?" in a recent lecture at the Mental Health Association. Dr. Sabbath went on to say that the adolescent tasks of growing up are to deal with their drives and learn how to resolve them instead of revolting.

In the context of an over exploited, stimulated, and aggressive world they are trying to tell us something, adults feel alienated and adolescents dramatize it. Sometimes parents feel they want to destroy all our values and standards when what they really want to do is to test our faith in our values, we must be willing to set limits and define boundaries.

Don't pull rank in arguments, there is a difference between arguing and disparaging, try really listening and not over reacting or over identifying. We have more resources if we lose an argument, to understand is not to excuse. Adolescence is a rough time but we need not remove all the rocks. Many Newton kids need help overcoming the eroding effects of affluence. They can learn a lot on a job and sometimes you get free samples, he said. Dr. Sabbath has a daughter who works in a bakery.

Dr. William Stone, chief psychiatrist at the Newton Guidance Clinic, and the moderator, answered a parent who asked at what age a child can handle explicit sex information. He said that children are being flooded with too much information and this takes sex out of context. It is not a separate subject except for the purely anatomical. One must respect the right to discovery and the sharing of information with peers. By the time he can understand what you explain to him he already knows, and by the same reasoning you can't teach youngsters what physical love is all about when they are not there yet. The best sex education is living in a home with parents who love each other, he stated.

Many parents asked questions and participated in the discussion. Some of their concerns were: how to avoid a confrontation, the effects of more permissiveness in the schools, and the use of drugs. Dr. Sabbath was opposed to the recent legalization of marijuana for young people, saying we must be child advocates and although it has not been proven bad, what is good about it?

The final lecture in the series will be presented, Wednesday, April 12, at 8:15 p.m. at 64 Eldredge St., Newton Corner. The title is, "The Changing Adolescent Scene" presented by Rev. David Parichini and moderated by Mr. James Elkind, M.S.W. Free and open to all.

Rate of Growth
An average child grows more rapidly in the summer months and most slowly during the winter months.

Nursery School Teachers Hear Mrs. Burres

Guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Newton Nursery Teachers at the First Church Nursery School in Newton Centre was Mrs. Mary Burres, Learning Disabilities Coordinator at Massachusetts General Hospital and teacher at the Meeting Street School in Providence, R.I., for handicapped children.

The interesting and informative film on Early Identification of Learning Handicaps of Pre-School Children and Interviews with Parents was followed by a discussion of diagnosis and follow-up treatment including parental involvement. Mrs. Burres held a lively question and answer period following her lecture.

A coffee hour followed this pertinent and important meeting.

to solicit in the city must apply for an identification badge which will serve to identify them to Newton residents as legitimate representatives.

Alderman Matthew Jefferson, speaking in opposition to the ordinance, told the board that he did not like the idea of imposing a yearly $5 licensing fee.

He said the fee would be a hardship on the people who often go door-to-door selling to supplement their incomes. Ultimately, Jefferson cast one of the three votes against passage.

Alderman David W. Jackson said he did not feel all problems were covered in the ordinance and referred to organizations that sometimes flood an area with volunteers that go door-to-door and often argue with people who do not wish to make contributions.

He also said that he did not think burglars "were operating that way."

Jackson voted to approve the ordinance.

Besides Jefferson's negative vote, Aldermen Joseph McDonnell and Edward Richmond voted against the measure.

Action on the construction of dorms for Boston College was also stalled after a debate led by Alderman Alan S. Barkin was finally stopped by Alderman David Cohen's move that the matter be sent back to the Land Use Committee.

Barkin urged approving the construction plan with

Dedicated To Aiding Campaign Of Candiide

A broken-legged photographer with a degree in political science is working his way on crutches each day to the second-story Newton McGovern headquarters to take charge of the South Dakota Senator's campaign for President.

Mark Nelson has turned a recent automobile accident, which temporarily disabled him from his regular work as professional photographer and teacher of photography, into an opportunity to volunteer full time for a political cause. He is currently directing a city-wide canvass to win supporters for Sen. McGovern in his campaign for delegates and a preference vote in the April 25 Massachusetts primary. Mr. Nelson, a resident of Waltham, attended Newton High School and was graduated from the University of Arizona.

McGovern headquarters are on 272 Centre Street, Newton Corner, near the Watertown line. City Coordinator Hinda Magidson has announced that while all precincts are organized for canvassing, new volunteers are welcome. They may report in person or call 332-5996.

Newton Optometrist At Annual Congress

Dr. and Mrs. Irving I. Wecker of West Newton were among the 2,400 optometrists and guests who attended the 50th Annual Congress of the New England Council of Optometrists, held last week in Boston.

the 22 conditions the committee stipulated must be met by the college.

"The neighborhood is being protected to the best of our ability with these restrictions," Barkin said. He said he respected the wishes of the people involved and the aldermen who wished to have more time to study the proposal, but really thought action could be taken Monday night.

After the 15-9 vote to refer the matter back to the committee, Barkin told members of the Land Use Committee that he expected they would have some concrete remarks on the subject at the upcoming committee meeting, so that matter could again be reported out at the next full board meeting.

To Present Play At Main Library Next Wednesday

"Who's Borne?" a play written by Hal Bronk and Dick Power, will be staged by the Young Adult Drama Group next Wednesday (April 12) at 3:30 p.m. at the Main Library at 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

The short play, a highlight of the reception is a situation comedy depicting the confusion that arises when an usherette ineptly deals with a mix-up in theatre tickets.

Jointly sponsored by the Newton Recreation Commission, Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney, and the Newton Free Library, Virginia A. Tashjian, Director, the Young Adult Drama Group got their start June, 1969, as a drama workshop for Newton teenagers.

Other plays previously produced by the group under the able direction of Dick Power of Needham include, "The Mouse That Roared," "Pride and Prejudice," "Tom Jones," and "The Enchanted."

The current play features Raymond Ethier, Steve Rosenblum, Denise Ethier, Claudia Savage, Joseph DePasquale, Eileen Tosney, Eli Polonsky, Amy Teixeira and Terry Sheingold. The Young Adult Drama Group which is free and open to all Newton teenagers meets at the Newtonville Branch Library Hall on Thursday evenings and on Sunday afternoons. The Group welcomes new members at all meetings.

Jobs Increase
U.S. population increased 22 per cent 1939 to 1953 and the number of jobs increased 35 per cent.

Beaver Country Day Marks Half-Century

The 50th anniversary of Beaver Country Day School in Chestnut Hill will be observed with a two-day program on Thursday and Friday, April 20-21.

The program will open with an Anniversary Dinner at The Sheraton Boston Hotel on Thursday with Dr. Howard Mumford Jones, Pulitzer Prize winner and Abbot Lawrence Lowell Professor of Humanities Emeritus at Harvard University, and Donald R. Nickerson, headmaster at Beaver, as speakers.

The following day has been designated as Celebration Day, with a chronicle of the Beaver years presented by alumnae at 9:30 a.m. This presentation is titled "Beaver, Past, Present & Future."

Mrs. Abram Chayes, associate professor, Urban Studies at Tufts University, will speak on "Complexities of Educating Women and the Responsibility of the School" at 10 a.m.

She will be followed by Dr. Jerome Miller, director of Youth Services, who will speak on "Winds of Change" at 11 a.m.

Following a buffet luncheon, a student fashion show will be staged at 12:45 p.m. At the same time, Dr. William Alfred, Harvard English professor and author of "Hogan's Goat" will speak on "Parent-Child Relationships as Exemplified in King Lear."

A dance assembly and a baseball game between Beaver and Rivers Country Day School will cap the two-day observance.

In 1920 Beaver became an educational after admitting girls only for 40 years. The school was founded at Beaver Place in Boston and has been at its present 21-acre site off Hammond street in Chestnut Hill since 1927.

Local members of the anniversary committee are: Mrs. Phil David Fine of Waban; and F. Williams Andres, Jr., Charles Burlingham, Jr., Joseph Edinburg, Mrs. Eugene Lyne, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nickerson, Miss Ann Sargent, Mrs. Frank W. Sawtell, and David Weltman, all of Chestnut Hill.

Dear Sir,
Your confidence in our Salon and your patronage are of the utmost importance to us. That is why we constantly strive to bring you the latest and newest developments.
To serve you even better, we are pleased to announce the appointment of Pat Fronduto to our staff. A master barber and hair stylist, he was associated with the Hotel Somerset for 14 years. Of course, our continental stylist, Monsieur Ignace; our pretty stylists for men only, Ruth and Trudy; our two manicurists, Marlene and Helen; and myself continue to do your will.
It isn't enough to provide the traditional services of a barber shop today. Your demands for better grooming prompt us to have not only conventional services but the latest innovations. We provide a handsome, virile setting, with private booths, that brings out the best in you while you receive the best in male grooming available.
Our hair pieces and stretch wigs are not only custom fitted and styled, but unlike so many other salons, we custom-make each hair item. Using samples of your hair, perfect matches are made using only human hair of the actual color (never dyed to match), and then the hair piece is made carefully by hand. Even though all this time and care goes into each item, you'll find our prices are reasonable because we buy directly from our source... and others often buy from us! We are the only salon in New England that can provide you with a custom-made stretch wig of human hair that is made by hand!
I have just returned from France where I have gleaned from that fashionable country's leading salons the latest in men's grooming, cosmetic and hair fashions. Look for the ultimate and the pace-setting in men's grooming to come from our Salon.
Cordially,

4. Institute for the secondary schools a colored pass system. For example, each student would be issued a colored pass which would match the buses' assigned route color. Students would show the pass as they entered the bus and give their normal ticket to the driver.

This would prevent students from using the wrong bus. It could also be used as a means to maintain conduct and order. The driver could confiscate the pass of an unruly student and turn it back to the school. The card number would serve to identify the student and corrective actions could be taken.

5. Devote an annual issue of the publication "Inside View" to safety. Cover all aspects of safety, that is, bus, bike, pedestrian, first aid in case of an accident and procedure in case of an accident.

6. Volunteer monitors would be welcomed aboard elementary school buses and would be given a first aid course.

7. Sgt. Charles Feeley of the Police Department would be consulted for participation.

Laundry Ass'n Choose Paquin For Year Award

Ernest J. Paquin, Manager of Newton-Wellesley Hospital's Laundry, has been named Laundry Manager of the Year by the National Association of Institutional Laundry Managers.

He is the first from New England to be so honored and the ninth to receive the award. He will retain the award trophy for the coming year, and when it passes on to the next recipient, will receive a plaque in exchange.

The association has a membership of over 2,000 managers of school, hotel, hospital and other institutional laundries representing all 50 states and Canada.

The award is given for service to a local association and outstanding competence in the field. Mr. Paquin's name was submitted by the New England Association and was chosen by the National Association from among 60 names suggested.

Mr. Paquin has been an active member of the New England Association for twenty-five years, is a past president and has held numerous other offices and chairmanships. He has been the manager of Newton-Wellesley's laundry since 1954.

Mr. Paquin, a native of Pawtucket, R.I., and his family have lived at 2072 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls for over the past 17 years of his association with the hospital.

Auburndale Players To Present "Plaza Suite" On Arboretum Centennial

The Auburndale Club has chosen "Plaza Suite", a comedy of three acts by Neil Simon for its Spring production. Theatregoers need no introduction to this chaotic situation. Paul Mr. Simon, whose plays have been Broadway hits for the past several years.

The Plaza Hotel in New York is the setting for the three separate comedy situations. In the first act Karen Nash, played by Peggy Bailey, desperately tries to recapture the romance of their honeymoon after 23 years of marriage. Sam Nash, her husband, played by D. J. Bailey, is only interested in business matters.

His young attractive secretary, Jean McCormack, played by Bonnie McCarthy, is no help to Karen's romantic dreams. Also appearing are Richard Burke and Ken Rosenfeld.

The second act has mod Hollywood producer Jesse Kiplinger, played by John Malloy, entertaining a former sweetheart, Muriel Tate, played by Sue Malloy, now a suburban housewife. Since Jesse is a bachelor, this leads to a very interesting reunion.

Act three finds Roy and Norma Hubley completely frustrated when it comes to marrying off their only daughter. With the wedding about to begin downstairs, Norma, played by Shirley Fitzgerald, tries to calm her volatile husband Roy, played by Bud Lapham, who is not

Everybody Loses

Players, club owners and the fans, who pay the freight for both, appear to be in agreement on one point concerning the major league baseball strike. Everybody loses.

In the hey-day of Ty Cobb, the Detroit Tigers went on a one-day strike in Philadelphia after the fiery "Georgia Peach" had been disciplined by league authorities. Cobb had invaded the grandstand and punched a heckler. The strike ended in one day. It was a sensation. It served to add more excitement to the game.

In 1918, Babe Ruth's last big year as a pitcher, the Red Sox, as they often were in those days, were involved in the World Series with the Chicago Cubs. The two clubs threatened to go on strike, even as tickets were being sold at the gate. The kitty was sweetened. Neither club missed even batting practice and the series went on. Incidentally, the Red Sox won with Ruth as the hero.

Those two incidents are buried in the national game's history. It is part of the sacred lore when there were no ball players with $100,000-and-up salaries... when radio and TV had nothing to say about game dates and game times... when professional football didn't start pushing its way into the sport pages in August... when hockey was played mostly in the winter months.

Everybody WILL LOSE by the current strike. The biggest loser could well prove to be baseball itself.

Road Records

It would be difficult to find fault with the very evident pride with which the Massachusetts Turnpike made claims to being the safest highway in the Northeast in 1971.

Comparatively, the figures on which it bases its claim are very impressive. Its tabulations claim that the 135-mile length of roadway saw 1.161 billion miles of motor vehicle travel during the year. It breaks that figure down to indicate a fatality rate of 1.2 persons of every 100 million miles of travel.

The New Jersey Turnpike which is ranked in second place in the Massachusetts statistics recorded 1.3 fatalities per 100 million miles.

It is heartening to read such figures and it is far more acceptable to the public than would be explanations of why accident rates are much higher.

It's doubtful that those who use the Massachusetts Pike are any safer or more adept behind the steering wheel than those who use other thru-ways. Indeed, many of them happen to be motorists just coming off one highway and/or planning to go on another when they leave it.

Perhaps, the Massachusetts roadway is better engineered than some others. Perhaps, it is better patrolled. Perhaps, it is better maintained. All that is to the good. The Authority is entitled to its bid for public attention.

Today auto fatalities and statistics seem to go hand in hand. Out of the researchers in our colleges and universities seek to distill a scientific approach to end these horrible accidents.

On the approach of every holiday, particularly those of the three-day variety, the National Safety Council and insurance firms are able to forecast to an amazing degree of accuracy the toll of traffic deaths.

We can and must improve our highways. We can and must patrol them well and keep them in safe condition.

However, the major key as long as this nation moves on wheels is the man or woman at the steering wheel. The safest road ever built is no guarantee to offer against the careless driver — the man who doesn't realize the awesome responsibility he assumes every time he sits in the driver's seat.

Break In Sign Dike?

There's a familiar sound to the announcement of the Department of Transportation in Washington that it is ready for a real crack-down on the sign pollution of our highways due to billboards.

For many years, Missouri has been a holdout in its resistance to the removal of such signs. It has been a real tough nut to crack, but now the Transportation Department believes it has whipped that State into line.

The whip was placed in its hands by Congress back in 1965 when it passed the so-called Highway Beautification Act. Under that Act provision was made to deduct an offending State's share of federal highway construction funds by 10 per cent.

Missouri, like a number of other States, with the strong urging of the billboard industry, ignored the federal legislation. Since 1965 only a few hundred billboards out of thousands have come down.

The other day Missouri's Legislature voted to go along with the Beautification Act. The U.S. Transportation agency will pay the 75 per cent of the sign removal costs and the State the remainder. The total bill is estimated at $400 million for the entire country.

However, according to the federal agency, it isn't letting up for breath with its apparent victory in Missouri.

By 1976, when the nation is celebrating its 200th birthday and the Highway Beautification Act will be 11 years old, the task of getting down 800,000 of those signs across the country will be complete. Folks will be able to see the trees, the rolling grasslands and the nearby mountains once again. We hope so.

When the congressional anti-sign measure was passed, a grateful nation just sat back and waited for the long-needed cleanup. The wait has been over-long. When 1976 rolls around, maybe recalcitrant Missouri will deserve a national vote of thanks.

Mann Honored At Masonic Lodge

Mayor Theodore D. Mann of Newton offered their invocation. Greetings were extended by Governor Francis W. Sargent, A.F. and A.M., at the Masonic Temple in Boston Tuesday night, on the occasion of his 25 years of membership.

Wendall R. Freeman, District Deputy Grand Master of the Dorchester fourth Masonic District, presented a 25-year emblem to Mann.

-POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS-

Steady old Hubie, whose hair is darker than it was four years ago and who now dresses much more modestly than in 1968, has been gradually moving up in the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination not so much because of any burst of speed on his part but because his opponents seem to be dropping back.

Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine is still heavily favored to win the Democratic Massachusetts Presidential Primary. He is being supported by the establishment. Practically every Democratic politician in Massachusetts is riding on his bandwagon with varying degrees of comfort.

If all the Democratic politicians in Massachusetts who are supporting Muskie get their relatives to vote for him, the Maine Senator should carry the Bay State. But people don't always follow the counsel of the politicians or even their own husbands when they're in the privacy of their polling places and nobody is looking over their shoulders. Sometimes the righteous independence they exercise is risky.

Back in 1932 the fabled James M. Curley was supporting Franklin D. Roosevelt against the tremendously popular Alfred E. Smith. We were then in our senior year at Harvard and had a job on the outskirts of the campaign.

When the votes were counted, Al Smith won everything that was winnable, and FDR and Curley lost about everything that was loseable.

Mike Ward and his famous legion did carry one ward of Boston for Mr. Roosevelt. But that was little solace because Smith got the delegate votes from the congressional district in which the ward was located.

Curley was sadly perusing a newspaper the next morning wondering what had happened to all the people who had promised to give him a vote for FDR. He came upon a precinct where two of his secretarial aides resided, and the vote total for Franklin D. Roosevelt was zero.

The two secretarial aides were looking for jobs before the morning ended, with colorfully worded suggestions that they try the headquarters of Al Smith.

Hubert Humphrey will not defeat Muskie in Massachusetts. Nobody is likely to get over-excited about the prospect of a rematch between Richard M. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey.

HHH has been around so long that he's like a comfortable old shoe. He has sentimental attachments. Some people will vote for him because there is no one else very spectacular except Governor Wallace's wife who isn't a candidate.

Hubert is being supported in Massachusetts by former House Speaker John W. McCormack, former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack and former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell. He just might make a respectable showing in the Bay State if he gets those curls cut off the back of his head, and he could eventually wind up as the front-runner among the field of Democratic Presidential contenders, none of whom brings back memories of John F. Kennedy.

Seek Amnesty In Cases Of Drug-Addicted Viet Vets

The Vietnam War, which really isn't supposed to be called a war, is the most unpopular war in the history of the United States.

There are no testimonials and tributes such as were held for the great heroes of the wars that went before.

It's almost as if these men did something wrong when they enlisted or allowed themselves to be drafted and followed orders that they go out and fight for their country.

Regardless of what you may think of the war in Vietnam, what did these men do that they should not have done?

Yet men have come home from Vietnam, suffering from varieties of wounds, maimed and crippled for life, both legs shot off, who have been treated with less consideration than has been expressed for deserters who fled to Sweden or Canada to escape service.

Some of those wounded veterans came back to the State House the other day to testify on a bill that would give them amnesty on crimes they committed while under the influence of drugs to which they had become addicted while serving in Vietnam.

Some hardened reporters had trouble keeping back the tears, particularly those who had gone off to fight their country's wars.

One veteran addressed the legislative committee from a wheelchair. He had lost both legs when he stepped on a Viet Cong booby trap.

Testimony brought out that the legless serviceman had been given morphine, demerol and other drugs to relieve his pain. Before his discharge from the service he had become addicted to those drugs.

Some months after his return to civilian life, he was arrested on drug charges. His case is still pending in court.

Spokesmen for the Viet veterans pointed out that the servicemen who were alcoholics when they returned from World War II were cared for. They have a point.

They are asking that offenses committed by Vietnam veterans who were drug addicted be wiped out and the slates cleaned. That leaves the very obvious danger that the same veterans will commit the same offenses again and that the public will not be properly protected.

But do we really have a choice?

The federal program for caring for these drug-addicted veterans seems grossly inadequate. The only one who has set up a really adequate program is Boston Mayor Kevin H. White.

A movement is gaining strength and support to give amnesty to the cowards and deserters in Sweden, Canada and such places. Our guess is that it eventually will be done.

But our prediction also is that before that happens the Bay State's veterans who came home from Vietnam drug addicted will also have their slates wiped clean and that arrangements will be made to give them proper and adequate treatment at public expense. They were following orders to fight for their country.

Conservative GOP Official Blasts At Move To Oust Him

A hard-working conservative Republican sat back and talked casually and candidly of efforts being made by members of what he termed Governor Sargent's "Palace Guard" to purge him from the GOP State Committee.

He said he always has been friendly with Governor Sargent, but hasn't talked with him since he held a party for Mr. Sargent after former Governor John A. Volpe resigned to go to Washington to take the position of Secretary of Transportation in President Nixon's Cabinet.

Republican State Committeeman Edward F. King of West Roxbury does not believe that Mr. Sargent fully knows what is going on or is aware that an attempt is being made by some of his aides to purge King from the State Committee.

Under questioning, King conceded that he did not comply with a couple of requests made to him by the Governor's office.

He did not vote for Donald Dwight to be the Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor. In fact, he was the coordinator for State Senator John M. Quinlan of Norwood, Dwight's opponent, in his State Committee district. (Dwight topped Quinlan in the senatorial district by the rather tight margin of 16 to 14.)

The independent-minded King also did not vote for former Representative Robert Hahn, Governor Sargent's candidate for the chairmanship of the Republican State Committee.

King says he has done other things for Governor Sargent, that he worked hard for Mr. Sargent's election over Boston Mayor Kevin H. White and that Sarge topped White by a 2-1 margin in King's State Committee district. That, incidentally, is also the district of Democratic Senator Robert L. Cawley of West Roxbury.

Governor Sargent today is not the same Francis W. Sargent who in 1970 was getting ready to run for the Governorship, in King's opinion.

King directs no criticism at either Sargent or Dwight except that he deplores the fact that Governor Sargent is making no effort to rebuild the Republican party in Massachusetts. He especially admires Lieutenant Governor Dwight.

Two slates are battling it out for control of the

Ward 20 Republican Committee, whose members are elected from West Roxbury and a portion of Rosindale, King says he's supporting one slate and that the Sargent Palace Guard is backing the other.

Attorney Samuel B. LeVine of West Roxbury is chairman of the present Ward 20 Republican Committee. His ticket is being supported by what King calls the "Palace Guard."

King is backing an opposing slate on which his wife is a member.

GOP Committeeman King claims that LeVine's ticket is comprised mostly of Sargent appointees, some of whom until recently were Democrats and a couple of whom don't actually live in Ward 20 but have mattress addresses here.

King considers himself a loyal, hard-working Republican, with conservative leanings, despite the fact that he has followed requests from Governor Sargent's office most of the time but not always.

He says he has been a member of the Republican State Committee for four years and has never been consulted on patronage during that time.

King asserts candidly that LeVine has worked hard for Sargent. "But there also are those of us who believe in building the Republican party from the grass roots," he adds.

The GOP State Committee member believes Governor Sargent's administration has eroded the Republican party. "From the standpoint of the Republican party he has been a disaster," King charges. "We have had the opportunity to rebuild the Republican party, but we haven't taken advantage of it."

He predicts a Republican candidate will be on the ballot next November in the district where Congresswoman Louise Day Hicks will be seeking renomination.

"He might be Senator John Quinlan of Norwood or Representative Daly of Needham; or he might be Tony DeFalco, former Deputy Governor under John Volpe," said King.

King is being opposed in the Republican State Committee fight by Ronald A. McIntyre of West Roxbury. King says it is a contest between a candidate picked by the State House Palace Guard and one supported by the old Republican organizations.

S. H. Professor At NY Workshop

Prof. Ray A. Shepard, a member of the faculty of the graduate program in education at Newton College of the Sacred Heart in Newton, was recently invited to participate in an Afro-American Workshop with 200 New York Public School teachers and administrators.

The purpose of the workshop is to assist teachers in exploring their own attitudes and the attitudes of their students toward Afro-American literature. Scholastic Magazine, Inc. is sponsoring the workshop as a means of assisting the New York Public Schools.

Prof. Shepard served as a consulting editor to a series of Black Literature anthologies for secondary schools.

Bowen Recycling Center Closes After Two Months

Bowen School closed its that it will close its Recycling Center for Papers and Cans last Friday, March 31. The center at Bowen has been in operation since February 7 under P.T.A. support, and has been responsible for the reclamation of approximately six tons of newspapers and magazines.

In announcing the closing, Mrs. Douglas Moran, P.T.A. coordinator at Bowen, urges all residents to cooperate with the City in its initiation of a city-wide newspaper collection that began Monday, April 3. The new program will involve a separate monthly pickup of bundled newspapers at each home. Leaflets notifying residents of the pickup schedule will be distributed by city collectors this week.

"Although we will miss the direct involvement at Bowen," said Mrs. Moran, "we feel that a city-wide approach is the only way to make a significant impact in handling the estimated 20 tons of newspaper that is taken to the incinerator each collection day."

It is suggested that readable magazines be reused by bringing them to the Newton Main Library for distribution to inmates at the Charles St. Jail.

Metal cans and glass bottles can now be taken directly to Clifford Dean, Leader of the Boy Scout Project S.O.A.R. (Save Our American Resources). Mr. Dean's home is at 213 Jackson St., Newton Centre.

Convalescent Center News

The Newton Convalescent Center, 25 Armory St., West Newton, released this year's first issue of its newspaper, the NCC News, recently. This was the first edition by the Center's new editor, Miss Mary Riley of Somerville. The paper will be published every two months.

St. Patrick's Day was celebrated with Irish Step Dancers of Mrs. Maureen Keohane's School in Dorchester.

On Friday, March 24, March birthdays were celebrated. The guests of honor included Mrs. Katherine Bat-chelder and Mrs. Hannah Bennisson of New Hampshire, Francis Bushway of Brighton, Salvatore DeLuca and Mrs. Rachel Flanagan of Somerville, Mrs. Annie Lovinsky of Brookline and Mrs. Evangeline Ocos of Belmont.

On Monday, March 27, Holy Week began with the playing of Handel's Messiah. On Tuesdays a group of students from Temple Reyim, West Newton, held a model Seder and Passover service.

On Friday, March 31, the Rev. Harold Hebele of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton Corner held Easter Services at 2:30 p.m.

Bingo games are held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. A regular Monday morning craft program led by Red Cross volunteer Mrs. Isabelle Irvine of Newtonville is presently making Easter baskets and burlap wall hangings. All Newton senior citizen groups are invited to participate in scheduled activities.

Four Are Named Notaries Public

Two residents of the Newtons have been reappointed by Governor Francis W. Sargent as Notaries Public and two others are newly appointed.

The new appointees are Athanasios Galanis of 281 Homer street, Newton Centre, and Bernard G. Steinberg of 128 Gerry road, Chestnut Hill.

The two reappointed are Ethel Shane Lital of 825 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, and Geoffrey L. Smith of 64 Adella avenue, West Newton. The terms of all four are for seven years. All four appointments were confirmed by the Governor's Council.

On Honor Roll Catholic MHS

Four Newton students have been named to the Honor Roll at Catholic Memorial High School for the third term. Since the seniors are on a special independent study program, they are not included in this list. The names of the local students follow by classes.

Freshman - James J. Barry, Newton, first honors. Sophomores - Edward J. Aucion, Newton Highlands; Michael J. Bradley, Newton and John H. MacAskill, Newton Centre, all second honors.

Young Adult Play Will Be Held At Library April 12

"Who's Bernice?" a play written by Hal Bronk and D. I. Power, will be staged by the Young Adult Drama Group, next Wednesday (April 12) at 3:30 p.m. at the Main Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

The short play, a highlight of the reception honoring all Newton Librarians and Educators who have written books, is a situation comedy depicting the confusion that arises when an usherette ineptly deals with a mix-up in theatre tickets.

Jointly sponsored by the Newton Recreation Commission, John B. Penney, Commissioner, and the Newton Free Library, Virginia A. Tashjian, Director, the Young Adult Drama Group got their start in June, 1968, as a drama workshop for Newton teenagers.

Other plays previously produced by the group under the able direction of Dick Power of Needham include "The Mouse That Roared," "Pride and Prejudice," "Tom Jones" and "The Enchanted."

The current play features Raymond Ethier, Steve Rosenblum, Denise Ethier, Claudia Savage, Joseph DePasquale, Eileen Tosney, Eli Polonsky, Amy Teixeira and Terry Sheingold.

The Young Adult Drama Group, which is free and open to all Newton teenagers, meets at the Newtonville Branch Library Hall on Thursday evenings and on Sunday afternoons. The Group welcomes new members at all meetings.

Sorter-Shredder Suggested For Newton Waste Control

Two professors from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology told the Newton Waste Disposal Study Committee last week that a $1 million sorter-shredder might be a solution to the city's solid waste problem.

Professors Stephen Senturia and David G. Wilson, developers of the process, described how the machine would sort out glass, metal, paper, and other segments of municipal waste for recycling. The process has not been totally perfected but is currently being tested at MIT under a federal grant.

Newton, among other communities, has been under state legal pressure to effect more stringent incinerator controls.

Dr. Senturia noted that the present facility should be operated at a temperature of 1300 more Fahrenheit than is now common.

He also suggested that incineration of the city wastes should be handled by private contractors. The Disposal Committee proposed a potential man-controlled sorting process, which would entail a worker gloving salvageable materials from a flowing line of waste on a conveyor belt. This could be accomplished by a control console, the cost of which was projected at between $25,000 and $50,000.

Students Make The Dean's List At UMass In Boston

Several Newton residents, students at the University of Massachusetts in Boston, have been named to the school's Dean's List for the first semester of the academic year. From West Newton are: Mary M. Bechar of 51 Adella Ave., Thomas M. Hall of 68 Chestnut St., and Linda M. Resnerance of 9 Manhattan Terrace.

Newton students are: Carol L. Birmingham of 15 Montclair Rd., Ellen A. Nollman of 60 Athelstane Rd., Gail P. Smith of 344 Woodward St., Sandra J. Stuart of 97 Bound Brook Rd., John B. Hopkins of 321 Tremont St., Ferdinand C. Freeth of 30 Lincoln St., Agota K. Kondorfelg of 2014 Washington St., Kathleen M. Roche of 99 Jewett St., Suzanne J. Kaehler of 52 Puritan Rd., and Sarah E. Piepgrass of 66 Algonquin Rd.

From Newton Centre are: Nancy E. Shea of 16 Bay Rd., Wendy B. Golub of 27 Maple Park, Joan L. Burnbaum of 354 Dudley Rd., Joyce R. Rand of 40 Greenlawn Ave., Sandra Tannenbaum of 15 Francis St., and Joel M. Wallerstein of 141 Parker St.

Newton Highlands residents are: Johanna E. Freeth of 30 Lincoln St., James M. Levin of 262 Lake Ave., Marjorie A. Hoar of 1129 Beacon St., and Deborah J. Becker of 24 Leewood Rd.

Newtonville youths include Donna R. Roby of 191 Mill St., and Ann D. Farmer of 16 Bemis St.

Also on the list is Charles M. Hopkinson of 27 Williams St., Newton Upper Falls.

Cable TV To Be Discussed At Church Women Meeting

The next meeting of the Church Women United in Newton, Community Concerns Day, will feature talks on Cable television and how it affects the average Newton citizen. The event will be held Friday morning, April 7, at 10 a.m. at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, 1450 Washington St., West Newton.

Mrs. R. Curtis Reed, Celebrations Chairman, and Mrs. David Dwyer, Chairman of the Day, announce that the speaker will be John W. Walker, who will present "The Wired Community - Communication in the Future."

Mr. Walker, an ordained minister of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) and currently a post-graduate student in Boston University's School of Public Communication, is working on a special research project on Cable TV and videocassettes with the Rev. T.C. Whitehouse, Coordinator of Communications for the Massachusetts Council of Churches.

Mr. Walker will explain the probable impact of CATV on the average man and woman in the future. Since Newton is presently considering Cable TV on a city-wide basis, this topic should be of concern and interest to all Newton citizens. A question and answer period will follow his talk.

Mrs. Fernand Boudreau, President of Church Women United, will conduct a short business meeting. The Hostess for the day, Mrs. Philip Menelly, Vice-President of the Women's Union at Lincoln Park Baptist Church, will be in charge of refreshments. Free baby-sitting will be provided in the parsonage next to the church.

Grant-

Dr. Garelick is one of 24 physicists, out of a total of 76 young scientists on the faculties of 43 of the nation's colleges and universities, receiving a Sloan Fellowship this year.

The award is designed to assist scientists in conducting basic research at an early stage in their careers when support from government and other sources is difficult to obtain.

The 34-year-old Dr. Garelick will receive research support of $20,700 over the next two years.

He will concentrate his research on meson spectroscopy, the study of sub-nuclear particles that represent matter in the most microscopic form presently known and which are the basis for the force that keeps atomic nuclei together.

His fellowship grant will enable him to spend a year doing research at the new National Accelerator Laboratory in Batavia, Illinois, to study for several months at the European Center for Nuclear Research in Geneva, Switzerland.

Dr. Garelick came to Northeastern in 1969 and has been one of the key participants in an experimental program carried out at the Brookhaven National Laboratory by a collaboration of 12 physicists from Northeastern and four from the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

Results from these experiments have played an important role in the development and verification of present theories which attempt to explain matter in its most basic form.

Prior to 1969 he was associate physicist at the Laboratory for Nuclear Science at M.I.T.

He received his bachelor of science degree in 1959 and his doctorate in 1963 from M.I.T.

At Northeastern, Dr. Garelick supervises a sophomore physics laboratory, a graduate student instruction seminar, and is chairman of the Committee on Academic Standing of Physics Graduate Students, in addition to performing research.

He is a member of Sigma Xi Honorary Society, the American Physical Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He is also a member of the program committee for the 1972 conference on boson spectroscopy, to be held at the University of Pennsylvania later this year.

In 1970 he was a delegate to the International Conference on Instrumentation for High Energy Physics at Dubna U.S.S.R. and an invited guest at the International Conference on High Energy Physics at Kiev, U.S.S.R.

In 1966 he served as a scientific secretary to the International Conference on High Energy Physics at Berkeley, California and in 1965 as a delegate to the International Conference on High Energy Physics at Oxford, England.

Author of numerous articles and publications, Dr. Garelick has recently been an invited lecturer at Argonne National Laboratory, Harvard University, the National Accelerator Laboratory, Columbia University, and the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle.

Dr. Garelick is married to the former Judith Spritzer, of Montclair, N.J., who is now completing doctoral studies in English at Harvard University. The Garelicks have two children, Henry, who is eight and Laura, five.

prestigious honor, and it is the second consecutive year that a Northeastern faculty member has been so recognized.

Newton Chemists At ACS Meeting

Four Newton residents who are professional chemists will play leading roles in the 163rd national meeting of the American Chemical Society when that organization meets in Boston next week.

They include: Dr. Ernest I. Becker, 32 Oxford Rd., Newton, chairman of the Steering Committee; Dr. Edward F. Levy, 36 Calvin Rd., Newtonville, chairman of Finance; Dr. Ernest J. Modest, 122 Andrew St., Newton Highlands, chairman of the Election Committee; and Dr. Jerry A. Bell, 17 Morton St., Newton, chairman of Personnel Committee.

which the matter was being considered.

Alderman Lois Pines replied that "an emergency does exist." She visited the site, she said, "and the operation is not a sanitary landfill."

After suspending the rules, aldermen voted 22-2 in favor of appropriating the funds and in favor of an additional $4,000 expenditure to total of $76,000. Aldermen McDonnell and Matthew Jefferson cast the negative votes.

THE TUX SHOP ON SPORTS

By TOM McCULLOUGH

Bicycling is and always has been a favorite sport. Not only is it an easy way to get places, but it is excellent exercise as the crew aboard the 250,000 ton ship CAMBRIA have begun to discover. The ship is 1,140 feet long — the area of about 4 1/2 city blocks. Since the crew's quarters are in the stern and the working part of the tanker is forward, the men cycle to work especially when they are needed in a hurry. Not only that, but the sea air is refreshing when taken at top speed!

You'll look top-notch when you are outfitted at THE TUX SHOP, 230 California Street, 527-0459. We have in stock at all times the latest in correct attire for formal and semi-formal occasions. We have just added gray pin stripe flare pants to our fine stock, and we carry the new black and white ruffled shirt to compliment our fine selection of colored and traditional shirts. "We aim to suit you" and guarantee a satisfactory fit on all suits rented.

HELPFUL HINT: Rugs should be carefully vacuumed at least twice a week.

Country Players Stage Mystery

The P.T.A. of Countryside School has announced that the Newton Country Players presentation of "Sam Stiller, Private Eye" will be performed at the Countryside auditorium on Saturday (April 8) at 2 p.m.

This whimsical musical mystery was written especially for children by Peggy Simon and Sue Lawless, with original music by John Clifton. "Sam Stiller" has traveled to many areas, delighting audiences. This performance at the Countryside School will mark "Sam's" last Newton appearance. So, if you have not met "Sam," do be at this performance in time to buy a ticket at the door.

Interestingly enough, the cast of seven adults and young people includes two Countryside "graduates" . . . Larry Sloan, who plays the title role, and Susan Perlmutter, a featured role.

For information concerning tickets, please call Mrs. Bertram Krassin, 42 Selwyn rd.

Mrs. Cohen Is Honored By Hospital Assoc.

Mrs. Helen A. Cohen of Kodaya road, Newton, Director of Public Relations for the New England Baptist Hospital, was cited with an award by the New England Hospital Public Relations Association for her entry in their PR Project Contest. The award was presented during a luncheon in Boston last week of the New England Hospital Assembly.

Mrs. Cohen's entry was titled "Interpreter Program" and is a specific approach to establishing communications between foreign - speaking patients and the Hospital's medical and nursing staffs.

In 1965, while Mrs. Cohen was Associate Director of Public Relations for Norwood Hospital, Norwood, she was tapped for two awards. One was a citation for a Special Public Relations Project from the MacEachern Competition under the aegis of the Academy of Hospital Public Relations, an international organization.

Her winning entry "Hometown News," a daily closed circuit television program for patients which featured local news with Mrs. Cohen's serving as the program's newscaster.

The other award was a Certificate of Merit for being a Blue Ribbon Exhibitor at the New England Hospital Assembly with Norwood Hospital's closed circuit television programming for patients of which "Hometown News" was an integral part.

Her many professional associations include membership in the American Hospital Association, American Society for Hospital Public Relations, Directors, Massachusetts Hospital Association, New England Hospital Public Relations Association.

Turf Tips

With winter nearly over and the spring growing season at hand, most homeowners are thinking about fixing up the lawn. Here are some simple tips which can save you both time and money.

Rake up loose debris and leaves (especially if compacted) as soon as the snow is off the lawn. Use a leaf rake. Try not to disturb the surface of the soil more than is necessary. Heavy raking will only expose weed seeds in the ground and give them an excellent chance to germinate and grow.

Do not roll your lawn! Rolling in the spring when the soil is wet will compact the soil and is probably the worst step taken by thousands of homeowners each spring. Ground which is uneven from freezing and thawing will settle back in place naturally when the frost is completely gone. Unless the lawn is to be regraded, top dressing with peat moss or top soil is also a waste of time and money. Before you do anything, why not have a real lawn expert go over your lawn and tell you what SHOULD be done and why?

Green Machine experts look at thousands of lawns each year and have the answers. All surveys are made without cost or obligations. A survey now could save you lots of unnecessary work and money.

Chief Perkins Urges Citizens To 'Clean Up For Fire Safety'

"Clean-up for Fire Safety" is the theme of the annual spring clean-up program in the City of Newton and Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., of the Newton Fire Department wishes to give these timely tips to all of the residents of the City:

"How about fighting pollution in your own back yard? Dried out brush, dead grass, old papers and other debris left by winter can all be breeding places for fire. Now during spring clean-up time is a good chance to remove the fire hazards and help to remove the pollution problem."

"Three Storage Areas of the home: Attic, Basement and closets are the spots where 16 per cent of all dwelling fires start, so give these out-of-sight places your attention during spring clean-up this year."

"A Clean House Seldom Burns; keep hallways, attics, closets, cellars and favorite stow away spots free from fire's favorite fuel; combustibles like discarded clothing, lamp shades, mattresses, newspapers, paint cans, etc. Clean up these areas so you will have a fire safe home all year round."

"Have you checked your home recently for faulty wiring, frayed electric cords and

State Tell Newton To Clean Its Dump

Newton has been notified by the Massachusetts Department of Health, Community Sanitation Division that it must clean up its dump and rid the area of pests.

The notice came following an inspection tour of the dump on March 29 by Newton Aldermen and City sanitation officials. Victor Karalan, senior sanitary engineer for the State Health Department, informed City Hall that another inspection would be made within two weeks, and that "a written citation might be issued at that time."

The inspection tour was arranged following numerous complaints by nearby residents that rodents and cockroaches had infested their homes.

In addition to the state officials, the following Newton personnel went on the tour: Mayor Theodore D. Mann, Aldermen Richard J. McGrath, Lois Pines, and David W. Jackson, Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt, and Frederick Kingsbury of the Health Department.

When rats and cockroaches were discovered at the dump site, Mayor Mann told of beginning a program immediately to clean up the situation.

New state regulations require that a "sanitary landfill" must be covered at the end of every day of work, and permanently closed areas have to be buried under two feet of earth.

Karalan said that the state

Pines asked her 14 remaining fellow - aldermen to approve the resolution because the state legislature was expected to act on the amendment this week.

Her chief opponent was Alderman Joseph McDonnell who said he thought the matter should be referred to the board's Legislative Committee.

"I don't think this issue is as clear-cut as Ald. Pines thinks it is," McDonnell commented.

His subsequent motion to refer the matter to committee lost.

Ald. Pines noted that Nebraska and Hawaii have already ratified the amendment which states simply: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State on account of sex."

A total of 38 states must ratify the amendment within seven years of passage. Once ratified, the amendment would become law in two years.

NEWTON MEN VIEW PLAN FOR ELDERLY — Directors of the Men's Association of the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center for Aged receive in-depth orientation about the institution's long range programs from Assistant Director Dennis J. Magid, second left, of Needham. Within the next decade the Center will spend close to $45 million dollars on new facilities and programs for the aged. From left: Vice President Martin Alpert, Newton Highlands; Mr. Magid, Herb Segal, Broken Tree Rd., Newton, as director; and Joel Suttnerberg, of Charles River Rd., Waltham, also a director.

Thoracic Society Chooses Snider

Six Churches To Hold Workshop For Hospital Work On April 12

Next Wednesday (April 12) the six churches of Newton Centre (Six Bells) will conduct a worship, workshop and luncheon session at the Lutheran Church of the Newtons, 1310 Centre Street, Newton Centre, to do their annual hospital work.

Chairman of the day is Mrs. Seaton M. Woodley, Jr.; co-chairman is Mrs. John Young, both of Newton Centre.

The women of the Lutheran and Baptist churches are co-sponsors of the day's activities. Chairman for the Lutheran Church is Mrs. Roy Wright of Newton Highlands, and chairman for the Baptist Church is Mrs. John Young, Newton Centre.

The day will begin at 9:30 a.m. with the Rev. Robert L. Griesse leading devotions and hospital work starting at 10 a.m. Luncheon will be at 12:30 p.m. Everyone is asked to bring his own box lunch complete with dessert. Beverage will be provided.

Following lunch the high cost of hospitalization today will be commented upon by the Controller of the Newton Wellesley Hospital, Anthony P. Reis.

Baby-sitting service will be provided by the American Red Cross. Those planning to use this service should provide a boxed lunch and beverage for their child.

The clergy and wives have been invited to join with their congregations for the day, but especially for lunch and to hear the speaker, Mr. Reis.

Women organizing the work program from the various churches are:

First Baptist Church, Mrs. John Young, Chairman, Newton Centre; Mrs. Wilfred Esty, Newton Centre and Mrs. Giles Martin, Newton Highlands.

Sacred Heart Church, Mrs. Leo P. Waters, Newton Highlands; Mrs. Adjo Priante, Newton Highlands and Mrs. Stephen Werbinski, Newton Centre.

First Congregational Church, Mrs. George Pfanneu, Chairman, Newton Centre and Mrs. Robert Roth, Newton Centre.

Trinity Episcopal Church, Mrs. Harry A. Raymond, Newton Upper Falls; Mrs. Charles Meeker, West Newton and Mrs. William H. McCabe, Auburndale.

Lutheran Church of the Newtons, Mrs. Roy Wright, Chairman, Newton Highlands; Mrs. Glen Dokken, Newton Upper Falls and Mrs. Robert MacDonald, Newton Upper Falls.

Newton Centre United Methodist Church, Mrs. Charles L. Renker, Chairman, Newton Centre; Mrs. Albert MacMillan, Newton Centre and Mrs. Harold Bailey, Newton Highlands.

Women planning to join in the Newton Wellesley Hospital workshop are asked to bring their own equipment: fingernail scissors, regular scissors, yard sticks and rollers.

LOOKING FORWARD to the National Genetic Foundation Luncheon to be held at Pier 4 on Wednesday (April 19) are committee women Mrs. Stephan Joachim, Mrs. Gregory Thomojan, Mrs. Richard Blocker, Chairman, Mrs. Richard Sundook, all of Newton, and Mrs. Harvey Kawodler of Canton. The National Genetic Foundation, beneficiary of the Luncheon, is the nation's only health agency devoted exclusively to research, treatment, prevention and counseling in human genetic diseases. Local NGF network centers are at Harvard and MIT.

On April 11 at 7 p.m., the Women's Auxiliary of the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center will sponsor its annual Spring Supper Card Party in the Auditorium, 50 Sutherland Road, Brookline. This affair will again benefit senior adults who are infirm, or for various reasons need transportation to Center Drop-in Centers or activities.

A supper will be served, after which cards, mah jong, and scrabble may be played, or whatever guests enjoy. Prizes will be distributed. Club groups are encouraged to make this their meeting of the year.

Donation for the evening is $2.50 per person. Tickets are on sale at the Center office, 50 Sutherland Road, Brookline. Reservations may also be made.

Aid In Fernald School Passover

Two Newton youths, students at Brandeis University, helped to celebrate Passover recently at the Walter E. Fernald School for handicapped youngsters in Waltham.

The observance was held for about 100 handicapped residents through the efforts of the University pupils and Rabbi David B. Alpert of Brookline, Fernald Chaplain.

The Newtonites participating were Joel and Lewis Kazis, brothers; Joel is a freshman and Lewis a junior at Brandeis. In addition, their 14-year-old sister Ellen, a student at Meadowbrook Junior High School, also attended the program.

It's Now or Never Says IRA Leader

The outlawed Irish Republican Army IRA, one of the oldest underground forces in the world, sees the present conflict in Northern Ireland as the final chapter in its fight to reunify Ireland.

"This is the final phase," said Sean MacStiofain, chief of staff of the provisional IRA. "If we don't win now, we will not have the chance again."

IRA leaders believe they would find it virtually impossible to mount such a sustained struggle again or to win backing from a significant section of Northern Ireland's half million Roman Catholics.

Their aim is to unite the six counties of British-ruled Northern Ireland with the predominantly Roman Catholic Irish Republic.

The 'Real' Purpose Behind the current wave of killings, bombings, arson and terror, lies a twofold purpose. The first, the short term objective, is aimed at wrecking the Northern Ireland economy and making the work of government impossible.

When that stage has been reached, the IRA believes British government will be forced to suspend the Northern Ireland government and rule the province directly from London.

Once direct rule from London has been imposed, according to the IRA reading of the situation in which nearly 250 civilians and soldiers have died, it will have brought about the traditional Anglo Irish confrontation.

"In that situation we would expect the backing of every Republican north and south of the border," a provisional IRA leader told UPI. The term "Republican" in the Irish context means those who favor a 32-county republic embracing the six counties of Northern Ireland.

The IRA is now split into two wings. The militant provisionals who claim responsibility for most of the violence in Northern Ireland, and the officialists who preach a Marxist-Socialist doctrine and who claim their actions in the North as "purely defensive."

Sinn Fein Convention The split developed within the IRA over the method to be followed to achieve reunification. It came to a head two years ago at the annual convention of Sinn Fein itself, the IRA's political front.

One group proposed and carried a resolution recognizing the London, Dublin and Belfast Parliaments and advocating an extreme brand of socialism. This group was headed by Thomas McGiolla, leader of 'official' Sinn Fein, with Cathal Goulding, chief of staff of the official's military wing.

A second front, led by Rory O'Brady, a Roscommon school teacher, stomped out of the meeting hall and formed its own Sinn Fein party, which became known as the "provisional" or "green" IRA.

Although it enunciated a vague form of socialism, the Provisional IRA was a physical force organization in the old traditions of the IRA.

Almost immediately the provisionals opened an offensive in Northern Ireland. In a few months it had syphoned off much of the official's strength, leaving that faction only the Lower Falls and a few other areas of influence in Belfast.

The provisionals moved swiftly to grab arms and ammunition already stockpiled in dumps throughout Northern Ireland. They established their own network to channel through additional supplies.

Today, the provisionals have a fairly extensive arsenal of sophisticated weapons, ranging from Bren guns and rocket launchers to 50 caliber Browning belt-fed machineguns, a weapon of extraordinary firepower.

American Army weapons provide the basic firepower of the provisionals — the M1 Carbine and its fully automatic sibling M3 "grease gun" — a cheaper, lighter version of the others used at the end of the last war.

The Thomson Machinegun, famed in song and ballad as the traditional weapon of the IRA, is not much favored by the provisionals. They consider it clumsy, inaccurate with a tendency to "climb" thereby causing the gunman to spray a target.

American Supporters Much of the financial backing for the provisionals has come from Irish-American societies scattered through the United States, although the more prominent societies contributing funds for relief in Northern Ireland have stipulated they must not be used for gun-buying.

In some instances in New York, in heavily populated Irish areas, door-to-door collections have been made in homes and apartment buildings to raise funds for the IRA. Proceeds from dances and social events have been channeled into its fighting fund.

The savage guerrilla war being waged by the IRA today bears little resemblance to the romanticized exploits of its turbulent past.

It is a grim, ugly war. The hidden sniper, the gasoline bomb wrapped in a brown

Brotherhood Antique Show And Sale Set For Sunday

The Brotherhood of Temple Shalom of Newton will sponsor an Antiques Show and Sale, Sunday, April 9 at the West Newton Armory, 1137 Washington Street, West Newton. Show hours will be from 12 noon to 9 p.m.

Forty exhibitors will display over a quarter-of-a-million dollars worth of jewelry, china, glassware, porcelain, furniture, silver, pewter, brass, copper, rugs, candelabra, umbrella stands, paper weights, urns, centerpieces, Early Americana, wall plaques, lamps, primitives, tools, documents, stamps, coins, dolls, painting, prints, collectibles... over 150,000 items from shops and estates. The men in charge of this event are coincidentally all named Freedman but are unrelated to each other. Bernard Freedman is Brotherhood VP in charge. Ellis and Leonard Freedman are co-chairmen. Director of the show will be Sonia Paine, dealer and promoter of major antiques shows.

Proceeds from admissions, rentals and concessions will be applied to improvement of the Temple Shalom sound system, a Brotherhood project. Admission to the show is $1.25 and the public is invited.

paper parcel and shoved in a doorway, the Claymore Mine planted on the roadway, the booby-trapped automobile parked in a public street. These are the weapons of the urban guerrilla. The glamor has gone — a glamor built up by newspaper accounts of trench coats, grim-faced freedom fighters; of a faceless, silent army fighting in the shadows; of crack commando-style units hitting with drilled precision.

Today, the IRA Provisional may be the milkman on his rounds, or the mother pushing a stroller along the sidewalk, or the elderly man pausing in a doorway to light his pipe.

IRA Metes 'Justice' But its changing face has not altered the iron discipline imposed by the IRA on its members. It operates its own scales of justice. To come, it might appear "rough justice" but in teeming Catholic ghettos of Northern Ireland — for the most part unpoliced — it is a form of punishment that meets with approval.

Criminal offenses, such as house-breaking, drug pushing, sex offenses are dealt with by tarring and feathering the culprit. Breaches of IRA security are met by pistol whipping or shooting in the legs. The informer, the ultimate crime in the underground, is shot through the mouth and his body dumped in the gutter.

Contrary to the movie-style IRA character, both the provisional and official wings frown upon their members drinking. It is a serious offense to reach for a pint while on "active service."

Behind the Provisional IRA's determination to wage its guerrilla war against occupying British soldiers and Northern Ireland's security forces, lies an equal resolve to be around when the pieces are being picked up.

"We have no intention of leaving the stage when this is over," is the way a provisional leader explained it.

Named to Phi Beta Kappa

Marsha Howland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Howland, Sr., Victoria Road, Manchester, formerly of Auburndale, a junior at Wellesley College, was recently elected to membership in the Eta of Massachusetts chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

Members of the junior and senior classes are elected to Phi Beta Kappa by the local chapter in recognition of their scholarship and academic performance at Wellesley.

Miss Howland is a graduate of Newton High School. Her activities on the Wellesley campus include serving as a Vil Junior during freshmen orientation week last fall and throughout the 1971-72 academic year.

The role of the Vil Junior is to provide assistance to freshmen in her dormitory. Miss Howland is majoring in English at Wellesley College.

"And this applies to men, too."

Diet and exercise is the answer to the overweight problem in both parts of Germany.

In East Germany the exercise campaign is being supervised by the Communist Youth Organization, unions and factories.

In West Germany the German Sport Federation began a "trimm dich" campaign in 1969 with such slogans as "Walk again," "Ride a bicycle again," "Drive out and walk," "Keep fit through sport," "Sport knows no age."

The slogans often feature a drawing of trimm, a cartoon-type figure dressed in a track suit who gives the movement's thumbs-up sign. Whether all of this campaigning against excess human lard is working or not is still a good question.

Students Named to Board Of Sacred Heart College

Two students were elected chairman of the Interest Committee recently as full voting members of the board of trustees of Newton College of the Sacred Heart in Newton.

The move to grant full voting power in important policy making decisions to students still remains a rare one and represents a significant milestone in the history of Newton College.

The students, sophomore Patricia Mary Byrne of Westbury, N. Y.; and junior Jan Veillette of Waterbury, Conn., ran for the offices and were nominated by the student body. The nominations were confirmed at a meeting of the Newton College Corporation this week.

Patricia Mary Byrne, a religion major, is a dean's list student, a student assistant in the Religion Department, and has served as a member of the Parietal Committee. She is also currently parliamentarian of the Student Senate.

Jan Veillette is majoring in liberal studies. She is a member of the Parietal Committee, a senator in the student government and co-

Pinewood Derby Winners Given Prizes At Meeting

The annual Pinewood Derby was the feature attraction at the regular monthly Pack Meeting of Cub Scout Pack 316 held on March 21 at Clafin School. About 45 boys had spent the previous two weeks designing, building, and delving into aerodynamics in the hope of producing the fastest car at Clafin and capturing the prized Pinewood Derby Trophy.

To the accompaniment of feverish cheering on the part of boys and parents during several run-off heats, during which 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place ribbons were awarded within each Den, the overall Derby winners were: Scott Griggs, 1st place Trophy winner; Scott Ferguson, 2nd place; Ramsey Gilbert, 3rd place; and Ethan Simon, 4th place. The three runners-up were each awarded Cups.

The evening's activities also saw master awarding by Cubmaster Dan Ferguson of badges of achievement to the following boys:

ARROW BADGES: Don Clafin - gold arrow and silver arrow, Robert Shaeffer - silver arrow, Daniel Green - silver arrow, John Potts - silver arrow, Larry Chin - silver arrow, Jon Horlick - silver arrow, Mike Murphy - 2 silver arrows, Jay McGonagle - gold arrow and 2 silver arrows, Eddie MacAskill - 2 silver arrows.

Cubmaster Ferguson announced that the Pack's annual Blue and Gold Banquet will be held on Monday, April 24th, at the J.T. Steak House and urged all Cubs and their Dads to plan to attend this gala affair at which time prizes will be awarded to the top sellers of the just-completed annual Candy Sale and final results of the profits will be announced. Other special ceremonies and awards will take place at the Banquet.

TV Star Grows Up On Screen and Off

By VERNON SCOTT
 UPI Hollywood Correspondent

If you've watched "My Three Sons" since it made its television debut in 1960 then you've watched Stanley Livingston grow from childhood to manhood right before your eyes.

When the series began Stanley was a fair-haired little guy who played baby brother to Tim Considine and Don Grady and Fred MacMurray as papa.

Stanley was nine years old. Today he is 21.

Considine and Grady have left the show and Stanley's little brother, Bary - now 18 - has become a regular cast member.

Stanley is now married to a pretty girl named Sandy. They are the parents of Samantha, 2.

The couple, wed three years, live a short block from Stanley's parents near a sprawling park in the San Fernando valley. Their home is redwood inside and outside with three bedrooms and a den. The half-acre lot provides plenty of room for Samantha to play in.

A swimming pool will be added when Samantha is older. Meanwhile, whenever the young family feels the need for a dip, there is always the senior Livingston's pool a block away.

In addition to working regularly in the CBS series, Stanley attends night school at Los Angeles City College majoring in literature. He is just completing his sophomore year.

When the series is in progress Stanley works from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thereafter he has a quick bite to eat and heads for the classroom.

"I like night school because the other students are there to get an education," Stanley says. "They're not wasting time."

Golfer
 When not working in the show or studying, Stanley can often be found on a municipal golf course where he breaks 100 regularly.

In the summertime he and Sandy pack up Samantha and head for the beach. They enjoy long weekends of camping on the desert and at nearby mountain resorts.

When the show is on hiatus they find time to entertain at small dinner parties - with Sandy doing the cooking.

For 12 years Stanley has been anticipating a long vacation in vain. During the summer the series is shooting episodes for the coming season. When the show does break for the year school is in session.

Thus Stanley must steal a weekend here, a few days there to get away from the unbroken routine.

He is pleased that finally he is catching up with his real age on the series.

"I played a kid for years," he says. "Then for five years I played a 16-year-old. After that I was 17 for about three years. Now I'm a married man on the series, and it wouldn't surprise me if I became a father on the air before long."

Livingston hopes to continue acting, writing and directing after the long-running series finally leaves the air.

He already has directed a commercial of which he appears to be more proud than his acting.

For a young man who has literally grown up in the public eye, Stanley is a self-effacing individual who becomes self-conscious talking about himself. He is happy that the series has given him the opportunity to save a nest egg and provide him with a head start on a career.

Our Lady's Looks To Good Season On Baseball Field

By FRANK HEALY

Our Lady's baseball coach Paul Carroll has started baseball practice sessions with much optimism and wonderment with good reason. "We have a solid nucleus with many returning lettermen, if we get by the first couple of games we should gain confidence and be home free."

...Carroll cited the importance of early victories because of his young squad. "There are only three seniors on the team, the underclassmen tend to lose confidence easily, winning right off would correct their mental mistakes."

The pitching will be a tough. The loss of All-Catholic Mike and go situation as eight can. Green will be felt heavily. ddates have reported but only Green tolled most of the one with varsity experience, games and was credited with

South Spring Season Swings Into Action

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Newton South High's spring sports schedule gets underway next week with the baseball team battling cross-town rival Newton High.

The Lion diamond nine will meet six non-league opponents before opening defense of its Dual County League title on April 24 versus Weston High. South will play a 20-game schedule.

South's defending state champion tennis team will begin its season on April 14, also against Newton High, in what may be its toughest match of the year. The netmen will play 17 matches, including three non-league encounters.

The lacrosse team, playing 11 games, opens up on April 20. And track starts last on April 25, against Lynnfield.

South Baseball Team Will Be Choice to Capture Title

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Last year the Newton South High baseball team began its season loaded with question marks, and ended up winning the Dual County League pennant with an 11-3 record. This year there are no question marks, and South should go all the way again.

Coach Neil McPhee, who has compiled a 33-16 record in three years at the Lion helm, feels that his squad should repeat its Dual County crown and do better in the state tournament than it did last year when it was bombed, 9-3, by Hopedale, in the opening round.

The Lions are strong and deep, with 10 returning lettermen and a great crop of sophomores, and only one if in the line-up.

The "if" is the catcher's spot. Last season catcher Richie Learner was an all-state performer who batted .412 and drove in 16 runs. The likely candidate for the post is Jon Rosenberg, a junior who started for the jayvee last spring.

McPhee has few other problems. The Lions are solid at every other position.

Pitching was the name of the game for South last year.

Newton Community Service Centers Sponsor Programs

Brochures outlining a wide variety of activities for the Newton Community Service Centers summer season are now available, according to Executive Director Anthony J. Bibbo.

In making the announcement, Mr. Bibbo stated that brochures are being mailed to parents of school children throughout the city for the first time in the agency's history. They should be reaching homes within the near future. The distribution of brochures will also include the local parochial and private schools in the city.

Highlighted in the brochure are the popular Day Camp and Kinder Kamp programs; Newton Day Care Center; Western Trip for Teenagers; Nursery School; Job Bank, an employment service for youth supported by the City of Newton; and the Newton Youth Center Programs, administered by the Newton Community Service Centers through the Newton Recreation Commission.

Outlining the various programs, Mr. Bibbo noted that the Day Camp is held on a private camp site at the Robert Sever Hale Reservation in Westwood. Under the direction of G. Michael Gardner, the camp site of 30 acres includes tree-covered land and swimming facilities as well as 300 acres of winding nature trails. Servicing boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 14 years of age, the program varies with such activities as swimming (free swim and instruction), arts and crafts, hikes, sports, cookouts, boating, games and trips as well as occasional overnight camp outs.

Kinder Kamp, located on the grounds of the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, is designed to provide a beneficial and rewarding camp experience for children from three to six years old. Facilities available make this an ideal all-weather camp lending itself to an extremely varied program such as art, swimming, games, stories, music and most important, those activities created from the imaginations of its extremely creative staff.

Both camps operate from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Fridays. Day Campers meet each morning at the Country Day School and are transported by bus to Westwood. Children bring a lunch and are provided with milk. Transportation for both camps is available to and from designated elementary schools within the city.

Other programs outlined in the brochure include two programs for pre-schoolers, the Newton Day Care Center and the Newton Community Service Centers Nursery School. The Day Care Center is under the direction of Miss Edith Babkey and operates out of the facilities of the United Presbyterian Church in Newton five days a week from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and provides care for children 3 to 6 years of age. With health and social services available as needed, and lunch, snacks, and rest periods part of the daily routine, the Center provides an enriched childhood experience, stressing nursery education.

Graduates From Hospital School

Named VP Of Bigelow Oil

Victor A. Nicolazzo Jr. of Newtonville was recently elected Vice-President of Bigelow Oil Company, Inc. of Newton Lower Falls by the Board of Directors.

Mr. Nicolazzo joined Bigelow Oil in 1962, and has worked in varying capacities, including household delivery, transportation, service, and new boiler installations.

He is a member of the Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce, and was 1971 business chairman for the United Fund in Newton. He is also a director of the Newton Boys' Club.

In 1961 he graduated from Newton High School, and attended Newton Junior College and Burdett College.

Mr. Nicolazzo, his wife, Susanne, and their two children live at 490 California Street, Newtonville.

Rep. Mofenson Supports Bills To Aid Elderly

Representative David J. Mofenson of Newton, with several other members of the Legislature, has co-sponsored an innovative legislative package dealing with elderly affairs.

Drafted by the Council on Elders, passage of the bills would, in Mofenson's words, "Assure the elderly that the citizens of this Commonwealth do indeed care about easing their growing burdens."

Among the bills filed are proposals which would establish a licensing board for paraprofessionals, broaden the Medicaid eligibility rules, provide speedy trials for the elderly, and provide State assistance to reimburse local housing authorities for the cost of providing police protection in public housing developments.

Representative Mofenson added that other bills would provide a 50 per cent reduction in gas, electric and telephone rates for the elderly; another would assure that a person's estate is properly cared for by requiring the State to keep a record of all wills filed in Probate Court and notify the executor upon the death of the individual named in the will.

Mofenson stated: "The 700,000 senior citizens in this Commonwealth who gave so much of themselves to build the wealth and resources of this country are entitled to share in the American standard of living and live their lives in dignity."

Local Resident Acquires Corp.

E.C. Hilliard Corporation, of 55 Border Street, West Newton, has been acquired by a local resident, Marvin S. Cantor. Mr. Cantor is the former President of E. Van Noorden, Inc., Boston, a large national and international manufacturer of steel fabricated items.

E.C. Hilliard Corporation manufactures sheet metal fabricated items for the electronics and construction industries and for original equipment manufacturers.

According to Mr. Cantor, several new production items will be introduced into the company's fabrication complex, including extruded aluminum apartment doorframes. Mr. Cantor, who lives in Newton Centre, also served as President of Brooks, Skinner Steel Building Company of Quincy and operates a large New England manufacturers representative agency. He is a member of the Newton Crime Prevention Commission and the Newton Police Auxiliary and is the Vice-President-Elect of the Chestnut Hill Rotary Club.

Named VP Of Youth Peer Relationships On Warren P.T.A. Program

"telling it like it is," will be the day of the week. Warren students will perform in short skits, depicting some of peer-relationship crises they encounter every day of the week. Some skits will be performed live, and others will be presented by Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association, which will be held on Wednesday evening of next week (April 12) at 7:45 p.m. at the school, 1600 Washington St., West Newton.

State Rivers Are Topic At Woman's Cl.

Members of the Newtonville Woman's Club heard Mrs. Roger E. Spear talk on "The Lure and Lore of our Rivers" at their meeting Monday night. The program, concerning the rivers in Massachusetts, was offered by the Community Improvement Program Committee of the Wellesley Hills Woman's Club.

Mrs. Walter E. Brown, President of the Club, presided at the business meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. William E. Bell and Mrs. Richard H. Lee; pourers were Mrs. Robert S. Gaskell and Mrs. J. Herbert Young.

Guest of honor at the meeting was Mrs. Eugene G. Faucher, second vice-president of the Mass. State Federation of Women's Clubs. Her hostess was Mrs. Charles W. Laffin, former president of the Newtonville Club and advertising manager of Federation Topics.

Elected a VP Of Trust Co.

John Morse, Jr., of Waban has been elected Senior Vice-President in charge of Operations by the United States Trust Company of Boston. He will be concerned with computer operations, accounts processing and general services of the company.

Mr. Morse is a trustee of the A. C. Ratschky Foundation of Boston, a member of the Operations Committee of the Boston Clearing House Association, and has been a member of various committees of the New England Bankard Association.

He is a trustee and vice president of the Temple Israel Brotherhood as well as a trustee or director of numerous religious, family and youth organizations, including the President of the Beethoven School P.T.A. He was also Regional Chairman, Central Suburban District, of the 1971 Heart Fund Drive.

A graduate of Adelphi College, Mr. Morse also attended the Stonier Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers and the National Commercial Lending School at the University of Oklahoma. He lives in Waban with his wife, Carol, and their three children.

Local Captain At Langley AFB

U. S. Air Force Captain Joseph W. Chevarley, Jr., son of retired U. S. Army Major and Mrs. Joseph W. Chevarley of 75 Waban Park, Newton, has arrived for duty at Langley AFB, Va.

Captain Chevarley, an air intelligence officer, is assigned to a unit of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat units for air support of U. S. ground forces. He previously served at Osan AB, Republic of Korea.

The captain, a 1963 graduate of Boston College High School in Dorchester, earned his B.A. degree in government at the University of Notre Dame where he was commissioned in 1967 through the Air Force Officers Training Corps program.

Earns A Service Medal From A.F.

U.S. Air Force Major John C. Galloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Galloway Jr., of 124 Harding St., West Newton, has received the Meritorious Service Medal at Kirtland AFB, N.M.

Major Galloway distinguished himself as chief of the structural dynamics section of the Air Force Weapons Laboratory at Kirtland.

The laboratory is a part of the Air Force Systems Command, which manages research and development of USAF aerospace systems.

The major, a 1955 graduate of Newton High School, received a B.S. degree in civil engineering in 1959 from Tufts University, where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program. He earned an M.S. degree in civil engineering in 1963 and a Ph.D. degree in 1968 from the University of Illinois.

His wife, Margaret, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Porter of Salem.

Two Promoted To Head Nurse

Victoria Pratt, R.N., 36 Alexander road, Newton Highlands, and Susan Mader, R.N., 200 Walnut street, Newtonville, have been promoted to head nurse at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Both are graduates of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing and have been members of hospital nursing staff since graduation. Miss Pratt had been assistant head nurse on 4 South, a patient floor, since 1968. She now becomes head nurse on 4 North.

Miss Mader was first a nurse on a patient floor, then moved to the operating room where she now becomes head nurse.

Coordinator For the TRT

James M. Pike of West Newton has been named leased channel coordinator for Tropical Radio Telegraph Company.

A native of Boston, Mr. Pike was graduated from Boston University with a degree in economics. His experience in telecommunications began with military intelligence and continued with ITT World Communications in New York, where he was manager of marketing services in the leased channel area for three years.

TRT is a Boston-based international communications carrier, specializing in telex and cablegram service between the United States and Latin America.

Its leased channel services range from private telegraph circuits through high speed data communications systems between locations in the United States and foreign countries served by the TRT system.

Participate In Recent Dedication Of Center

Five local residents were recently participants in the dedication of the new Evans Memorial Department of Clinical Research building at Boston University Medical Center.

Dr. Roger Lester of Waban, assistant professor of medicine at the B.U. School of Medicine, took part in a symposium on fetal metabolism of bile salts during a series of special scientific meetings marking the opening of the new facility.

Dr. David M. French of Newton, chairman of the Department of Community Medicine at the Center, was a member of a panel that discussed medical-care systems and costs. Two Newton Centre men also were present at the dedication. Dr. Kenneth Brandt, assistant professor of medicine at B.U., presented a paper on degenerative joint disease. Dr. Alan S. Cohen, a professor of medicine at B.U. and head of the arthritis and connective tissue disease section at University Hospital, presented a paper on recent advances in amyloidosis. Dr. Donald M. Small of Newton Highlands, associate professor of medicine and chairman of the biophysics unit at the B.U. School of Medicine, participated in a symposium on the formation of cholesterol gallstones.

Newton Student In Turkey Gives Talk Here

A slide talk was given by Christina Barros, an American Field Service student in Ankara, Turkey, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Walnut Street, Newton Highlands last week.

Chris is a senior at Newton South High who spent last summer living with a family in Ankara, the capital of Turkey. Her family abroad consisted of her Turkish father, a senator in the Turkish National Assembly, her mother, a sister her age, and a younger brother.

Chris was one of two Newton students selected by American Field Service for the Americans Abroad Program in 1971. Under this program students from all parts of the United States live with selected families in more than 60 countries throughout the world.

A.F.S. also sponsors a program under which students from foreign countries spend their senior year in the United States attending high school and living with an American family.

Any Newton family with one or more children of high school age who might be interested in welcoming a foreign student in the future is urged to contact the Newton American Field Service or call Mrs. Ulman at 523-2266.

Technion Meets Here April 18

On Tuesday, April 18, the Boston Chapter, Women's Division, American Technion Society, will hold its annual meeting. Mrs. Louis Roazen of Brookline, Hospitality Chairman, and her committee, Mrs. Nathan Fleishman and Mrs. Max Share of Newton, and Mrs. Alan Gorham of Brookline, are expecting a record attendance in the new social hall at Temple Beth Avodah, 45 Puddingstone Lane, Newton Centre.

Mrs. Sidney Robbins, program vice-president, has announced a stimulating program, highlighted by an address by Mrs. Leo Trager, past president of the Fairfield, Connecticut, Chapter of the Women's Division. Also on the program will be "Soni and Gene," folksingers, whose specialties include familiar Yiddish and Hebrew songs.

Included in the program will be an up-to-date report by Miss Eileen Gershman of Brookline, membership vice-president, on students' activities at Technion. Miss Gershman has just returned from a trip to Israel.

Joint Services At Local Temple

Temples Ohabei Shalom and Sinai of Brookline, along with Temples Beth Avodah and Shalom of Newton joined together for their traditional Joint Union Service on Friday, March 31. The service, which was held at Temple Shalom in Newton will commemorate the birthday of Rabbi Isaac Mayer Wise, Founder of the major institution of American Reform Judaism.

Rabbis who participated in an original service, are: Murray L. Rothman and Terry Bard of Temple Shalom, Newton, Robert Miller of Temple Beth Avodah, Newton, Albert S. Goldstein and Michael Barenbaum of Temple Ohabei Shalom, Brookline, and Rabbi Benjamin Z. Rudavsky, Temple Sinai, Brookline.

Rabbi Sanford Seltzer, Director, Northeast Council, Union of American Hebrew Congregations, delivered the sermon.

Temple Shalom is located at 175 Temple Street, West Newton.

F. Cole Retires From Auxiliary Fire Department

Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., of the Newton Fire Department has announced the retirement of Frederick A. Cole from the Newton Auxiliary Fire Department.

Mr. Cole has served in the Auxiliary Department since 1941, with a leave of absence for military duty in the Navy from 1943 - 1946 and 1951 - 1953. He has served in every capacity in the Auxiliary, the last two years as Chief.

Chief Perkins, in accepting the retirement, notes that Cole has served long and faithfully and that his devotion to duty and civic response on a volunteer basis is most outstanding and highly commendable.

On Annapolis Dean's List

Midshipman Robert B. Shields, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Shields of 116 Oliver Road, Waban, has been named to the Dean's List for academic excellence and the Superintendent's List for leadership ability at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

To be named to both, Midshipman Shields, who is scheduled to graduate in early summer with a bachelor of science degree and an ensign's commission, had to maintain at least a 3.4 semester grade average in a four-point system and at the same time demonstrate outstanding leadership qualities.

He is a 1968 graduate of Sacred Heart High School in Newton.

Gymnasium - "The Making of an Opera," a lecture and performance by mezzo soprano director of the New York Metropolitan Opera and Richard Cumming, composer. Helen Vanni spent two seasons with the New York City Opera; 10 seasons with the Metropolitan Opera Company and 10 seasons with the Sante Fe Opera Company. This summer she will be spending her second season with the Glynde Bourne Opera in England performing in Strauss' "Ariadna." Prior to that engagement in May she will appear in Strauss' "Rosenkavalier" in Portland, Oregon.

San Francisco's "Ville de Paris" Sails Away

By JAMES O. CLIFFORD

The three-masted merchant brig "Ville de Paris" sailed into San Francisco Bay 122 years ago carrying the wines and silks of France to the newly rich miners of the Gold Rush.

The City of Paris has been there ever since, moved permanently ashore long ago to become one of the nation's oldest and most unusual department stores. But this spring it all comes to an end. The store, famed for its imports, is a victim of financial problems of many downtown department stores in San Francisco and other cities.

"We are not bankrupt by any means," said Paul Chauvin, the store's vice president. "But we lost money the last few years and it is better to leave San Francisco clean, without debts."

Shrewd Logic

The present store, which replaced one destroyed in the earthquake and fire of 1906, features a huge rotunda topped with a glass dome with a picture of the "Ville de Paris" in full sail.

The three-masted brig arrived in May of 1850 with a cargo of French lingerie, silks, laces and wine. Merchant Felix Verdier reasoned that where there was gold there were rich men. And where there were rich men there were women.

The logic was perfect and the goods were quickly swapped for gold. The ship sailed for France, this time picking up latest in men's suits and fancy boots. The first store ashore was opened in 1851 and the City of Paris has since known five homes.

Felix Verdier was Chauvin's great-grandfather. But it was his late uncle, Paul Verdier, who brought the store its most spectacular success.

Paul Verdier, also a native of France, opened the present store and turned it into an amalgamation of specialty shops carrying a chic, diverse line of merchandise backed by a staunch reputation.

In its last few months the store, topped by a replica of the Eiffel Tower and flying the French Tricolor just below the Stars and Stripes, clearly retains Paul Verdier's philosophy.

The wine department has 10,000 bottles on the floor alone. "Normandy Lane" is a mixture of small French shops, including books and gourmet food.

Victim of Suburbia

The store has one of the largest collections of French antiques in United States. If you have $15,000 you can pick up a desk Napoleon had made for his mistress. Or a 17th century screen - for $18,000.

"We also have an Oriental rug selection that's among the finest," said Evelyn Aleshin, who heads the department. "Prices run from $10,000 to $15,000."

But, as many department stores have discovered, today's matrons are unwilling to make the long freeway drive from the suburbs to shop at name stores.

"We have lots of mail from people who say they are saddened by the passing of this bit of San Francisco tradition," Chauvin said. "I wish they had bothered to shop here more."

Alien Influx

Net increase of resident aliens in the U.S. during 1955 was 207,000.

Negro College Offering Real "Open Society"

Three men sitting around a Civil War campfire one night paved the way for the college that has been called "the most open society in the nation today."

Those civil war soldiers were talking of setting up a negro educational institution. A negro could even then achieve a certain quality with the white man in uniform but, the three men wondered what would happen after his return to civilian status?

Education the Key

They decided to do something about it. Convinced that education was the key, they began by organizing a strong core of negro civil war veterans who contributed more than $6,300 to establish a school in Missouri.

So it was, through the efforts of the 62nd and 65th U.S. Infantry colored that Lincoln Institute was born in Jefferson City, Mo. It went into business in the fall of 1866, one of the first negro institutions west of the Mississippi river. Lt. R. B. Foster, one of the campfire planners, was installed as the first president. He was white.

The Missouri legislature in 1870 agreed to pay $2,500 semi-annually to the institute as a teacher training facility. For a century since then, Lincoln-a university since 1921-has been fighting for its proper financial position among the other state college and universities in Missouri.

A turning point for Lincoln University came in 1954, with the Supreme Court's integration decision. Lincoln immediately integrated-in reverse.

Now, the entire composition of campus life has changed. The school's area of service is completely different than at its beginning. Before 1954, most of the students came from metropolitan areas and entered the school because they could not get into the University of Missouri, just 30 miles away. The enrollment was about 700 when integration came. Since then, it has more than tripled.

While the impact of the urban student on campus has been lessened, the impact of the white central Missouri student has accounted for a sizable part of the enrollment jump. The student body now is close to 65 percent white.

Whites Commute

Most of the white students at Lincoln commute or live in Jefferson City, Negro students, for the most part, live on campus.

While Lincoln clings proudly to its black heritage, its president, Dr. Walter C. Daniel, strives to make it socially unique. He refers to Lincoln as the "most open society in the nation."

Daniel, a graying, soft-spoken negro, came to Lincoln from North Carolina A&T in Greensboro two years ago. He opposes a suggestion that Lincoln be incorporated into the University of Missouri system, which in the last few years has taken in two other colleges and St. Louis.

Daniel does not expect Lincoln to become a sprawling campus complex in future years. In fact, he hopes enrollment does not go beyond 3,000 students.

"I do not see any need for Lincoln University to try to be three, four, five times its present size," Daniel told UPI. "A lot of people chose to attend Lincoln University because of what it is at present."

"We're not a little elite school. We are not intended to be Yale or Cole County, and we do not intend to go that way. I am looking forward to Lincoln serving the people in their aspirations."

The year before Daniel took over as president of Lincoln, the campus was embroiled in a month-long disturbance which saw a new student union building gutted by fire, national guard occupation of the campus and the premature end to the school year. He knows what he talks about when he discusses the "crisis-related stance." Not only did he come to a campus torn by strife in the three years before his appearance, but he came from a college which suffered through

State Committee Candidates Speak At Ward Seven's Meeting

Candidates for election to the Republican State Committee spoke at the meeting of Newton's Republican Ward Seven Committee last evening (April 5) at 8 p.m. in the meeting rooms of the Grace Episcopal Church.

The four contestants for seats on the State Committee are: incumbents Mrs. William L. Bruce and Joseph L. Weinrebe, and challengers Augusta Hornblower and Robert Simonian. This contest is sparking much interest among Republicans of Newton and Watertown. Also on the evening's program was a discussion of new election laws by Mrs. Robert Kelly, Campaign Activities Chairman of the Massachusetts Federation of Republican Women.

Joining in sponsorship of the event were members of Republican Ward One Committee, and the Newton Women's Republican Club. Ward One Chairman Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Club President Miss Charlotte Thornbury, and Republican City Committee Chairman Julius L. Masow, will participate in the program.

British Advise Tourists Bypass London This Year

By NORRIS WILLATT
London Financial Times
UPI

Advice to many foreign tourists planning to visit London this summer: Don't.

This strange advice - from official sources, no less - reflects the fact that London's capacity to accommodate visitors from abroad during the peak season is giving way at the seams; projections of the growth of such tourism over the next several years indicate it could burst.

As a result, both official and unofficial agencies concerned with tourism in Great Britain are energetically mounting a campaign to persuade foreigners, especially those who have already been to London, to discover the many attractions of the country beyond its capital. They are stressing, for example, the charm of the countryside; the appeal of historic mansions; the opportunities for engaging in such pastimes as golf, fishing, pony trekking.

Actually, the British Tourist Authority, the Government agency with a $7 million annual budget to attract foreigners to Britain, is developing a threefold approach to help relieve pressure on London.

In addition to emphasis upon attractions away from the capital, this stresses also the advantages of off-peak visits to London; and the opportunities to pursue special interests all around campus disorders at the same time.

Social Experiment
Now, he has helped Lincoln through two peaceful years with a mixture of quiet confidence, idealism and an enthusiastic administration. He sees the campus as an opportunity for social development. He regards Lincoln University as a unique social experiment, one of the few places in the country where black and white people learn together and do more than simply tolerate one another.

It isn't claimed that Lincoln erased all racial barriers, but the learning process in social relationships is a lengthy one, Daniel notes, and not a course one takes for credit. The ingredients are at Lincoln, the university's president stresses.

Daniel is fond of talking about a "university without walls." The standard "walled" university, in his concept, is one which teaches the standard curriculum. He sees that part of campus life dealing with interpersonal relationships, as the hope of Lincoln University.

The Lincoln University president believes the public should expect all colleges or universities to teach more than subjects found in books. And he thinks Lincoln is a unique life-laboratory, striving to be a truly "open society."

Also being published increasingly is information about stately homes which are open to the public, and most of which are in outlying areas of the country. This type of initiative also is widespread among private entrepreneurs, who are prepared to help foreign visitors find accommodation according to the pocket anywhere in Britain, from a rural cottage to an historic mansion.

the country, at all seasons.

Unique appeal

At the root of this unusual problem lies the unique appeal of London for visitors to Britain. Unlike the United States, where the difficulty is to decide which fraction of a multitude of attractions the foreigner can include in limited time and on limited budget (or Italy, where several cities - Rome, Florence, Venice - exert about an equal appeal), Britain's culture, history and pageantry are heavily centralized in and around London.

London is where the foreigner wants to be, first and foremost and often entirely, in order to take in Buckingham Palace and the Changing of the Guard, Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's, the Tower, Windsor, Hampton Court. Of all visitors from France 85 per cent visit London; from Switzerland, 88 per cent; from Spain, 96 per cent; from the United States and Australia, 98 per cent; from Italy, 100 per cent.

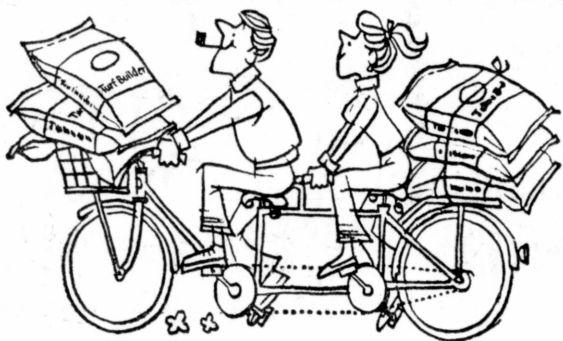

This concentration of interest is creating a congestion as bad as any big city traffic jam. Already, many foreigners find they cannot book accommodations ahead for the busy peak summer season, or are turned away on arrival.

By 1975, when the total of visitors is expected to swell to around 10 million, London - even with the new hotels now a-building - may have to reject tourists by the hundreds of thousands. These people will have to be accommodated outside the Big City, and devote their attention more to the attractions of the countryside.

In the effort to detour visitors from London, BTA, in conjunction with the English, Scottish and Wales Tourist Boards, is aiming much of its publicity at outside-London attractions.

For example, special booklets have been prepared listing hotels and inns which have in the vicinity facilities for golf, fishing, boating. In the agencies' periodical publications they list pageants, festivals, carnivals, centenaries, special exhibits, which are being staged wholesale in the provinces these days. They also publish broadsheets on how to obtain tickets for such events in advance.

Also being published increasingly is information about stately homes which are open to the public, and most of which are in outlying areas of the country. This type of initiative also is widespread among private entrepreneurs, who are prepared to help foreign visitors find accommodation according to the pocket anywhere in Britain, from a rural cottage to an historic mansion.

Mofenson Files Bill To Control The Automobile Repair Industry

Representative David J. Mofenson testified that there is much evidence to support the belief that there is an urgent need for regulation. There seems to be no end to the rising cost of automobile maintenance and repair and complaints of abuse. He observed that the two main problem areas encountered by the consumer are the sets of practices and mechanic incompetence.

With the Commonwealth's current quest for better consumer protection, Rep. Mofenson feels that the legislation would be "one step further in establishing public confidence in an industry that has unfortunately lost much of its status."

He noted that a favorable disposition for the Committee would be a significant advance in this important area of consumer protection.

Rep. Mofenson told the Committee: "In filing this legislation, I have not intended to indict the entire industry. My purpose is to protect both the unaware consumer of the vast majority of such businesses which are run honestly and competently."

The bill, a comprehensive plan to establish regulations in the industry, would establish a six-member board of registration which would oversee automobile repair shops; the board would have the power to generate rules and regulations that make decisions to repair licenses and suspensions.

New Players to Act In Pomroy Melodrama

New faces will dominate the stage of Pomroy Playhouse this spring when the Newton Country Players present a new 19th century melodrama with music entitled "Gold in the Hills or the Dead Sister's Secret." No less than 19 of 31 cast members will be "hitting the boards" for the initial time under the Players' aegis.

The three act swoonfest, authored by J. Frank Davis, will be staged and directed by Daniel Kosow of Chestnut Hill. Acts will be interlaced with a potpourri of oboes, canons, songs, dances and community sings, and seating will be cabaret-style with tables and chairs. Refreshments will also be available.

In preparation for their final showing of the season, the auditorium is undergoing extensive renovation.

Performances are slated for Friday and Saturday evenings, May 5 and 6 and May 12 and 13, at 8 p.m., with an early curtain on Sunday, May 7, at 7 p.m., at the Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldridge St., Newton, with its seating capacity of 150. Reservations for tables are being accepted upon payment of gratuities.

"Gold in the Hills" is a concentrated "thriller-chiller" of style of the 90's in which are piled swiftly upon one another such dramatic situations and heroic lines as made famous in "East Lynne," "Bertha the Beautiful Cloak Model," and many other old-time dramas.

Appearing in major characterizations for the first time before Newton audiences are John Deming, Ruth Deming, Tracy Hoy, Jerry Nathan and Andrew Urban. For five-year-old Miss Deming and 13-year-old Miss Hoy, it will mark their stage debuts.

Enacting John Dalton, the hero and son of the soil, is Andy Urban of Newtonville. A recent graduate of Dartmouth College, he previously played the lead roles of Matt, the Boy, in "The Fantasticks," King Arthur in "Camelot" and Puck in "Midsummer Night's."

Jerry Nathan assumes the character of the father, Hiram Stanley. His previous credits include the principal singing and acting role of Petruchin in "Kiss Me Kate," Tony Esposito in "Most Happy Fella," Colon Purdy in "Teahouse of Ooze," and a number of musical reviews.

Supporting roles by newcomers will be handled by Joseph Colella, Stanley Kramer, Patricia Legault, Richard Legault, Stanley Trachtenberg, and Susan Wolf.

For Pat and Dick Legault of Newton, who essay the parts of Maimie the Bowery queen and Pete the Rat, it also marks their theatrical salves, while for Stan Trachtenberg, Newton Centre, who portrays the blueblood Mr. Vanderlop, it is a return to the stage after a lapse of many years.

Joe Colella of Newtonville will be seen as Slick Steve, a student at Emerson College, he performed as Kit Carson in "Time of Your Life," and as a teenager in "We Bombed in New Haven," both for Newton Junior College. He worked as set construction chief in the Players' last production, "Everything in the Garden."

The part of Chuck Connors will be engineered by High School. He has performed Stan Kramer of Newton Centre, a junior at Newton South High School. He has performed as Jeff Douglas in "Brigadoon," Hendrick in "Pied Piper of Hamelin," and in chorus of productions of "Mame" and "Funny Girl."

The only onstage work of Waban's Sue Wolf with the Players was four cameos in the rehearsed reading of the original musical comedy "Puzzle Girl" last Fall. As an undergraduate at Wheelock College, she played the principal roles of Ado Annie in "Oklahoma," Laura in "The Glass Menagerie," the female lead in "Trojan Women," and involved herself extensively with children's theatre.

Making their initial attempt in community theatre are Chobee Roy and Sandra Porter, as sightseers, and Lisa Thorman, as a saloon dancer.

In Chobee Roy's only previous stage outing, she portrayed Sancho's wife in Cervantes' "Don Quixote." Sandra Porter of Newtonville has never appeared before footlights, but has directed a number of children's plays, including her own version of "Peter and the Wolf."

Fifteen-year-old Lisa Thorman of Newton Centre, a sophomore at Newton High School, has appeared as an urchin in "Roar of the Greasepaint," "The Smell of the Crowd," as Diane Bentley in "Nobody Loves an Albatross," a child in "The Teahouse of the August Moon," and as a dancer in "Amahl and the Night Visitors." Previous stage outings by Jane Yoffe of Newton Centre also date back to high school, while for soloist Sylvia Brennick, Jerry Golden and Irene Ramsey, it also marks their stage inaugural in theatre.

For information concerning membership or theatre party reservations call 969-9737 or write P. O. Box 9, Newton Centre, 02459.

The Churches Debate Investment Morality

By DAVID E. ANDERSON

Barely had the finishing touches been put on this season's Epiphany sermons, commemorating the Wise Men's gifts to the Christ child, when America's Protestants got another message: their own gifts to the churches were being immorally invested.

The message came from the Corporate Information Center of the National Council of Churches. It issued a report showing the boards and agencies of 10 Protestant denominations hold more than $200 million worth of securities in 29 of the nation's leading military contractors.

"The church," the study said, "has placed itself in a position of complicity with the irresponsible, immoral and socially injurious acts of the corporations."

In effect, the report drew the lines for what promises to be one of the most significant religious debates of the year: What is responsible stewardship of the estimated $22 billion dollars the country's three major religions have invested in the stock market?

It is not a new question. Churches have debated it since it first became possible to invest in companies manufacturing or selling alcohol and tobacco.

But it was not until the late 1960's, when the churches began to see themselves as social activists concerned about questions of race and war, that the broad scale of investments came under question.

Until that time the primary investment criterion was pretty much the same as that for any other investor: will it provide a generally safe but significant return?

The CIC report, however, spells out some new assumptions.

"The role of the church in society," it said, "is proclaimed to be that of bearer, communicator, initiator and arbiter of personal and social morality."

"As an investor, therefore, the church is uniquely qualified and called to be morally and socially responsible and to provide leadership and guidance in relationship to the social impact of corporations."

Stressing the role of the church as a socially active institution, the report said the church "has a special opportunity and responsibility in defining and affecting social good which it cannot avoid without contradicting its own purposes."

As some internal critics view it, that contradiction is precisely problem. While proclaiming opposition to the war in Vietnam, for example, the churches have been investing in firms that are producing the weapons causing the death and destruction denominated statements deplore.

Similar contradictions exist between pronouncement and investment in the areas of environmental quality and racism, the latter particularly as it applies to southern Africa.

More extreme critics argue that the churches should withdraw their investments from all morally ambiguous enterprises and to redirect their resources into possibly high risk but, in their view, socially positive projects such as minority firms and anti-pollution projects.

On the other side are those who, in the words of one official, "don't want anyone messing with their pension funds." For those people and frequently they are the ones who make investment decisions - safety and profitability should continue to be the guidelines.

Frank P. White, head of the CIC, which issued the report on denominational investments in the military-industrial complex, pointed out that historically "church investment committees have been composed of top corporate and financial executives."

It would be difficult, he said, to ask these men to begin to prescribe moral sanctions against their peers or competitors - and in some instances against their own companies.

In between the extremes of "sell anything" and "change nothing" are a variety of positions and possibilities.

There are those, for example, who argue that the church should use its economic power to influence corporate decisions - to help make American business more socially constructive.

In the hey-day of opposition to the Vietnam war, many church agencies and religious education institutions attempted to use either the threat of withdrawal or actual withdrawal of investments to stop the Dow Chemical Company from continuing to manufacture napalm. The campaign, which went on to include a boycott of other Dow products, was not generally successful in changing corporate policies.

Other religious coalitions have attempted to use their investments as leverage at stockholders' meetings by gathering proxy votes for resolutions that would change corporate policies. Gulf Oil has been one of the major targets of this kind of activity as churchmen have attempted to bring about a change in Gulf's policy of investment in the Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique.

Proponents of this approach argue that to divest all of their holdings in such companies would deprive them of the chance to at least try to influence company policies.

Frank Sharp, a spokesman for the American Baptist Convention, said, "if you get out, you have no say in changing matters. We are very concerned about this."

Little Influence

Critics of the approach argue that significant as church investments appear to be, they are a drop in the bucket and have been singularly ineffective in bringing about corporate policy changes.

CIC's White admitted that military contractor firms would not be hurt financially even if churches divested themselves of all holdings in such companies.

"The real power and authority in the church is not economic but moral," he said. "If the churches decided to sell their holdings jointly, and reinvest in terms of constructive national priorities, the symbolic effect would be tremendous."

One of the boldest proposals yet - which ultimately may satisfy both critics and conservatives - is creation of the Pax World Fund, Inc.

The fund is an attempt to provide investors with "security, regular income and possible long-term growth" with the added inducement that investors will have their money managed "according to both economic and social criteria."

As a mutual fund, Pax World invests in the securities of other companies. According to the two United Methodist Church officials who came up with the idea, its basic investment policy prohibits it from investing in any of the

Civic Leader Heads Fund Drive For Catholic Guild

Thomas J. White, well known Boston business man and civic leader, is general chairman of the 1972 spring funds. For those people and frequently they are the ones who make investment decisions - safety and profitability should continue to be the guidelines.

The Catholic Guild for All the Blind is the largest professional agency for the blind in New England. It employs over 100 people who work to better the conditions of blind persons of all faiths.

Located on more than seven acres at 770 Centre Street in Newton, the Guild contains St. Paul's Rehabilitation Center which provides 15-week courses for newly blinded people from all over the world.

St. Raphael's Geriatric Adjustment Center, founded in 1965, is the only agency of its type which concentrates on rehabilitating the elderly visually handicapped person for independent living in the community at large.

The Guild was brought to its present place in rehabilitation of the blind by the late Rev. Thomas J. Carroll, an internationally known authority on blindness.

In 1963 Father Carroll, then 100 largest Defense Department contractors.

Instead, according to Dr. Luther E. Tyson, president of the fund, and Dr. J. Elliott Corbett, vice president, Pax World will aim its investments at such industries as housing, drugs, health care, food, clothing, leisure time, pollution control and education.

According to Corbett, such a policy "still leaves 60 per cent of the stock exchange open to us."

According to Tyson, the fund also will give preference to companies with fair employment practices and will not invest in liquor, tobacco or gambling industries.

"We think you should not just fight the battle against the ones that are doing the wrong things; you should support the ones that are doing the right things," Corbett said.

THOMAS J. WHITE

executive director of the Guild, also founded the American Center for Research in Blindness and Rehabilitation with a basic goal of developing wider scientific knowledge of blindness.

To help finance its unique work, the Guild conducts its annual appeal each spring. White, president of J.F. White Contracting Company, has served as chairman of a number of fund-raising drives in previous years for the Guild. He is a trustee of the John F. Kennedy Library, Inc. and a director of Boston College. He has served as chairman of the Boston College Development Fund and was co-chairman of Richard Cardinal Cushing Jubilee Fund.

Red Cross to Send Tapes To Newtonites Overseas

The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross invites residents to make a tape recording to send to their friends overseas. The tapes will be sent at the expense of the Red Cross.

The Chapter hopes that the system will be used mainly by foreign students here who wish to send a letter home, or families who have servicemen overseas.

The recordings will take place at the Chapter House, 21 Foster St., Newtonville, from now through Saturday, April 15, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. In addition, the service will be available on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Persons desiring to make a recording should call 527-6000 for an appointment, and arrange a time most convenient to them.

Each person will have 10 minutes to record his personal message. The Red Cross suggests that persons bring a few notes of what they want to say; if they wish, users of the service can sing their greetings.

All those using the system may also use the tape recorder for messages received back during regular Chapter hours.

Harvard-Newton Sum'er School To Be Held July 3 Through Aug. 11

The Harvard Graduate School of Education has announced that the 1972 Harvard-Newton Summer School Program will be held from July 3 to August 11 for pupils entering Grades 1 thru 10 as of September.

The sites of the two schools are as follows: Lower School at Bowen Elementary, 280 Cypress Street, Newton Center; Middle School at Bigelow Junior High School, 42 Vernon Street, Newton Corner.

Hours of the school program are 9 to Noon, Monday through Friday. The Instructional Program combines an academic program that is intellectually interesting and productive with enough physical and artistic outlets to develop an experience which is both instructive and enjoyable.

The summer program does not replicate the more formalized regular school session. The Harvard-Newton Summer School Faculty has a pupil-teacher ratio of 5:1.

Pupils are grouped by age and achievement rather than by grade level.

Brochures have been distributed through the public schools of the cooperating communities. Other interested parties may write directly to Mrs. Patricia B. Rosenfield, Assistant to the Director, 1972 Harvard-Newton Summer School of Education, Cambridge.

Israel Now Using Camels In Warfare

By PETER D. LYNCH

Israel's newest secret weapons are the most ancient warriors of desert fighting - camels.

Although it is less than a year old, Israel's camelry has already proved itself an effective weapon against Arab guerrillas and Egyptian espionage in the sandy wastes of the northern Sinai Desert.

It also has an important psychological impact. Who would expect to see a soldier of one of the world's most modern and mobile armies loping across desert dunes aboard a cushion-footed camel? The Arabs certainly don't.

"When the Arabs see Jewish troops aboard the camels they are just completely shocked," an officer explained. He did admit, however, that in the early days of the camelry - a joint force of Bedouin Arabs and regular Israeli troops - keeping the Israeli camelry aboard their awkward mounts posed a problem.

"The Bedouins are born to it. But the Jewish boys don't know one end of a camel from the other. They fall off regularly until they get the hang of it," said the officer, who can't be identified for security reasons.

Their correspondent can vouch for that. Invited to ride out with a four-man patrol, I discovered, after a 10-minute trail ride that you need two hands and two feet just to stay on, which leaves nothing left to steer the beast. Also the chances of walking again after an hour in camel saddle seemed pretty remote. The in-itation was graciously declined.

Camels have been used in desert warfare for centuries. Most armies now keep them for ceremonial purposes. But then nobody ever expects the Israelis to do the expected.

Apart from the problem of keeping the Jewish camelry aboard their beasts the officer said the camelry encountered other problems, among them: amorous adventures among the camels.

"A little while back our whole patrol system went haywire, until we discovered it was the camels' mating season. Then we separated the males from the females and everything returned to normal," he said.

Then there was the problem of getting the camels accustomed to the sound of automatic weapons. The officer said at first the camels were apt to bolt, and spread the patrol over a wide expanse of desert.

"It took them some time to get used to it but now we have that problem licked," he said.

The Israelis are working on what they think is their last problem - inventing a better camel saddle. The present saddle, which is more comfortable as a piece of living room furniture than on a camel's back, has been in use, as far as anyone can remember, for the last couple centuries.

"After a three-day patrol on a camel it takes about a week to get the kinks out of your back," the officer said. "What we are working on is a sort of easy rider saddle, with a foam rubber seat and a back rest. We'll have the problem licked very shortly."

Despite the problems, the officer said, the formation of the camelry made good military sense. "Most of our patrols deal with security problems, where you need the element of surprise."

"Command cars, even when fitted with special dune tires, keep on breaking down in the desert terrain and you can hear them coming for miles away. Helicopters can also be heard coming long before they arrive. With camels they don't know you're there until after you have arrived."

"Some people might think we are going backward. They way we see it we are going forward."

Heavy Accent on Ecology For Spokane's Expo-74

By MICHAEL UPTAGRAFFT

J.J. Downing and S.R. Scranton would never believe what they started.

Two years from now the place where they built a sawmill a century ago will be the site of a world exposition dedicated to the environment to which, 100 years ago, they doubtless paid little attention except for purely practical reasons.

The two were the first settlers at the falls of the Spokane River just below where an anticipated 4.5 million persons will pass through the gates of the Expo-74 during the Ecological Exposition's six-month run from May through November of 1974.

The two men had come here in 1871 from Montana, where they had been partners in a stock raising operation.

They quickly realized the potential of the power developed by the falls of the river, one of the largest for its length in the world. The Spokane River rises in Lake Coeur D'Alene about 25 miles east of here and runs westward for about 50 miles before emptying into the Columbia River. The river ranges up to 200 yards wide at some places.

Although there was power in abundance for their mill, the two partners apparently lost interest in the operation because of the long distances they had to haul timber after it was cut. They sold out in 1874 and moved on.

By this time, more people had moved into the area and, in 1880, the city of Spokane was incorporated with a population of about 350.

The railroad arrived about this time and the city grew rapidly to its present position as the hub of the 80,000 square mile inland empire of the Pacific Northwest.

Spokane, at its present size of about 180,000, is one of the smallest cities if not the smallest ever to host a world exposition.

The idea came into being about two years ago when the Spokane County Historical Society thought it would be a good idea if something were done to celebrate the city's centennial year, which was arbitrarily set at 1974.

The society brought the idea to the chamber of commerce and shortly thereafter committees of local businessmen and officials began working on the celebration idea.

From this, George Reitemeyer, chamber manager, said, the idea for hosting a world exposition was born.

"However, it wasn't just saying let's have an exposition and that's that," Reitemeyer said in an interview. "There were many things to do before we could go to the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris for approval of the idea."

An Expo committee was formed and began the planning. Then a site was chosen.

This was Havermale Island, a 50-acre island located in the middle of the river in the center of city.

The falls where Downing and Scranton built their sawmill is located just off the west end of the island.

Since the city is a railroad hub for the Pacific Northwest, there are tracks running all over the city and several of them run across the island. After a long series of negotiations the railroads donated a total of 13 acres of land on the island to the city for use in the exposition and agreed to remove their tracks from the Expo site. Work on this has begun.

Then came the problem of the city acquiring the entire island, most of which was in private hands. To date, the city has purchased most of the property on the island or has contracted to do so. Financing has been primarily by a business and occupation tax paid by local merchants.

With the initial site acquisition and preparation taken care of, King F. Cole, Expo managing director, led a delegation to Bureau of International Expositions at Paris to get approval of the exposition. That came last Nov. 24 and the pace of the exposition began to quicken.

Cole said the next hurdle is to get congress to approve funds for a federal pavilion. "We don't need much from the federal government," he said, "only the pavilion." He hopes to have a congressional appropriation by May "to give us two years in which to build the federal pavilion."

Although Expo-74 is listed as an international exposition, Cole said he doubts very many foreign countries will participate. "If we get four foreign countries to come it will be considered a success," he said. The primary target for the exposition will be North American industries.

Turkey Project Leader
James E. Cardozo and Walter M. Tzikowski, a graduate assistant at the University of Massachusetts Cooperative Wildlife Research Unit, returned from Allegheny State Park in southwestern New York March 19 with seven wild-strain eastern turkeys. The biologists had spent two weeks baiting and cannon-netting the birds.
They attributed the limited trapping success to an unusually early spring breakup of flocks.
One adult tom, two immature toms, three adult hens and an immature hen were released in Beartown State Forest, Great Barrington.

DEER KILL SLUMP STILL UNEXPLAINED
Division biologists have yet to pinpoint any factor or combination of factors responsible for December's disappointing deer harvest. The final score—2,284 (1,385 bucks, 899 does)—was 121 less than that of the previous season. However, biologists are now looking to next year's season with some degree of optimism.
"The mild winter has unquestionably been a boon to herd," said Fish and Game Director James M. Shepard after a recent conference with deer project personnel. "The dog problem has been significantly reduced, thanks to limited snow cover and the exceptional cooperation of town officials in spreading the word to local newspapers. At the same time, mild weather has made food easily available. In fact, the winter of '71-72 has been a 'breeze' for deer all over New England and, particularly in the northern states, has come as a timely gift of circumstance."
"So while we are still concerned about the reasons for Massachusetts' five-percent slump in harvest, we would honestly be surprised if it marked the start of any downward trend in herd size."

WATERFOWL COUNT DOWN FOR FLYWAY
The results of the Atlantic Flyway aerial waterfowl count have been forwarded to the 17 member states by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.
The waterfowl count in the Flyway was down 12.7 percent from the previous year with a total of 1,930,400 waterfowl counted.
Major decreases were noted in scoters—down 55,000 scaup—down 370,000, mallards—down 35,000, and green-winged teal—down 30,000.
Increases were noted in buffleheads—up 16,000, redheads—up 70,000, Canada geese—up 25,000, and black ducks—up 10,000.
A total of 131,364 waterfowl were observed in Massachusetts. This compares to the previous figures of 52,290 for 1971, 100,720 for 1970 and 120,540 for 1969.
Blacks, which have been called Massachusetts' "bread-and-butter ducks," were up 17.6 percent from 1971 but only 4.5 percent over the previous 10-year average.
All other species were up from the 1971 counts and all but the sea duck group were up from the ten-year average.
All major species of waterfowl along coastal Massachusetts were up 11.6 percent from 1971 but only 6.4 percent from the 10-year average.

Lady Lineman Installs, Repairs For Ma Bell

By ROBERTA ULRICH
"I'm not the typical girl who's afraid of spiders. I guess I'm a tomboy." That's how Patty Jo Watson, 22, describes why she prefers being outside as a telephone installer-repairman to being inside as a telephone operator.
Patty Jo's job involves clambering up telephone poles, crawling under houses and occasionally punching holes in walls to put telephones in their proper place. She hefts a 25-pound reel of wire or a 60-pound ladder with ease.
"It's just a matter of balance," said Patty Jo, who is 5-foot-2 and weighs 112 pounds.
The outdoors type
Patty Jo was a telephone operator for a year, then spent half a year stringing wire inside the Pacific Northwest Bell PNB office, a job shared by two dozen other women in Oregon.

Drives a Truck
To Patty Jo pole climbing is strictly routine by now. She even prefers poles without metal steps so she can go up and down by digging in her climbing spikes.
The pert little ash blonde went through a three-week training course, then worked in the field with a supervisor for three weeks before joining a regular crew last September.
Now she is on her own. Each morning she reports for her assignments, then checks out in her olive green telephone company van with a sheaf of orders for telephones to be installed or repaired.
She asks for and gets help only on the same sort of jobs as her fellow workers - such as putting up a crossarm or stringing wire across a roadway.
Her supervisor, J.D. Rolph, said the company has decided Patty Jo may not lift any ladder longer than 28 feet, which weighs 60 pounds.
So far she hasn't needed anything bigger.

Newton Man Named To Professorship At MIT

Dr. Donald A. Schon of Sorbonne in Paris in 1949 and Newton, an urban planner who has made important contributions to understanding the social and technological changes effect society, has been appointed Ford Professor in the Department of Urban Studies and Planning at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Announcement of the appointment was made by Dean William L. Porter of the MIT School of Architecture and Planning. Dr. Schon, who has had long experience in urban planning both in the public and private sectors, has been a visiting professor at MIT since 1968.

Dean Porter said Dr. Schon will assist the School in redefining what is meant by professional education and how it is taught. He will explore, for example, relationships between theory and practice, between planning and action, and between academic content and field experience.

Dr. Schon studied at the

Multicolor High Heels New Fad For The Boys

By WALTER LOGAN

If you see your teenage son tripping around on high heels, don't panic. It's merely the latest fad of the younger generation (male) which is also wearing wedgies like Carmen Miranda used to wear and platform soles like Betty Grable in "Follow the Fleet" (1936).

And it's not just the heels, which are chunky, run up to three inches high and sometimes come in lavender or bright red. There are also big knob-toed Bover boots with heels stacked in many layers of natural leather, and peek-a-boo things made in tubular kidskin like a catcher's mask.

The high heel craze apparently started in Europe and began spreading to the United States last summer. When Hardy Amies arrived from London last Spring to put on a fashion show he was horrified to find American men were not wearing high heels, and he promptly imported some from Switzerland for his show.

The first person to produce them in quantity was Robert Cochran, president of Flagg Brothers, who sold them like hot cakes. Other companies quickly followed.

Now, Cochran said, the big interest is in unusual heel shapes—flared, slanted back, etc. At first they were in natural leather, and then in black, but now they are covered to coordinate with the upper—or colored to contrast.

"With the high heels are platform soles," said Nancy Knox, president of Renegades. "They are inflexible, heavy, hard and expensive and I don't know how Carmen Miranda got around in them as well as she did." Some of the ones she was showing were in such muted colors as gray and tan suede, the new "Ecological Look" of the earth.

"Boots are falling off, although low ankle boots are important," she said. And around the showroom were such items as gray suede shoes with lavender heels, high heeled shoes with thick (nearly an inch) platform soles in funky weights with knobbed toes, brass grommets and thick laces.

Manufacturers agree the trend is toward earth tones but say color will still be around this Spring. Norman Mehringer, the shoe stylist for Thom McAn, put such color combinations as Kelly green and "red onion" in his Spring line. He also brought out an eight-inch white boot.

Alfred L. Seelye, president of Wolverine World Wide, is showing his once staid Hush Puppies in such color combinations as green and yellow, white and gray and red and gray. And he said the tendency of youths to wear ordinary work shoes has pushed sales of work shoes up 70 percent.

Verde, an Italian import, also hit color hard plus combination of materials. One of wildest was a lace-up oxford with a big bump toe and two-inch heels. Some were suede, others were suede and a wetlook crinkle patent in a variety of colors and fabrics.

Alice Regensberg of the American Footwear Institute reported a renaissance of classicism including the wingtip in contrasting colors and texture, and boots in patchwork.

She reported new interest in higher heels in the classic blucher, in tied ghillie and tassel moccasins—plus sandals in all shapes, including some on wooden platforms, the high-heeled Bover boot and sneakers in every color and texture you can think of.

Some of the lines on display with heel heights in parenthesis:

In whites, French Shriner showed a patent slipper with white straps across the instep and a black heel (1 1/2). Jarman had a patent with four ties through brass rings and leather tunnels (1 1/2). Manistee used a low heel on a square toed moc-

Open House On Centers' Western Trip To Be Held

The western trip planned for this summer by the Newton Community Service Centers will be discussed in detail at an open house scheduled for next Thursday night (April 4) at 7:30 p.m. at the Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldredge St., Newton. David Pass, Trip

Director, and committee members will be present to answer questions relative to the program.

Generally, the Western Trip is being planned to accommodate 20 boys and 20 girls ages 14 to 16 for a six-week period. An orientation is scheduled for the week preceding the trip. Individuals will travel 6,000 miles from Newton to the Grand Canyon and back.

This open meeting will deal with the itinerary, daily programming, and all other important aspects of the program. A special feature will be the presentation of some films taken of a variety of points that will be visited on the trip.

For additional information come to the Pomroy House meeting or call 969-5908.

In sporty looks Bass showed the classic saddle shoe in brown and white with thick soles—and a 1 1/2 inch heel.

Bates Floaters had bowling type shoes in red suede and elk with white trim.

Freeman combined red, white and blue suede and calf in a wingtip (1 1/2). A real wild one was by International—gray patent with blue suede trim, a brown 1 1/2 inch stacked heel and a blunt toe.

Director, and committee members will be present to answer questions relative to the program.

Girl Bruised By Hit-Run Driver

A seven-year-old Dorchester girl was treated for scrapes and bruises last Wednesday morning when she was struck by a "blue car" as she stepped from a school bus.

Sonya M. Carrington of 60 Wilbur Ave., had gotten off the bus in front of the Countryside School on Dedham St. when the car hit her and kept on going.

The school nurse and doctor treated her for minor injuries. Newton Police investigated the incident.

Dr. Tyler Is Named to Mass. Thoracic Society

John M. Tyler, M.D. of 75 Clinton place, Newton Center, has been named to the Council of the Massachusetts Thoracic Society.

Dr. Tyler, currently chief of Pulmonary Services at the Lemuel Shattuck Hospital in Jamaica Plain, is a graduate of Harvard University Medical School and has been associated with Boston City Hospital, the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, and Tufts University School of Medicine. He has also been a fellow of the National Heart and Lung Institute in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Tyler's appointment to the Thoracic Society Council runs from 1972 until 1975.

Tribe Contrib'tes Portion Of Dues

Fourteen members of the Arapahoe Tribe of the Indian Guides have contributed part of their dues to the $3 million "Y" Building Fund for Newton and the western suburbs.

Indian Guides were first organized at the St. Louis YMCA in 1925. There are now 15,000 "tribes" nationwide, with 225,000 men and their sons.

The Arapahoe, one of several tribes associated with the Newton "Y", sent their check with a note expressing, "appreciation for the help the 'Y' has given us for allowing us to use its facilities. We really appreciate it."

Tribal "Wampumbearer", Burt W. Federman of West Newton, sent a list of the contributors, including him and his son Jon. Other West Newton givers were George A. May and son Geoffrey; Neil Churchill and son Chris and Fred Bross and his son David.

The tribe's contributors from Auburndale were Alfredo Tadiar and son Carol; Robert E. Stewart and son Scott and Les Wyner and son Frank.

Appropriately enough, the Arapahoe Tribe made its donation via a check from the National Shawmut Bank.

Seattle is the largest halibut port in the world.

Political Highlights

Supreme Court's Decision Resurrects Big Brave Bill

One of the worst features of the Supreme Court ruling throwing out all laws which have prohibited birth control in Massachusetts was that it gave good, old crusading Bill Baird a chance to get his name in the papers and his voice on radio and television again.

We wouldn't want to write or say anything which would dim Bill's joy in his hour of great happiness, but it is a fact that he proved a bit of a cry baby when he intentionally violated the law, had himself arrested and put in jail and then discovered he didn't like the hoosegow all that much.

We're not saying we'd have been as brave as Bill, but we wouldn't have had ourselves pinched in the first place. Bill had his children picket the jail, and it now turns out that the youngsters were right and that it was illegal to lock Bill up for violating a law he believed should not have been on the statute books.

Now we'd like to take a safe and comfortable place on the sidelines and serve as a match-maker in a fight between good, old, crusading Bill and the woman's lib.

Bill gave the back of his hand in a most ungentlemanly manner to the women liberationists, attacking them for refusing to file court briefs in his behalf. "It was an outrage and a proof of their chauvinism," claims Bill.

One lady lib to whom we reported what Bill said suggested in rather unladylike fashion that he get lost. Bill next said that his five-year battle had left him $50,000 in debt and that he had been forced to keep his wife and family secluded because of threats.

A lady lib to whom that was reported said she'd like to see the bills and suggested that big, brave Bill is a bit of a nuisance.

Who Owes What To Whom On Issue of Prison Reform?

Governor Sargent's office recently issued a news release on prison reform. This paragraph in it caught our eye:

"Inmates want to be treated in prison with the same respect and dignity society will demand from them, once they are released."

We agree! But how much respect and dignity did they give society when they committed the crimes which caused them to be sent to prison in the first place.

Great improvements should be made in the treatment of the inmates incarcerated in our correctional institutions. But some progress also should be made on the protection of the public from these same men when they are freed from prison.

Police Officer To Retire After 30-Year Career

Officer Owen T. Quinn of 14 Cheney Court, Newton Upper Falls, will be honored at a testimonial dinner on the occasion of his retirement following 30 years on the Newton Police force.

Officer Owen has been the traffic officer at the Angier School for the past 17 years, during which time he has directed thousands of children. The dinner will be held at Valle's on Route 9 in Newton on Wednesday evening, April 19. Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m., with dinner at 7:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at stores around Waban Square.

Ends Term At Foundation

The Max L. Grant Foundation of Providence, R.I., announces an April 10 termination of a term of service by William E. O'Halloran of Newton.

Arrangements having been completed for 2.5 million in gifts by the Foundation to fifty charities and educational institutions — including, locally, Brandeis University, Boston College, Pratt Institute, Lahey Clinic and The Lying-In Hospital, Atty. O'Halloran returns to his office in Newton.

Awards Will Be Given To Riley House Students

A committee at Newton High School has worked out the preliminary details for an award to be made to students of Riley House for their participation in in-school and community services. Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors of Riley House are eligible and there will be no established guidelines used in evaluating the qualifications of nominated students.

Each student will be considered individually within the context of the committee's interpretation of "outstanding service." A student, teacher, administrator or any person connected or familiar with the activity in which the student contributed may nominate the student for this award.

In order to nominate a student, persons are asked to mail a notice, indicating the reasons why the named youth should be the recipient of the award. The form should be sent no later than April 24 to: Riley House Activity Award Committee, Newton High School, 40 Elm Rd., Newtonville 02160.

The Award Ceremony presentation will be held at Newton High School on May 16. Students, interested faculty, and parents are welcome to attend.

Problems Of Trash Disposal Discussed By Women Voters

Elementary school teachers in Newton have been examining a bag of trash, trash collected by the Environmental Quality Committee of the League of Women Voters of Newton and presented as part of a workshop on solid waste for the Division of Instruction in Newton.

"The idea is to get everyone thinking about the stuff he throws away," says Mary Adelstein, Environmental Quality Committee Chairman. "We began by telling how the crane operator at the incinerator salvaged a leopardskin coat from the trash and we tried throughout the workshop to develop the concept that trash is not necessarily useless or worthless. We think that people should also consider how their buying habits create problems in waste disposal."

The workshop consisted of a demonstration of the components of trash, a discussion of the resources from which they are made, consideration of their possible value or reuse, and an evaluation of various types of packaging and disposable goods.

Then facts about Newton's disposal system were presented along with general information about the workings of incinerators and landfills. Finally there was a discussion of local recycling efforts and the extent to which materials are already being reprocessed.

The workshop purpose was to prepare teachers to present the same kind of demonstration-discussion in their classrooms. With this in mind, the Division of Instruction supplied copies of the demonstration outline and other material prepared by the Leaguers.

This material includes a bibliography and a film list (for elementary school children), a list of items made from recycled materials, directions for making a schoolyard compost heap, an article on the lingo of a trashman and a list of other suggested classroom projects.

Newton teachers can obtain copies from the Division of Instruction in Newton. Other interested citizens can do so by sending their name, address, and two eight cent stamps to: Beverly Zweiman, 40 Cloverdale Road, Newton Highlands, 02161. Material from this workshop could be supplemented by information from Mary Adelstein, Chairman of the Environmental Quality Committee of the League of Women Voters of Newton, 63 Gammons Road, Waban.

Newton Library to Mark National Library Week

More than 28 individual activities at the Newton Free Library and its branches herald National Library Week from April 16 through 22, and additional interesting programs are planned throughout the month as part of the NFL's year-long salute to International Book Year.

Newton's kick-off for National Library Week comes next Wednesday (April 12) at 3 p.m. at the Main Library when Director Virginia A. Tashjian hosts a tea for all libraries in the city.

Honored guests at the reception will include Newton educators who have published books. The public is cordially invited to meet Newton's distinguished educators and librarians on this festive occasion.

A highlight of the afternoon will be a performance of "Who's Bernice?" written by Hal Bronk and Dick Power. The production will be staged by the Young Adult Drama Group, a theatre workshop sponsored jointly by the Newton Free Library and the Newton Recreation Commission.

A third special National Library Week event is the opening of Arthur Polonsky's one-man show of paintings and drawings at the Main Library. Mr. Polonsky, a prominent artist and resident of Newton, has had numerous exhibits including a recent one-man show at the Brockton Art Center.

A fourth event of note at the Main Library will be the month-long display of books written by Newton educators.

Free films scheduled for National Library Week are "Challenge of Urban Renewal" and "The City and the Future," Tuesday, April 18, at noon and "Pudovkin" (the famous Russian film director) and "Strat" (a student attempting to institute changes at his prep school) on Thursday, April 20, at 7 p.m. Library Director Virginia A. Tashjian reminds patrons of AMNESTY WEEK during National Library Week when borrowers may return WITHOUT CHARGE all overdue library materials borrowed at any branches of the Newton Free Library.

Miss Jane Granstrom, supervisor of Children's Services, has scheduled many different activities for boys and girls during National Library Week, including an art exhibit at Newton Centre by students from the Sacred Heart School; five picturebook story hours; two creativity programs; and two film programs. Specific days and times for many additional children's programs should be checked in LIBRARY LOWDOWN and with local librarians.

Other NFL programs for April include two programs on "Home Management" at West Newton Branch, Wednesday, April 12, and 26 at 10 a.m.; and a series of programs on "Early Childhood Problems," April 10, 24, May 1, 8, and 15 at the Vernon Street, Newton Corner. The group leader will be Mrs. Diane Korelitz of the Child Study Association.

Additional NFL activities include a coffee hour and book review with Mrs. Virginia A. Tashjian on Thursday, April 20, at 10:30 a.m. at Waban; a coffee hour and book review with Marie L. Simpson, branch librarian, on Thursday, April 27, at 10:30 a.m. at Auburndale; a month long exhibit of paintings by Mrs. Elizabeth M. Mulock at Auburndale, and an exhibit of oils and watercolors by Mrs. Donella Lewis at Waban.

Main library hours are from 9 to 9 on Monday through Friday; on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and on Sunday from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Church Women Set Cable TV Meeting

What plans are being made by the City of Newton with regard to Cable TV and how will it affect the average citizen?

The April meeting of Church Women United in Newton, Community Concerns Day, which will be held tomorrow Friday, April 7, at Lincoln Park Baptist Church, 1450 Washington St., West Newton, at 10 a.m. will provide information on these questions.

Mrs. R. Curtis Reed, Celebrations Chairman, and Mrs. David Dwelley, Chairman of the Day, announce that the speaker will be Mr. John B. Walker, who will present "The Wired Community — Communication in the Future."

Mr. Walker, an ordained minister of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), and currently a post-graduate student in Boston University's School of Public Communication, is working on a special research project on Cable TV and videocassettes with Rev. T. C. Whitehouse, Coordinator of Communications for the Massachusetts Council of Churches.

Mr. Walker will explain the probable impact of CATV on the average man and woman in the future.

Testimonial May 22 For Retired Capt. McMullen

Co-workers, friends and former adversaries of retired Captain John N. McMullen, Newton District Court prosecutor and commander of the Newton Police Detective Bureau, have formed a committee to tender him a testimonial dinner to be held May 22 at 7 p.m. at the Sidney Hill Country Club, Newton, Massachusetts.

Chief William F. Quinn was elected Chairman, William Matthews and Thomas Vassalotti are Co-chairmen, Rocco D. Marzilli as secretary and Captain Albert Yanco, treasurer.

The Captain retired after thirty-two years of police service. In that time, he had risen through the ranks of the department and had seen service as desk officer, detective, platoon commander, and his final assignment before retirement was a dual one. He commanded the Detective Bureau and also was Chief Prosecutor in the Newton District Court, being responsible for both juvenile and adult cases.

During his tenure in this latter assignment, McMullen appeared opposite many of the finest and most talented lawyers in Massachusetts, and to their dismay, more often than not they lost to the most able prosecutor.

In his tenure of office as a detective, and later as Commander, McMullen had investigated everything from the most minor of misdemeanors to murder.

The Captain was known for his meticulous preparation in his cases and seldom had a case overturned on appeals. His ability to interrogate or cross examine a witness to get at the truth of a situation was classic. According to one lawyer, who said, "When the good Captain would say 'let's be fair', it would be just before the roof would collapse. From that point guilty would be the only verdict."

McMullen who was self-taught in the field of Criminal Law, lectured for the department of Education, and has been a guest lecturer of many

Health Care Program At Union Church On Tuesday

The Union Church in Waban will present a program entitled "Meeting Health Care Needs for Us All" next Tuesday evening (April 11) at 8 p.m. in the Church vestry.

An outstanding panel of experts will be brought together by the Social Action Committee of the church. Dr. David M. French, Chairman of the Department of Community Medicine at Boston University, will be the Moderator.

Also sharing in the program are Richard Soboda, Director of the Health Planning Council of Greater Boston; Robert Murphy, Assistant Regional Director for Health and Scientific Affairs of the Federal Department of Health, Education, and Welfare; and Donald Fleming, Regional Manager for Blue Cross, Blue Shield Office of General Accounts at Waltham.

Robert H. Mitchell, Chairman of the Social Action Committee, will introduce the panel. The main areas to be covered will include existing medical services (both public and private); how we finance these medical costs, and pending medical legislation. Pamphlets will be available on these subjects.

Some of the specific concerns which will be covered are screening, ambulatory care, extended care, and volunteer services.

Blue Cross, Blue Shield coverage, private programs of insurance will be discussed, along with Medicare, Medicaid, Medix, and Welfare. National Health Insurance Bills before Congress will be outlined, and needs which are not being met by existing medical programs.

All ages can benefit from this extremely informative program. Ample time will be given for questions from the audience. The public is most welcome.

Will Sing With Belmont Chorus
Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, Richard Paine and Mrs. Charles Lory, all of Newton, will sing with Belmont Community Chorus in a concert next Sunday afternoon (April 9) in the Cambridge Center for Adult Education.

UTILITY RAMP — Example of a utility ramp which Alderman Michael Lipof has proposed for Newton. This one is at the corner of Boylston and Exeter Sts., near Copley Square, Boston.

Alderman Proposes Utility Ramps for the Handicapped

Alderman Michael Lipof of 26 Rowena Rd., Newton Centre, has submitted a proposed resolution to the Board of Aldermen to provide utility ramps at curbs for handicapped citizens.

In making the proposal Alderman Lipof cited the success of Minneapolis, New York and Boston in their installation of the ramps, and calls for similar humanitarian construction in Newton.

"The dignity of a handicapped person," states Alderman Lipof, "is a precious commodity. We, as legislators of City of Newton, can help restore and preserve this dignity. We can take tangible and affirmative action by creating utility ramps in the sidewalks of two of our shopping areas in Newton to make the aging, handicapped, and others' mobility more dignified and much easier."

His proposed resolution is as follows: WHEREAS: The curb at a street intersection has proven to be a barrier to those confined to a wheel chair and many other handicapped pedestrians, and

WHEREAS: Curbs can also be an inconvenience to others, such as mothers with baby strollers or persons transporting materials by pushcart or handtruck over short distances, and

WHEREAS: Concerned citizens and government have dedicated policies and procedures to help eliminate architectural barriers to handicapped people, and

WHEREAS: More and more bedridden people have become mobile through advances in medical science,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the City of Newton Public Works Department, with permission of His Honor the Mayor, be requested to install in West Newton Square and Newton Centre "utility ramps." These installations will serve as a pilot program to demonstrate the need and the usefulness of these innovative ramps.

"I for one would like to see Newton lead the way now for small cities and towns in our Commonwealth to follow," concluded Alderman Lipof.

Local Solons At Meeting Of PTA Council April 6th

"Will the Courts or the Legislature Change Newton Schools?" The Newton Council of PTAs will be examining this issue at their next meeting, Thursday, April 6th, 8 p.m. at the Emerson School in Newton Upper Falls. All four State legislators have been invited to explore the subject with the Council and all interested parents and residents who wish to attend.

Attending the panel discussion will be Senator Irving Fishman, Representatives Paul Guzzi, Paul Malloy and David Mofenson.

Several bills now pending in the Massachusetts Legislature pose potential drastic changes for local school systems such as Newton's. Recent court decisions and highly qualified panels have challenged current financing and educational philosophies. The legislators have been asked to attend this Council meeting and share their thoughts and information in this new approach to educating the young.

"Newton has traditionally enjoyed and financed a fine school system," notes the President of the Council, S. Wendell Kravitz. "Currently other school systems are challenging this superiority and asking to share in the educational opportunities afforded Newton students. It seems readily apparent that even though many bills now being studied in the Legislature will not come to fruition, changes will be adjudicated for school systems of Newton's ilk in the near future. Whether these changes portend metropolitanization of schools, or less autonomy for local school boards, or possibly a State takeover of education financing, no one can predict. Yet no one will deny current tax levels are exceedingly high and that school system's require ever additional funds merely to maintain the 'status Quo.'"

Everyone interested in the quality of life in the Newton of tomorrow should attend and bring to the discussion period thoughts and questions both for the Council and their elected Legislative representatives to enable them in working out solutions which are in the best interest of the greater community.

Adult Education Series Planned At First Baptist
A new series of adult education programs will begin at the First Baptist Church in Newton Centre following the 10 a.m. service Sunday (April 9).

The programs will be conducted for five weeks on Sunday mornings from 11:15 a.m. to noon.

One program is entitled "Religion and Rock," led by Mr. Kent Wittrop. This will be a wide ranging discussion of religious motifs in contemporary music.

Another group will be "Great Words of the Bible," conducted by Rev. Glenn Platt who will discuss major concepts of Biblical thought, and their origin and evolution.

Dr. Edwin Taylor will lead the third discussion group on "Possibilities of Church Cooperation." This will be a continuous program through the first week in June which will provide a forum for discussion of Interchurch Committee dialogue with neighboring Newton Centre congregations.

Anyone wishing to donate articles may phone Mrs. Wright (235-4547) or Mrs. Jessup (969-9174) for pick-up information.

Major Battles
U.S. troops participated in 13 major battles in World War I.

Guests are invited to purchase tickets at $5 apiece and join the regular subscribers for the event. Refreshments will be available.

For more information contact Mrs. George Bent at 969-9621, Mrs. Ginny McIntyre at 332-4508, or Curtis Aarata at 527-3099.

Cowin To Speak At Community Chest Meeting

William I. Cowin, Secretary of the State Office of Consumer Affairs, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Newton Community Chest, to be held next Tuesday night (April 11) at 8 p.m. in the Church of the Messiah, 161 Auburn St., Auburndale.

Secretary Cowin will discuss such consumerism topics as health care services and insurance. The public is welcome to attend to ask questions. Coffee and dessert will be served.

Sec. Cowin, a Newton resident, is the former head man of the State Department of Public Utilities, and worked in Washington as a Special Assistant to the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

Girls Summer League Meets

There will be a meeting for new and returning team representatives or individuals interested in joining the girls summer basketball league next Wednesday evening (April 12) at 7:30 p.m. at the Newton Recreation Department, 70 Crescent St., Auburndale.

The League is for girls who live in Newton and are 16 years or older, or will be high school sophomores. The teams comprised of Newtonites will compete on a city-wide basis at Cabot Park.

On the agenda will be the discussion of the Leagues Rules and Regulations, problems concerning the formation of teams and roster sheets. Anyone interested is urged to come to the meeting.

For further information, call Fran Towle, Newton Recreation Department, 969-3171.

Bicyclist Is Hit By Auto

An eight-year-old Waltham boy was injured on Cherry St., West Newton last Friday afternoon when he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle.

Police say Aldo Moro of Brown St. came out of a driveway on the right side of the road and was hit by an auto driven by Shirley A. Gibson of 12 Patten St., Watertown.

Police took him to Newton-Wellesley Hospital, where he was treated for bruises and cuts and released.

COMMUNIST ROCKETS SLAM INTO U.S. AIR BASE

COMMUNIST ROCKETS slammed into the big U.S. air base at Da Nang and America's northernmost base at Phu Bai early Thursday after waves of U.S. B52 bombers struck within one mile of the besieged province capital of An Loc. First reports said fewer than 10 rockets hit the Da Nang base, 370 miles north of Saigon, where about 10,000 men are stationed. About eight rockets struck in and around Phu Bai, 30 miles farther north. Initial reports indicated few if any casualties at Phu Bai. No immediate details on Da Nang were available. Phu Bai, near the old imperial capital of Hue, has 2,400 American troops. Wednesday about 50 infantrymen balked at orders to go on patrol because of dangers posed in the northern provinces of South Vietnam where North Vietnamese forces first launched their current offensive.

FRANCE URGES RESUMPTION OF VIETNAM PEACE TALKS

THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT said Wednesday it "firmly believes" a political solution to the Vietnam War is possible and urged the United States and South Vietnam to end their boycott of the peace talks in Paris. The call followed a review of the Vietnam War developments by the cabinet meeting under President Georges Pompidou at the Elysee Palace. It coincided with a new formal demand by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations for a resumption of the talks — and a flat refusal by the South Vietnamese to agree while the Communist military offensive continued. U.S. delegation spokesman Stephan Ledogar refused to comment on the French government's action. He said that Chief Negotiator William J. Porter will return to Paris today from extensive consultations in Washington on strategy in Paris.

BREZHNEV CALLS FOR "MAXIMUM OF DISCUSSION"

SOVIET Communist Party Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev wants a "minimum of ceremony and a maximum of substantive discussion" when he talks with President Nixon in May, U. S. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said Wednesday in Moscow. Butz told newsmen the Communist general secretary indicated this desire to him during a 90-minute talk Tuesday night. It was Brezhnev's first serious meeting with an American government official since the late Nikita S. Khrushchev was ousted in 1964. Butz returned to Washington after a five-day official visit during which he opened exploratory talks to sell surplus U.S. feed grains and soybeans to Russia on "identical credit terms" offered any other nation. "Mr. Brezhnev said he is looking forward to the visit of the American President and would extend every courtesy to him, offering him transport anywhere he wants to go," Butz said.

MORE BOMBS EXPLODE IN NORTHERN IRELAND

MORE BOMBS exploded in Northern Ireland Wednesday and former Premier Brian Faulkner demanded the British take military action against Irish Republican Army strongholds. In Londonderry, a bomb severely damaged a building housing a dry cleaning shop and damaged a house across the street. At Kilrea in County Londonderry, another bomb wrecked a car owned by a reserve policeman. No casualties were reported in either of the blasts. Faulkner, who was forced to resign as premier when Britain took over direct rule of Northern Ireland, demanded action against the IRA strongholds when he met Wednesday for the first time with the top British official in Belfast, Secretary of State William Whitelaw.

IRAN PRIME MINISTER VISITS QUAKE AREA

PRIME MINISTER Amir-Abbas Hoveida Wednesday toured earthquake devastated villages in Southern Iran and pledged "more secure homes and a better life for the future, God willing," to grief-stricken survivors. Government officials estimated the death toll in the quake which struck Monday probably would be more than 3,500, the official news agency Pars said. Rescue teams had recovered more than 1,650 bodies while another 1,800 persons were listed as missing and presumed dead officials said.

ASTRONAUTS REHEARSE LAUNCH OPERATIONS

WITH EVERYTHING proceeding smoothly toward Sunday's start of the most complicated moonflight yet, Apollo 16's three astronauts put on their space suits and rehearsed launch operations Wednesday for the last time. John W. Young, Thomas K. Mattingly and Charles M. Duke lay on their backs in a command ship trainer and rattled off instrument readings as their takeoff was simulated electronically by a bank of computers. Young knows what the actual blastoff is like. He was aboard Apollo 10 which was launched three years ago by a Saturn 5 rocket on a lunar orbital flight. Project officials reported the countdown for man's first expedition to the craggy highlands of the moon was proceeding smoothly at Launch Complex 39 at Cape Kennedy. Spacecraft technicians were busy hooking up spacecraft batteries and preparing to pump frigid helium into the lunar module, Orion. They also checked out the backpacks Young and Duke will wear while exploring the lunar surface during three seven-hour excursions.

LBJ—PALE AND STRAINED—RETURNS TO TEXAS

DESPITE suffering a heart attack just five days ago, former President Lyndon B. Johnson made a 1,500-mile cross-country flight in the middle of the night because he insisted on being near his high country home in Texas, his wife and doctors said Wednesday in San Antonio. "It's mighty good to be this close to home," said Lady Bird Johnson, smiling and looking relaxed as she talked with newsmen at Brooke Army Medical Center. But Johnson looked pale and strained early Wednesday and walked with a noticeable stoop into the hospital after the flight from Virginia, where he had the heart attack. He had a portable electrocardiogram taped to his chest all the way. A three-doctor team of heart specialists said Johnson likely would be in the San Antonio hospital for several weeks. "He's feeling great. He's in good spirits," said Dr. J. Willis Hurst of Atlanta, who came with Johnson to Texas. The doctor said Johnson suffered permanent heart damage but should recover with no problems.

DEMOCRATS FAIL TO SUBPOENA NIXON AIDES

ANGERED by President Nixon's refusal to let White House aides testify, Democrats on the Senate Judiciary Committee tried but failed by a single vote Wednesday to subpoena them for questioning about the tangled ITT affair. With Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., the committee chairman, abstaining, three motions to order the aides to appear as witnesses in defiance of the President failed by identical tie votes, with six Democrats for and six Republicans against. The subpoena effort was directed primarily at Peter J. Flanigan, a special White House assistant with Wall Street ties.

Tax Rate To Soar Above $140 Figure

Newton's 1972 tax rate is virtually certain to be noticeably higher than $140 per thousand valuation, stated Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., executive director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, this week.

Earlier hopes we had that the rate might be held below $140 by state distributions and a healthy vote from surplus have evaporated in the light of later information," said Muther.

"As of now, we must add to the $17 budget-caused increase about 50 cents for a new $8 million school bond's interest for 1/2 yr. Also add a somewhat foggy estimate of $2 or $3 for salary negotiations still incomplete. In 1972 they must include school salary increases for a third of a year and similarly increases to city employees for eight months. This gives a total tax rate increase directly incurred for city functions of $20 or more," Muther calculated.

"On the basis of last MDC, etc., net cost to year's state-county-MBT-A MDC, etc., net cost to Newton of $1.4 million, add another $4. Most of anything coming from the lottery will be offset by increased costs

Former Mayor Now Justice

An overflow crowd gathered at the courthouse last week to witness the investiture of former Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas who was made a special justice of the Newton District Court.

Gov. Francis Sargent administered the oath of office; the reading of the commission was done by Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren.

Officials from all levels of government were present at the ceremony, including representatives of all city departments and Basbas' successor, Mayor Theodore D. Mann. Mayor Mann extended the city's official congratulations to Judge Basbas.

Senator Edward W. Brooke and Representative Margaret M. Heckler and Robert F. Drinan were in attendance

Absentee Ballots Are Now Available

Primary day is April 25 and this year, for the first time, absentee ballot are allowed in a primary. A request for these ballot, which are now available, can be any written communication.

When applying for the ballot a person must give his voting address in Newton, a mailing address, request for a specific ballot even if the voter is already enrolled in that party and a signature exactly as it is on the voter's registration.

When the ballot is received, follow the instructions on the back: one must vote in the presence of a notary public and the Election Commission must receive the ballot prior to 8 p.m. on April 25.

Voters who will be away from Newton on April 25 and who do not have a mailing address can apply in writing or personally at City Hall. One day should be allowed for processing. Voter may then vote in person at City Hall before the Primary. This ballot must never leave the Election Commission office.

For all American citizens overseas, parents or close relatives can apply for their absentee ballot, whether the citizen is registered or not.

However, the relative applying must be registered and must be of voting age in Newton. The citizen can also apply in writing himself. He does not automatically become registered and must follow the same procedure applying in another election.

On Primary Day, voters

Hold Permits As Bias Is Checked

The Aldermanic Franchises and Licenses Committee voted Thursday night to use its licensing power to halt discriminatory practices in social clubs.

By a vote of 6-1, the Committee agreed to hold off on applications for bowling alley and pool table permits for five Newton organizations until a meeting could be held with representatives from the organizations and members of the Newton Community Relations Commission to determine whether any of the clubs had discriminatory practices.

The Auburndale Neighborhood Club, on Melrose St., Auburndale, the Hunnewell Club on Eldredge St., Newton, the Neighborhood Club on Berkeley St., West Newton, and the Windsor Club (formerly the Waban Neighborhood Club) of Beacon St., all had applied for bowling alley license renewals. The Newton Masonic Club of Newtonville Ave. had applied for a pool table license.

"I don't think that all of these clubs discriminate, but I know that some clubs do," declared Alderman Edward Richmond, "I don't want to deny licenses, but I want to establish criteria for renewal. I would be willing to establish a probationary period of one year in granting license renewals."

Alderman Robert L. Tennant a Mason accused the committee of "getting into areas where they do not belong" and Alderman Ernest Dietz charged that the committee was usurping the power of the Community Relations Commission.

Alderman Tenant declared, "You can't just close down a club that's gone on for 50 years."

News Deadlines To Be Observed

Graphic readers are advised of the importance of the new deadlines established for receiving news copy.

We must emphasize that Monday is the last day on which news releases, club and PTA news, church news, statements and reports, can be accepted for publication that week. This covers all news of a general nature. Photos must not be received later than the Friday preceding publication.

Mechanical schedules make these new deadlines necessary. We would appreciate receiving copy earlier than Monday if possible.

Newton Youths Earned Merit Scholarships

Two Newton boys have been named recipients of four-year National Merit Scholarships, which are underwritten by corporations to allow high school students to attend colleges at reduced costs.

The Newton youths, Timothy J. Kenslea and James R. Miller, were chosen as winners among 29 Massachusetts residents.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Democrats Appear To Lack Any Outstanding Candidate

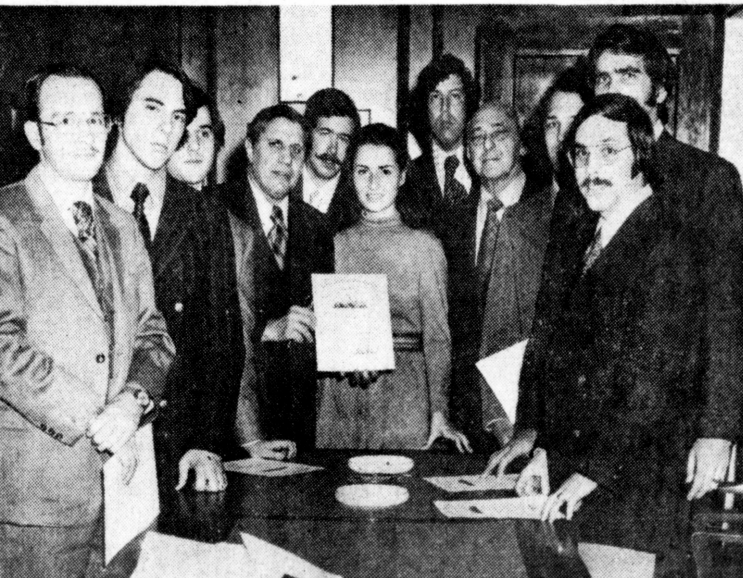

The hard truth of the matter is that we do not have an outstanding candidate for the Democratic nomination for President.

Unless Senator Edward M. Kennedy yields to a draft, which is extremely improbable, regardless of some of the national columnists and commentators, the next Democratic nominee for President will be either Senator George McGovern of South Dakota, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota or Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

A darkhorse possibility is Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington.

None of the four is likely to strike much fear in the hearts of the Nixon adherents.

able legal assistance, and is greatly beneficial to those participating, as it affords them exposure to all facets of municipal law, while still in the process of completing their studies."

As of Jan. 1, the Law Department of the City of Newton was faced with a serious situation with regard to its ability to handle the significantly increased workload which was caused by several factors.

New Year's Day greeted the City with a new Mayor, a new Board of Aldermen, and a new City Charter containing many new programs, new agencies performing new functions, and changes of procedure in the legislative and executive departments.

Despite the fact that the Law Department consisted of a full-time Solicitor and four full-time assistants, the increase in volume of requests for opinions from the new Mayor, from the members of the Board of Aldermen (24 in number) and from the Department heads, was so large that it was beginning to overwhelm the Solicitor's staff and seemed to make a backlog inevitable.

Mayor Mann suggested that the Law Department seek volunteer help from law students located in greater Boston. City Solicitor Melvin J. Dangel wrote letters to the deans of the five law schools in the area, and the letters were posted on the bulletin boards.

It was explained that the City sought the assistance of law students on volunteer no-pay basis and that students would be exposed to the many problems in municipal law. The City felt that it could offer a program beneficial to the law student in return for his services.

Sixteen law students from Boston University, Boston College, Suffolk University, and The New England Law School responded. After screening the applicants, ten were selected, of which the majority are second-year law students.

The Student Law Internship Program commenced Feb. 1 and will continue until college examinations in May, at which time the students will be relieved of their duties at City Hall. Upon completion of examinations, those who are able will return and continue in the program over the summer. In the fall, future plans will be determined.

They are averaging about 15 hours per week in the Solicitor's office. Two of them are assigned to the City Solicitor, and two each to the Assistant City Solicitors for supervision and assignment.

The law students have become involved in all aspects of municipal problems. They perform legal research for opinions for the City Solicitor which are requested by the Mayor, the various departments of the City, the School Committee and the School Department, and the

AUGUSTA HORNBLOWER

Chairs 'Target '72' In State

Mrs. Robert R. Amesbury, President of the Massachusetts Federation of Republican Women, announced that the Federation's Executive Board has established a Special Projects Committee to implement the Republican National Committee's "Target '72" program in Massachusetts.

Appointed Chairman of the new committee is Miss Augusta Hornblower of Newton. In conjunction with this appointment Miss Hornblower will also serve on the Federation's State Executive Board.

"Target '72" was initiated earlier this year by the Republican National Committee as a pilot project in new technique voter registration in Texas, Florida, California and Hawaii. Senator Robert Dole, GOP National Chairman, addressed himself to the success of the four-state project at the recent meeting of the National Leadership Conference in Washington and urged the remaining states to set up comparable organizations to work in concert with the National Committee, during the 1972.

Mrs. Amesbury commented that statewide organization of the "Target '72" program and establishment of liaison with the National Committee will be the primary task of Miss Hornblower and her committee.

Persons interested in participating in "Target '72" are asked to contact the Massachusetts Federation of Republican Women at 73 Tremont Street in Boston or at 523-7535.

committees of the Board of Aldermen. In addition, they do legal research for individual court cases.

They are also involved in the preparation of all court cases, including accident cases against the City; cases in which the City is plaintiff for property damage; cases in which the City is enforcing the various health, sanitary, and building codes, and zoning ordinances; and civil service hearings.

Their participation and assistance in the work load of the Law Department encompass not only the research of law, but also the taking of statements, preparing and answering interrogatories, and investigating the factual aspects of cases.

They also keep abreast of proposed legislation coming before the State Legislature with regard to bills that affect the City itself or cities generally. They assist the Law Department and the Mayor in determining what positions should be taken on this legislation.

This program has proved so valuable since its implementation that the Law Department is now current in most of its work.

Students participating are: Ann Andler, Boston College; William Fisher and Craig Keats, Boston University; Jed Grossman, Howard Rubin and Joseph Shalness, New England School of Law, and Kenneth Bagley, Peter Ettenberg, Donald Lynde and Seaton Woodley, Suffolk University.

Hearings Set For Land Use Committee

The following hearing dates were announced by the Aldermanic Land Use Committee: April 24: Gateway Realty Trust to conduct a tenants parking deck on Washington St. in Newton Corner. Permission is sought to allow parking by the public in the existing garage until the present building is filled to capacity. May 8:

Newton Redevelopment Authority, asking for zone changes to Residence B and E on Washington St., Atherton St., and Moulton St. in Newton Lower Falls.

John Dolan Coal Co., for permissive use to build 30 units of garden apartments on Concord St. in Lower Falls. Alderman Bullwinkle, asking for a change of zone from Business A to Single Residence C on River St. and adjoining streets in West Newton.

Paul J. Melanson, asking for extension of non-conforming use for additions to a duplex on 140-42 Washington street, Ward 4.

Permits -

Retorted Richmond, "We're not trying to close them down, we're trying to open them up." To Alderman Dietz' protest that "you can't legislate brotherhood," Richmond replied, "We live in a different era. The times, they are a-changin'-and they're changing by legal decision."

As precedent for the aldermanic action, Richmond pointed out that the state Alcoholic Beverage Commission had refused to renew the liquor license of the Elks on the grounds of discrimination.

Alderman Lois G. Pines declared that granting of a license by the Board "indicates that we are aware of and approve of the club's policies. We should consider the applications before we rubber-stamp them."

In answer to Alderman Dietz' charge that the committee was usurping the powers of the Community Relations Commission, Mrs. Pines declared, "We should let CRC do whatever they can, but shouldn't undermine their efforts by renewing licenses where we know de facto discrimination exists."

Ald. Richmond reported that CRC Chairman William M. Glosky supported the committee's action and was anxious to cooperate in the review of licenses.

Franchises and Licenses Committee Chairman Harry H. Crosby suggested that the committee should engage in closer review of all license renewals to determine if the licensee was operating properly. For example, he suggested that routine checks for complaints be made with the Better Business Bureau and the Small Claims Court.

Alderman Richmond pointed out that the vote would not mean suspension of operations for any of the clubs. They would continue under their present permits while the committee examines their policies.

Voting to hold further action on the licenses were Alderman Pines, Richmond, Robert Gaynor, Richard McGrath, and Crosby. In opposition was Alderman Tennant. Alderman Dietz was absent.

Newton Girls Invited To College Conference

Pupils Conduct Seder At Home

Temple Reyim's Hebrew School students traditionally go to Convalescent Homes in Newton and sing and tell stories during Jewish holidays. Just before Pesach recently, four pupils conducted a Model Seder for the many Jewish old people in the West Newton Convalescent Home, for which the residents were very grateful.

The Hebrew School boys attending were David Grosser, Evan Morris, Steven Hegler, and Lawrence Colton.

Family Unit Featured In New Country Player Show

"A family that plays together stays together" is borne out conclusively during current rehearsals of the Newton Country Players' Spring show, a new nineteenth century musical melodrama entitled "Gold in the Hills or The Dead Sister's Secret," with no less than 15 family combinations working in some area of production.

The three-act romp riot of fun and frivolity, authored by J. Frank Davis, is being staged and directed by Daniel Kosow of Chestnut Hill. Acts will be interlaced with a pot-pourri of songs, dances and community sing-alongs, and seating will be cabaret-style with tables and chairs. Refreshments will also be available.

Performances are slated for Friday and Saturday evenings, May 5-6 and May 12-13, at 8 p.m., with an early curtain on Sunday, May 7, at 7 p.m., at the Pomroy Playhouse, 84 Eldredge St., Newton, with its seating capacity of 150.

THE TUX SHOP ON SPORTS

By TOM McCULLOUGH
Well-known golfers must also support themselves. A while ago Billy Casper bought a fishing tackle business. Rumor has it that a friend told him at the time that every time he goes fishing he will add a day to his life. Ask any old fisherman, and he will tell you it is true! No one knows how tense golf can be better than Casper who then reasoned: "Every time you play a round of competitive golf, you lose a day. So it's a tie!" You'll be a winner though, when you buy or rent your formal attire from THE TUX SHOP, 230 California St., 527-0459. of these "other governments." The matter is still uncertain, but somewhere between a $2 and $6 tax rate impact must be considered," Muther continued.

"A recent look at the 'surplus' account shows that it is only one-half to two-thirds as 'healthy' as it should be in April. Perhaps the equivalent of between one and two dollars, but not more, can be prudently made available to benefit the tax rate," he estimated.

"All this presently adds up to a 1972 tax rate of between $142 and $144. Unless citizens as taxpayers let their state and local representatives and negotiators know that they have serious objection, their fellow citizens, as promoters of this or that interest, will continue to sweep the field," Muther concluded.

Jesse James Park

Out in Kearney, Mo., there's talk of erecting an historic park around the old cabin "homestead" where Jesse James and his brother, Frank, were born in the mid-1800s.

The ancient cabin is on the rickety side these days, but 5000 tourists drop by every year to get a look at the bed in which the boys were born and where they were wont to hide out after their varied bank and train holdups. The visitors have been paying 75 cents for the one-look privilege. Some of Kearney's more progressive residents think that's "only peanuts." They have ideas.

Justifiably, perhaps, they point out that the movies and TV have been making millions and millions on this "Wild West" motif. They further cite that in their hey-days Jesse and Frank were active, hard-working, enthusiastic exponents of the Wild West idea.

The historic park the promoters have in mind would not only include a multi-storied hotel with cocktail lounges in the style of the West's old saloons. Its top attraction could be Jesse's grave with its original stone testifying he was assassinated on April 3, 1882. He was, Bob Ford, a disgruntled member of Jesse's gang, ended his boss's career with a well-aimed gun blast. Legend says Ford was not only jealous but that he had his eye on the reward.

Frank's grave is in Independence, Mo., probably a bit too far away (25 miles) to include in the park. Besides, Frank was the less glamorous of the pair. Even though he had his six-shooter strapped in place, he died of natural causes. Likewise he was never actually convicted of even shoplifting, let alone holding up a big-time bank or doing a train job.

There's no accounting for American taste. For years after the James boys went to their eternal rewards, folk in Kearney never boasted about them as "two of our boys." They were reluctant even to talk about Jesse and Frank.

It's taken a long time, but Kearney has grown up and gone modern. It has a super-market. On what was once mere pasture land, $40,000 "ranches" are springing up. Its leading downtown bank would pleasure the eye of an architect, and the James Boys would be hard hit to map out a workable plan to hold it up.

To residents of nearby Kansas City, complaining about over-crowding, pollution, integration and crime, it's offering plenty of elbow room, clean air and no crime. Folks fleeing Kansas City, which is up near the top in bank holdup rates, might even get in on the ground floor of this Jesse James Memorial Park business.

Undoubtedly, there'll be a stock flotation to get the new park underway. New residents, if they're wealthy, might get some preference in the matter of investing.

Fringe Benefits

Spokesmen for some of the unhappy striking big league baseball players seem a bit plaintive in answering criticism directed their way.

"Look," they are telling reporters and the public, "we're not looking for any pay raises, what we want here is a fringe benefit — an equitable pension system." When they add, "What American doesn't want that?" they propose a question which has only one answer. The answer would be an honest, "None."

Certainly those super-stars and even those who only come close to a .300 batting average or a 20-game pitching season, can't be blamed for not wishing to discuss incomes purportedly ranging from $40,000 to well over $100,000-a-year.

Fringe benefits in the science of labor relations is a comparatively new term. In another day, strikes were called merely to put more money inside a pay envelope. They were won or lost on that basis.

The baseball strike emphasizes the importance today of the fringe benefit, and certainly pensions are a most important factor in those benefits. It is quite possible, that only well-established, well-trained actuaries really understand the basics of the baseball dispute.

Maybe, those spokesmen are wrong even to term the pension a fringe benefit. Right or wrong, however, fringe benefits are today a vital part of the labor relations field.

In 1970, a survey shows, fringe benefits amounted to 26.6 per cent of basic salaries and wages in private industry. The U.S. Department of Labor which conducted the survey finds that during that year the federal government itself caught up and passed private industry in the matter of fringe benefits, when it added 27.8 per cent to its basic wages and salaries, in pensions and other benefits.

In the early days of baseball, the club purchased the shoes and the gloves of its players, but it was considered just another part of its overhead expense such as installing showers in the locker room.

Fringe benefits today go far beyond such expenditures. They have become not only for professional baseball for all industry, almost as important at the conference table as the dollars and cents that go into the pay check.

PLENTY OF CANDIDATES!

- POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS -

Alabama Governor George C. Wallace could roll up a fair vote in Massachusetts and also may draw a bigger delegate vote at the convention than some of those listed as having a better chance of achieving the nomination.

But no competent political observer believes that Wallace has a serious chance of gaining either the Presidential or Vice Presidential nomination or that he is anything more than a symbol of hate and discrimination. Because of the busing issue his vote will be bigger than it ordinarily would.

Senator Muskie has indicated that he will concentrate most of his campaigning in Pennsylvania and not do much in Massachusetts. Both Presidential primaries are being held on the same day a week from next Tuesday (April 25).

That could prove good political strategy. If it works and Muskie wins in both states, it could restore him to his status as front-runner in the race for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

If it backfires and he is defeated in neighboring Massachusetts, it presumably would knock him so far out of the Democratic Presidential fight, he probably could never get back in it.

Senator Muskie undoubtedly is counting on the Democratic establishment to carry him home to a spectacular victory in the Bay State. He should win here going away.

Father Robert F. Drinan is spearheading a drive for Senator McGovern of South Dakota. Former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack and his uncle, former Speaker John W. McCormack, along with former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell are beating the drums for former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Practically all the other Democrats of note in Massachusetts are riding the Muskie bandwagon, and the Maine Senator obviously is depending upon them to provide the political power to propel it across the finish line ahead of all the others.

The question is how much time they'll be able to spare from their own problems to help Muskie.

They have the political clout to get Muskie both the votes and the delegates he needs. The problem from Muskie's standpoint is that they are immersed in their own work and their own responsibilities.

Boston Mayor Kevin H. White, who is steering the Muskie machine, must first devote his attention and energies to the difficult task of running the City of Boston.

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane is doing double duty as head of the Treasurer's Department and unpaid boss of the State Lottery.

Attorney General Robert H. Quinn is one of the busiest officials in the State government.

State Senate President Kevin Harrington and House Speaker David Bartley are at the height of the legislative session, constantly pressing for action by the law-makers so they'll be out of the State House before Christmas.

Officials such as Harrington and Bartley also have in mind that they must get renominated and reelected themselves this coming September and November.

There is no doubt that Democratic leaders such as White, Quinn, Crane, Harrington and Bartley will get active and articulate workers on the line campaigning for Muskie. That may be enough to save the day for the Maine Senator.

Despite the powerful backing of the Democratic establishment in Massachusetts, belief exists in some quarters that Muskie has been slipping since the day he set up shop in front of the Manchester Union Leader (New Hampshire) and verbally blasted William Loeb, its publisher, breaking down and weeping in the process.

Senator McGovern has been building up a big organization of young people, much like the one that supported former Senator Eugene McCarthy four years ago.

But McGovern hasn't yet clicked. He may still do so, but he hasn't yet. Thoughtful people also have growing doubts that McGovern would provide adequate protection for us against powerful enemies.

There is a question whether the latest developments in Vietnam have helped or hurt McGovern. It is not an issue of whether we should pull our troops out of Vietnam.

That issue was decided long ago. We are pulling

Jaycees Select Mofenson, Guzzi For DSA Award

State Representatives David Mofenson and Paul H. Guzzi were joint recipients of the Newton Jaycees' Distinguished Service Award, presented recently at a banquet in Auburndale.

Jeff Cornell, Jaycee awards chairman, explained that the dual award was being given because judges decided unanimously to present two awards, saying that because both men had made numerous contributions, it was not possible to choose between them.

Mayor Theodore Mann presented the awards and was the guest speaker at the banquet.

Jaycee Vice President John Marchese received the Certificate of Merit, a presentation from the national Jaycees, in recognition "of unselfish services rendered to his chapter." It is the first time the certificate has gone to a Newton Jaycee member of the Newton Chapter.

The names of Sgt. Gerald Lawrence, Wigmore A. Pierson and James Salter, administrative assistant to the mayor, will be submitted to the State Jaycee competition for the Ten Outstanding Young Men of the Year in Massachusetts along with the names of Guzzi and Mofenson.

Co-President

Alan Braunstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Braunstein of 67 Prentice Rd., Newton Centre, has been elected co-president of his class at Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., for the 1972-73 academic year.

Alan is a freshman at Skidmore.

out our forces. Everything indicates that when we finish, the North Viets will overrun South Vietnam and that we may even have a problem of getting our last forces out of Vietnam alive.

But the consideration which causes many people to hesitate about McGovern is whether he actually has a realistic plan for running this country and protecting it from powerful adversaries.

Wallace is getting a good vote, but it really is not a vote for him. Many of the people giving him a protest vote now wouldn't mark a cross beside his name in a Presidential election. To many people a vote for Wallace is a vote of protest—a protest against things as they are, a vote against busing on which there is a strong and deep feeling.

Many of the people who give Wallace a vote in a Presidential Primary should shudder at the thought of him serving as President.

But if Muskie continues to fade and does not make a strong comeback in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Ohio; if McGovern doesn't really click; if it appears there really isn't any outstanding Democratic candidate for the Presidency, what does the Democratic national convention do? It must put up a candidate at a time the Democratic candidates have knocked each other out.

The answer is not to draft Ted Kennedy because Ted insists he isn't draftable. The convention could turn to tried, true and showman Hubert Humphrey; or it could try to build up someone like Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington before the election. April 25 may provide a pretty fair inkling of what will happen.

Lindsay Aides Left Unpaid Bills In Florida Hotels

We don't know who would win if the Democratic Presidential candidates held a popularity contest among the Florida hotel owners and operators, but we are practically certain that New York Mayor John V. Lindsay would come in last.

When the final returns in Wisconsin showed Lindsay polling 59,047 votes, about seven per cent of those cast, the recent convert to the Democratic party decided enough was enough, that he had wasted sufficient funds and announced his withdrawal from the Democratic Presidential race.

Up to that time Lindsay had been asserting that the Massachusetts Presidential Primary on April 25 would be his crucial test and that he was the one candidate who could defeat Senator Edmund S. Muskie.

Since then it has developed that defeating Senator Muskie, the supposed front-runner, doesn't project anybody into anything except the bad graces of the Muskie family.

But when Mayor Lindsay, whose unpopularity supposedly had been confined to the city he governs and now seems to be spreading, announced in Milwaukee that he wasn't going to run any more, at least not for President in 1972, the hotel-keepers almost swooned in a group.

It seems that Lindsay owed the Florida hotels at least $30,000 which isn't exactly running-around money in the lower echelons.

Lindsay offered assurances that the bills would be paid, observing that he always has paid his campaign debts but steered away from any precise date when the Florida hotel operators could expect their money.

Lindsay did say that the matter obviously should be attended to as soon as possible, which is a vague statement if we ever heard one, and he made it a little vaguer by adding that he did not know the details of the unpaid Florida bills.

Some interesting details about the unpaid Lindsay hotel bills did begin to pop up shortly thereafter.

It seems that the trouble started last December when Sid Davidoff, a top Lindsay campaign aide, was evicted from the Lucerne Hotel at Miami Beach because some of the other guests complained about the habits of his pet chow dog.

Whether he paid his bills when he made his departure with his chow is not made clear. Under the circumstances we would doubt it.

Newton Fair Housing On The Busing Issue

Editor,

The Graphic:

President Nixon is right: housing is a means to a noble end—integration. Newton Fair Housing would not call it, as he did, a "bad" means, even though busing can be an inefficient way to desegregate our schools as well as our society.

Unfortunately, it was one of the few means available to those of us who wished to avoid what the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders predicted for America: "two societies, one black, one white, separate and unequal."

The Commission on Civil Disorders blamed white racism for "pervasive discrimination and segregation in employment, education, and housing, which have resulted in the continuing exclusion of great numbers of Negroes from the benefits of economic progress."

One of President Nixon's implied arguments is that blacks can achieve economic progress if more money is poured into their schools. First of all, it is doubtful if the same old school boards which have maintained separate and unequal schools in the past will suddenly give blacks what they need.

But even if the black schools did achieve parity with white schools, where would this leave America? Would we become one society? If recent housing battles in "liberal" Newton are any indication, it is doubtful.

Newton bases its liberal reputation on a black population of less than two per cent, and a majority of these blacks either live in our ghetto, or in very high income brackets.

Any attempts to build housing in white neighborhoods for families of more modest means is met by hysterical opposition. It is a simple fact that busing of school children arose because adults showed they were unwilling to desegregate their neighborhoods. So it appears that by scuttling busing Nixon is perpetuating more of the separate and unequal status for America.

By his anti-housing speech, Mr. Nixon has encouraged the opponents of integrated schools without encouraging the proponents of integrated housing. If busing is a poor means for achieving integration, why not encourage people to integrate their neighborhoods? In this way our schools would be neighborhood schools and integrated schools.

But instead, the President's moral leadership in housing has been just as lacking as his leadership in education. He has already told us he won't "force integration on the suburbs." Never mind that laws going back to the 19th century make discrimination in housing illegal.

The job of Newton Fair Housing is now made more difficult, but along with other organizations and private individuals we will continue to fight on the state and local levels to prosecute violations of our anti-discrimination laws and to encourage employers, schools, and home owners to work for a single, multi-racial America.

Steven Shugrue, Chrm., Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights, Auburndale

Favors State Welfare Hike

Editor,

The Graphic:

It makes me burn when our State Legislators cry poverty every year over welfare budget and yet will turn around and vote themselves a pay raise and spend several million dollars of taxpayers' money on new curtains, regliding the State House Dome, and restoring its antique wallpaper! Aren't people more important?

During the recent hearings on S-841, which would provide cost-of-living increases to people on AFDC, GR and OAA, testimony was given that 78,000 poor families in our state will have their standard of living eroded another six per cent by inflation if the Legislature doesn't pass the bill this session. Of course it costs money to feed people, it costs more every year!

The lawmakers knew this when they voted their own raise, and yet every summer the welfare budget comes up, they cut it to ribbons. After all, it's not their own wives or families they're depriving of food.

With current salaries of $11,500, I submit legislators and their families can wait with less suffering for an increase than the AFDC family of four with less than $4,000.

Somehow we have gotten our priorities very twisted when we allow our legislators to spend money on antiques

Cites Reasons For Vote On Peddlers

Editor,

The Graphic:

It was recently reported in the Newton press that I voted against the Ordinance requiring the licensing of peddlers. Unfortunately, the reasons for my vote were not reported.

I stated on the floor of the Board of Aldermen that I was in favor of the Ordinance, but that one provision of the Ordinance was, in my opinion, unconstitutionally vague in that it gives complete discretionary power to the Newton Police Department to deny a license to an applicant on the basis of a lack of "good character."

I have confidence that Chief Quinn and his Department are doing a fine job, but I hesitate to add to their burdens the task of determining who has and who has not a "good character."

I believe that 24 Aldermen, if the question were to be debated, would have difficulty establishing a rational standard for measuring good character. In my view, the delegation of this power to the Police Department, without any standard contained in the Ordinance, is over-broad and consequently unconstitutional.

Even the current Supreme Court under Chief Justice Burger, which is gaining a reputation as a "Law and Order" Court, has recently struck down as unconstitutionally broad, the "Idle and Disorderly" Ordinances which are common to almost every municipality in our country.

I made a motion on the floor of the Board of Aldermen that the Ordinance be returned to Committee for the sole purpose of establishing a standard of what constitutes "good character," but my motion to recommit was defeated, and when the Ordinance came up for vote, I felt that I had to vote against it.

I could have interposed a charter objection, but being basically in sympathy with the Ordinance, I did not wish to prevent its passage; and I will now attempt to work within Committee to establish a standard of "good character."

I hope that this will explain my view on this Ordinance to the many constituents who have telephoned and written to me concerning my vote.

Edward L. Richmond, Alderman-at-large (Ward 2) Newton

Warns Against Dogs' Heart-Worm Disease

Editor,

The Graphic:

Having long since realized that our "newspaper - media" is a remarkable way in which we can air our opinions and object to things, be it leaf-burning, snow shovelling or vandalism — I am hopefully writing upon quite a serious and different subject in hopes that someone else may read this and take preventative steps in time.

This is about dogs. For several years we have had two fine English sheep-dogs, and it was with the most painful regret that we were told last week that both were suffering from "heart-worm." Being totally ignorant about such a disease I made inquiries and, in the most unscientific language will pass on what I was told.

The disease is transmitted by a mosquito bite, which somehow becomes a worm which travels to the dog's heart in a matter of three months or more, after which time the dog's life is in danger. It can apparently be easily treated in its earlier stages, and this (with a little luck!) will happen to ours.

Apparently there was an epidemic of these mosquitoes all along the North Shore area, north of Boston last summer which came right down into the Newton area. Because it takes so long for the results to be noticeable the first cases were not proven until early this year. It has been found in both Dover and Sherborne too, I believe.

This is no monster holler of alarm, but I feel it is only right that other dog-owners become aware of this danger. A simple blood - test can prove whether your dog has the infection. And where there is no infection I gather that there are "shots" which can give immunity for this coming year.

To many of us, with all that we have to do, this may be just the "final straw" in bizzness. Personally, however, I could wish that someone had told ME of this before it hit us.

At the April 3rd meeting of Rev. and Mrs. Robert L. Griesse of Waban, was awarded the Liberal Arts Club and Choir, has studied piano for eight years, and has worked for three years at the Waban Library.

Miss Gail Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund T. Collins, Jr. of West Newton, was chosen to receive the Nursing Scholarship and seeks a degree in Nursing. She is a high ranking Curriculum I student at Newton High School, an active member of Athletic Association, Ski Club, Rally Committee, Cheerleader, and is a Senior Life Saver. She is on the staff of "The Newtonian", the Newton High School Year Book, and has worked as a nurses' aide.

The recipients expressed their thanks and their mothers were welcomed by the members of the club and joined in a program of pictures and history of Portsmouth's "Strawberry Banke" presented by Charles L. Kaufman. The tea hour afterwards gave them the opportunity to become better acquainted with all present.

These scholarships have been provided yearly by fund raising activities at the pre-Christmas Philanthropic Day, also by a portion of membership dues, and by a fund established by a former club president. This program has provided assistance for further education of outstanding Newton High School students since the early 1920s.

Whiting added that he did not see C&S as "a great panacea for daytime instruction in schools."

"In the long run," he said, "it is the access of the public at night to seeing what is going on in schools and the ability for schools to communicate to the community that is important."

"I think we might underestimate local programming. It does provide an opportunity to do a number of things of civic and educational value."

School Committeeman Francis P. Frazier commented that the same "wonders for the school" theory had been used to describe potential uses of movies, radio and television, and wondered if cable television would eventually wind up in the same category.

Committee member Alvin Mandell said he "commended Whiting for his enthusiasm, but he said: "I would suggest some caution."

"There are a number of professionals in the field who would disagree completely with you," Mandell said. "I think we should investigate this all thoroughly and proceed cautiously."

Harrington Candidate For House of Representatives

Alderman Peter F. Harrington, vice president of the Newton Board of Aldermen, announced today that he is a candidate for the House of Representatives in the 12th Middlesex district composed of Newton wards 1, 2, 3 and 7. That takes in Nonantum, Newtonville, West Newton and part of Newton.

That district now is served by Representatives Paul H. Guzzi and Paul F. Malloy, both Democrats. Harrington also is a Democrat. Malloy was a candidate for Mayor last fall.

Alderman Harrington is the first Ward 2 (Newtonville) alderman to hold the position of vice president of the Board of Aldermen. Last year he served as chairman of the Efficiency Committee which revised the Rules and Procedures of the Board of Aldermen providing a greater availability of information to the public and resulted in a reduction in time of aldermanic meetings from an average of five and one half hours to three and one half hours. This year he is chairman of a committee to review and recodify all of Newton's ordinances.

He also serves on the Land Use, Public Works, Street Traffic, Cable T.V. Committees and the Mayor's Centennial Committee. He has served on the committees for environmental protection, voting machines, and housing.

In 1971 (prior to the change in aldermanic leadership) Alderman Harrington, Alderman Cannan, Alderman Bullwinkle, Alderman Crosby, and Alderman Carman made a thorough study of the city budget and recommended a $300,000 reduction which resulted in a saving of $150,000 or 50 cents on the tax rate.

"I have attended every Board Meeting and I don't think I've missed more than a dozen of our 700 roll call votes and those misses were on routine matters," he said. "I intend to give the same service in the State Legislature."

In 1969, Harrington was elected to Newton's first Charter Commission and was one of the majority members recommending its adoption.

"Knowing other communities had tried and failed, I was pleased to learn that Newton was the first major city to adopt a new charter under our Home Rule Amendment," he commented.

Concerning the issue of tax reform, Alderman Harrington said, "The increasing percentage of spendable income which is used to support government and the inverse decreasing supply of public services is the major crisis facing middle and low income Americans today."

"We must use modern technology and methods to increase public services. We must also use the common sense of the American housewife when spending the public's money."

"The property tax is regressive and is becoming too great a burden for the elderly and most economic classes. If it is not eliminated, it must be revised and restrained so that it cannot exceed a certain percentage of gross family income."

"I proposed this type of legislation before the Newton Board of Aldermen but the city solicitor ruled it was up to the State Legislature. I hope to bring this proposal to the State House and get it passed."

Alderman Harrington's record of legislative success includes: a two year fight for a winter cover for the Gath Pool, Ice Skating Safety Standards recommended to and adopted by the Recreation Commission, an Anti-Noise Pollution ordinance, a 1970 resolution to the State Legislature to include all of Newton in a single Senate District (which was adopted) and changes in aldermanic rules to speed up the legislative process.

Concerning his candidacy, Harrington said he would like to serve in the State House.

"I would like to lend what talents I have to help revise our governmental process to one 'of and by the people' rather than one of and by insurance and utility companies, lobbyists and other moneyed interests," Harrington said. "To accomplish this we will probably have to call a Constitutional Convention, run by the voters to consider such items as limitation on terms of service, restrictions on lobbyists, structure and size of the Legislature, county reform, protection of the elderly and those forced to retire and live on a fixed income, protection of children and the poor from T.V. advertisements, prison reform for children and others, and on and on."

LETTERS

Land Training School For Helping Their Son

Editor,
The Graphic:
This letter is in regard to the closing of Middlesex Training School, and our feelings about the situation. Before our son Steven was allowed to enter Middlesex School for Boys, he went to Hayden School for Boys and was able to come home at night and weekends.

This did not work out for him. He also went to the Youth Service Board at Roslindale, which was a complete disaster for him.

Now Steve is at Middlesex. When he first entered, he was working at sixth grade level. He's been there ten months and is now working at an average eighth grade level.

We feel this accomplishment is remarkable, as formerly he was a child who simply would not work at school. Ten months ago you couldn't communicate with Steve at all. Now his whole attitude has changed, and Middlesex School was the catalyst.

Steve is now a happy 15-year-old, and we want to publicly thank the staff of the school for taking the time and patience with our son as they

Antique Cars At Meeting Of Masons Apr. 19

The next afternoon meeting of the Newton Masonic Club will be Wednesday, April 19. Snack Bar at 1:30 p.m., meeting 2:00.

As parents we feel it would be a sin for this school to be closed. It also would be grossly unfair to so many other boys who desperately need the help of this great school.

Puddingstone Lane Teen Program Begins Sunday

Puddingstone Lane Teen Program, sponsored by the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center, is setting up an extensive arts and crafts program. It is starting next Sunday, (April 16) and continuing on every Monday, Wednesday, and Sunday afternoons and evenings.

Those interested will be free to work on leather and silver work, ceramics, macrame, and other activities consisting of pool and ping pong. Other programs will be set up according to the amount of interest shown in specific areas.

Puddingstone Lane is located off Oak Hill Street next to Temple Beth Avodah, Newton.

On April 22 from 2 to 11 p.m. and April 23 from 2 to 10:30 p.m. an arts and crafts show and sale will be held at Puddingstone Lane which the public is invited to attend.

All Newton Junior High and High School students are invited to participate in showing and selling arts and crafts materials they have made, including photographs, prints, paintings, silver crafts, weaving, and any other projects.

All work must be done by the person displaying the project. The space needed and the publicity for the event will be provided.

Anyone with questions call 734-0800, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

DOLLARS and SENSE

Cavil A. Hill Vice President

Anyone with a good income and good credit rating would probably collect a dozen or more cards entitling him to charge everything and even to borrow money. The basic question, however, is whether these cards are worth it. To answer this for yourself, you should first ask what suitable purpose any particular card would serve. For instance, would it give you a convenient record of your business expenses?

... If you were out of town, would it be a convenience to have credit cards if you ran short of cash? ... Do long intervals elapse between the time when you receive income, so that using credit may tide you over for several weeks or so? ... The fact is that most firms seeking to extend credit may tide you over for several a great deal more, giving them a profit, not only from the sales they make, but also on the money you owe them.

CHANDLER-LEVY HARDWARE

If you had crabgrass last summer, here's how to prevent it this year

The answer for you is Scott's famous combination product, HALTS PLUS For Established Lawns. Spread it on your lawn in late winter or early spring, and it sets up a barrier that will prevent crabgrass from showing its ugly head this year. Halts Plus also fertilizes your lawn at the same time. Makes your grass grow thicker, greener, sturdier. All from a single application. If you're planning on seeding, get HALTS PLUS For New Seedings instead. It's on sale too.

Betty Taymor Is Unopposed For Dem. State Committee

Mrs. Betty Taymor of 44 Fairfax street, West Newton, is unopposed for reelection to the Democratic State Committee. The Eighth Middlesex Senatorial District, which she seeks to represent this year for the first time, includes Watertown and Newton. The election for Democratic State Committeewoman will take place on Tuesday, April 25th, at the time of the Presidential primary.

Mrs. Taymor is also a candidate for Delegate - at - large to the 1972 Democratic National Convention. Her name will appear on the state - wide slate pledged to Senator Muskie.

As Co - Chairman of the Democratic State Committee on Party Reform, Mrs. Taymor has been an instructor in political science at Northeastern University. She was appointed by both Presidents Kennedy and Johnson to serve on the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO. Long active in local and national Democratic affairs, she was Campaign Coordinator for the late John F. Kennedy in his 1958 senatorial campaign and she nominated Senator Edward M. Kennedy at the Democratic State Convention in 1968.

A graduate of Goucher College in Baltimore in 1942, she earned her M.A. from Boston University in 1967. In 1959, she was awarded her Elizabeth Ellicott Fellowship for post graduate study at M.I.T. and Harvard under the direction of Professor Robert C. Wood, now President of the University of Massachusetts. She was co - director of and lecturer in the Program for Women Interested in Political and Administration Services at Simmons College in 1968-69.

Her service to the Democratic Party includes being Delegate - at - large to the Democratic National Conventions in 1960, 1964 and 1968, where she served as secretary of the Democratic National Rules Committee in 1964 and member of the Democratic National Platform Committee in 1960 and 1968.

She is a member of the American Political Science Association and of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. She is the wife of Dr. Melvin L. Taymor, Professor at Harvard Medical School and Chief of Gynecology at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Education Department. Before coming to Northeastern, he was chief of corrective therapy, chief of education therapy, rehabilitation coordinator and counseling psychologist with the Veterans Administration Hospital programs.

Dr. Margolin served on the Governor's Advisory Council on Vocational Education and Rehabilitation, the Advisory Committee for Higher Education on Problems of Community Service and Continuing Education and the Advisory Council on Special Education for the Boston Public School System.

He was a member of the Board of Trustees for World University of Huto Rey, Puerto Rico, a university dedicated to human services on an international level. Dr. Margolin was on the original seven - man planning committee to establish World University.

He was also educational chairman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Dr. Margolin received his bachelor's degree in sociology from Northeastern in 1940, his master's in sociology from Boston University in 1942 and his doctorate in human relations from Columbia University Teacher's College in 1950.

Dr. Margolin leaves his wife, Ruth F. (Posner); three children, Kenneth N., Jane P., and Andrew S., all of Newton Centre; one sister, Mary Zelmeyer of Brookline; and two brothers, Baruch Margolin of Natick and Sidney Margolin of California.

Funeral services were held April 9 at Stanetsky - Schlossberg Solomon Memorial Chapel, 1668 Beason st., Brookline.

In 1965 he became professor of social science in education and chairman of the Department of Rehabilitation and Special Education.

Dr. Margolin first joined Northeastern University in 1961 as associate professor of social science for the Department of Community Service in the Center for Continuing Education.

He was also project director of the New England Rehabilitation Research Institute at Northeastern and editor of "The American Archives of Rehabilitation Therapy."

Born in Cambridge, Dr. Margolin lived at 28 Halcyon Road, Newton Centre.

During his 25 years in the field, he had become recognized as an innovator and leading authority in rehabilitation and special education.

He was recently honored by being elected to the National Rehabilitation Training Institute Hall of Fame as one of its first three members.

Some of his major contributions involved establishing a rehabilitation program for patients with spinal cord and traumatic brain injury during World War II, instituting the first advanced training program for rehabilitation administration, and founding one of only five rehabilitation research institutes funded by the federal government.

Dr. Margolin had achieved outstanding achievement awards from the President's Committee to Employ the Handicapped, Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries, the American Association of Medical Rehabilitation Directors and Coordinators, the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes and the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Dr. Margolin first joined Northeastern University in 1961 as associate professor of social science for the Department of Community Service in the Center for Continuing Education.

In 1965 he became professor of social science in education and chairman of the Department of Rehabilitation and Special Education.

Fellowship For Basic Research

Richard A. Laursen of Newton, Assistant Professor of chemistry at B.U., recently was awarded a Sloan Fellowship for Basic Research by the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation of New York.

Dr. Laursen, with the aid of graduate students, has built the only two machines in the world — one at BU and the other at the Max Planck Institute for Molecular Genetics in Berlin — which automate the study of the structure of proteins.

The peptide - sequencing machines separate out the components of protein chains about 10 times as fast as a scientist utilizing the more traditional methods can.

Finding out how protein chains are constructed and how they work has "interesting evolutionary aspects," Dr. Laursen said.

Seek Compromise On B.C. Dorm Locations

Chestnut Hill residents met informally Thursday night with David Stockman, assistant to Boston College President Rev. W. Seavey Joyce and Thomas Freeto, legal representative of Thomas J. Flatley Construction Co., to work out a compromise on a proposed four-unit six-story dormitory complex.

Newtonites living near the BC campus, among other objections to the new buildings, have complained that the six-story buildings will destroy the view of the hillsides along Commonwealth ave.

Three alternatives were proposed by the residents: moving the building site from the present location behind Alumni Hall on Commonwealth ave. to another part of the campus; scaling down the mass of the buildings; or making a slight shift in location to alter the perspective of the buildings as seen from Commonwealth ave. Representatives of Boston College and the Flatley Co. agreed to consider the third alternative - a slight shift in location to alter the perspective of the buildings. The compromise plan calls for separating the four buildings slightly, so as to break up the feeling of massiveness, and for moving two of the buildings (Buildings C and D) some 20-30 feet toward the middle of the campus, away from Commonwealth ave. toward the middle of the campus, the shift toward the center of the campus will reduce the size of the buildings as seen from the street.

The other two dorms, Buildings A and B, will be moved further toward Boston and away from Commonwealth ave., so they will be

Do you know what the most impressive status symbol in Washington, D. C. is? Well, it isn't a Cadillac or a town house in Georgetown. It's an ordinary lead pencil—the kind Americans use at the amazing rate of 1.5 billion a year. This pencil is made of red cedar and bears the words "U. S. Senator". The Senators were issued free cedarwood pencils shortly after the Civil War. This symbol of our lawmakers has continued to this day. Great operas and books have been written in pencil. Whatever lies ahead in this new age of automation—you can be sure that the little lead pencil will be in use long after machines have become obsolete.

If your camera has become obsolete, now is the time to get a new one at TREK PHOTOGRAPHIC, 21 Needham Street, Newton Highlands, 969-8722. You'll find equipment by Kodak, Polaroid, Nikon and DuPont in our very complete inventory. Our April Special is a Polaroid Square Shooter 2 with carry-all case, roll of 88 film and 2 flash-cubes, a $37.30 value for $29.50. Open: 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday - Friday; closed Saturday.

While it is true that men are more prone to heart attacks than women, this statistical edge for women begins to fade as they grow older.

Says the Institute of Life Insurance: "After menopause, women begin to gain on men in probability of a heart attack. By age 70 the two sexes are almost equally susceptible."

James Smithson, a wealthy English scientist, founded the Smithsonian Institution in his will.

Newton Senior Wins Contest With Overture

Robert Beaser of Newton, a senior at Newton South High School, has won the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra's composition contest with his original "Overture Antigone."

Walter Eisenberg, director of the GBSYO, in announcing the winning composition, stated that it would be performed by the full orchestra at a concert in Jordan Hall on April 30.

The 17-year-old Beaser, a tympnist, participated in the 1971 "American Youth Performs" concert directed by Morton Gould at Boston's Symphony Hall. He has been a member of the GBSYO for four years and was a member of the 1971 Northeast District and All-State Orchestras, playing snare drum in the former and xylophone in the latter.

In addition to nine years' instruction in piano and eight in percussion instruments, Beaser is currently studying composition with Arnold Franchetti, chairman of the composition department at Hart College of Music, in Hartford, Conn.

Beaser's composition competed with those of other students from the New England area. Judging the entries were Dr. Gardner Read of Boston University's School of Fine and Applied Arts, chairman of the panel; Dr. Daniel Pinkham of the New England Conservatory of Music, and Richard Felciano, composer.

Bay Path Scouts Adopt New Plan For Cookie Sale

Senior and Cadette Girl Scouts of Bay Path Colonial Council in Newton Upper Falls launched an all-out drive last week to sell cookies under a new sales plan, an approach which combines regular order-taking and direct sales.

During March, customers received cookies ordered at their homes, and last week had a chance to make additional purchases. The majority of the sales force was at special tables in banks, grocery stores, and in suburban shopping centers. All five varieties were sold at 60 cents a box.

Girl Scout troops of senior and junior high school age earned 10 cents on each box sold; Council profits from these sales will be allocated to the fund which finances attendance at conferences, international events, and special workshops.

Newton troops participating were: Senior Troop 545, and Cadette Troops 532, 536, 654, 669, and 608.

Dysautonomia Chapter To Hold Dinner April 25th

George Crohn, Jr., president of the National Dysautonomia Foundation Inc., of New York, will be the principal speaker on Tuesday, April 25, when the Foundation's Greater Boston Chapter holds its annual Chinese-supper card-party at China Sails, Chestnut Hill.

More than 100 persons are expected to attend the affair, at which time officers of the Greater Boston Chapter will present the Chapter's annual check to the National Foundation's Research Fund.

The National Foundation and its Chapters across the United States sponsor numerous projects throughout the year to raise funds to underwrite research to find a control and cure for familial dysautonomia, an hereditary disease which afflicts Jewish children. As a result of monies raised, research is now being conducted in some of the Nation's leading medical centers as well as in Israel.

Besides Mr. Crohn, others participating in the program will be Mrs. Judith Elgart of Newton, Chapter treasurer; Mrs. Judith Bess of Newton, supper party chairman; and Mrs. Jane Ansin of Newton, the Chapter's Vice President for fund raising.

Open House at Two New Diet Workshop Groups in Newton

The Diet Workshop has just announced that starting the week of April 17th two new classes will be added at the Newton Corner office on 317 Washington St.

On Monday, April 17th at 8:00 p.m. Joanna Shaw, one of the Workshop's most popular instructors, will welcome visitors to a free Open House. Joanna lost 175 lbs. in a year and dropped from a size 52 dress to a 14!

The second Open House will be held on Thursday, April 20th at 7:30 p.m. The instructor for this class will be vivacious, attractive Eileen Bromfield who lost 50 lbs. on this same program. She too will be happy to answer questions and register new members.

Men, women and teenagers will be welcome to attend these Open Houses at no obligation. They may join that night or at any future meeting. Classes will still be held on Tuesday and Wednesday at the same address for added convenience.

These free Open Houses will provide an opportunity for people to meet these new instructors (whose total weight loss is 225 lbs!) and hear about this healthy balanced diet which is combined with mild exercise, the group approach to weight control and excellent gourmet recipes.

Truck Depot Is Turned Down For Second Time

Contractor Dino DiCarlo's proposal for a million-dollar telephone truck depot on Rowe st. in Auburndale was turned down for the second time, as the Aldermanic Franchises and Licenses Committee Thursday night rejected DiCarlo's application for a permit to store inflammables on the site.

The Thursday hearing came five months after Contractor DiCarlo took the Board of Aldermen to court last November, when his first application was rejected on the grounds that the vehicles - up to 85 trucks and 125 cars - to be utilizing the depot would create a traffic hazard. DiCarlo argued that the Aldermen could only reject a permit to store inflammables on grounds of inadequate safety precautions. But the judge upheld the Aldermen's right to deny a permit for other reasons relating to the public welfare.

In his Thursday night presentation, DiCarlo submitted a plan identical to the one rejected by the Aldermen last fall. But in addition, his attorney presented two alternative plans for which the contractor claimed no Aldermanic permits were required. If the permit to store inflammables on Rowe st. were denied, DiCarlo said, he would build one of the alternative structures.

One plan called for a two-story telephone company office building on Rowe st., and a garage on Webster st., and owned by DiCarlo Brothers, Inc., and already holding a permit to store inflammables.

A second plan called for a commercial warehouse with large truck loading bays on the Rowe st. site.

DiCarlo's lawyer told the Aldermen that the alternatives were being presented "to suggest to the Aldermen that the original proposal may be more desirable. The lawyer pointed out that much of the opposition to the original proposal came from Webster st. residents.

DiCarlo explained that he still preferred the original proposal, as it would be the most economically feasible.

An audience of some 50 persons applauded as Ward 4 Alderman Richard McGrath charged that the plans were "a threat, rather than an alternative." McGrath denounced the presentation as "commercial blackmail."

Webster st. resident William Lloyd presented two petitions in opposition to the DiCarlo permit, one containing the names of 21 of the 22 abutters, and the other containing 66 signatures. Robert W. Barrett, vice-president of the 300-member Auburndale Community Association, said the ACA's Executive Board had voted unanimously to oppose the depot.

Propane gas tanks to be stored on the sight aroused most concern among the residents. Citing recent explosions in Tewksbury, Lowell, and Logan Airport, Mrs. Thomas Binnall of 129 Rowe st. declared, "I don't want 800 lbs. of propane 400 yards away from my home."

Asserting that many students from Warren Junior High School walk past the site on the way to school, Mrs. Binnall told the Aldermen that vandalism was on the increase in the area. "Since Nov. 1970, we've had 47 radio antennas snatched from cars of friends parked in front of our house. Vandalous children put together with explosive material creates one loud bang," she warned.

William Lloyd told the Aldermen there was a blind intersection at the corner of the turnpike bridge at Rowe st. and Commonwealth ave., and that increased truck traffic would endanger the children walking to three schools in the area.

Both Mrs. Binnall and Mr. Barrett told the Aldermen they would prefer the alternative plan for commercial warehouse, rather than a truck depot on the site.

The surprise witness was David J. Lyons of 29 Crescent st., who charged that DiCarlo was not a fit recipient for the permit because he was improperly using the land at the present time.

Lyons presented photographs of piles of lumber, lath, plaster and brick on the property, and charged that DiCarlo was violating state law by operating an open dump without a permit. Lyons stated that the material came from demolition work in Boston being performed by DiCarlo Brothers, Inc., and was hauled to the site in DiCarlo Brothers trucks.

Dino DiCarlo claimed that the material had been dumped without his knowledge or permission and that he was arranging to have it removed. However, Lyons claimed that after Dino DiCarlo had promised to remove the material, dumping continued.

Lyons pointed out that Dino DiCarlo's brother Mario, who owns both the Webster st. site and the trucks dumping the demolition material, is a member and former chairman of the Newton Redevelopment Authority. "This is one of the most blighted areas in the city. It's owned by one of the men who is supposed to be redeveloping, instead he's creating more blight," charged Lyons.

Franchises and Licenses Committee Chairman Harry H. Crosby pointed out that the hearing was on the proposal by Dino DiCarlo, who is not a member of the Redevelopment Authority.

Speaking in favor of the proposed depot were Arthur Dias of the Telephone Company, and Mrs. Margaret Stone of 239 River st.

Dias pointed out that there would be no transferring of propane on the site and no large storage tanks. Propane would be delivered and stored in small 6 or 7 gallon tanks to be hooked directly onto the trucks, he said.

He also maintained that the depot was justified by a rapid increase in telephone lines and service in Newton in the last five years.

Charging that the traffic problem is used as "an excuse for denying many things," Mrs. Stone asserted, "I am forced to the conclusion that the Aldermanic committees are determined to prevent anything from coming into the city that would bring in taxes." Mrs. Stone maintained that in two years the depot would bring in $50,000 in taxes. A show of hands showed 16 property owners against the depot and one in favor.

Rep. Mills In City April 18

The possibility of "revenue sharing" to help cities and towns beat rising costs and inflation when property tax income is drying up, will be discussed by U.S. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D. Ark.), Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, in Newton next Tuesday (April 18).

Mayor Theodore D. Mann of Newton will be host to a large gathering of Massachusetts' mayors, council, school officials and Aldermen, as well as members of the League of Women Voters, state legislators and labor council officials. It will be held in the Mayor's Suite, Newton City Hall at 10:30 a.m.

Mills will be in the Bay State for a series of speaking engagements. He is a candidate for the Presidential nomination and his name will be on the ballot in Massachusetts on March 25.

Among Bay State mayors who have accepted the invitation to participate in the discussion concerning tax relief will be Mayor Walter J. Hannon, Quincy; Mayor Barbara Ackermann, Cambridge; Mayor Wilfred C. Driscoll, Fall River; Mayor William J. Reinstein, Revere; Mayor S. Lester Ralph, Somerville; and Mayor Arthur J. Clark, Waltham.

South Lacrosse Team In Rebuilding Year

Steeves is facing another problem besides inexperience. This spring only 23 boys are out for lacrosse. In the past he has had approximately 40 boys to mold a team from.

"Right now," he said, "it's hard to say where things stand. We're not as strong as last year, but things may develop. We haven't been outside much to practice because of the weather. We are definitely not settled, but things are coming around reasonably well."

South has only seven returning lettermen and three returning starters. The starters back are co - captains Mark Dixey and Gary Ross and Paul Murphy. Dixey and Murphy are both defensemen and Ross will be a three - year starter at the goalie's post.

Jerry Moore and Roy Linn are also lettermen and will man two of the mid - field positions. Defensemen Dave Poliska and junior John Staulo also earned letters.

Newcomers to the varsity who are in line for starting spots are Rich Rubin, Rich Gordon and Peter Sullivan and Frank McGowan, two transfers from Sacred Heart High School.

"Our strong point," noted Steeves, "should be defense. All of our attackers graduated, so we will be sort of inexperienced up front. We'll just have to play a conservative defensive game and hope the breaks go our way."

On Union College Baseball Lineup

Steve Stockman of Newton Centre is a pitcher on the baseball team of Union College in Schenectady, N.Y. A graduate of Newton South High School, he pitched a 3-1 season last year at Union, as a freshman, and will handle one of the starting spots this season.

About 6,000 hymns were composed by Charles Wesley.

Newton Nine 2-3 in Pre-Season: But Progress Made

By DAVID SOLOMON

Success in terms of winning is not the aim of a pre-season schedule. There are numerous examples where teams switch completely from their exhibition level of play.

The key to a pre-season schedule is letting the players get in shape and learn to play with each other well. And of course giving the coaches a chance to make decisions about the eventual regulars and the type of game the team will play. It is a time for making mistakes, and trying to correct mistakes.

Newton High's baseball team is 2-3 in pre-season play. Coach Ed Fraktman commented that "we're satisfied with the progress to date. Basically we've been looking at our personnel to determine where they will play. Things have begun to jell lately, and we're reasonably close to establishing a set lineup."

Freedman's Sports Talk

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

He was Frank Merriwell reincarnated, Chip Hilton revisited, and John Havlicek duplicated. The miracle-worker last Friday night in the Boston Celtics' 124-114 decision over the Atlanta Hawks at the Boston Garden, was Steve Kuberski.

The game was a key one for Boston. The win, before 15,315, gave the Celtics a 3-2 lead in the NBA quarter-final play-off round, and two chances to win one more.

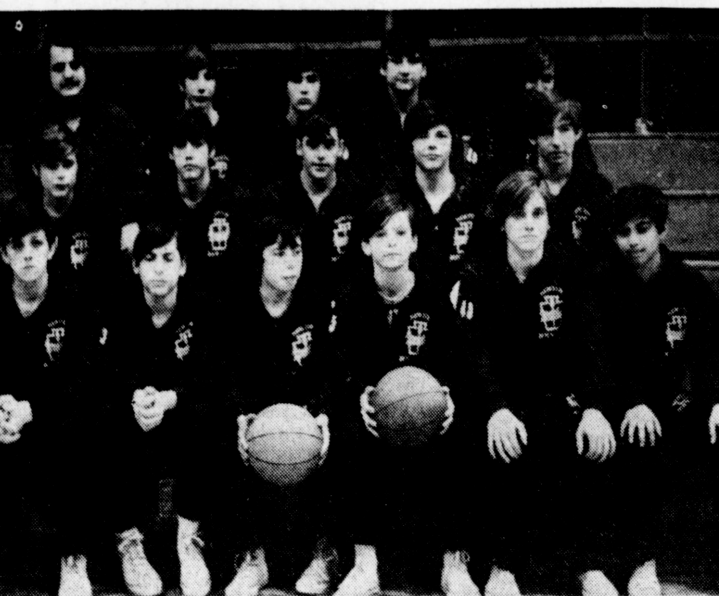

It seems likely the Celtics will now go to the finals to battle the Los Angeles or Milwaukee, but if it were not for Kuberski's clutch heroics they would probably be going nowhere except home.

Kuberski's near-flawless performance, 20 points and 10 rebounds, as well as tough recoveries and miracle blocked shots in 21 minutes of play, resembled a fairy-tale. It brought back memories of the old Kentucky Colonel Frank Ramsey, coming off the bench as "the best sixth man in basketball" to take control of the game.

The Celtics started the game like a super-team. The Hawks, meanwhile, obligingly played the role of a ding-dong school opponent. The white and green raced to 11-1, 16-2, and 25-8 leads and I thought they would win by 30. But then they went cold and Lou Hudson got hot for a while.

Things got a little tight at 34-31 when Kuberski made his first appearance. He swiftly sank eight points to give the Celtics a comfortable lead again. He reappeared when the Celtics' lead was down to 85-82, bombing in 20-footers and finally putting the contest out of reach.

The 6-8 forward who graduated Bradley in 1969, was truly a giant among men, last Friday. It's hard to see how Kuberski, a third-year man, won't start next winter.

NHS Trackmen Rebuilding In Boyle's 35th Season

By DAVID SOLOMON

"At first, it looked as if we'd be fighting hard just to win a good amount of our meets. But now things look more promising. This is an obvious building year, but I think we can come out pretty well."

This was Newton High Track Coach Ed Boyle's early assessment of the upcoming season. Practice sessions began last week, and although positions are far from definite, there are some general ideas about the strength of each event.

Probable starters will be Peter Waxman, Joe Morella and Jim Shaw. The first two are sophomores, while Shaw is an experienced junior. There is a question at this point whether Shaw will be ready for the start of the season, as a result of an achilles tendon injury. If absent, he will be sorely missed. All ran the fifty indoors.

Sophomore Paul Magliocca, who did so well in the 300 in Fraktman said that "our pitching has been encouraging, yet our season may still depend on how fast our young pitchers can adjust to game situations."

Newton's first game was on April 1 vs Revere. In the first game of the doubleheader, Revere won 13-9. Paul Goldman let up eight runs in the second and third innings, and Steve Zimbel let in five during his stint on the mound. Paul Austin pitched three scoreless innings. What really hurt Newton was four errors. Jim Fay and Ken Billings led the Newton attack with three hits apiece. Billings also had two RBI's. In the second game, Newton won 6-0. Jim Fay, Bill Vello and Gary Vitti combined to pitch the shutout.

How to Baintree

On April 3, Newton dropped a 2-1 contest to Baintree. Baintree got their runs on an error in the second, and a single in the eighth. Newton scored in the seventh on a mishandled grounder off the bat of Don Gentile. Zimbel, Vello and Austin did the pitching in the game.

Two days later Newton topped Lexington 4-2. Paul Grillo had two hits and drove in the winning run, while Dave Boyajian also had two hits. Newton scored one run in the first when Steve Zimbel scored on an error. In the second the Tigers tallied two. Dave Boyajian knocked in Tom King from second and a triple by Grillo scored Boyajian. In the fourth Ken Billings singled home Grillo after the first baseman had singled. Lexington got their two runs in the sixth inning. Lee Levison pitched two scoreless innings, and Paul Goldman pitched three scoreless innings. Gary Vitti let up two runs in two innings.

On April 6, Newton lost to B.C. High by a 3-1 score. Ed Becker got the Newton RBI with a single to right in the fifth. Paul Grillo again had two hits. Steve Zimbel and Paul Austin did the pitching.

Mr. Fraktman commented that the team will "have to tighten up defensively. This is our biggest problem. But I do think we began to jell in the field against Lexington. . . We also haven't been hitting as well as we are capable."

Fraktman cited the "basic overall attitude" as the most promising aspect so far. "The attitude has been excellent, but what we need now is work. We've been playing so often on individual skills and on correcting the mistakes we've come across in the games. Game experience is good, but we need to work without the pressure."

Co-Captain Of Williams Team

Wid Nelson of Waban, a senior at Williams College in Williamstown, is the co-captain of the school's varsity baseball team, which opened its 1972 season last Saturday.

Nelson plays shortstop, and is in the starting lineup.

South Tennis Coach Bob Franke Looking Forward To Season

Robert Franke is a realist; some might call him a cynic. Even when he's wildly enthusiastic about a situation he will temper his remarks with qualifiers and understatement.

So when coach Bob Franke says his Newton South High tennis team is not going to be a challenger for the state title it won last spring and three of the last five years, one has to wonder if things are really that bad.

Things aren't really bad at all. The Lions, who have compiled a 91-11 record over that five-year span, are not in danger of suffering a losing record - nothing that drastic. "We're definitely weaker than usual," said Franke. "And I think we're weak compared to the competition too. Our team isn't set very well. Because of the weather we've had very little time outdoors to see what we've got. But I can safely say that we'll be contenders for the Dual County League title. It should be an interesting year."

South lost its top two players from last year's state champion squad, Weldon Rogers, and captain Dave Cohen, who was 55-2 over three years, plus doubles player John Kaufman.

The Lions, though, have five returning lettermen in Stan Mescon, who was 20-1 in third singles, Jimmy Oppenheim, 17-4, Jim Cornblatt, 15-5, Mike Charness, 15-5, and Jack Starr, 9-2.

"Stan Mescon will be in number one singles," continued Franke, "but the rest I'm not sure about. Oppenheim, Cornblatt, Charness and Starr are all competing for singles spots."

There are other candidates rated as having good chances by Franke to crack into the seven - man line - up. The top two, from last year's jayvee, are Danny Green and Rich Kaitz. But, Franke emphasizes, they will have to beat back challenges from Ben Cohen, Mark Levine, Peter Schwartz and Bill Carroll, a sophomore who was the number one player for Meadowbrook Junior High, last year.

"We'll give every club an honest fight," said Franke, "and we're definitely going to be tough in the league, but I have to be realistic and say that I can't see us going all the way this year. I think we'll be in the tournament, but once we're in it, it will be rugged and the whole world will be surprised if we do win."

"The competition," he said, "is very strong this year. None of the other top teams lost much through graduation. Framingham North lost a couple of boys, but not their big men, and we're not going to beat Ferdi Taygen. Needham and Wellesley are very strong and so is Lexington, which has six returning lettermen. And Newton High is up there."

The Lions open their 1972 season tomorrow afternoon at, and against Newton High, at 3 p.m. The Tigers always put up a terrific battle, but rarely best South. This year could be different.

"I am very wary of Newton," noted Franke. "I know what they've got. They don't have big guns, but they're an exceptionally well - balanced squad. They look very good. We haven't lost to Newton in a long time and I don't want to start now, but put it this way, if we win tomorrow, call me up and I'll revise my predictions."

Sailing Added to Ledger Of 21 Newton High Teams

By DAVID SOLOMON

There is a new sport at Newton High this year. "After a trial basis last year, sailing has been accepted as an official sport this spring." These are the words of Malcolm Marshall, a Newton English teacher also serving as coach for the new team.

The team was originated as make eight boats available a club last year, due largely to the efforts of senior Cathy Curby principal Richard Mechem, and athlete director Reggie Smith. They were finally able to find suitable facilities for the group. Community Boating agreed to

LONG JUMP

"We might be able to do all right if we get Jim Shaw back, he is probably our number one jumper. Paul Magliocca should shape up as good."

POLE VAULT

John Womboldt has some experience in this event. Peter Fair would be the most experienced competitor if he is able to go out for the sport. "There are lots of sophomores trying for this event," noted Boyle, "and because there is so little experience we can't really tell yet who is going to be good."

HIGH HURDLES

Right now the top two contenders in this event are sophomores Bill Fulton and Bill Seaward. If Peter Fair competes, he will also be in this event.

LOW HURDLES

There are many boys out for this event, and the exact lineup is still very unsure. Bob Womboldt will provide the experience in this event, with Bob Keefe, Alan Rubin and possibly Bob Hoover best bets to be top competitors here.

Besides the names mentioned above there are many others that will probably compete in the meets. Mr. Boyle commented that "There are a lot of boys that I haven't mentioned that will be competing. Things haven't begun to jell as yet, so I'm not really sure who will be doing what. There are 24 sophs on the team, and there are a lot that I haven't had a good look at yet. They shouldn't be forgotten."

Newton will begin the season tomorrow in the Suburban League Relays at Weymouth South. But Boyle adds that this will be only if "we are ready to go in good shape. Our problem not only is where to place people, but lack of time. If we're not ready we won't compete until our regular opener on the 15th versus Weymouth North."

This is Boyle's thirty - fifth year of coaching at Newton. His record in the outdoor season has included only six losses, a truly remarkable figure. Last year's record was 7-1. Newton may not do as well this year, but a good team also seems to be created. The toughest competition for the Tigers appear to be Brockton, Weymouth North and Weymouth South.

Newton Sailing Schedule

Library Salutes Educators With Unique Book Exhibit

Newton Free Library salutes Newton Educators who have distinguished themselves by publishing scholarly works in a wide range of subjects with a unique book exhibit during National Library Week, (April 16-22).

The exhibit will continue through May 3, at the Main Library, 414 Centre street, Newton Corner.

The books on view represent the scholarly accomplishments of Newton educators and include such varied subjects as calculus poetry, religion and open education, music and group dynamics art programs and children's stories.

Dr. Roland Barth, Angier School principal, contributed articles and a "Bibliography of Open Education," co-authored with Charles H. Rathbone; Elvajan all, supervisor of Library Services in the Newton Schools, lent many books including "The Volga, Lifeline to Russia"; Elinor M. Johnson, Elementary Science supervisor of the Newton School, "The Plant Hunters"; and Al Hurwitz, coordinator of Arts in the Newton Public Schools, a new art book just off the press, "Programs of Promise, Art in the Schools."

Newton High School educators with recent work in the exhibit are English teachers George Bower, poetry; and George Harter, visuals and teachers' manuals for "Macbeth"; Henry Lasker, instructor of music theory, composition, orchestration, and music appreciation; "Teaching Creative Music in Secondary Schools"; English teacher Miriam Goldstein Sargon, "The Teaching of Language in Our Schools," a guidebook for parents; Lloyd Schultz, head of the art department at Newton High School, art essays; Thayer Warshaw, teacher of English, essays and pamphlets on religion and education.

Other Newton Educators include Mary L. Waters, assistant chairman of the Foreign Language Department at Newton High, and Edwin A. Little, French teacher at Newton South who co-authored "Fenêtres sur la Vie," a French reader; South High Guidance Counselor, Hulda Knowles' "Introduction to Group Dynamics" which has been translated into Persian, Spanish and Japanese.

Authors from Newton Junior College with books on exhibit are Harold S. Rice, former chairman of Wentworth Institute's Math Department, now a lecturer at Newton Junior College, "Technical Calculus and Analysis"; English instructor, Selma Stenberg, "From Start to Finish," an English reader; and Anthony K. Van Riper, English teacher and author of short stories, radio plays, science fiction and poetry, "Velvet Tides."

Also included in the exhibit are SRA booklets on nongrading prepared by the 1967 Hamilton School Staff; Hope Danielson Rose Durham, Gail Gassen, Thomas Kent, Muriel Lundy, Carolyn Mellor, Nancy Swidler, and Joseph Utka; and "Ride the White Tiger" by Bigelow Junior High English teacher, Roger Clark.

Examples of materials from all stages of the production of Al Hurwitz' book, "Programs of Promise," (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Inc.) are on view and demonstrate different stages in the development of a manuscript.

Aspiring authors and other interested viewers are invited to examine original, edited and typemarked manuscripts, folded and gathered sheets from the press, the cover sketch,

WAITING FOR THE FLEA MARKET OPENING is Leah Scott of Newton, who stands proudly beside her gramophone. The Market opened last Sunday at Faneuil Hall Market in Boston, with hours of business from 1 to 6 p.m., rain or shine. Miss Scott's item is a sure find at the antiques and crafts fair.

Opera Personalities Appear At Festival

Well known personalities from the world of opera will be featured in a lecture and performance focusing on "The Making of an Opera" at Newton College of the Sacred Heart on Friday, April 21 at 8 p.m.

Appearing will be Helen Vanni, mezzo soprano, Henry Butler, director for the New York Metropolitan Opera Company and Richard Cumming, composer and accompanist.

The event, part of a week-long Arts Festival being held by Newton College, is open to the public at no charge. The lecture and performance will be held in the gymnasium of the Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart on Centre St., Newton.

Miss Vanni spent two seasons with the New York City Opera; 10 seasons with the Metropolitan Opera Company and 10 seasons with the Santa Fe Opera Company. This summer she will be spending her second season with the Glyndebourne Opera in England performing in Strauss' "Ariadna." Prior to that engagement in May, she will appear in Strauss' "Risenkavalier" in Portland, Ore.

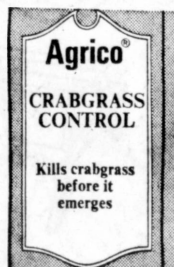

Mr. Butler who holds a B.A. degree from U.C.L.A., began his career as an actor. He has and the cover mechanical as well as the exhibit of books by outstanding Newton Educators at the Main Library. Library hours are 9-9 Monday through Friday; 9:5-30 Saturday, 1-4 Sunday. The Library will be closed Monday, April 17.

Patients Given African Violets

Mrs. Yvonne Leighton of 91 Dalby st., Newton, president of the Triniton African Violet Society, recently brought African violets for all patients at Middlesex County Hospital who wanted them.

Assisted by Mrs. Eleanor Coen of 22 Columbus place, West Newton, Mrs. Leighton personally chatted with each patient and allowed them to choose the type and color of violet they wanted.

The plants had been on exhibit at the New England Flower Show, where Mrs. Leighton won a gold medal and a blue ribbon.

The event was sponsored by the hospital's Volunteer Department, which is always looking for ways to make patients feel less isolated during their hospitalization.

His compositions have been performed throughout the world by John Browning, Rudolf Firkušny, Donald Gramm, Cornell MacNeil, Miss Vanni the New York Philharmonic and others. They have gained him awards from the National Federation of Music Clubs, ASCAP, and the Ford and Wurlitzer Foundations.

Cumming is currently in his sixth season as composer in residence and director of Project Discovery at the Trinity Square Repertory Company in Providence, Rhode Island. In addition, since the first of this year, he has been traveling as a consultant for the National Endowment for the Arts.

On Radcliffe Club Benefit

Twenty-three Newtonites are among the patrons and patronesses of the annual Radcliffe Club of Boston Scholarship Benefit to be held on Tuesday evening, April 25.

The Benefit, a major fund-raising event for scholarships for Greater Boston girls, will include a special showing of the Fogg Art Museum exhibit of American art owned by Harvard University, followed by a champagne reception at the Presidents' House, 17 Quincy Street.

Patrons and patronesses from Newton include: Mrs. Leonard Beckwith, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Cotton, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Crevoshay, Mr. and Mrs. Alan M. Edelstein, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald I. Feinberg, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Fine, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Friedlander, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold L. Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. David Kopans, Dr. and Mrs. David I. Kosowsky, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Levi, Mr. and Mrs. George Levin, Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle N. Levine, Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Morgan, Dr. and Mrs. S. Joseph Nemetz, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Rabb, Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. ## Trash Collection In Webster On April 22

The Newton Conservation Commission will devote Saturday, April 22, Community Clean-Up Day in Massachusetts, to a trash pick-up in the Webster Conservation Area, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

In case of rain on April 22, the work will be done on April 29 instead. Anyone from Newton who wants to help is welcome, says Dennis L. Dittelberg, Commission Chairman.

Workers on the east side of Hammond Pond Parkway will meet at The Lane at the end of Suffolk Road. On the west side of the Parkway, the work crew will meet at the end of Warren Street.

Trash will be bagged and placed at these two locations where Street Department trucks will remove it on the regular refuse collection days for Chestnut Hill (Suffolk Road) and Newton Centre (Warren Street).

Two locations in the Conservation Area, where accumulations of very heavy junked items have been spotted, will be cleared by the Street Department on a regular work day, according to Willard S. Pratt, Director of Public Works.

Spring visitors to the Conservation Area have noticed the red-painted concrete markers and red signs with elevations posted on trees at various locations. These have been placed by the City of Newton Engineering Department in connection with its topographic survey and mapping of the area.

U. M. Schiavone, City Engineer, says the small red signs on trees are temporary and will be removed when the survey work is completed.

The survey is being done with the approval of the Conservation Commission, which has the Webster Conservation Area under its care and control.

The Area is to remain in its natural state and is now off limits to motor vehicles, hunters, dumpers, and litterers. State law empowers the Commission to impose fines for violations.

One of the last known topographic plans of the Hammond Pond environs, including the former Webster estate lands, was done in 1913 by the Henry F. Bryant engineering firm.

Copies of it were made available to the Engineering Department this past winter by Mrs. Anita C. Hovey, a member of the Conservation Commission.

Since 1913, what is now the Webster Conservation Area was bisected north to south by construction of the Hammond Pond MDC Parkway in 1932.

The invasion of the Area from east to west by the railway (MBTA) embankment occurred 120 years ago. The first train ran on it from Brookline to Needham in November 1852.

Parts of the old Bryant plan can still be used, but the changes wrought by the Parkway and by other alterations to the topography on the Area's edges, require survey to produce the updated plan.

Myr. Proclaims April Epilepsy Education Month

Newton Mayor Theodore D. Mann has proclaimed April as Epilepsy Education Month.

Epilepsy is a symptom of one of the most common of all neurological disorders which afflicts over two million Americans, including some 50,000 persons in Massachusetts, most of whom are children.

Modern medicine can bring control of epileptic seizures to 80 percent of those affected, and more importantly, modern thinking can bring educational and employment opportunities and a normal way of life to those who have epilepsy.

The Epilepsy Foundation of America is a voluntary health agency formed in order to bring a greater cooperation from the community to those afflicted with this disorder, and does receive the benefit of the medical thinking and support of the most distinguished neurologists in the country.

Head Start Begins Fall Recruitment

Communities United, Inc., of 84 Eldridge St., Newton Corner, is now conducting recruitment for Head Start's September enrollment.

The organization serves the low-income communities in Newton, Arlington, Brookline, Waltham, and Watertown. Its major criteria for eligibility is the need of the child and the family.

The program is one-half day long, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., with a snack and lunch served, and transportation provided. The program attempts to serve the health and social services needs of children, as well as to provide an enriching educational opportunity.

Anyone interested in the program should call the office at 969-4615 for an application. In addition, the following Newton women may be contacted for more information: Ginger Denham at 969-7928, or Carol Robinson at 969-3831.

B'nai B'rith Installation

Chestnut Hill Chapter B'nai Brith will hold its installation next Wednesday (April 19) at 7 p.m. at the Sidney Hill Country Club, Florence St. Newton Centre. A full course dinner will be served, followed by exciting entertainment.

Chairman of the installation is Mrs. Leo Saltzberg and Co-Chairman, Mrs. Donald Resnick.

The following will be installed: President, Mrs. Eli Davidson; Vice President, Mrs. Louis Steiner and Mrs. Martin Cherniak; Treasurer, Mrs. Edward Rood; Financial Secretary, Mrs. Bernard Cohen; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Sumner Goldman; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Leo Richards and Mrs. Irving Rosenberg; Historian, Mrs. Ernest Cohen; Sentinel, Mrs. Lillian Pach; Guardian, Mrs. Manuel Bricker; Councillor, Mrs. Nathan Sarnowitz; Trustees, Mrs. Saul Bardfield, Mrs. William Bauman and Mrs. Donald Resnick.

In Recital At Amherst

Clifford Orent of West Newton, a senior at Amherst College in Amherst, presented a joint recital last Sunday evening on the campus. Orent, a baritone, sang songs while accompanied by another student on the piano.

Orent, a music major at Amherst, is currently studying voice with Dorothy Stahl of the Smith College department of music. He is the international tour manager for the Amherst College Glee Club's 1972 Summer Tour to Africa, Asia, the Middle East, and Europe, and has been musical director and executive business manager of the Amherst Zumbies, the College's informal singing ensemble.

Mayor Backs Student Hike To Help Needy On May 22

Newton Mayor Theodore D. Mann has pledged his fullest cooperation and given his endorsement to the students of Newton South High School, where plans are now underway for the Third Annual Walk for Development, Sunday, May 21. A twenty-five mile walk route is planned in the Newton area, beginning and finishing on the Newton Center Green.

The walk will be held in cooperation with the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation Inc., a non-profit organization started by the late President Kennedy. It is the Foundation's policy to monetarily support social and economic self-help projects that are of long-term, social value rather than to give donations of food and material, yielding short term effectiveness.

The money is raised by marchers who obtain sponsors agreeing to pay a certain rate for each mile that the hiker walks. Last year on a rainy May 9 over fifteen hundred people walked the twenty-five mile route, that ended on the Boston Common.

Approximately Twenty-Eight Thousand Dollars was raised to support a Family Life Center in Lucknow, India, and the Penobscot and Passamaquoddy Indians of Maine.

The Walk has also been endorsed by Senator Edward Brooke, Representative Robert Drinan and Elliot Cohen, President of the Newton Board of Aldermen.

Support for the Walk may be given by: Walking the twenty-five mile route; sponsoring Walkers for an individually determined sum of money per mile; manning check points (mileage checks along the route); or by providing transportation for tired Walkers.

Walk cards will be available in Libraries and Public Schools and must be signed by parents. Age requirement is under twenty-one years.

For further information call 969-9810, extension 316.

Nursing School Held Open House

An Open House for students in their junior year of high school was held yesterday afternoon by the Newton-Wellesley Hospital's School of Nursing, at the School's Allen-Riddle Hall.

Parents and counselors attended also, and the program included tours of the Hospital and grounds, visiting with current students, viewing an exhibit of student interests and activities, and refreshments.

The School received over 400 applications for the class entering this coming September. Sixty-two have been selected and are now registered for the two-year program.

Fully half of these students, 33 in all, have had educational and/or work experience beyond high school preparation. Eight have earned a bachelor's degree in another field, two have an associate degree, four are licensed practical nurses, 11 have attended college for one or two years, and two have had some previous nursing school experience.

The series of open Houses the School has held this year were designed to give young people a chance to assess the opportunities in a nursing career, and to become acquainted with the requirements of preparing for it.

New Officers Named For Freeport, Inc.

The members of Freeport, Inc., at their annual meeting last week, evaluated the first full operating year of Freeport, the "second home" for Newton high school age boys, and elected new officers for 1972-73.

"We have been discovering this past year that we have a workable idea - that we can influence the lives of these boys," reported Glenn Johnson, Executive Director of Freeport.

"Those of us who have been involved with Freeport's program can see the changes in their outward behavior; but more important, we can see changes in their attitudes toward themselves, toward adults, and toward their peers, as well as changes in the ways in which they handle their own emotional lives."

Also discussed was the new structure which have evolved as more Newton adults have been willing to assume some of the responsibilities of the organization. Freeport originally was conceived and put into operation by Newton High School students seeking a solution for their peers who were having serious difficulties living in their own homes.)

Sukie Magraw, the present Student Coordinator who was elected for next year, termed the new relationship "a marvelous partnership of students, adults, and professionals all working together."

Mrs. Marion Kaufman of Newton Highlands, now the newly elected President of Freeport, Inc., expressed her anticipation of an even more successful and useful second year for Freeport.

"One of our goals is to secure reliable funding, hopefully through the State, for a significant portion of our annual budget," said Mrs. Kaufman, focusing on the financial needs of the home.

"We are extremely grateful to the Perpetual Benevolent Fund and the Rebecca Pomroy Foundation for their continued support, as well as to the churches and the many Newton citizens who are contributing to Freeport, because we couldn't exist without them. But we do not want to have to depend solely on these sources."

Mrs. Kaufman also reported on a comparison of costs per student at Freeport with those at other institutions. "The study shows," she said, "that financially Freeport is a very feasible and economical operation. In a little over a year, we have housed and provided many services for 14 students on less than $30,000."

This sum, which Mrs. Kaufman termed "rock-bottom on Commonwealth avenue, low," covered mortgage payments on the large house heating, utilities, and upkeep of the property, staff salaries for the house - parents, a psychologist and a psychiatrist, and feeding the large Freeport family.

Elected to the board of Directors were Mrs. Kaufman, President; H. Peter Karoff, Treasurer; Ma'carry Hull, Secretary; and Daniel Bernstein, M.D., Judith Davidson, R. Chris Dowell, Aaron Fink, Frederick G. Fisher, Jr., Lorna Kaufman, Charles Magraw, M.D., Anne Reilly, Norman Rosenberg, Eleanor Rosenblum, Anne Wallace, Holly Zeeb, and Robert Zeeb.

Besides Miss Magraw, students elected to the Board of Directors are Judy Curby, Student Treasurer, and Jeff Bernstein, Ken Gorfinkle, Edith Rosenberg, Ruth Rosenberg, and Nancy Solomon.

Newly elected Members of Freeport, Inc. will include Harriet Budd, Rebecca Crosby, Kathryn Humphry, Gordon Kaufman, Jean Kole, Ronald Kole, Mildred Ann Myerson, Alex Quinn, and Jocelyn Wolf.

Notes Of Activities Of Recreation Department

Recreation Supervisor Robert E. Doherty, Director of the City Basketball League, reports that the Newton Boys' Club swept the finals to take the championship.

The Boys' Club won the first game against Tony's Villa 41 to 37 and the second 37 to 26. Including the season games and the playoffs, the Boys' Club ran up a string of 12 straight victories.

Doherty reported that the Archery Classes held at the Newton Centre Playground Hut have completed the season during which some 20 boys and girls participated.

Mrs. Worthington L. West, a member of the Newton Recreation Commission, presented the awards at the concluding ceremony. In Class A, Jonathan Robbins edged out Dennis Malloy for first place. The Class B winner was Daniel Ulin and the Class C winner Allison Edwards.

All those who participated in the program were awarded certificates showing that they had fulfilled all the requirements in the class of Archery instruction and met the standards for ability and performance.

Those young people who took part in the program directed by Eben Baker and his assistant, William Baker, included Graham Morey, Melanie Robbins, Ross Pearson, Erol Morey, Mary Getman, Jennifer Ulin, Howard Katz, Alan Katz, Gerald Caruso, Philip Edwards, Dennis Malloy, Ed Hynes and Yale Pearson.

According to Recreation Supervisor Fran Towle the League recently held an organizational meeting at which a constitution was adopted and officers elected. Dorothy McCormick will serve as president, Carol Stapleton vice president; Sally Pasquarosa, secretary and Jo Pepper, treasurer.

The League will begin play in June and anyone planning to enter a new team should contact Fran at 969-3171. It is expected that six teams will play twilight games at Albemarle, South High and on Sunday and Wednesday nights. About 100 Newton residents are involved in League play.

Fran also gives notice that the Newton Women's Double Ladder Tennis League will begin operating April 24. Anyone wishing to join may call Fran at the Recreation Department or Mrs. Jonnie Scheff at 332-5406. The League will play from April 24 to June 16 at available courts throughout the city.

The International Division of the Newton Twi-Baseball League met recently with Senior Recreation Supervisor James E. Murphy, who directs the League. Murphy says he hopes that 11 teams of 13, 14 and 15 year old boys will play this year.

The League plays five nights a week throughout the city. Tryouts will be scheduled for the first three Saturdays in May. A second organizational meeting will be held on Monday, April 24 at Newton Centre Fieldhouse.

This Friday (April 14) an exhibition of the Woodworking Program conducted two afternoons a week at the open play the first week in Emerson School will be held, at mid-August. The League for presented. Some 20 boys have High School age boys fielded attended the program directed by Gordon Westwater.

This Friday (April 14) an exhibition of the Woodworking Program conducted two afternoons a week at the Emerson School will be held, at which time awards will be presented. Some 20 boys have attended the program directed by Gordon Westwater.

Doherty reports that the National Division of the Newton Twi-Baseball League has met to organize looking to meeting is scheduled April 25.

Convenience is having everything together.

Convenience is one of the reasons we at Norfolk developed the All Purpose Bank Plan. Now you don't have to make jumps between banks.

With the All Purpose Bank Plan if you want to transfer money between accounts, you just fill out a transfer form and mail it to us. We'll do the rest. You can also set up a systematic savings program. Let us know how much you want to save, and we'll take that amount out of your checking account and deposit it in your savings account every month. You'll become a good saver automatically.

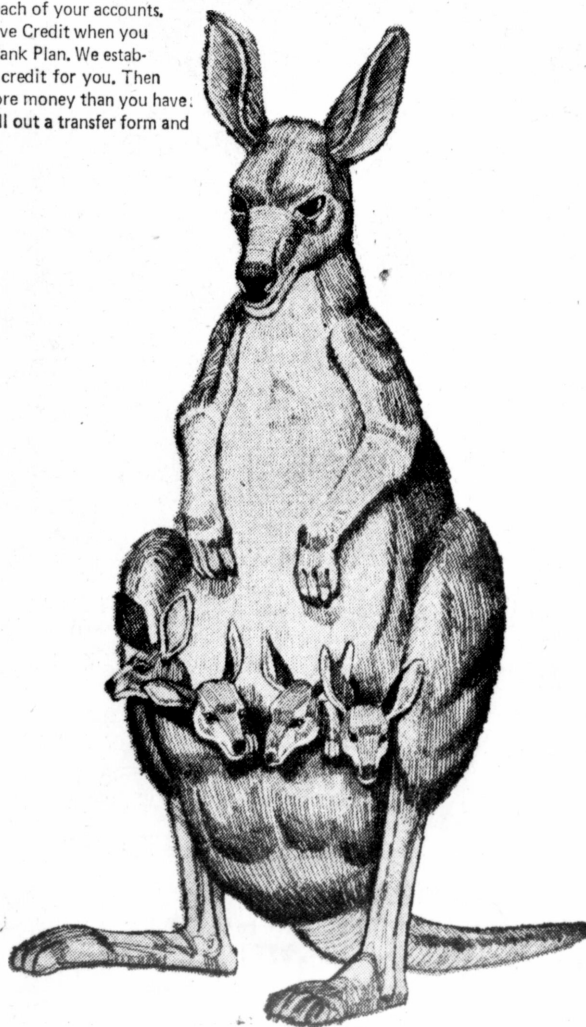

We include all your accounts - checking, savings, notice, and Reserve Credit - under one number and on one easy-to-read monthly statement. You know at a glance the status of each of your accounts.

You can have Reserve Credit when you have the All Purpose Bank Plan. We establish a personal line of credit for you. Then whenever you need more money than you have, available you simply fill out a transfer form and mail it to us. We deposit the amount you need in your checking account so you can write your own personal checks. You'll actually be writing yourself a loan.

You can get full details about the All Purpose Bank Plan at any of our 32 neighborhood offices. Convenience is having all your accounts together.

New Jewelry Store Opens In Needham

Joseph Sherman of Needham has announced the opening of Star Jewelers, Inc., at 1026 Great Plain Ave., Needham. Mr. Sherman, a jeweler for 20 years, had his store located in Summer St., Boston, but had decided to move it to his home town.

The store features all types of jewelry, solid gold and costume, a complete line of unusual gifts and a line of cameras. He carries name brand watches such as Bulova, Longine, and Elgin. Costume jewelry includes names such as Trifari and Monet, and also imitation diamonds.

The store honors Mastercharge, BankAmericard, and lay-away plans. A full line of wedding gifts, invitations, and diamonds are featured.

The store hours are 9 a.m. to 5:30 Monday through Saturday, and Friday night until 9 p.m.

Mr. Sherman travels to domestic and foreign markets such as Portugal, Morocco, and Continental Europe to buy unusual merchandise. Unusual displays and unusual methods of featuring costume jewelry can be seen at the store.

"Meet-Your Customer Week" At Post Office

The week of April 17-21 has been proclaimed "Meet-Your-Customer Week" in the Eastern Region of the U.S. Postal Service. It was announced today by Postmaster George K. Walker.

"During that week, members of my staff and I will visit local business houses that deposit large quantities of mail to show them how to obtain the best possible service from their post office," he said.

Postmaster Walker said there were several ways businessmen could speed the mail on its way and it was his intent to discuss how the proper preparation and timing of their mailings can pay substantial dividends.

"By focusing on the mailing problems of one customer at a time," Postmaster Walker said, "we can find solutions that are tailor-made to his needs. I believe the result will be an overall improvement in the postal service for this city."

Edward J. Connelly, superintendent of the Rosindale Post Office, will be visiting business managers in Rosindale, and Henry J. Woodward, superintendent of the West Roxbury Post Office, will be visiting business managers in West Roxbury.

They will be demonstrating to them how to obtain the best possible mail service by taking advantage of the various service improvement programs that have been initiated by the U.S. Postal Service.

JOHN WELTMAN, right, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Welman of 75 Hammond St., Chestnut Hill, is shown in a scene from the Boston Children's Theatre production "The Secret Garden." John plays the part of Colin Craven; with him is Jeanne Amrhein of West Roxbury, who portrays Mary Lennox. The play will be held at New England Life Hall in Boston on April 19, 20, 21, 22, 29, and May 6.

Recent Deaths

John H. Springham

Funeral services were held April 11 for John H. Springham, 83, of 21 Parker St., Newton Centre, who died April 8 in Newton.

A native of Gloucester, Mr. Springham was a retired assembler for the Gamewell Company of Newton Upper Falls, where he was employed for 51 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary L. (MacDonald) Springham of Newton Centre; three daughters, Mrs. Catherine C. Whalen of Marshfield, Mrs. Mary L. Purington of Holliston, and Mrs. Eleanor L. Bartholomew of Needham; one son, Harold, of Newton Upper Falls; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Seaboyer of Concord, and Mrs. Dorothy Pace of Springfield.

The funeral was held from the Eaton Funeral Home, with a Funeral Mass at Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church in Newton Upper Falls. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

Ernest F. Purcell

Funeral services were conducted April 10 for Ernest F. Purcell, 83, of Waltham, formerly of West Newton, who died April 7 in Abington following a lengthy illness.

He was the brother of the late Newton Police Chief, Philip Purcell, and was a retired clerk at Newton Wellesley Hospital. Born in Newton, he was an Army veteran of World War I, and had lived in West Newton until he moved to Waltham in 1961. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Mary E. Farrell of Norwood and Mrs. Helen P. Tounsignant of Chelmsford; and three nieces and nephews.

Services were held from the T.J. Lyons Funeral Home, 1479 Washington St., West Newton, with a Funeral Mass in St. Bernard's Church. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham.

Dr. Howard S. Lawrence

Services were held Wednesday for Dr. Howard S. Lawrence, one of the Army's first dental surgeons and the only man to hold the post of state commander of Spanish American War Veterans three times, including at the time of his death.

Dr. Lawrence, 94, of 26 Washington pk., Newtonville, died Sunday after a short illness.

Born in Dallas, Tex., he began his Army career after graduating from Western Reserve University. While serving in the Philippines, Dr. Lawrence treated not only future president William Howard Taft but also Douglas MacArthur and John J. Pershing.

Dr. Lawrence practiced dentistry in Hong Kong and Borneo after he was discharged from the service. He later returned and opened offices in Milford, N.H., Boston and Newton, where he practiced until 1961.

Dr. Lawrence leaves his daughter, Kay Lawrence of New York City; six sons, Ellsworth of Weston, Robert of Washington, D. C., Howard S. Jr. of Newtonville, Donald of Natick, David of Marlboro and Paul of Natick; 21 grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

The doctor was preceded in death by his wife Helene. Services were conducted at St. John's Episcopal Church in Newtonville.

William J. Keating

Funeral services were conducted last Friday, April 7, for William J. Keating, 85, of 35 Warwick Rd., West Newton, who died April 4 at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Brighton following a brief illness.

A native of Somerville, he has been a West Newton resident for 35 years. He was a retired conductor with the Boston and Albany Railroad, and a member of St. Bernard's Holy Name Society.

He was the husband of the late Ethel M. (Bowen) Keating, and is survived by one son, Lester W., of Weston; one sister, Elizabeth Keating, of Boston; and by three grandchildren.

The funeral was held from the T. J. Lyons Funeral Home, 1479 Washington St., West Newton, with a funeral mass in St. Bernard's Church. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

Soccer Talk

By PAUL ELDRIDGE, JR.

Well, the kids did it. They beat the referees Sunday, 5-2. The game was played very well with the youngsters showing the older fellows some great soccer. One man from Needham, who was at the game, was amazed at Dedham's caliber of play. He said that he had seen the first game they had played in the BAYS three years ago and the difference in their play was like night and day.

John Healy played for both teams and was in the goal for the referees on Dedham's fourth score. I won't tell how he missed the ball on that one, because it might prove embarrassing to him.

All in all the game was very well played and enjoyable for the fans who were there to watch. There was also a lot of laughs and good-natured kidding, and the referees even lost count during the first half and had 4 more players on the field than they should have had.

Josephine Murphy

Funeral services were held April 10 for Mrs. Josephine L. (Haley) Murphy, 73, of 126 J.F.K. Circle, Newton, who died April 6 in Newton Wellesley Hospital following a long illness.

Born in Newton, she was employed for many years as a matron at Raytheon in Lexington. She was the wife of the late Joseph E. Murphy.

She is survived by one brother, William G. Haley of Brighton.

The funeral was conducted from the Martin E. Conroy Funeral Home, 439 Washington St., Newton, with a Funeral Mass in Our Lady's Church. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

Carl H. Goldberg

Services were held April 12 at Levine Chapel in Brookline for Carl H. Goldberg of Miami, formerly of Newton.

Mr. Goldberg retired several years ago to Miami following a residence in Newton.

He is survived by his wife, Evelyn (Harris) Goldberg; three sons, Benjamin P. of Brookline, and Ross D. of Miami; one daughter, Betsy D. Goldberg of Miami; three sisters, Mrs. Rose Bornsten of Boston, and Mrs. Evelyn Nettow and Mrs. Gertrude Sohn, both of Portland, Maine; one brother, Robert Golden of Newton; and by one grandchild.

Interment was in Temple Emeth Cemetery in West Roxbury.

John A. Martin

Funeral services were held last Thursday, April 6, for John A. Martin, 57, of 42 Madison Ave., Newtonville, who died April 3 at Newton Wellesley Hospital following a lengthy illness.

A native of Nova Scotia, Mr. Martin had lived in Newtonville for 10 years. He was employed in the maintenance department of the Shipley Co. in Newton Lower Falls.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margaret E. (McPhee) Martin; three sons, John N. of Newtonville, and Elmer J. and Michael F., both of Waltham; two sisters, Miss Katherine Martin of Toronto, Canada, and Mrs. Christina McKay of Nova Scotia; one brother, Daniel, of Edmonton, Alberta, and by three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the Brasco Memorial in Waltham, with a Funeral Mass at Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Newton. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

John H. Barthelmes

Funeral services were held Wednesday for John H. Barthelmes, 80, of 31 West St., Newton, who died of a heart attack Sunday.

Mr. Barthelmes, born in Newton Centre, lived in Newton all his life and worked as a carpenter until his retirement 10 years ago.

He is survived by a son, John W. of Milford; a daughter, Mrs. Stanley Crow of Newton, and four grandchildren.

Rev. Robert J. Harding of the Central Congregational Church officiated at the services. Interment is in Newton Cemetery.

But the real winners of the game were the Jimmy Fund and the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children who will benefit from the donations this game raised.

The season opens this weekend and below are the games of the local teams that you may want to go and watch.

1st Iron Stove Was Made In Massachusetts

If the weather is cold and your room is warm congratulations! You're the beneficiary of a relatively recent victory against the shivers.

For thousands of years mankind was perplexed by the problem of keeping warm in a cold climate, or how to take fire indoors without choking on the smoke.

Finally, says Encyclopaedia Britannica, the Romans at the beginning of the Christian Era developed an under-the-floor furnace. Combustion wastes passed up through flue panels in the walls and thence into the atmosphere.

For some reason this forerunner of central heating was not perfected. After the Roman experience the residents of Europe and other places resumed the practice of building open fires in their homes and suffered through many centuries of do-it-yourself air pollution. Then came a spinoff from warfare.

When fortified multistory castles were being erected in the 11th and 12th centuries, the builders solved the problem of smoke disposal by putting fireplaces in outside walls. Sloped passages were provided in the walls for the smoke.

First Stove

With but few improvements the fireplace has warmed hundreds of millions of families and for some it still is the sole source of heat. It wasn't until the 14th century that the chimney was introduced. But in the 15th century the warmest gift of all came to a chilled human race—the stove.

The first stove of record was produced in 1490 in Alsace, France. It was constructed of brick and tile. The products of combustion escaped through a heavy brick and tile flue. Then the young American colony made a major contribution with the first manufacture of cast-iron stove recorded at Lynn, Mass., in 1642.

About 100 years later Benjamin Franklin invented the stove which bears his name and also established the basic principles of stove design. Another Philadelphian, Isaac Orr, in 1800, manufactured the first round cast-iron stove with grates.

By now there was a virtual revolution in heating developments. In 1833 Jordan A. Mott invented the base-burner stove, which could use anthracite, and in 1840 Robert Briggs began the first U. S. installation of hot-water heating.

At last a cold man had a pipe to pound on, but it was well into the 20th century before the ordinary American home had a furnace.

On Committee For Lecture Program

Three Newton women are on the committee sponsoring a lecture by author Cleveland Amory next Tuesday night (April 18) at the Morris Auditorium at Boston University.

The women, all members of the B.U. Women Graduates Club, are: Marie Farrel of Newton; Elsbeth Melville, club President, of Newtonville; and Miss M. Dee Pifer of Auburndale.

News Writer Tells About Experiences

Alta Maloney, award-winning writer from the Boston Herald-Traveler staff, was guest speaker at the Newcomers Club meeting last night. Her talk centered around her 18 years of film experience, first as film and drama editor of the Boston Traveler, then as film editor and critic of the Herald-Traveler. Now as a feature writer for the Sunday Herald-Traveler, she has returned to the field in which she won the Amasa Howe Award of the Boston Press Club for the best news story of public significance.

William H. Bright Promoted to Vee

William H. Bright of 214 Windsor Road, Waban, has been appointed vice president and director of the Mass Merchandising Department of Commercial Union Companies, Boston.

Bright joined the companies in 1932 and served in a number of capacities, most recently as director of Special Projects, until his appointment as vice president.

He attended Northeastern University and Lehigh University and served in the Army from 1943-1946. He is a Massachusetts Platoon, is leaving for recruit training on June 22.

At present this unit consists of young men who will graduate from local high schools in June, who took advantage of the Delay Program a few months ago.

Those interested may call at the recruiting office in the Roslindale Municipal Building Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. or call 327-3453.

The Newcomers annual dinner dance will be held at Rossi's Restaurant on April 22. Members will be contacted individually for their reservations and guests will be welcomed.

The luncheon group will dine April 13 at Jimmy's Harborside, Boston.

The Newcomers Cookbook has gone to press and should be available to the public in late April. It will contain members' special recipes, a complete wine list and a variety of household hints.

The spring sports season will be starting soon. Those members interested in golf should contact Mrs. George Edgett, 769-2882. Members who want to take up tennis should

SHOULD I SEED MY LAWN ... AGAIN THIS SPRING?

This question is asked repeatedly every year. These are the facts:

If your lawn has large bare areas or is so sparse of grass that you feel the entire lawn needs seeding, something is really wrong and you should find out what it is.

Bluegrass and Fescue are permanent grasses. Once they are established they will remain for years when given proper care. It should not be necessary to reseed every spring. Here are some common reasons why your lawn does not do well year in and year out:

- (1) Too much shade. Grass needs sun light for energy. If there is too little light or the quality of light is poor, the grass will slowly fade away. The answer is to either prune the trees to allow more light to reach the grass, or do away with the grass entirely and plant a shade tolerant ground cover such as Pachysandra or one of the low growing evergreens.
- (2) The use of the wrong type of grass for a given area can also be a reason why the lawn does not do well.
- (3) Improper mowing and watering are two of the most common reasons for poor lawns.

Before you seed this spring, don't you think a lawn expert should advise you? Especially since it doesn't cost anything! The Green Machine people have surveyed over 20,000 Massachusetts lawns in the past six years without cost or obligation. They don't sell grass seed either, so their recommendation is based on need. Why not give them a call?

Organist To Do Concert For Festival

Anthony Newman, recognized as one of the country's outstanding organists, will present a concert at Newton College of the Sacred Heart on Wednesday, April 19, at 8 p.m.

The program, to be held in the Chapel on the Centre St. Newton campus, is part of the week-long Arts Festival being held at Newton College beginning Sunday, April 16. Events, all open to the public, are scheduled for each afternoon and evening during the week.

Dr. Newman's program will include "Priere" by Cesar Franck, "Trio Sonata in E Major" by J. S. Bach, "Chants d'Oiseaux" by Olivier Messiaen, "Prelude and Fugue on 'Ave'" by Franz Liszt, "Allein Gott in der Hoh sei Ehr" by J. S. Bach, "Soixante-Quatre Duets" by Olivier Messiaen, "Trio Sonata No. 6 in G Major" by J. S. Bach and "Fugue in Gigue Time" by J. S. Bach.

Dr. Newman mastered the complete works of Bach before he was 20, and played them in nine recitals at Newton College between 1965 and 1967. Now 28, he is a member of the faculty at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City, a musician in residence at Dartmouth College and also a member of M.S. in composition from

A $2 donation, $1 for students, may be paid at the door.

Political Highlights

About 10 other Lindsay campaign aides were invited to leave the same hotel in January because they hadn't paid their bills and there was no indication they were on the verge of doing so.

The date when they were given the heave-ho was not specified, but they sneaked back into the hotel on Jan. 16 and retrieved their luggage, presumably without the formality of paying their bills in the process. Our off-the-cuff opinion is that such tactics do not make for a good credit rating.

However, Ben Chasin, manager of the Lucerne Hotel, reports he is still owed $846 from January. That is hardly a staggering sum, and it can't be much larger now because all the Lindsay aides had been kicked out before the end of January. Chasin is liable to lose his own social rating in the Lindsay camp.

His remarks about the Lindsay loyalists are a little undiplomatic, to say the least.

He said the Lindsay campaign aides spent with abandon. This would have been all right with Chasin except that they didn't pay with the same enthusiasm.

"They signed for everything," asserts Chasin. "They didn't want to know from anything about paying or picking up a check."

The Governor's Club Hotel in Fort Lauderdale says it received a $2000 check on a $4613 bill.

The Holiday Inn in Jacksonville claims that it is owed $15,946. Fred Wright, manager of the Inn, says he's trying to locate Lindsay's campaign manager but up to that point had not been able to reach him.

At least half a dozen hotels, mostly in the Miami area, claim they have not been paid by the Lindsay camp.

Mayor Lindsay promises the bills will be paid.

Crane Did Remarkable Job In Launching State Lottery

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane and his top aides, including former Assistant State Purchasing Agent, Charley Hamilton, did so outstanding a job in launching the State Lottery that they probably established a record they will be unable to repeat consistently.

They got the Lottery off to an astonishing start. They deserve tremendous credit for their work, especially the unpaid Crane.

However, one problem developed. When some people undertook to buy lottery tickets for the second drawing after the first had been held, they found they were too late.

How that can be overcome is uncertain. There is a public tendency not to buy a ticket on a second lottery until the first has been concluded.

Incidentally, the State Lottery is causing some consternation in the offices of organized crime. It is crippling illegal betting. Booking operations have been closed down in some areas. People are buying lottery tickets instead of playing the numbers.

Choice Capitol Hill Gossip From Bay State Congressman

Here are a few tidbits gathered from members of the Massachusetts Congressional delegation which presently includes eight Democrats and four Republicans. They expect that their contingent next year will include at least nine Democrats and two or three Republicans.

Father Robert F. Drinan of Newton, in their opinion, will have a stiff fight to retain his seat.

Congressman Silvio O. Conte and Congresswoman Margaret M. Heckler are regarded as certain of gaining reelection. The feeling is that the Republicans will be unable to hold the district of Congressman Bradford Morse who is resigning from the national House to take a post at the UN.

Old-age benefits will go up this summer, probably about 12 to 15 per cent, but the first of the bigger checks may not be mailed out until about September.

A strong possibility exists that the social security wage base will be increased, but not right now. A sharp disagreement exists between President Nixon and the congressional liberals over what welfare program should be adopted.

The national health insurance plan is dead for now. But Medicare will be enlarged to cover disability at any age.

Starting in 1975, the federal government will collect income taxes for those states which desire it to do so. The individual states such as Massachusetts will have until 1975 to decide whether they prefer to adapt to the federal system of collecting income taxes or charge a portion of the federal tax.

No changes will be made this year in the federal income taxes, but they will come next year.

A temporary halt probably will be ordered by Congress in instances where school children are being bused to achieve racial balance, but only where court appeals are pending.

Richard G. Kleindienst will be confirmed as the new U.S. Attorney General.

A year from now, it will cost 10 cents to mail a letter first-class.

The Communist blitz in Vietnam caught both the U.S. and South Vietnam by surprise. South Vietnam troops expected more guerilla warfare and were set for it. They have been obliged to shift speedily to cope with a Russian style frontal attack of fighting.

The guessing of most of the Bay State Congressmen is that Vietnamization has been enough of a success so that the South Viets will be able to stop the Communists and drive them back with the help of U.S. air power.

They say that battle-scarred Hubert Humphrey keeps rolling along, not winning much, or losing a great deal, but making a sufficiently good showing to maintain the support of most of the old-line political bosses.

The contest for the Democratic nomination for President finally will narrow down to a two-man-fight between Muskie and Humphrey, in their opinion.

They don't believe Senator McGovern has either the national appeal or the financial backing to be given the Presidential nomination but say he might wind up in the No. 2 spot as Spiro Agnew's counterpart.

Local Designers Receive A National Endowment Grant

Laurence and Sherrie Cutler of 33 Copley Street in Newton Corner have recently been awarded a $5,000 grant by The President's Commission on the Fine Arts, the National Endowment for the Arts, to continue the development of a transitional housing system, SYSTEM ECOLOGIC, for use in multi-story housing.

The Cutlers are principals of the Cambridge architectural and urban design firm of ECODSIGN, where they have been very involved with industrialized building systems. They produced the Technology Section of the Abt-DMJM consortium's report for the Department of Housing and Urban Development's "In-Cities" low-cost housing experiment.

Mrs. Cutler was also Project Director for the ECODSIGN-led consortium for HUD's subsequent housing program for Operation BREAKTHROUGH. The consortium was selected as one of thirty-seven finalists in that program.

The grant award is the second to the Cutlers, the first in 1970 with which they initiated their study of SYSTEM ECOLOGIC. The system is designed to utilize existing building components already on the market to create housing which competes economically with the mobile home.

The first phase of the study, completed in 1971, was devoted to single-family and low-rise

Library Tries Court Action On Six Fines

The City of Newton went to court Wednesday morning in an attempt to collect long overdue library materials and fines.

In a test case involving six delinquent borrowers, the city won its initial presentation by default since not one of the defendants appeared in court. Further legal action will be taken to collect the amounts due the city.

The Library's primary goal is the return of outstanding library materials including books, records, magazines and films, much of it irreplaceable, rather than resorting to the courts and the legal prosecution of Newton citizens.

Hopeful that many of its materials will be returned, therefore, the Library announces Amnesty Week, to be celebrated during National Library Week (April 16-22) when patrons may return all overdue library materials without charge, one week only, at all branches and at the Main Library, 414 Centre St., Newton Corner.

After Amnesty Week the Library will once again review its list of delinquent borrowers and will send selected names to the City Solicitor for legal action in a continuing effort to reclaim city materials.

Building Fund Campaign Launched In Waban Area

The Waban Residential Division of the $3,000,000 "Y" Building Fund for Newton and the Western Suburbs held its kickoff meeting this week at the Beethoven School in Waban.

Judge Monte G. Basbas, general chairman of the campaign, outlined the urgent need for the project, stressing the necessity for a high level of giving, and reflecting his optimism in the ultimate success of the drive.

Following an indoctrination in methods of residential solicitation, Waban co-chairmen, Edwin Hawkridge and Frank Bronstein distributed campaign kits and pledge cards to their neighborhood Captains.

Mr. Hawkridge's captains include himself, Dr. Joseph L. Massimo, David D. Hickerson, Aubrey H. Payne, Gerald T. Quinn, Robert A. Schmidlein, and Bernard Sudikoff.

Mr. Bronstein's captains are Irving H. Busny, Gerald Davis, Calvin A. Hill, Bertram

Martinson, Dr. Alfred L. Novick, Nathaniel Roosin, Mitchell Selig, Robert H. Simmons, and Herbert M. Weiss.

Additional workers include John B. Alevisos, Robert D. Blakeslee, Richard J. Butler, Damon Carter, Nathaniel Chaffin, Edwin H. Codman, John T. Collins, Robert W. Ficken, E. Daniel Galligan, Bruce A. Giron, David H. Hubel, Francis A. Hurley Mrs. Melvin Hurwitz, Robert G. Kelly, D. Stuart Laughlin, Jr., David J. McGrath, Francis McManus, Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr., Warren Rabb, Harvey H. Robinson, Manuel Rosenfield, Daniel H. Sheingold, John W. Waalwyn, G. Parker Wahn, and Robert H. Wilcox.

Residential solicitation has just begun in Waban, with an expected cut-off date in mid-May. The personal contacting of individuals and families in other areas of Newton, Wellesley, Weston and the adjoining communities will begin shortly.

Apartment House Proposed For Oil Facility Property

A one-million-dollar proposal by developer Frank A. Donato for a seven-story 48-unit apartment building on the site of the Luther Paul oil distributing facility (Paul St., Newton Centre) met with little opposition at a Monday night hearing by the Aldermanic Land Use Committee.

Debate centered on whether it was preferable to have a taller building that covered less land area, or a lower building that uses up more space. The proposed building would cover 27 per cent of the lot area, with an additional paved area of 32 per cent, and 41 per cent green or open space. The developer is permitted to fill up to 80 per cent of the lot.

The law requires an allowance of 1200 square feet of lot area per unit, while the developer was asking for permissive use to build with an allotment of 627 feet per unit. The building would also require permissive use on height restrictions, since it is 70 feet tall, ten feet above the city maximum. It would contain six stories, plus two tiers of parking.

A luxury apartment building is planned, with rents in the range of $325-$350 for a two-bedroom and $275-$300 for a one-bedroom apartment.

The Luther Paul Oil Co., which presently occupies the site, has been the object of numerous neighborhood complaints. In February, 1968, following a suit by Newton Centre residents, the Massachusetts Supreme Court enjoined the depot from conducting a wholesale oil distribution business on the site, ruling that the Business B. zone permitted only retail sales.

Glen Casten, Jr., president of the Newton Center Neighborhood Association, stated that abutters had no objection to having an apartment building on the property but were hoping for a lower-density building. Dominic Taglienti, who owns a neighboring apartment building, pointed out that his building contained 26 units and three stories on the same size site. A 26-unit building with 1200 sq. ft. of lot area per unit is permissible under present zoning without special permission of the Board of Aldermen.

Planning Board Chairman Stanley Miller asked both neighbors and abutters to consider a compromise plan of 40 units, with all parking spaces to be contained in the building, and no paved area. Robert Freeto, attorney for the developer, responded that he didn't know whether the compromise would be economically feasible.

No action was taken on the proposal.

Church Drive To Aid Bangladesh

At least 18 Newton churches and temples will participate in a drive for Bangladesh relief being conducted this coming weekend. Mrs. Helene Martin, co-ordinator, stated that "some of the churches and other private organizations within the city have not yet been reached by us."

It was approximately one year ago that the West Pakistani army swept through East Pakistan spreading a reign of terror and death.

To meet the needs of the people, the Emergency Relief Fund was established.

Workshop On Youth Next Tuesday Here

Mayor Theodore D. Mann has announced that next Tuesday, April 18, at 8:30 a.m., in the Aldermanic Chambers, Newton City Hall, the monthly Newton School Physician's meeting, will be a workshop for the purpose of an intensive review of Youth and Venereal Disease.

The Mayor stated: "This meeting is of the utmost importance and priority, in its urgency to impart to our community, direction, for what has become a problem of epidemic proportion amongst the youth of our nation."

Principal speaker will be renowned expert on communicable diseases, Dr. Nicholas J. Flumara, M.D., M.P.H., director of the Division of Communicable Diseases for the State of Massachusetts. His presentation will focus upon (1) What is the role of the health department? (2) What can we do as a community?

In compliance with the Mayor's request, Newton Commissioner of Health, Dr. John C. Athans, has invited to the workshop meeting the most extensive assemblage ever brought together in Newton for the purpose of discussing the implementation of Venereal Disease control.

Invited to attend: Aaron Fink, superintendent, Newton Public Schools; Mrs. Timothy Coppola, R.N., specialist in Venereal Disease, Massachusetts General Hospital; John M. Cullinane, director of Pupil Personnel Service and Special Education; Dr. Robert Kirschbaum, Newton administrator of Dental Services; Dr. William E. Stone, Newton Mental Health; Rev. David Paranchini, Area Drug co-ordinator; Anthony J. Bibbo, executive director, Newton Community Service Centers; Dr. John M. Cohen, chief of pediatrics, representing Multi-Service; William M. Glovsky, Esq., chairman of Community Relations; Paul D. Moan, administrative assistant to Commissioner of Health, Newton; Dr. Harold Baden, associate professor of School; Dr. Harold Turner, D.D.S.; Robert Julien, executive director, Newton Red Cross; Robert P. Freeto, president of Newton Community Council; Paul Bright, director, Project Turnabout; Dr. Stuart Martin, director, Newman House; Chief William F. Quinn, Newton Police Department; Stafford E. Davis, Newton executive director of Boards and Commissions; Reverend John Balcom, Carleton P. Merrill, Veteran's Service Agent; Irwin L. Hoogheem, Coordinator of Health Education in Newton Public Schools.

Also invited to attend: All private Newton physicians, public health school physicians and public health nurses; presidents of all Newton colleges; citizen representatives from the newly formed Mayor's Health Advisory Commission; the Newton School Committee; Newton Board of Aldermen; all Newton department heads.

Land Use Considers Hockey Rink Plans

Plans for a $1.2 million double hockey rink with bleachers at the "Newton at 128" Industrial Park off Nahatan st., were temporarily in abeyance, but favorable action by the Board of Aldermen appeared likely following an Aldermanic Land Use Committee discussion Monday night.

The aldermen asked developer Oscar Wasserman to apply to the Zoning Board of Appeals for a zoning variance to cut down the number of parking places required at the facility. Wasserman claimed that he would have to fill several feet of flood plain to provide the additional parking spaces. Aldermen stated they would prefer to have less parking, rather than fill the flood plain area.

Wasserman also applied to the Board of Aldermen to expand the upper limit on total floor space for the industrial park from 800,000 to 1.2 million square feet.

The additional square footage would allow construction of three additional buildings with a total of 300,000 square feet of floor space, and room for expansion, according to Wasserman.

The new buildings would require approximately 8 acre-feet of fill, in flood plain he informed the aldermen. Wasserman contended that the city's new Flood Plain Zoning ordinance does not apply to Newton at 128, since the subdivision was approved, with permission to fill, before the passage of the flood plain zoning ordinance.

The aldermen asked for a ruling from the city solicitor on this point. "I'm impressed with the development. I think it's a good thing for the city. It will bring in real estate taxes, and the filling is minimal, declared Alderman Michael J. Antonellis. But he urged a public hearing on the use of fill in construction of the driveway and parking lot for the proposed skating rink."

Although the fill had been approved by the state Commissioner of Natural Resources under the Hatch Act, Antonellis contended that local residents and the local legislative body should also rule on the matter.

Agreed Land Use Committee chairman Alan S. Barkin: "The state officials don't have the same sensitivity and feeling for local issues as local officials do."

The consensus seemed to be that Wasserman should try to eliminate the need for fill by getting a zoning variance on the parking, and if that failed, that a public hearing should be held.

Mayor Praises City Forces For Clean-up Effort

Mayor Theodore D. Mann recently commended the City of Newton work forces who exerted extra effort in order to clean up the city for the Easter and Passover holiday season.

Mayor Mann stated, "This is the beginning of a major clean-up program to be sponsored by Newton. It deals not only with beautification, but has strong ecological value. Our newspaper recycling program demonstrates the direction we hope to go in."

"We've had great co-operation from our city workers and seek the support and co-operation from our citizens to keep both public and private properties in the kind of condition in which we can all share pride."

Customer Week At Post Office

The week of April 17-21 has been proclaimed "Meet-Your-Customer-Week" in the Eastern Region of the U.S. Postal Service, it was announced today by Postmaster George K. Walker.

"During that week, members of my staff and I will visit local business houses that deposit large quantities of mail to show them how to obtain the best possible service from their post office," he said.

Postmaster Walker said there were several ways businessmen could speed the mail on its way and it was his intent to discuss how the proper preparation and timing of their mailings can pay substantial dividends.

Mr. Levy, Superintendent of the Newtonville post office, will be visiting business managers in Newtonville to demonstrate to them how to obtain the best possible mail service by taking advantage of the various service improvement programs that have been initiated by the U.S. Postal Service.

Music School Concert Fri.

The All Newton Music School will hold the final concert in its series to benefit the Scholarship Fund tomorrow night (Friday, April 14) at 8 p.m.

The program, to be performed by Joseph Silverstein, concertmaster of the Boston Symphony, with Judith Geber, accompanist, will consist of Schubert's Rondo Brillante in B minor, op. 70, Bach's Partita No. 2 in D minor, The Sonata in G minor by Debussy, Serenade Melancolique by Tchaikovsky, and Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso by Saint Saens.

The concert will be held at the Music School, 321 Chestnut Street, West Newton. Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Moore, 527-0102 or the All Newton Music School, 527-4553.

Cronin Featured Speaker At NCE Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of Newton Citizens for Education will take place on Wednesday, April 26, at 7:30 p.m. at the Newton College of the Sacred Heart, 885 Centre St., Newton, in the Barry Science Pavilion.

A short business meeting, mainly nominations and election of next year's officers, will precede the program of the evening.

The featured speaker will be Secretary of Educational Affairs of the Commonwealth Joseph M. Cronin. Dr. Cronin will speak on "The Crisis in School Finance."

Dr. Cronin, the highest ranking educational official in Governor Sargent's recently reorganized cabinet, has responsibility for the administration of statewide educational policies having to do with finance, administration, and organization of educational programs. A former teacher, administrator, researcher and consultant, Dr. Cronin was Associate Dean of the Harvard School of Education before becoming Secretary of Educational Affairs. His writings and research span a range of subjects from teacher training and negotiations, to community involvement and school finance.

State Education Commissioner Neil V. Sullivan spoke at an NCE sponsored meeting in January on "New Directions in Education." Since then, NCE members formed task force groups which include community leaders and Newton legislative representatives.

They have been studying open and metropolitan education, and recent judicial decisions and proposed legislation on school finance. They have sought increased understanding on how new financing and organization plans might affect Newton schools as well as others in the state.

Representatives from several communities belonging to the Mass Council for the Public Schools will be the guests of NCE at the meeting. NCE members and any others interested in hearing Dr. Cronin are urged to attend.

On Dean's List At Southern Illinois

Bruce J. Olans of 156 Woodcliff Rd., Newton, has been named to the Dean's List at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Ill., for the winter quarter.

MAYOR CONGRATULATES CHAIRMAN—Paul J. Burke, new chairman of the Newton Election Commission, left, is congratulated by Mayor Theodore D. Mann, while Mrs. Carolyn M. Burke, and son Stephen, 11 years old and a Franklin School student, looks on.

Recycling Here In Second Week

The city of Newton, under the leadership of Mayor Theodore D. Mann, is working to improve the environment.

The separate collection of newspapers for recycling has completed its first week with few complications. Most of Newton's residents have cooperated by bundling and placing their old papers and placing them alongside the rubbish barrels.

Some people, however, have placed them for collection on the wrong day. Anyone who has a question regarding which day of the month is his collection date should contact City Hall. Old newspapers are collected monthly, not weekly.

Mayor Mann has also been taking steps to improve the recycling depot at the city dump on Rumford Ave. Steel bins have been replaced with metal containers. The area has also been covered with wood chips and is in the process of being landscaped.

Auburndale Club Play Announced

The Auburndale Club has announced the technical staff for its spring production, "Plaza Suite," with appearances scheduled for April 27, 28 and 29, at 8:30 p.m., at 283 Melrose Street, Auburndale.

Producing the play are Russell and Marnie MacClure, with John Loren Head as director and Mrs. Howard Schuff as line director. Set designer and decorator are Rec Rogers and Carol Felopolous, respectively. Mrs. Charles Albanese is the cast manager.

Others participating are Mrs. Bud Lapham, Mrs. Charles O'Connell, Mrs. Ernest Berry, Mrs. Allen Metcalfe, Mrs. Ford Waugh, Mac Floyd, John Head, Walter Stone, Mrs. Joseph Ewers and Mrs. Warren McCullough.

Model Railroad Expo In Newton April 14-15th

Railroad Expo '72, a combined meet sponsored by the Hub Division, Northeastern Region, National Model Railroad Association and co-hosts the Boston Chapter - National Railway Historical Society and the Suburban Midlex Model Railroad Society, will be held tomorrow night and Saturday (April 14-15) at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, 54 Lincoln St.

On Friday evening at 8 p.m., George Bartholomew, President of the Edaville Corp. will speak on the "History and Development of the Edaville RR," followed by Albert Hale with 1934 movies of the Maine Two-Footers "Sandy River and Rangely Lakes" and "Bridgeton and Harrison RR." Admission is free.

Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. displays will be shown of scale model structures, cars, locos, trolleys, operating displays of railroads and trolley and manufacturing exhibits; there will also be a hobby shop, white elephant sale, clinics, movies, slides, and much more. Refreshments will be available. The price of admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

On Saturday evening at 6 p.m. a full-course dinner will be served. Original lantern slides will be shown of "Construction of South Station, 1898-1902" by Robert Green, Assistant Terminal Manager, Boston Terminal Corp. Two movies will be shown on the New York Central System entitled "NYC Steam Locomotives" and "NYC Signal Operations."

Chances of marriage for American girls are best in rural areas and improve from east to west.

Burke Elected Chairman Of Recreation Comm. Here

Paul J. Burke of 161 Randlett Park West Newton was elected Chairman of the Newton Recreation Commission at the Commission's last meeting.

Dr. Burton D. Levine, active in Newton Recreation for many years, has served the Newton East Little League in many capacities. He was a member of the Mayor Gibbs swimming pool committee and has served in several other civic organizations.

Dr. Levine resides with his wife Irma, daughter Jane and son William at 70 Winston Road, Oak Hill.

Serving on the commission with Burke the Ward 3 representative and Dr. Levine Ward 8 representative are Joseph Capalbo Ward 1, Steve Crosby Ward 2, Fran Rice Ward 4, Joseph Seldon Ward 5, Mrs. Worthing West Ward 6, Nicholas Dawson Ward 7 and John Penney recreation commissioner.

The commission normally meets the 3rd Monday of each month at Recreation Department headquarters 70 Crescent Street, Auburndale, and all citizens are welcome and encouraged to attend. Inquiries by phone can be made to the Recreation Department at 969-3171.

Charles River Clean-Up Action Starts On May 6

The City of Newton is one of the few cities in the United States which is fortunate enough to have a potentially beautiful river flowing around the city. But, as most rivers today, the Charles River is in a deplorable polluted state within the river as well as on its banks.

One source of this pollution problem in Newton is due to the carelessness of some private citizens. The banks and bottom of the Charles in Newton are badly littered with bottles, cans, tires, shopping carts, and miscellaneous debris; all of which will be the target of this year's Charles River clean-up.

On Saturday, May 6, citizens from Newton will join those from neighboring communities all along the Charles River in OPERATION CHARLES III. In Newton itself, many groups have volunteered for the task.

Among the volunteer groups are the American Legion Post 440, Army National Guard, Red Cross and its disaster units, Explorer, Boy, Girl and Cub Scouts, Newton-Wellesley Hospital and Lassell Junior College's Canoe Squad. The citizen coordinators for Newton are George E. Meade and John Galla.

Meade and Galla, under the auspices of the MDC are in the final stages of organizing the 1972 Charles River clean-up for the Newton area and they need your help desperately.

John Galla commented that "we need the co-operation of every Newton resident in revitalization of a potentially prime recreational area," and continued to say that "if this river is ever to be restored to its intrinsic beauty it is evident that the responsibility must be taken by hard working, concerned citizens."

Co-Chairman Meade added that "now is the right time to participate in what we all have been talking about: creating a cleaner, pollution free environment."

Volunteers and conservation minded residents are urged to help and call either George Meade at 244-1605 or John Galla at 244-3208.

The meeting will be devoted to planning for future programs at the Homestead, which is open free to the public Mondays through Fridays from 2 to 4 p.m., and on announced Sundays when there is Open House.

On Dean's List At Lake Forest

Susan J. Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell of 206 Church St., Newton, has been named to the Dean's List at Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, Ill., for the Winter term.

Susan is a junior at the school.

The river clean-up is an attempt to bring together all concerned organizations and private citizens for the purpose of creating a cleaner river for the citizenry.

On Saturday, May 6, citizens from Newton will join those from neighboring communities all along the Charles River in OPERATION CHARLES III. In Newton itself, many groups have volunteered for the task.

NORTH VIETNAMESE ATTACK U.S. 7TH FLEET IN TONKIN GULF

NORTH VIETNAMESE MIGs joined by fast patrol boats Wednesday attacked the U.S. 7th Fleet warships in the Tonkin Gulf for the first time in the Vietnam War, damaging one ship. Return fire shot down one MIG and sank two patrol boats. The U.S. command in Saigon said four sailors were wounded aboard the damaged ship, which it did not identify. The American destroyer Sterett accounted for the downed MIG and the two patrol boats sunk, it said. The North Vietnamese had not attacked American warships except by shore batteries since the twin Tonkin Gulf incidents against the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy in August, 1964. Those patrol boat attacks led to the Gulf of Tonkin resolution in Congress, heavy air raids against North Vietnam and direct American intervention in the ground war. It was the first time the Soviet-built MIGs were used in attacks against U.S. warplanes raiding the north. The U.S. command in a statement issued early Thursday (Saigon time) said "preliminary reports indicate one MIG was destroyed and two enemy surface craft were sunk by fire from the Sterett" in an area 20 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone where the American warships were pounding North Vietnamese shore batteries. In ground action Wednesday, Communist troops captured a district capital on South Vietnam's central coast and launched new attacks against three government positions within 40 miles of Saigon. In Cambodia, Communists continued their push along vital Highway 1 near the border, almost occupying one city and cutting off a provincial capital.

IRA THREATENS TO INTENSIFY STRUGGLE IN ULSHER

THE IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY will intensify its struggle against British rule in Northern Ireland because of the slaying of one of its officers, an IRA spokesman said Wednesday in Belfast. The statement, issued less than 24 hours after the burial of IRA battalion commander Joseph McCann who was slain by British troops, stressed escalation of IRA "political" activities. It made no mention of bombings or attacks by gunmen, although these normally are considered to be political acts by the IRA. The IRA official wing said it would continue its fight until all British troops had left Ireland and the northern province was united with the Irish Republic to the south in a Socialist state.

APOLLO 16 SWINGS INTO LUNAR ORBIT FOR LANDING

MARVELING over the "awe-inspiring" beauty beyond their windows, the Apollo 16 astronauts swooped into lunar orbit Wednesday, ready for the last leg of their journey to bare the ancient secrets of the moon's cratered highlands. The sun was just dawning over the peaks of the landing area north of Descartes crater when the astronauts slipped behind the western edge of the moon and fired their main spacecraft engine at 3:22 p.m. EST for 6 minutes and 15 seconds to brake themselves into orbit. Swooping lopsidedly around the moon between 67 and 197 miles high, astronauts John W. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. "Ken" Mattingly II were to trigger a second rocket firing later in the evening to lower even closer, to within 12 miles of the lunar surface. Young, a veteran of four space flights, and Duke, his rookie companion, were to land at 3:41 p.m. EST today to begin a record 21 hours of exploration in three days outside their landing module, Orion, in America's fifth and next-to-last scheduled manned visit to the moon. Total cost of the 12-day venture is $445 million.

DEMOCRATS STEP UP ATTACK ON BOMBING POLICY

DEMOCRATS in both houses of Congress escalated their attack on President Nixon's bombing policy Wednesday while Nixon made plans to address the nation in the battle for public opinion. It was learned that Nixon would go on nationwide television one day next week to explain and defend the decision to resume bombing of North Vietnam and to announce a new goal for withdrawals after the troop level falls below 69,000 by May 1. House Democrats meeting in a closed caucus agreed to take a vote today on a resolution designed to force a reluctant House Foreign Affairs Committee — generally a House policy supporter — to send antiwar legislation to the House floor. Republicans ridiculed Democratic "yelping" and said Hanoi was counting on just such a "kneejerk reaction." Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, denounced the new step in the war as "barbaric, inhumane and obscene."

"CITIZENS FOR TAX REFORM" ORGANIZED IN BOSTON

THE CITIZENS FOR TAX REFORM, a statewide group dedicated to lower property taxes, was organized Wednesday and held its first meeting in the office of Boston's Mayor Kevin H. White. The group, organized chiefly by Mayor White, said its first action would be to lobby for a final report from the Master Tax Plan Commission so that the legislature can vote on its recommendations this year. Besides Mayor White, other Massachusetts mayors on the committee include S. Lester Ralph of Somerville, Theodore D. Mann of Newton, Samuel E. Zoll of Salem, Barbara Ackerman of Cambridge, and William S. Taupier of Holyoke. Albert Kelley, dean of Boston College's School of Management and chairman of the group, said Massachusetts communities are facing fiscal crisis, and said the communities must improve their industrial economies; hold down public spending at the state and local level; and distribute the tax burden equitably. "At this time, we as a group advocate no specific solution, take no vested position," he said. "We realize that when a Master Tax Plan does emerge, we may disagree on the specific elements of such a plan."

MCCLOSKEY STUMPS FOR MCGOVERN'S CANDIDACY

REPUBLICAN Congressman Paul N. McCloskey told Massachusetts voters Wednesday "to deliver a message to President Nixon and Congress to stop the bombing of North Vietnam" by supporting himself and the "leading peace candidate on the other side," Sen. George S. McGovern, in Tuesday's presidential primary. Although he did not specifically endorse the South Dakota Democrat in an address at historic Faneuil Hall, McCloskey said afterward, "There is no question that McGovern is the leading peace candidate." McCloskey said he had flown to Boston to make the appeal after a morning session with Secretary of State William Rogers at which Rogers said the bombing will continue. McCloskey, running as an antiwar candidate, challenged Nixon in the New Hampshire "first-in-the-nation" primary March 7 and got 20 per cent of the vote to 69 per cent for the President. But after running up a $40,000 campaign deficit, he canceled plans to campaign actively in subsequent primaries. McCloskey told his Faneuil Hall audience: "I am not a candidate for President. I don't want to be President."

By Dawn's Early Light

Two young Newton fishing enthusiasts, Bill White, left, 8, of Cleveland St., and pal, Bob Livingstone, 8, of Cherry St., ushered in the fishing season early last Saturday in annual Carling Derby at Lake Cochituate, Natick. Minute Man, George LeGault, fired his flintlock rifle to open the season.

City Studies Local Aspect Of Cable TV

If the city of Newton goes into business, its first venture may be cable television. This is one of the possibilities under discussion by a special Mayor's Committee on Cable Television.

The Mayor's Cable Television Committee met Thursday with city department heads to discuss purchasing, employment, and other city policies that might bear on the city's policy toward handling of CATV.

Gay Nineties Fete April 29

Plans are being formulated by the Newton Young Republican Club for what promises to be a gala evening for young and old. "The Republican Revival" will recreate the gay nineties by featuring music by a 25-man barbershop quartet and a short revue.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Muskie and McGovern Battle For Top Spot in Bay State

A poll made by the writer indicates that the Democratic Presidential Primary contest in Massachusetts next Tuesday will narrow down to a two-way fight between Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Senator George McGovern of South Dakota.

They have made the most active campaigns, have spent the most money and have the strongest support. The Democratic establishment is supporting Muskie and should produce a substantial number of votes for him.

An analysis of the poll figures gathered by this observer leads to the conclusion that Muskie and McGovern each will get some delegate votes, with Muskie probably receiving slightly the larger number.

The trend of the battle between the two Senators will vary in different sections of the State.

McGovern Rated Slight Favorite Over Muskie

40 Per Cent Of Voters To Mark Local Ballots

Approximately 15,000 persons are expected to go to their polling places in Newton next Tuesday to indicate their preferences among the Presidential candidates. They would represent between 30 and 40 percent of the eligible voters in the city.

Political experts anticipate that between 10,000 and 11,000 Democrats and between 4,000 and 5,000 Republicans will turn out for the Presidential Primary at which the delegates to the two national conventions will be elected as well as members of the Democratic and Republican State and Ward Committee.

Polling places will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock at night.

So long is the Democratic ballot for this Presidential Primary that Executive Secretary Alan W. Licarie of the Newton Election Department is advertising for 100 counters to assist in tabulating the vote next Tuesday night.

Those hired will be paid $2 per hour and a minimum of $10 for the night. (Actually, the job probably will take more than five hours.) They will report at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday night and will work until the job is completed.

Persons interested in these jobs should call Mr. Licarie at the city election department. (BI-44700).

This will add at least another $10,000 to the cost of conducting the election in Newton.

Senator George McGovern of South Dakota is rated a slight favorite over Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine in the Democratic Presidential preference poll in Newton.

Cong. Robert F. Drinan of Newton heads the slate of candidates pledged to McGovern who are seeking election as delegates-at-large. Those on the ticket with him include Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, former Boston City Councillor John L. Saltonstall, Jr., Senator Jack H. Backman of Brookline and F. Christopher Arteron of Newton.

Boston Mayor Kevin H. White heads the state-wide ticket for Muskie. Among those on the slate with him are Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge, VOTERS—(See Page 35)

Extra Counters Are Needed For Primary Ballots

Because of the extremely long Democratic ballot on next Tuesday's Presidential Primary, paper ballots will be used in Newton for the Democratic voters. The Republicans will make their choices on the customary voting machines. Secretary Alan W. Licarie of the election department is seeking to hire an additional 100 persons to assist in tabulating the Newton vote next Tuesday night.

Sacred Heart College Given An IBM Grant

A grant of $50,000 from International Business Machines Corp. has been awarded to Newton College of the Sacred Heart, according to an announcement by Dr. James J. Whalen, president of the college.

Use of the funds, according to the terms of the grant, will be restricted to education of black professionals in Newton College's Graduate Program.

The funds will be geared to the training of current paragrants—(See Page 35)

Aldermen Approve Four BC Dorms; Limit Height

By CYNTHIA BLACK

After eliminating one floor in the proposed project, Newton aldermen Tuesday night voted to approve the construction of four proposed Boston College dorms. In addition, aldermen approved an ordinance to establish a Design Selection Committee and a Design Review Committee to assist the mayor in selecting architects for city projects.

The college was reportedly unhappy about the elimination of one story of dorm space. A spokesman commented after the vote was taken that a report on the action would be made to trustees.

At a Land Use Committee meeting during a recess Tuesday night, the committee learned that Boston College would go along with a plan to move one floor off of each of the two center buildings in the four-building complex, making the two outer buildings seven stories high and reducing the two inner ones to five stories.

The committee voted 4-2 to accept this proposal with Aldermen D.B. Cohen and Alan S. Barkin dissenting.

After presenting his committee report Ald. Barkin offered an amendment to the proposal which would set the height of the buildings at 7-5-6 stories respectively. The amendment was approved by a 13 to 8 vote with three members absent.

Eliminating one story would reduce dorm revenue by about $27,000.

Both Aldermen David W. Jackson and Lois G. Pines mentioned the existing commuter parking problem as a basis for their objections to the construction of the dorms.

"Frankly," Jackson said, "a college expanding here in DORMS—(See Page 30)

Extend Hours At Teen Loiter-Lot

Spring weather brings a new trial period for the "official hanging-out spot" at Newton South High School parking lot.

Police Chief William Quinn informed his police officers that a 45-day trial period was instituted Saturday, April 1 to allow youngsters to congregate in the parking lot up to 10 p.m. The previous curfew was 8 p.m.

Quinn added, "This does not mean that if a police officer sees a group of youngsters, he must arrest them."

News Deadlines To Be Observed

Graphic readers are advised of the importance of the new deadlines established for receiving news copy.

We must emphasize that Monday is the last day on which news releases, club and PTA news, church news, statements and reports, can be accepted for publication that week. This covers all news of a general nature. Photos must not be received later than the Friday preceding publication.

Mechanical schedules make these new deadlines necessary. We would appreciate receiving copy earlier than Monday if possible.

River Cleanup Participants Meet Tonight

There will be a general meeting tonight (Thursday, April 20) of all concerned Newton residents who plan to take part in the Charles River Cleanup slated for Saturday, May 6. The meeting will be held at the MDC Riverside Station, next to the Marriott Motor Hotel on Commonwealth Ave. by Route 128.

In case of a larger turnout than expected, an alternate location will be found, possibly on the banks of the Charles, weather permitting. CLEANUP—(See Page 3)

Gets Deputy Post

Robert D. Epstein, left, Newton native and son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Epstein, Newton Centre, is congratulated by Attorney General Robert H. Quinn on being appointed a deputy attorney general. He will serve in the Division of Environmental Protection. He attended Newton schools and is a graduate of Middlebury College, '68, and Boston College Law School, '71.

Schechter School Taking Kindergarten Applications

Applications are now being taken for the new afternoon kindergarten program of the Solomon Schechter Day School. The kindergarten will meet Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the school which is located in Temple Emanuel, 385 Ward street in Newton Centre. The Solomon Schechter Day School offers an integrated English and Hebrew program for pre-kindergarten, kindergarten and grades 1-6.

The afternoon class will offer all the basics of a good kindergarten program. Reading and math readiness, exploration of the world of science on the young child's level, indoor and outdoor play and individualized attention which is concerned with the social and emotional development of each child along with his intellectual growth. Jewish cultural traditions are an integral part of the program. Through songs, discussion, celebration and the introduction of simple Hebrew vocabulary, the child begins or deepens his awareness of Jewish life.

Both secular and Jewish aspects of the curriculum are enriched by field trips music, arts and crafts, creative dramatics and games. The school welcomes and encourages visits by interested parents. Arrangements for visits or discussions with parents of children now enrolled in the program may be made by calling the school office 527-3741 between 8 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Monday through Friday or Mrs. Paula Blumberg, 969-3067.

Memorial School Students Study Pollution Topics

On Ecology Day, April 25, the student body at Memorial School in Oak Hill will go into the wooded Charles River area on a clean-up expedition. Memorial students have been giving a lot of attention to the subject of pollution recently. Each class has been working on projects, producing, among other things, collages, poems, stories, skits, reports and posters dealing with air, water, noise, land and body pollution.

A poster contest is also being held. The deadline is April 26. Winning posters will be displayed at Mt. Ida Junior College.

One-Man Show At The Library Until May 9

Arthur Polonsky's one-man show at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner is masterful and has to be seen. The pure pictorial excitement of his works alert the viewer to this significant exhibit of 20 oils, ink drawings, and etchings representative of Polonsky's work from 1954 to the present.

Blending expressive semi-abstract brushwork with the reality of the human form, Polonsky succeeds in drawing the viewer into his personal way of seeing while still conveying a sense of the mysterious to the viewer. Large areas of darkness, used to provide a background or as main fields in a painting, evoke a sense of the mysterious and the personal fantasies of the viewer, as evident in such works of the 60's as "Sunthought," "Snow Prisoner," and "Prisoner Sees." "Waves Forming," an abstract completed in 1971, is painted in vibrant oranges, pinks, and lavenders, and provides a vivid contrast to Polonsky's earlier works. Inevitably, characteristic images emerge; the compassionate, beautiful face of a woman, faces emerging or disappearing from abstract forms, and the reoccurring theme of strong horizontal lines of a window or an outstretched arm. The varied presentation of these images "determines the nature of the work."

"Although many of my works are figurative," Polonsky explains, "they are not intended as narrative or literary symbols. . . the hope is to create a visible presence of something that could not otherwise be seen."

Polonsky, Associate Professor of Art at Boston University, has exhibited in the United States and in Europe. His works have appeared in one-man shows at the Boris Mirsky Gallery, Brandeis University, the Durlacher Gallery, New York, the Mickelson Gallery, Washington, D.C., and at the Brockton Art Center.

In Boston he has exhibited, also, at the Museum of Fine Arts, Institute of Contemporary Art, and the Fogg Museum.

Polonsky's works have been hung at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, the Carnegie International Exposition in Pittsburgh, the University of Illinois, the Downtown Gallery, and the Contemporaries Gallery in New York.

Polonsky has received several awards including the Tiffany Award for Painting, 1952. His work is represented in the collections of the Stedelijk Museum, Amsterdam; Brandeis Univ.; the Addison Gallery of American Art, Andover, Mass.; the Fogg Museum; the DeCordova Museum, Lincoln; the Boston Public Library; the Museum of Fine Arts; and in private collections.

The exhibit continues at the Newton Free Library through May 9. Library hours are 9-9, Monday through Friday, 9-5:30 on Saturday, and 1-4, Sunday.

"Big Sisters" Plan Membership Coffee

A morning filled with ideas, dimensions to the program to increase the services of the store for guests at the Big Sister Association.

The Big Sister Association was founded 22 years ago with the purpose of giving friendship to girls in need of acceptance, understanding and companionship. Volunteer Big Sisters, women over 19, are matched to young girls on a one-to-one basis, and spend a few hours each week helping their Little Sisters to grow. They may bake, skate, visit a museum or just talk, constantly building a relationship that brings increased self-confidence, awareness and fun to the Little Sister, and satisfaction and joy to the Big Sister. There are now over 360 matched pairs of Big and Little Sisters throughout the Greater Boston area.

Each day, the list of young girls referred to the agency by schools, other social service agencies, mental health clinics, etc., grows and grows, pointing up the increased importance of the person to person relationship offered by Big Sister Association. Because of the needs of the community the agency has grown tremendously within the past few years, and the need for additional volunteers and support becomes most vital.

If you are interested in attending the membership coffee please call Mrs. Epstein at 527-3799 or 969-6294. For additional information contact Big Sister Association, 73 Tremont St., Boston 02108 or call 523-5426.

 This is the first time they wear their white uniforms and following breakfast, they "dedicate the ivy" — the class's highest tribute to the individual they select as having meant the most to them during their training period.

All five New England states, New York and Japan are represented among the graduates, the last in a long line of N-W-H trained nurses coming out of the school since it was founded 84 years ago, just two years after the hospital admitted its first patient.

Meantime, the school's admissions office has announced that 62 students have been selected out of over 400 applicants for the class entering in September 1972.

Fully half of these students (thirty-three in all) have had educational and/or work experience beyond high school preparation.

In the entering group, there are men (three) and women ranging in age from 19-42 years, thirteen of whom are married. Eight enrolled students have earned a bachelor degree in another field, two have an associate degree, four are licensed practical nurses, eleven have attended college for one or two years and two have had some previous nursing school experience.

Next year two classes will graduate from Newton-Wellesley, the last in the school's three-year program, and the first class in the new two-year program inaugurated last fall.

Exhibits Art At Weeden Gallery
 Artist Eleanor Rubin of Newton will exhibit her artwork at Weeden Gallery on Lewis Wharf, Boston, at a show beginning Friday, April 28, and continuing until May 6.

"Pinocchio" At Newton High Friday, April 21

The Boston Children's Theatre Touring Company will present a benefit performance of the children's classic, "Pinocchio" on Friday afternoon (April 21) at 2 p.m. in the Auditorium of Newton North High School, 453 Walnut Street, Newtonville.

All proceeds from this April vacation event will be used to provide camperships for handicapped youngsters at Camp Sea Haven which is operated by Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston.

The Cerebral Palsy Center in Newton Corner offers professional training and special services for children and young adults suffering from crippling conditions caused by brain damage. Edith P. Schneider, herself a cerebral palsy victim, is program director. Camp Sea Haven, which has recently been accredited by the American Camping Association, is a non-profit camp and has special camping and recreational facilities for handicapped youngsters. It is operated by the Newton group.

Sale of Candles Will Aid Newton Project Turnabout

A display of candles made by the Newton Community Members of Turnabout will be at the Newton City Hall, Street Department, starting Monday, April 24. All proceeds will benefit Project Turnabout. Mayor Theodore D. Mann has been very cooperative in this endeavor. Turnabout would like to thank him for his generous donations of furniture and his genuine concern for the youth of the City of Newton. The general public is more than welcome to show its involvement and concern by helping to support a worthy cause.

Despite talk over the dangerous increase in drug addiction, there are few programs that offer a solution. Even under the best circumstances, those that exist can cope with only a small fraction of the problem. Turnabout it is pointed out, has some recorded success, and has survived.

It began as a telephone on a wall in early 1969. Since that time Turnabout has received over 450 people in its residential program, over 200 in day care, over 300 in encounter therapy program and 800 adults into its adult education program. Turnabout has received over 200 residents to a positive functioning life in society to date.

Twenty former residents have returned or begun seeking a college degree. 60 per cent of Turnabout's resident population have been probated to us by the courts. On an average during a month, we have 60 to 70 residents in the Houses. The age range is from 13 to 30.

The Newton Storefront is only one of five facilities. Young people meet here to discuss their problems and are counseled by staff members. The Hingham and Hull Houses provide a level of stress which the individual must learn to cope with. The intensity of this stress is in direct proportion to the growth of the individual. Learning to deal with stress, anxiety and frustration without resorting to drugs is the major objective.

Alfred Di Benedetti pointed out that many aspects of the business, such as marketing and promotion, could be conducted out.

Switching from commercial uses to programming, Labonte told the committee that the Wellesley Board of Selectmen feels that the only way to get programming responsive to the public is to have a community-owner cable television line.

In answer to objections that the city is not geared to handle business such as cable television, personnel Director

Three-Day Week

Recently a New Jersey soup manufacturer put 75 of its 300 working personnel on a three-day work-week. It was sort of an experiment even though the idea had been adopted in two other of the firm's plants.

If you believe the abbreviated week sent all of the 75 workers dancing into the streets, you're wrong. Two weeks after the experiment began, the firm said most of those affected were delighted. Later grumblings began to be heard.

Under the new work schedule, the total work week was 36 hours, broken into 12 hours for each work-day. Provisions were made for a 27-minute lunch break, with four 15-minute breaks interspersed through each shift.

"This is great," "More time with the family!" "Time to do something around the house." Those were some of the expressions the manufacturer reported in listing some of his workers' reactions.

Now complainants are finding the 12-hour shifts too "debilitating." Some fathers as well as some mothers complained that on the three work-days they weren't seeing much of their children, and that household schedules were thrown all askew.

The company promises to evaluate the whole idea in the not too distant future, but the evidence at hand would indicate that the universal three-day work week is not exactly around the corner for a big segment of American industry.

Presently, there are more than 700 companies across the country which have dropped their work week to three or four days. New Jersey has 65 shortened schedules, New York, 34, and industrialized Connecticut, 31.

Most of the firms by nature could adjust to the less-than-five-day week and while the trend continues, it is yet far from an avalanche.

The oft-quoted novel, "1984," made much of the push-button world of the future and many an American worker has dreamed of things like three-day work weeks. Most of them will have to be realistic about it for the present, at least. The world isn't quite ready to amend the bromide about Johnny and "all work and no play" — to "all play and no (or little) work."

Tax On Shoeshines

New York City, like most major metropolitan centers, is desperate to find new sources of income. The old standbys have been pumped down to dangerously low levels. The "new sources" have either disappeared or have already been pretty well picked over by the state.

Heart-breaking, indeed, was the lament the other day by Chairman Mario Merola of the New York City Council's Finance Committee, one of the agencies looking for new revenue.

Someone had suggested that a potential Christmas tree of new taxes could be plucked by placing a 3 per cent city sales tax on "personal services" — dry cleaning, haircuts, shoeshines, etc.

"That sales tax on shoeshine boys," hotly objected Mr. Merola, "would be impossible to administer."

We suppose Mr. Merola was thinking of the youngsters who follow the boyhood trade Horatio Alger made famous — the doughty lads who packed a shoe box on their back and earned a few nickels and dimes from clients who rested their backs against a wall while they acquired an honest shine.

We agree with Mr. Merola and pause to wonder if the number of boys who follow that honest endeavor have fallen off since Mr. Alger's day. There are still folks who boast of an ancestry which lived in a log cabin. There are still men in the "way-up echelons" who remember their days as newspapermen.

But ex-shoeshine boys? Who's Who, at least, doesn't list them in their all-inclusive biographies.

It's quite possible those who suggested shoeshining as a source of New York revenue were thinking not of those boys on the street but of the uniformed battery of shiners in the super deluxe hotels.

Whatever his intention may be, it's very likely that when the show-down comes, New York will be a little reluctant to put a tax on shoe shines. There are still a few graybeards alive who read Mr. Alger's "rags to riches" classics. All of them retain a soft spot in their hearts for shoeshine boys.

Bored Mike Mansfield Says Democrats Need Fresh Face

Quiet-spoken but blunt Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, who certainly should be one of the most influential Democratic leaders in the United States, is not impressed by or enthusiastic about any of the Democratic candidates now running for President.

In fact, he says he's "absolutely bored" by the political skirmishing of the Democratic contenders actively seeking the nomination for President and that he would like to see a "fresh face" in the race.

The freshest face among the present crop of Democratic Presidential candidates, says Mike, is that of Hubert H. Humphrey which isn't very fresh.

"I don't even watch on TV any more," declared Mike who then went on to name some of the Democrats with fresh faces who he thinks might get elected President.

His first choice, quite obviously, is Governor Reubin Askew of Florida. Who he? "One of the great men of our time," according to Senator Mansfield, who added that he would "be delighted to support Governor Askew."

Other fresh faces he would be pleased to support include former North Carolina Governor Terry Sanford, now the president of Duke University; and Senators Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Philip A. Hart of Michigan.

port include former North Carolina Governor Terry Sanford, now the president of Duke University; and Senators Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Philip A. Hart of Michigan.

Mike is convinced that Senator Ted Kennedy does not want the nomination and would fight against having it forced upon him. He thinks Senator Edmund S. Muskie looks "strained" on television.

Senator Mansfield believes the Democratic Presidential hopefuls would do better if they spent more time attacking President Nixon and less blasting each other.

He said he favors a national primary. "It would be more dignified and perhaps less expensive," he maintained. "Now we are spending millions of dollars and leaving scars from attacking one another."

We're Drowning In Taxes But More Coming Next Year

Urge Busing Support

Editor of the Graphic:

The League of Women Voters of Newton urges all citizens to contact Senator Kennedy, Senator Brooke and Congressman Drinan and ask them to vote against any legislation that would eliminate school busing as a means to provide equal educational opportunity for all Americans. We particularly emphasize rejection of President Nixon's March proposals in this area.

The facts are that President Nixon proposes a moratorium on all new court-ordered busing. His proposed legislation would also terminate all new or existing busing orders five years from entry of the order or from passage of the law, whichever is later; and would terminate all desegregation orders 10 years from entry of the order or from passage of the law, whichever is later.

Furthermore, district lines may not be altered unless it is established that the lines were drawn with a segregationist purpose and effect.

And on application of a local educational agency, an existing desegregation order may be reopened and modified to comply with provisions of the Act. In other words, there is a time limit set for duration of any court order to implement school desegregation; and since the whole question of what constitutes legitimate court procedure in specifying desegregation plans is open to occasional abuses of busing, doubt, many school systems without sufficient regard for Urges Sargent's Funds For State GOP Comm.

Editor, The Graphic:

With election time approaching, I strongly urge Governor Sargent to request the Sargent Fund-Raising Committee to donate the large sum of money, which some newspapers have estimated as high as two million dollars, (raised through his cocktail parties and dinners), to the Republican State Committee for the express purpose of having central Party funding for all state and county campaigns in the Republican party.

As the leader of his party, I feel that Governor Sargent has a responsibility to do his utmost in promoting the Republican party to make it a viable force in Massachusetts.

Most city and town committees share in my thought of having the governor turn the funds over to the Republican party.

I strongly feel that if it wasn't for the Republican party sponsoring and supporting Francis Sargent in his earlier political years, there would be no Governor Sargent today.

What purpose is this large fund to serve since the governor does not stand for reelection for two more years? Is this his fund-raising for anticipated being a presidential candidate in 1976? If this is his goal, I first recommend that he have more team spirit in helping people of his own party rather than running a one-man show.

The Republican Party is in serious trouble and desperately needs the Governor's leadership if it is to remain a viable political force in Massachusetts.

Yours truly,

Noble and Greenough Embarks On Coeducation Plan With Winsor

By CYNTHIA BLACK

The long and winding road to coeducation has taken Noble and Greenough School representatives on a carefully paced tour of possibilities and alternatives over the last five years.

Trustees voted this month to expand the size and scope of the Dedham Institution over the next few years, beginning with a working relationship with the Winsor School for girls in Boston.

While the two private schools have agreed to work together on a coeducational plan, the final shape and form of the arrangement will be apparent only after extensive study and talks between the two schools.

Headmaster Edward S. Gleason said in a recent interview that plans are now being made to get both faculties together for talks. Possibilities for implementation include introducing female students into the upper three classes on the Nobles campus, and giving Noble and Greenough students the opportunity to take advantage of the urban setting at Winsor.

In a letter sent from the school to graduates and parents, the new partnership was described as "not just an old school made new, but two old schools, quite different, but with much in common, who seek together to create a new educational entity that will nevertheless preserve the identity of both."

Nobles announced goal as described in the letter calls for the admission of 20 more boys and 120 girls, bringing the total enrollment up to 380 by the 1975-76 school year. The two schools already have a joint "Community Involvement" course in which students are placed in a particular community activity for three hours per week. Gleason also said that he "hoped" the schools could open up more shared educational activities as early as next year and also suggested teacher exchanges as a possibility for the coming year.

In an economic era when many private schools are taking steps to alleviate financial difficulties, it might be suspected that Noble and Greenough and Winsor are following suit.

This is not the case according to Gleason. He described both schools as almost remarkably financially sound, and said the decision was strictly an "educational" move on the part of both institutions.

The school was founded in 1866 by George W. C. Noble as a private day school in Boston. James J. Greenough became associated with Noble in 1892. The school was incorporated as an educational institution in the Commonwealth in 1913; and in 1922, the facility moved to its present 175-acre site in the Riverdale section of Dedham.

Noble and Greenough takes both boarders and daytime students and provides education from the seventh through the twelfth grades.

Enrollment is currently limited to 250 students. Tuition is $2,100 for day students and $3,200 for boarding students.

The campus itself, wooded, rocky and bordered by the Charles River, provides a nature classroom which Gleason said was being used to a greater extent now than before.

The environmental science course focuses some of its attention on the Charles River and water pollution. In fact, Gleason pointed out, Nobles is a section outpost for Charles River Cleanup Day which will be May 6 this year.

Gleason also said that at this time of year, 138 species of birds pass through the secluded Noble's campus.

With an eye on expansion, Gleason also noted that further land will have to be developed in the future to accommodate the increase in students.

A lot of nature would still remain, though. Gleason said a new administration building, a library that would more adequately meet the needs of the school, an auditorium, and science and athletic facilities are the necessary items.

Shape Up?

Ship Out?

Add a family room

or

Find a bigger house

Remodel the basement

or

Get a house with a finished family room

Put in a new bathroom

or

Get a house with all the bathrooms you need

In the long run, improving your present home can be a lot cheaper than moving.

On the other hand, some houses just don't lend themselves to major alterations. You're better off moving into another house that meets your needs now.

Shapeup or ship out?

Your decision. But no matter which course you choose, Newton Savings Bank is ready to help. With a Make-it-Happen loan, or a mortgage loan.

We know your neighborhood. Chances are, we know you. We're right here where you live. You'll find our rates competitive. Because we want to do business with you.

Champagne Fashion Show On Tuesday

A Champagne Fashion Show titled "Fashion With a Flair" is being held next Tuesday (April 25) at Aquinas Junior College on Jackson road, West Newton. The show, presented by Yolanda's Fashion Boutique of Belmont, is under the auspices of the Sodality of Our Lady of St. Bernard's Church in West Newton.

Champagne will be served. Preceding the fashions and dessert and coffee will be served following the show. A door prize and raffle will also be featured.

Chairman of the evening is Mrs. Mary Nardone, Prefect of the Sodality. She will be assisted by Mrs. Mary Brandon, Secretary, Refreshments; Mrs. Kathleen Marchand, Vice-Prefect, Co-Chairman; Mrs. Carolyn Kling, Treasurer, Tickets; Mrs. Dorothy Morrissey, Gifts and Raffle; and Mrs. Mary Lou DeSouza, Publicity. Among those assisting the various committee will be Mrs. Dorothy Connolly; Miss Mary Fahey and Mrs. Margaret Kieley.

A very important part of the Sodality is its loyal group of consultants who act as liaison between the Prefect and members. They are responsible for informing the members of all the activities in the calendar year and helping the Sodality run efficiently in all of its spiritual and charitable endeavors.

They include: Mrs. Lee Penta; Mrs. Anne Rabbitt; Mrs. Mary Vallee; Mrs. Josephine Galvagno; Miss Mary Fahey; Mrs. Dorothy Morrissey; Mrs. Dorothy Connolly; Mrs. Margaret Kironen; Mrs. Anne Clark; Mrs. Frances Precopio; Miss Nora Ford; and Miss Mary Harney.

The panelists will present the topic from four viewpoints: medical, religious, sociologic and psychologic. Panelists will be Mrs. Marlon A. MacLeod, a member of the National Conference on Social Welfare; Dr. Mildred F. Jefferson, clinical instructor at Boston University's School of Medicine; Miss Pamela Lowry, coordinator for Pregnancy Counseling Service Inc. of Boston and The Rev. William C. Coleman, Pastor of Christ Church, United Methodist, Wellesley.

IN STYLE in the late 1800s is this gown of rosy beige procade, part of the goodwill fashion parade coming to Newton on April 26th. Modeling is Miss Deborah McDewell of Everett.

Goodwill Fashion Parade In Newton April 26th

A fashion show by the Churchill of Watertown, Past Goodwill Auxiliary to Morgan Memorial will be hosted by the Newton Highlands Congregational Church Business and Professional Women's Organization on Wednesday (April 26) beginning at 8 p.m.

The show, at the Church on Lincoln street, is open to the public and further information or tickets can be obtained through any member of the Women's Organization or through the church secretary.

"Goodwill Fashion Parade" is the theme for the show during which about 15 models walk through the aisles and exhibit fashions from the early 1800's through the present day.

The Goodwill Auxiliary is engaged for seventy-four performances from now to next June, 1972 and since its creation 18 months ago 110 shows have been presented in all parts of eastern Massachusetts. Bookings are already being made for late 1972 and 1973.

Most of the styles presented in the show will not be found in the stores of today. Nevertheless the sounds of approval for the beauty of yesteryear's fashions is unmistakable.

Taking the audience back to the conservative 1800's is a flowing cotton nightgown trimmed with yards of handmade hair-pin lace. An interesting contrast is the modern nylon 'shortie' with matching ruffled panties. Piegnoirs of old and new design are also a popular attraction. A floor length pale blue peignoir and matching gown of pure silk elaborately decorated with silk embroidery reflects the elegance of the early 1900's. A lovely short peignoir and gown of white nylon and lace brings the audience up-to-date.

Of course, no Fashion Show would be complete without bridal gowns. There will be dresses of satin and silk, of velvet and lace. There will be high-laced shoes and chapeaux trimmed with ostrich plumes. Another highlight in the fabulous Fashion Show are the 1880 corsets and equally old chemise and petticoats.

The show began with women exclusively as models. But now some of the husbands have been worked into the performance to display old fashioned swim suits and nightshirts.

The Fashion Show is the creation of Mrs. Byron Sheehan were hostesses for the day.

Candlelight Ceremony For Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Ludwig

Rabbi Murray Rothman of Temple Shalom and Cantor Gabriel Hochberg of Temple Emmanuel performed the marriage ceremony by candlelight in the Belmont Country Club Sunday evening, April 9, in which Miss Dale Anne Roberts became the bride of Mr. Benjamin H. Ludwig.

Parents of the couple are the late Mr. and Mrs. C. Louis Mr. and Mrs. Myron C. Roberts. Grandparents of the bridegroom are Mr. Abraham of West Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin V. Ludwig of Brockton and the late Mrs. Horowitz and the late Mrs. Horowitz and the late Samuel Rottenberg of Palm Beach, Fla., and Newton and Ludwig.

The bride chose a gown of ivory silk organza appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls designed with a self ruffled train. Illusion veiling fell from a matching lace and pearl beaded Juliet cap and she carried a nosegay of stephanotis and apricot sweetheart roses.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Wendy Sue Roberts of West Newton in a Victorian gown of floral print, and carrying a basket of spring flowers. Bridesmaids were Miss Debra Ludwig, sister of the groom of Waban; with the class of 1969. Her Miss Susan Blumberg of Reading, Pa.; Miss Hope Miller of West Newton; Miss Ellen Kaitz of Brookline; Miss Joanne Warshaver of Nisayuna, N.Y. and as junior bridesmaids were Miss Laura Ludwig, sister of the groom of Waban, and Miss Lisa Roberts, cousin of the bride of West Newton. They were also in floral print gowns and carried assorted spring flowers.

MRS. BENJAMIN H. LUDWIG

Best man for his brother was Mr. David Ludwig of Waban and groomsmen were Mr. Mark Sebell of Belmont and Mr. Robert Deitz of Brighton, both cousins of the groom; Mr. Donald Tofias, Mr. Lanny Colton and Mr. David Smookler all of Newton; Mr. Michael Walker of Malvern, Pa.; and Mr. Nicholas Nicholas of Philadelphia, Pa.

Following a reception in the Country Club the couple left for a honeymoon in Acapulco, Mexico, Tahiti and Bora-Bora. Mrs. Ludwig is a graduate of Brimmer and May School in Chestnut Hill with honors and of Pine Manor Junior College

Student Nurses Beat The Doctors in Basketball

Once again the Student Chris Strong, Joanne Kellish, Nurses and the Doctors at the Margaret Riedie, Marilyn Newton-Wellesley hospital met Kaine, Jane Lake, Diane Caron on the basketball court at roll, John Sharpe, John Burke, Warren Junior High and this Shirley Aube and Mary Ann time the SNs took revenge on Keegan.

Those on the MDs team were interns: Drs. Richard Dupee, Michael Rubin, William Chambers, Fred Cowen, James Long; resident: Dr. Walter Kaufman; Jeffrey Kelly, Steven Baron and Ernest Weirnerman of the hospital's administration; and from the hospital's medical staff, Drs. Avar Mitchell, Wellesley; Francis Kleeman, Chestnut Hill; James Vernon, Weston; L. Bradford Thompson, Wayland, and Norman Kat-McCarthy, Shirley Young, twinkel, Newton.

The student-doctor game is apt to become an annual event at Newton Wellesley with so many of both groups wanting to get in on the fun that not everyone could play. The SNs this year had three men on their team for the first time. The score this year was 34-31 in favor of the students who were: Laurie Himes, Janice Holmgren, Pat Mowll, Gena Cronin, Rosemary Haugh, Marilynne Bleakney, Mary McCarthy, Shirley Young, twinkel, Newton.

SHERMAN DANIELS
Tom Fitzpatrick Memorial Award Goes To Daniels

Sherman "Budd" Daniels of Newton, will become the 12th recipient of Boston University's "Thomas Fitzpatrick Memorial Award" at the Varsity Club's annual Hall of Fame Banquet on April 28.

The award, given to an outstanding alumnus for "inspirational service offered unselfishly in real and spiritual measure, has been presented annually since 1961 and now honors the memory of its first recipient, the late Tom Fitzpatrick, a leader in the alumni support of BU's intercollegiate sports program until his death in 1963.

Budd Daniels, a graduate of BU's College of Business Administration, heads the Brookline advertising firm of Goldman & Daniels. He has been in the forefront of alumni athletic support at BU for the past 25 years, most notably in recent years as a member of the Executive Committee of the Friends of Hockey and as vice chairman of Project '71. He is also a member of the National Alumni Council, the Friends of Football, and the Varsity Club.

Active in Newton civic affairs, Daniels serves on the Newton Crime Commission and is a past president and director of the Kiwanis Club and a former director of the Little League. He is also a member of the Advisory Council of Washington & Lee University, where his eldest son is a student. He resides with his wife, Georgia, and two sons at 8 Exmoor rd. in Newton.

Flowers Flourish With Fluorescents

Many kinds of decorative plants, the U.S. Department of Agriculture points out, can now be grown under fluorescent lights at home in an indoor garden.

Indoor gardens come in many shapes and sizes, each with its own decorative purpose. Some may brighten up an otherwise dull, dimly lit corridor, while others may divide a room or light a wall.

The primary requirements for an indoor garden are a planter box, a good lighting system, properly selected plants, and care. The planter box can be made of pine, fir, or veneered plywood, which can be painted, stained, or oiled to suit your tastes.

Inside the planter is a water-tight liner, best made from sheet metal painted with epoxy paint or asphalt to retard rust. Two layers of thick polyethylene stapled inside the planter make a good temporary liner.

If the planter is mounted on casters, the entire unit may be moved easily. This facilitates handling of the plants, housecleaning, and the inevitable rearranging of furniture.

If your indoor garden receives no sunlight, high intensity fluorescent lamps provide enough light to grow a wide range of plants. If the garden is placed by a window and the lamps serve as supplementary light sources, standard fluorescent lamps suffice for some plants.

Place the planter box where the day temperature is about 75 degrees F., and night temperature is about 65 degrees F. Avoid locations near heating ducts, drafty doorways, or heavy traffic areas in the home. Otherwise, plants may be dried, chilled, or trampled to death.

For the novice, the following plants require the least amount of light, are relatively easy to care for, and are available year round at local stores handling house plants: Aglaonema, Aspidistra, Dieffenbachia, Dracaena, Syngonium, Pandanus vitchii, Philodendron oxycardium, pertusum, and Sansevieria.

Of all plant care watering is the most important. Too little water, plants dry out - too much and they drown or rot. By using a plastic funnel you can be sure your plant gets exactly the right amount of water. Insert the funnel's neck into the soil in the pot, then fill the funnel with water. When it empties fill it again. When water no longer drains from the funnel, stick your finger down neck of the funnel so the water won't run out, then remove the funnel. Only the amount of water which the soil can hold leaves the funnel - never too much. Plants watered this way seldom need more water for several weeks.

Suffolk Honors

The following area students have been named to the Dean's List at Suffolk University for the first semester of the academic year.

Auburndale: Charles S. Tower Jr., 316 Central st.; Harry P. Kotseas, 38 Loring st.

Newton: Peter P. DiDomenico, 4 Bowers st.; William C. Maher Jr., 20 Harvard st.; Martha Feldman, 1007 Beacon st.; Claudia Gilcreast, 7 Rennie terr.; David P. Cichon, 601 Winchester st.; Robert E. Barren, 25 Dudley rd.; Dana L. Snyder, 181 Florence st.; Brother Daniel E. Skala, CFX, 601 Winchester st.; Pauline C. Natsis, 10 Kilburn rd.; Myron B. Cohen, 30 St. Mary's st.

West Newton: Richard S. Ferris, 35 Falmouth rd.; Joseph T. Butt, 85 Adena rd.; Susan L. Herlihy, 29 Warwick rd.; Kenneth I. Giordano, 51 Westland ave.

Treat your plants with water-soluble fertilizer (never use dry fertilizer) every two to four weeks at the dosage recommended on the label.

Fertilize only when the plant is actively growing - that is, when it is forming new leaves which are always small, and very pale green in color. About once a week turn each of the pots in the planter to encourage even development of the plant.

Stephen Foster Program Held at D.A.R. Chapter

An introduction to America's best-loved songwriter was given to members of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D.A.R., on April 10.

At that time Mrs. James S. Gove and Mrs. Herbert Anderson presented a program on Stephen Foster, the former reading a paper she had prepared, the latter playing many of Foster's best-known melodies.

Mrs. Gove, a teacher for many years, lives in Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Anderson, a graduate of the New England Conservatory and an experienced concert pianist, lives in Wellesley Hills. Both are members of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter.

A social hour with refreshments and a business session preceded the program. Plans for the group's annual Rummage Sale on May 13 were discussed.

Fire Damages Newton Shops

A fire of undetermined origin caused about $15,000 worth of damage to a block of stores and shops at Newton Corner last Sunday night.

Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr. said that no one was injured, but that he had called in the state fire marshal to investigate the blaze which struck 283-291 Centre St., a spot which includes Pellegrini's Pizzeria, Mr. Brill, a pastry shop, Heritage Insurance, L.S. Avak Antique Shop and George's Cafe. They are all located in a one-story building owned by Gorham and Leader, Management consultants.

The fire began in the rear of 285 Centre St., burned through a partition to 283, and to the ceiling and across the roof of 285. The fire was discovered by a passerby who turned in the alarm.

Turf Tips
THE GREEN MACHINE
WHAT FERTILIZER SHOULD I USE FOR MY GRASS?
Ask ten people that question and you'll get ten different answers. It's no wonder the average homeowner is confused about fertilizer. There are literally hundreds of different combinations on the market and hundreds of pet theories about their use. Even if you are knowledgeable about which fertilizers should be used, applying it properly is another problem in itself.

The type of fertilizer used should be designed for grass. Remember too, that grass grows over a long period of time and will need to be fed regularly during the growing season regardless of the type used. Many people start out with one application in the spring and expect the fertilizer to last all summer. This is not reasonable. How often you feed will depend on what type of grass you have - whether it is growing in the shade or not and, to some extent, how much you water your lawn. Many combination products are on the market which will do several jobs at once. If you have weeds or insects which need to be controlled, consider one of these. Unless you are a chemist though, the choice of products and claims will be very confusing. The sure way to have good results is to ask the Green Machine people to lay out a program for you. Don't let it make sense to have someone who knows grass and products to advise you before spending money for something you may not need? The number to call for a no cost survey and estimate is below.

Can Train Eye To See Color Within Color

A new approach to the visual understanding of color was the theme of the demonstration given by Frank McWade last week to members and guests of the Westwood Art Association.

Mr. McWade painted a striking portrait in oils, pointing out as he worked how the eye can be trained to see colors within a color. Beginning with patches of bold color, he managed in the short time allowed to paint a vivid and vibrant likeness of his brunette model.

On May 9 the Association will present Betty Lou Schlemm of Rockport as the guest artist.

Time to Start Planting, Despite Cold Weather

Courtesy Massachusetts Department of Agriculture

Despite the cool, raw weather that has delayed the Bay State growing season by ten days, it is now time to start turning the earth and seeding some crops for your summer garden, says the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture.

This is an excellent time to start produce that likes cool, damp weather, and will not suffer from an occasional late frost: spinach, radish, escarole, chicory, carrots and beets, to name a few. They should thrive during this period that seems not fit for man nor beast... but is good for hardy plants.

Now that the frost is out of the ground, conditions are excellent for setting out shrub plants such as rhododendrons and evergreens. They start best while the weather remains cool. The MDA warns against adding fertilizer to the soil when planting shrubs - it's too easy to burn the tiny feeder roots. Most balled-and-bagged plants have plenty of plant food already in the ball. Later in the season, when the plants are doing well in their new environment, is the time to add some fertilizer.

Check your nearby roadside stand for perennials right now; many of them do best by being set out now.

This is the time, too, to spruce up what's left of the lawn after the winter; to rake up the leaves that blew over from next door (you surely left none last fall!), and to spread lime and fertilizer which the spring rains will help leach into the soil. If you have any weed problem (and who hasn't?), the MDA says now is the best time to use a lawn food containing the proper herbicides.

Prominent among best buys from nearby farms are Crisp Air apples from controlled atmosphere storage. Cortland, Delicious and McIntosh are plentiful, of excellent quality, and reasonably priced. Locally grown greenhouse cucumbers are increasingly available at special produce counters, although all supermarkets do not carry them. Of excellent quality, they're a good buy for special occasions. Massachusetts greenhouse lettuce is becoming fairly plentiful, and should be tried. The head resembles the Boston lettuce that appears later in the season. Crisp and delicate, it goes best when served as hearts of lettuce, rather than being broken up and tossed into a salad.

Mrs. Jerry Weinberg of Newton was a winner of the first Young Leadership Recognition Award given by the Associated Jewish Community Centers of Greater Boston. She attended the 1972 Jewish Welfare Board Biennial Convention last week in Atlanta, Georgia, to receive her award.

Mrs. Weinberg is President of the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center Women's Auxiliary. Criteria for the award included effective service on a Jewish Community Center Board, a record of community achievement, and potential for future leadership.

The Warren Junior High School Annual Spring Open House will be held on April 27 from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. This will provide an opportunity for parents and friends of Warren to observe representative work done by students during the year.

The schedule for the evening is as follows: Assembly Hall: 7:30-7:45 Selections by the Concert Chorus. 7:45-8 Selections by the Concert Band. 8-8:15 P.T.A. Meeting - Election of Officers.

Classroom Visitation: 8:15-10 Pupils Exhibits on Display.

Pentecostal meeting

The Tenth Pentecostal World Conference will be held in Seoul, Korea, Sept. 18-3, 1973, reports the Assemblies of God international headquarters.

The Rev. Thomas F. Zimmerman, General Superintendent of the Assemblies of God, will be chairman.

Pentecostal ministers from every continent have been invited to speak at the conference, whose theme will be "Anointed to Preach."

Night Meetings will be held in the Seoul Arena, where attendance of 100,000 is expected nightly in Springfield, Mo.

Women in religion

Women in religion are making news.

About 6,500 Roman Catholic nuns out of 1.2 million worldwide left their orders in 1969, says the Funk & Wagnall's 1970 yearbook, and the first woman to become a Lutheran minister, Elizabeth, was ordained.

In the Jewish faith, the annual reference work cites Sally Preisand, a student at Hebrew Union College, who conducted services at a Jackson, Mich., synagogue twice monthly while the congregation searched for a rabbi. Miss Preisand expects woman rabbi next year, to be ordained the first.

Chief Industry

Sugar is Hawaii's chief business, producing one fortieth of the world supply.

Rec. Comm. To Meet On Monday

The next regular meeting of the Newton Recreation Commission will be held next Monday night (April 24) at 7:45 p.m. at the Newton Recreation Department headquarters, 70 Crescent Street, Auburndale.

Due to the holiday on the 17, the regular meeting date on the 3rd Monday of each month has been changed.

Items that will be discussed at this meeting will be the resumption of the Mini-bike program, the Cold Spring Skating Rink - Sports Complex and the use of the Newton Centre filed house.

All citizens are welcome and encouraged to attend.

Ex-nun starts over in education field

A former Roman Catholic nun who left the Dominican sisterhood this spring has accepted a job as an elementary school teacher in the Spring Branch, Tex., independent school district.

Margaret Evans, 49, was formerly superintendent of schools of the Galveston - Houston Catholic diocese.

Authors Study On Siblings Of Retarded Youth

Dr. Frances K. Grossman of Newton, a psychologist at Boston University, is the author of a new book entitled: "Brothers and Sisters of Retarded Children: An Exploratory Study," after five years of research.

The book focuses on the siblings of a retarded child, not the child himself, and concludes that they develop an unusual degree of understanding. Many of the siblings which Dr. Grossman studied exhibited more compassion, more sensitivity to prejudice, and more appreciation of their own good health and intelligence, than children who grew up with normal brothers and sisters.

Contrary to popular belief there are other sports besides the usual baseball and basketball business. For example, pool. Only one little girl we know plays pool with a difference. The report is that five-year-old Suzanne Stebelski of Los Angeles was about to lose her first tooth. So she fastened one end of a long piece of dental floss to the loose tooth and the other end to a cue. She took her shot. Out came the tooth. Suzanne grinned and watched the four-ball fall into a side pocket.

IF PARIS LEFT YOU SPEECHLESS LAST YEAR, MAYBE WE CAN HELP THIS YEAR.

To help you out this year, Berlitz has a Traveler's Aid Course. In French, Spanish, German or Italian. It's our regular course with a new accent; a traveler's vocabulary, plus dress rehearsals of situations you're liable to run into. And in the unlikely possibility that you forget a word or a phrase, we'll give you a traveler's phrase book free.

Once you've gotten the hang of a foreign language, you can strike up conversations, bargain for antiques and even argue with cab drivers. In other words, you can have a vacation on your vacation.

Our Traveler's Aid Courses start on May 1. If you miss them, you could wind up missing the boat.

Beaver Country Day Observes 50th Year

More than 300 dignitaries will attend the 50th Anniversary Dinner of the Beaver Country Day School tonight (Thursday, April 20) at the Sheraton Boston Hotel in Boston.

The fete will mark the opening of a two-day observance celebration for the school, founded in 1922.

Dr. Howard Mumford Jones, Pulitzer Prize winner and Abbot Lowell Professor of Humanities Emeritus at Harvard University will be the keynote speaker at the dinner, along with Donald R. Nickerson, Beaver headmaster.

The anniversary celebration will continue tomorrow at the school in Chestnut Hill with a humorous chronicle of the Beaver years entitled "Beaver, Past, Present & Future." This presentation is being prepared by an alumni committee, headed by Mrs. C. Colby Hewitt Jr. of Wellesley.

Mrs. Abram Chaynes, associate professor of Urban Studies at Tufts University, will speak on "Complexities of Educating Women and the Responsibility of the School" at 10 a.m.

She will be followed by Dr. Jerome Miller, director of Youth Services, who will speak on "Winds of Change" at 11 a.m.

A student fashion show will follow a buffet luncheon at 12:45 p.m.

Dr. William Alfred, Harvard English professor and author of "Hogan's Goat," will speak on "Parent-Child Relationships as Exemplified in King Lear" following the luncheon.

Capping the two-day observance will be a dance assembly and a baseball game between Beaver and Rivers Country Day School.

The school was formed as an extension of the Beaver School, a primary school at 9 Beaver Place in Boston. Its first site was at 62 Buckminster Road, Brookline. It moved to its present location, Hammond Street, Chestnut Hill, in 1924.

Beaver Country Day was originally a co-educational school, but the co-educational concept was not popular, and 1930 was the last year boys were admitted to the school. In 1970, after admitting only girls for 40 years, Beaver again became co-educational.

Charles W. Eliot, famous president of Harvard, was the first chairman of the educational advisory board for Beaver, until his death in 1927. Beaver's first headmaster was Eugene Smith, who came to the school from the Park School in Baltimore, which he had also helped start. Following him, Crosby Hodgman was headmaster from 1944 to 1963, when the present headmaster, Donald Nickerson, took over.

Since its opening, Beaver has been constantly growing, and recent additions include a gymnasium in 1956, a library and science wing in 1968, and several playing fields last year.

Mrs. Sinclair Weeks, Jr. of Dedham, a Beaver trustee, is general chairman of the 50th Anniversary committee.

Schechter PTA Sets Coffee Hour

Parents interested in learning about the Solomon Schechter Hebrew Day School will be guests of the school's Parent Teacher Association at a coffee hour to be held Sunday, May 7 at 8 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Max Day, 108 Lake Avenue, Newton Centre.

The evening will provide an opportunity to meet with parents of children already attending the school and to examine the materials used in the exciting program of Hebrew and English studies for which the school is noted. The Solomon Schechter Day School is located at 385 Ward Street, Newton Centre in Temple Emanuel and offers classes for Pre-Kindergarten, Kindergarten and grades 1-6.

The integrated curriculum of Hebrew and English studies is accredited and offers the student the unique opportunity to acquire a knowledge of and demonstrate a commitment to both his Jewish and American heritage. Special arrangements may be made for children entering the school above 1st grade level.

The Solomon Schechter Hebrew Day School is affiliated with the Conservative, United Synagogue of America and it has attracted students from Orthodox, Conservative and Reform backgrounds as well as those families with no formal affiliation.

The PTA welcomes all interested parents to call Mrs. Paula Blumberg 969-3067 or Mrs. Nancy Kummer 449-2453 for further information about the coffee hour.

Waban Women's Club Tells Plans For Next Meeting

The annual meeting of the Waban Women's Club will be held at the Windsor Club, 1601 Beacon St., Monday (April 24) at 1 p.m.

The meeting will begin with a dessert served under the direction of Mrs. Melvin Scoville, assisted by the social committee of which Mrs. Edward Schantz is chairman.

Mrs. Don W. Fawcett, president, will preside at the business meeting which will be followed by a fashion show.

Mrs. Ingo Kaack, coordinator for the fashion show is a graduate of the Textile Engineering School in Germany. The models, members of the club, will be wearing clothes they have designed and made themselves.

Patronesses Of Smith Club Pops

A festive evening at Pops on Tuesday, May 2, is being planned by the Boston Smith College Club, to benefit its scholarship fund. This year the soloist will be Alicia Edelberg, a senior at Smith and one of eight violinists chosen to participate in a string quartet seminar at San Francisco next summer under the guidance of the Lenox String Quartet.

Mrs. Joseph W. Powell, Jr., and Mrs. John G. Cornish of Chestnut Hill are co-chairmen of Smith Pops. Among the many local patronesses are Mrs. Kenneth A. Henderson of Waban and Mrs. Robert S. Kretschmar of Auburndale, who are also assisting the committee with plans for the evening.

Patronesses from Newton include Mrs. Lucius E. Thayer, Mrs. Hugh Hince, Miss Henriette Sebring, Mrs. Thomas Derr, Mrs. Edward Pridmore, Mrs. Parker Kennedy, Mrs. Philip Ver Planck, Mrs. Warner Eustis, Mrs. Charles Kimball, Mrs. Henry Keyes, Mrs. Daniel J. ## Westwood Bridge Club . . Hold-up Play Can Be Used in No Trump Hand

The hold-up play is a play that can be used at a suit contract as well as at a No-trump contract. Joseph Vaas, director of the Westwood Club. Most players are acquainted with the hold-up play at no-trump contract because it is used to exhaust one of the opponents of a certain suit. Today's hand uses a hold-up play at the first trick to keep the opponent on lead so declarer can time the play of certain tricks. For example.

NORTH

S. 9, 7, 3.
H. 8.
D. A, 10, 8, 3.
C. K, 9, 8, 6, 2.

To achieve the correct timing of the play on this hand, after South has reached a contract of four hearts, declarer must hold up on the lead of the King of spades from the West hand.

After the King of spades is led from the West hand and the dummy is put on the table, South counts his possible losers and he sees a diamond loser, at least one spade loser, and a possible club loser.

He must hold up on the King of spades lead to prevent the loss of two spade tricks. If he does this at least West now cannot afford to continue spades without giving a trick to South. If West now shifts to a Club, South cannot afford to take the finesse, because if it loses, then East will shift back to the spades and South's hold-up will have been in vain.

Declarer is buying time until he can knock out the diamond Ace, so that he will have a parking place for his possible second spade loser. Without this timing and order of play declarer will find that he is faced with four losers instead of three.

The hands appearing in this column have been all played at the Westwood Bridge Club. This Club is open to all and it meets at the Westwood American Legion Hall situated on Route 109 directly behind the Police Station in Westwood.

The Club meets regularly on Sunday, 2 and 7; Monday 7:45; Tuesday 10:30 and 7:45; Thursday 7:45 and Friday 8. For further information phone 326-6806 or 326-9724.

Backyard Frontier

By POLLY BRADLEY
(Mass. Audubon Society)

Massachusetts is going to get a good spring cleaning this year. That's the aim of "The Spring Offensive," a program which the Environmental Protection Agency calls "an all-out attack against litter, rubbish, and debris that pollute our rivers, destroy our beaches, and ruin our parks and forests."

A large number of citizens, young and old, are expected to turn out for the spring cleanup, roll up their sleeves, and get to work, along with state and community agencies.

Four Saturdays in April and May are being set aside for the Spring Offensive. On the first Saturday, April 22, local community projects are being emphasized.

The next weekend, four state parks and reservations are being targeted for special cleanup. After that, four river and beach areas particularly in need of attention have been selected for work. The last weekend will be devoted to recycling projects to be set up in the local communities.

The project is a joint effort of the Environmental Protection Agency, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and numerous citizens' groups throughout the state.

The Spring Offensive is an idea that could very well be taken up in other states. Every state could use a Spring Cleanup - and we could all use the fresh air and exercise.

Citizens interested in participating in the Spring Offensive are invited to call the Spring Offensive Hotline at (617) 727-3699 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, or to write to the Environmental Protection Agency, Room 2303, John F. Kennedy Federal Building, Boston, Mass., 02203. Volunteers, trucks, and local organizers are needed.

The schedule of events covers weekends, April 22 through May 13.

April 22 - Community Cleanup: Local projects will be encouraged. Cities and towns are asked to set up some type of clean-up program and to seek community support for this project.

Apr. 29-Park and Reservation Cleanup: Four areas have been targeted for cleanup during this phase: Pittsfield State Forest; Wachusett Reservation (Princeton area); Middlesex Fells Reservation (Stoneham - Winchester area); and Stony Brook Reservation (Dedham - Hyde Park area).

May 6 - River and Beach Cleanup: Selected clean-up areas are: Charles River (both upper and lower); Housatonic River (from Lee to Pittsfield); Revere Beach and Wollaston Beach.

May 13 - Recycling Campaign: Local communities will be asked to set up pilot recycling programs. This could involve tin cans, newspapers, aluminum, glass, etc. The programs will work on a trial basis and, if successful, could become permanent. A Recycling Committee will work with local communities in helping organize a project.

Arnold Arboretum Plans Centennial Observance

Admiral Harry Hull, U.S.N. (Ret.), has been named chairman of the Centennial Committee of The Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University, according to an announcement by Dr. Richard A. Howard, Arboretum director.

Adm. Hull is executive director of The International Center of New England, Inc., the focal point for New England's international business community.

The Centennial Committee is working in cooperation with the Arboretum's professional staff in coordinating activities for the Arboretum's week-long hundredth anniversary celebration, scheduled for May 21-28 - the period when the Arboretum's 550 different types of lilacs are expected to be in full blossom.

Highlighting the anniversary celebration will be an ambitious program of scientific lectures, tours and social events for horticulturists and botanists from around the world. Special activities for the general public are planned also.

Founded in 1872, The Arboretum in Jamaica Plain contains some 6,000 varieties of ornamental trees and shrubs from all over the North Temperate Zone. It is administered by Harvard University with cooperation from the Boston Department of Parks and Recreation.

An oasis of nature amid the urban sprawl, the Arnold Arboretum has provided a place for scientific study and public exhibition of rare trees longer than any American institution.

The Arboretum also administers the Case Estates in Weston for horticultural experiments, test gardens, display areas and ornamental shrub nurseries, and facilities at Harvard University in Cambridge, where botanical

Transcendental Meditation In Newton Centre April 26

An Introductory Lecture on Transcendental Meditation as taught by Maharishi Mahesh Yogi will be given Wednesday night, April 26 at 8 p.m. at The Newton Center Women's Club at the corner of Center and Beacon Streets in Newton Center. The lecture is free and open to the public. The speakers will be David Kupferman, a Newton resident who is a qualified teacher of TM, and Fred Poneman, the New England Coordinator of the International Meditation Society, 27 Concord Ave., Cambridge, 876-4581.

TM (Transcendental Meditation) is a simple, natural technique that simultaneously enriches all aspects of life. TM is unique in that it does not require any concentration, contemplation or other difficult discipline. No change in life style is necessary in order to begin the practice.

All that is needed to start enjoying immediate results is to add 15 or 20 minutes of meditation to daily routine, morning and evening. The technique is extremely easy and anyone who can think a thought can learn to meditate, a spokesman said.

TM develops creative intelligence and improves clarity of perception on all levels of experience bringing about a state of restful alertness. This inner harmony allows the individual to function more effectively with less effort. TM allows the individual to live a fulfilled, integrated life. The body gains deep rest alleviating stress and strain while the mind expands encompassing greater awareness. Meditators find they feel happier, that they have greater energy and are able to get along with others better and be more productive in their jobs or studies.

Recent scientific investigation into the physiology of TM has found some remarkable results. Dr. R. Keith Wallace and Dr. Herbert Benson of Harvard Medical School have reported in the Feb. '72 issue of Scientific American that their studies indicate TM produces lowered oxygen consumption, lowered metabolism, decline in blood lactate and an increase in skin resistance and an increase in intensity of slow alpha waves.

Dr. Demetri Kanellakos of the Stanford Research Institute has reported that TM creates a unique state of consciousness, one of restful alertness with greater rest than even deep sleep, yet the mind is fully alert.

In a report to the U.S. House of Representatives Dr. Benson said that TM has been very effective as a deterrent to drug abuse, the only non-chemical alternative known to be effective. Further research is going on in areas of hypertension, high blood pressure, drug rehabilitation as well as other psychosomatic diseases. Dr. Bernard Glueck, the Director of the Hartford Institute for Living will offer TM to all incoming patients in his 400 bed mental hospital with two full time teachers of TM on his staff.

Despite the intellectual and scientific interest that has been generated, the real value of TM lies in its very real and genuine contributions to improving the quality of everyday life in all areas. Meditators have experienced such positive change in their lives that the International Meditation Society has become a world-wide movement encompassing 300,000 people of all ages and professions. TM offers a positive solution to the problems that beset a tension riddled century.

87th Annual Meeting of Hospital Aid Held Apr. 11

The 87th annual meeting of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association was held on Tuesday, April 11, with guest speaker Dr. Frederick J. Stare of Wellesley, Professor of Nutrition and chairman of the Harvard University School of Public Health. His topic was "Are You a Candidate for Creeping Obesity, or Are You There?"

Mrs. Charles A. Higgins Jr., of Weston was elected president of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association, following the coffee hour prior to the meeting. Pourers, all past presidents of the Aid, were Mrs. Winslow H. Adams, Auburndale; Mrs. Robert C. Casselman, Auburndale; Mrs. Edward P. Garland, Wellesley; and Mrs. Worthing L. West, Newton Centre.

Greetings from the trustees were brought to the members by Mrs. Adams, president, and by William S. Brines, administrative vice-president.

Mrs. Jarvis Farley, Wellesley, outgoing president, presided over the business meeting at which the recording secretary, Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron, Auburndale, gave a comprehensive report of the Aid's accomplishments during the past year. The treasurer's statement was given by Mrs. Edward V. Hickey, West Newton, assistant treasurer, in the absence of Mrs. Thomas E. Franks, Wellesley, treasurer, and reflected the excellent financial condition of the 1,000-member Aid Association. The American Hospital Association's past president's pin was presented to Mrs. Farley by Mrs. Casselman who cited Mrs. Farley's accomplishments and outstanding contribution as president.

The nominating committee, Mrs. Donald L. Conant, West Newton, chairman, presented the slate of officers and directors for the coming year. Serving with Mrs. Higgins will be Mrs. J. Marshall Leydon, Newtonville, first vice-president; Mrs. John M. Case, Wellesley, second vice-president; Mrs. LeBaron, recording secretary; Mrs. Gardner C. Brooks, Wellesley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Franks, treasurer, and Mrs. Hickey, assistant treasurer.

Newly elected directors include Mrs. Morris L. Brown, Auburndale; Mrs. Stanley R. Thomas, Jr., Dover; Mrs. John G. Jarnis, Newton; Mrs. Paul A. Levi and Mrs. Sidney Katz, Newton Centre; Mrs. George A. Dempsey and Mrs. R. Alan Chesebro, Newton Highlands; Mrs. Philip A. Ingwersen, Waban; Mrs. Ralph K. Behr and Mrs. John M. Parker, Wellesley Hills, and Mrs. Carol D. Phillips, Weston.

Elected to supporting membership were Mrs. George L. White, Newton; Mrs. Fred G. Sanford, Newton Highlands and Mrs. Herbert G. Dunphy, formerly of Newton Highlands and now of Yarmouth.

Two past presidents were honored by being named to the Aid's honorary membership which is composed of those who have given meritorious service over a long period to the Association.

Newt.-Wal. Bank Opens Newly Renovated Building

Mayor Theodore D. Mann of Newton and Newton Treasurer Theodore L. Scalfidi participated in a ribbon cutting ceremony at the newly remodeled Newton Highlands Office of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company on April 11.

Also joining in the ceremony were Bank President Giles E. Mosher, Jr., and George L. Benis, manager of the office. The completely restructured building, which is located at 1160 Walnut street, is the first banking office in Newton Highlands to have drive-up facilities, and the ribbon cutting ceremony officially inaugurated this new service. The original building was constructed in 1939 and included space for two tenants as well as the bank. The remodeling effort, which cost close to $250,000, included a complete re-building of the exterior as well as extensive refurbishing of the interior.

After the ceremony, over 400 residents from New to Highlands toured the branch, were treated to refreshments, and received their choice of small gifts from the bank. Everyone was invited to enter a contest for the drawing of three grand prizes: a portable television and two electric blenders.

Winners of these awards were as follows: Joseph C. Bailet, portable television; Mrs. Harriet Datz and Paul R. Sawin, blenders.

VP of College Theater Group

Alan Fein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rash Fein of 12 Gould Rd., Waban, is the newly-elected vice-president of the Barnstormers, a theatrical group at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

In addition to these activities, Alan, a sophomore and a graduate of Newton South High School, is pursuing requirements for his degree as a political science major.

tempt to generate interest through visual, verbal and/or musical stimuli. Like any educational resource, the programs can be used to teach specific subject content, to motivate further study and to reinforce what has been learned.

In addition to regularly broadcast programs, The 21 Inch Classroom features a number of special broadcasts. Most recently, five films from the "EYE TO EYE" series, produced by WGBH and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, were shown during class time. With the cooperation of WGBH, The 21 Inch Classroom was instrumental in making evening programming available for afternoon in-class viewing and discussion.

Hopefully, as The 21 Inch Classroom gains increasing support from Massachusetts citizens, the potential benefits of educational television will be realized in the most productive way.

21 Inch Classroom Is Viable Teaching Tool

Television is a familiar instrument of communication and it can also be a dynamic educational tool.

The 21 Inch Classroom, a bureau of the Massachusetts Department of Education, is responsible for the selection and production of the daytime educational programs broadcast by WGBH-TV, Channel 2 in Boston and WGBY-TV, Channel 57 in Springfield. Financial support for the organization come from the membership fees paid by over 150 school systems that subscribe to the services offered by the 21 Inch Classroom.

New programs, teachers' guides, workshops in the creative use of media, and consultation on improving media facilities are available to members at their request.

21 Inch Classroom productions are broadcast daily over Channel 2 and Channel 57. The range of programs spans grades K through 12 and is chosen to fit the many different needs of urban, suburban, and rural schools. All subject areas including language, science, art, social studies, humanities, and music, are covered on primary, intermediate and secondary grade levels in a variety of ways.

Underlying the production of The 21 Inch Classroom is the belief that critical thinking, aesthetic awareness, personal sensitivity and creative expressiveness can be developed through the skillful use of instructional television.

ROBERT A. BELMONTE

Belmonte Seeks Congress Seat In 4th District

Representative Robert A. Belmonte, 41, of Framingham, GOP Whip in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Fourth Congressional District.

Speaking at a news conference, Belmonte said: "The Fourth District now is represented by a candidate who at no time has ever known the support of the majority." He declared that the incumbent Congressman received only 38 per cent of the vote in the last Congressional election and that informal polls show him getting even less support from the people in the new district's 20 cities and towns at the present time.

"Quite obviously," Belmonte said, "it is time for a Congressman who will represent the majority of the people in the district—not just the minority. The simple truth is that the people of the 4th district have not been represented. The noise is still there but the novelty has worn off."

Belmonte stated that his campaign would be based on a thorough discussion of the major issues facing this state and nation and on his record of public service during four terms in the Massachusetts House and a larger number of years as an elected town official in Framingham.

He said: "America today appears to be in a time of drift, a time of crises. We need to convince individual Americans that they have not lost control of what is occurring in government and politics. That they can once more influence the course of events. That voting is not a meaningless charade."

"In the Fourth District, as elsewhere, throughout the nation," he said, "many of our people are disenchanted. They don't understand what has happened to the American dream, or what has happened to the promises made by some who were victors in the 1970 election."

Belmonte concluded that "there is just too much happening here at home and

Newton Baseball Team Wins Opener 7-3 Over Cambridge

By DAVID SOLOMON

For a baseball team to win a game in which they committed five errors can either mean they were lucky or playing a bad team. No judgement will be made at this point about Newton's team, but the fact is they did commit this number of errors in winning their season's opener over Cambridge 7-3.

Fielding could become a key point in the game was when Paul Austin came into relieve Newton starter Steve Zimble in the fourth inning. There were two men on base and only one out. Austin promptly got the next two batters to fly out to right. Newton scored their final two runs in the fifth inning when Bob Notaromoso singled to left. Notaromoso and Ed Becker each had two hits apiece. Cambridge tallied for three unearned runs.

The game began with a horrendous first inning. Newton scored five unearned runs, and Cambridge tallied for three unearned runs.

With the score kept at 5-3, a The starting lineup for Newton was Dave Boyajian at second, co-captain Jim Fay in center, Ken Billings in left, Ed Becker at third, Steve Zimble pitching, Russ Grillo at first, Bob Notaromoso at shortstop, and co-captain Tom King catching. Bill Vello came in at center when Fay injured his knee in the middle of the game.

Earlier in the week Newton dropped a 2-1 pre-season contest to Newton South. Ed Becker scored in the second on a sacrifice by Steve Zimble. Becker had tripled. South got their first run on an error in the fourth, and another when Jim Fay held on to the ball too long in the seventh. Zimble and Austin did the pitching for the Tigers.

Brock, 313, though, are stalwarts in the outfield.

The Phillies, too, have some solid players, but also a number of questionmarks. They don't have much on the mound besides Steve Carlton, 20-9, and Woody Fryman.

Tim McCarver, 278, is excellent behind the plate and the infield looks good with Larry Bowa, Deron Johnson, and Don Money, though the outfield has its share of questions, too, and only Willie Montanez, rookie - of - the - year, and Roger Freed are set.

One thing is certain - Montreal's gonna be last. The Expos have the makings of a very strong pitching staff with Carl Morton, Steve Renko, 15-14, Bill Stoneman, 17-15, Ernie McAnally, and top reliever Mike Marshall, but experience could be a factor. The big problem is someone to hit the ball.

The leading swingers are catcher John Bateman, Bob Bailey, Ron Fairly, Ron Hunt, Boots Day, and Ron Woods.

National League - West If anything is a sure thing in this division the Dodgers are for the number one spot. LA is going to be very tough this year. They have everything. The pitchers are formidable. Al Downing, 20-9, Tommy John, Claude Osteen, Bill Singer, Don Sutton, Hoyt Wilhelm, Pete Richert and Jim Brewer.

Catching might be the weak spot, but Duke Sims will take on the chores full - time after hitting .274 in 90 games last summer.

The infield is topflight - Wes Parker, Jim Lefebvre, Maury Wills and Billy Grabarkewitz, and the outfield is deep - Willie Crawford, 281, Willie Davis, 309, Manny Mota, 312, not to mention a guy who was playing someplace else last year - Frank Robinson. And there are some young promising outfielders around in Bill Russell and Larry Hise.

The battle in the west should be for second place. Houston, 4 with its exceptional pitching should get the nod. Larry Dierker, 12-6, Ken Forsch, Dave Roberts, 21-0 ERA, Don Wilson, 16-10, and Jim York, could carry the Astros into contention and might take them all the way if LA falters.

If healthy, Johnny Edwards is the catcher. The infield has been bolstered by a trade with Cincinnati which brought Tommy Helms and Lee May. Doug Rader and Roger Metzger are the holdovers.

The outfield features Jesus Alou, Cesar Cedeno, Norm Miller, Jimmy Stewart, Bob Watson and Jim Wynn.

Cincinnati's big red machine sputtered last year. The Reds should come back, but not all the way. Pitching is still a question, despite Jack Billingham, Don Guelt, 16-6, Gary Nolan, Jim Merritt, Tony Cloniger, Jim McGlothlin, Wayne Simpson, Ross Grimsley, Clay Carroll and Tom Hall. If these guys hold together and play as they are capable of the Reds could be fantastic.

The name of the catcher is Johnny Bench. Next position. The infield isn't as strong as it was, but Denis Menke, Woody Woodward, Dave Concepcion, Joe Morgan and Tony Perez should take care of things. The outfield has good hitting with Bernie Carbo, Hal MacRae, Pete Rose, Bob Tolan and Ted Uhlander.

The most interesting aspect of the Braves' season should be how many home runs Hank Aaron hits as he chases Babe Ruth's lifetime mark. Outside of Cecil Upshaw, Phil Niekro, Tom Kelly, and Ron Reed, the Atlanta pitching is weak.

The hitting is considerably better, but not deep enough to offset the hurling deficiency. Earl Williams, 33 homers, 87 RBIs, Orlando Cepeda, Sonny Jackson, Rico Carty, Ralph Garr, 343, and the incomparable Aaron, have too many questions to resolve to expect them to carry the team completely.

San Francisco is on its last legs. Its stars Will Mays, Willie McCovey, and Juan Marchal are all getting on in years and this year the pro-

Surprising South Tennis Team Upsets Newton High

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN

Bob Franke was pessimistic in his predictions for the 1972 Newton South tennis team. There was no way, he felt, his charges would contend for the state title they won last year. But he left himself an out. "If we beat Newton in our opener," he said, "call me up and I'll revise everything."

Well, Newton South beat back the stiff challenge of its cross-town rival, 3-2, but Franke crossed me up and disappeared for the weekend probably for a celebration.

There were no real surprises in the Lion's opening day lineup. The five letter - winning returnees from last spring's state championship team, Stan Mescon, Jim Oppenheim, Jack Starr, Mike Charness, and Jim Cornblatt, were all in the top seven. Sophomore Bill Carroll, last year's number one from Meadowbrook, and Rich Katz rounded out the group. It was the order in which they were deployed that raised a few eyebrows, but proved to be an astute move on coach Franke's behalf.

Since his team had had such little time out of doors to prepare for the season Franke chose to go on past performances. So, instead of juggling players and breaking up winning combinations he kept his 1971 doubles tandem of Oppenheim and Starr, and Charness and Cornblatt intact. Mescon was the logical choice for the number one singles after a 20-1 year at number three. Then Franke plugged Carroll and Katz in the remaining holes - second and third singles.

It was a close match. Second doubles team Charness and Cornblatt topped Steve Shulman and Dave Solomon in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3. First doubles was upended by Newton's Tom Fentin and Joe Mitchell, 6-2, 6-4.

The singles game was just as even. Carroll's high school debut was not a happy one. He was soundly trounced by Rich Birmingham, 6-0, 6-3. But Katz made up for it in the third spot by dumping Rich Yanofsky, 6-2, 6-3.

It was 2-2 and Mescon and Carl Kravitz were still battling. Kravitz captured the first set, 8-6. Mescon took the second one, 6-4, and then kept coming to take the deciding set, 6-3, and provide the match's winning point.

The Lions have two more non-league matches on tap this week and the first should be another rugged test, especially for Mescon. Winchester is a traditionally strong foe and their number one player, Phil Kadesch is one of the best in the state.

Later in the week the netmen tackle Roxbury Latin as the final prep before the Dual County League season begins. April 24 against Weston. The Lions are defending co-champs with Lincoln-Sudbury. Both were 13-1 in the conference, last year, beating each other. Lincoln, without three-time state singles titlist, John Ingard, but with his younger brother Sven, and Weston, appear to be the chief threats to Newton South's march to another league crown.

Our Lady's Nine Defeats Cambridge In Opener 4-2

By FRAN HEALEY

Good defense and heads-up base running plus individual heroics by third baseman Gary Bearfield and pitcher Kevin Haley provided the punch for an opening day 4-2 victory for Our Lady's High School at the hands of St. Mary's of Cambridge. The game was played Monday morning at Cabot Park in Newton.

The Lancers scored all four runs in the first inning with just one hit. Capitalization on costly errors by the opponents accounted for the Lancer rally. Ricky Paglia reached on an error and after two consecutive walks Our Lady's had the bases loaded without having a hit. John Moran responded with a sharp single to centerfield to drive home Paglia. With the bases still full third baseman Richie O'Donnell couldn't handle Fran Healey's ground ball and another run scored. To add to the frustration of SM, catcher Dan Riordan neglected to call time out while walking to the mound, alertly Gary Bearfield who was on third base raced across home for the Lancers third tally. Their final run came on a wild pitch.

From the first until the sixth inning Kevin Haley and Reggie Avery were locked in a superb pitchers' duel. Haley constantly came up with the big out while Avery allowed just three hits after the shaky first. Haley showed signs of tiredness in the sixth as St. Mary's nearly pulled off a victory. Rich O'Donnell doubled to open the sixth. A single by Kevin Foley and a base on balls to Kevin Keating loaded the bases with nobody out. However Haley reached back for something extra to strikeout Dan Riordan and then misfortune spelled doom for St. Mary's as Bob Trainor's sure base hit was snatched out of the air by leaping Gary Bearfield who promptly stepped on the bag to end the inning with a nifty double play.

The visitors came up with a scratch run in the last inning finishing the scoring. Haley struckout five and yielded seven hits. The summary...

TO PERFORM IN BERKLEE GROUP

John C. Biblos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Costas A. Biblos of 891 Beacon St., Newton, a junior at Berklee College of Music in Boston, will perform on guitar with a rock and roll group in Woonsocket Junior High School next Tuesday (April 25).

John is majoring in Arranging and Composition at Berklee.

blems of that infirmity should catch up to them. Sam McDowell is the latest superstar addition and teamed with Marchal could make the staff respectable. Bobby Bonds and Ken Henderson are the only other heavy hitters. With some luck San Diego could climb out of the cellar this year. The Giants are ripe to fold. Unfortunately, the Padres haven't got much to work with. Clay Kirby, Steve Arlin, and Tom Phoebus are the leading twirlers.

There is an even greater dearth of leading hitters. Nate Colbert, 27 homers, 84 RBIs, and Clarence Gaston, 17 HR's, wield the biggest bats. Dave Campbell, Ollie Brown, Ivan Murrell, Larry Stahl and Leroy Lee are also adequate hitters.

South Nine Ready To Open Defense Of Baseball Title

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN Assistant Sports Editor

Newton South has yet to open defense of its Dual County League baseball title, this spring, but Coach Neil McPhee is getting more optimistic with each passing day.

"So far we look solid at every position," he noted, after reviewing evidence from two Lion pre-season efforts. "We don't have any individual stars like Richie Learner was last year, but we're more solid at every spot. Truthfully, with the season opening in less than a week I can only say that three positions are set, Noah Young at shortstop, Elliot Loew in the outfield, probably centerfield, and Jon Rosenberg at catcher. There are still battles between two and three other guys at every other place."

McPhee has good reason for his cheery outlook. The Lions not only have 10 returning lettermen from 1971's championship team and one of the best sophomores crops in years, but have also performed well under game conditions.

Last week South nipped Newton High, 2-1, for the first time in McPhee's four-year coaching stint, and tied Dedham, 6-6, in two non-league games which McPhee prefers to call practice games. Another scheduled contest with Newton and a game against Belmont were rained out.

South topped the Tigers in the seventh inning when Noah Young walked, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on a single by Rich Izen. Jim Cavanaugh, a javvee hurler a year ago, earned the win.

"I was very pleased with Jim's effort," said McPhee. "He pitched very well. He's been a big surprise this spring and he could get a starting role."

If Cavanaugh works his way into the starting rotation it would be an upset. The Lions have Bill Cormier, Ken Lourie, and Steve Schertzer back from last year's remarkable staff. Ric Voss, the fourth member of that deadly crew and an all-league twirler with a 3-1 mark and a 0.94 earned run

BU Varsity Club Honors Stearns

Among those to be honored by the Boston University Varsity Club at its annual Hall of Fame Banquet on April 28 are a former BU Medical School department head who served as the Terrier's team physician without pay for 12 years and a part-time inventor who numbers among his inventions the Varsity Club itself.

Scheduled to receive Special Recognition Awards are Dr. David B. Stearns of Newton, professor of Urology emeritus at the Boston University School of Medicine and former chairman of its department of Urology, and Joseph J. Paterno of Brighton.

Dr. Stearns was the physician to Terrier sports teams from 1926, when he was graduated from the School of Medicine, to 1938, but unofficially his tenure lasted much longer, since he continued for many years to aid BU athletes with medical problems without ever asking a fee.

An alumnus of Boston Latin School and a 1922 graduate of Harvard University, he also attended the Military Academy at West Point for two years. A veteran of both World Wars, Dr. Stearns served first in the Army during W.W. I, and then with the Navy during W.W. II.

A member of the Council of the Massachusetts Medical Society, he is a former president of its Charles River District, past president of the Massachusetts Urological Society, former president of the BU Medical School Alumni Association and a member of the American Urological Association.

Now retired from teaching, Dr. Stearns maintains a private medical practice on Marlborough St. in Boston's Back Bay and lives with his wife at 53 Bishopsgate Rd., in Newton.

Awarded Hobart Varsity Letter

William J. Goldberg of Newton Centre, a sophomore at Hobart College in Geneva, N.Y., has been awarded the Varsity "H" as a member of the 1971-72 Hobart Fencing Team.

Coached by Dr. Norbert A. Busch, the team had a break-even season with five wins and five losses and won tenth place at the North Atlantic Fencing Championships at Pace College.

Goldberg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Goldberg of 12 Kappas Path.

Mayor Will Speak At Temple Reyim Meeting

Freedman's Sports Talk

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN

Baseball finally made it this season, so with things safely underway now I can release my heretofore closely guarded secret predictions which have been languishing in a wall safe in Cooperstown, New York.

NATIONAL LEAGUE - EAST

The Mets made themselves quite a deal, last month when they stole Rusty Staub from the Expos. Staub, one of the most popular Montreal players, hit 19 HR's, drove in 97 runs, and batted .311 last year.

Depending how the shocking death of Gil Hodges and the adjustment to Yogi Berra work out the club's talent should be good for third place. Not enough can be said about Gene Clines, 308, Vic Davallo, 285, Al Oliver, 282, and Willie Stargell, 295? This team is having problems finding a place to start Rennie Stennett who batted .353 in 50 games last year. Dock Ellis, 19-9, and Steve Blass, 15-8, anchor an adequate pitching staff.

Even with Leo Durocher calling the shots the Chicago Cubs can't seem to put it all together. But they should get a closer this time. Not many people would believe you if you told them that Milt Pappas is the third leading active pitcher in career wins (185). But it's so, and Pappas won 17 games last year. Ferguson Jenkins, of course, is another pretty fair pitcher on the staff. He was 24-13 last time out and has won 20 or more games each of the last five seasons.

Randy Hundley, who played in only nine games last year because of an injury, Glenn Beckert, 342, Joe Pepitone, 307, Ron Santo, 21 HR's, 88 RBIs, and Billy Williams, 28 HR's, 93 RBIs, 301, give the Cubs good strength at bat, but they don't have the depth to compete with the Pirates.

St. Louis' catching is top notch. Ted Simmons, 304, and Gerry McNetney, 289, are set. Outside of Joe Torre's 24 home runs, 137 runs batted in, and .363 batting average the infield doesn't look so hot. Matty Alou, .315 and Lou

Underdog South Netmen Surprise Newton; 3-2

By DAVID SOLOMON

For a long period of time (perhaps too long) I have been thinking about the appropriate approach for the article about this match. But all these musings turned out to be useless, because they were based on a premise that turned out to be proven false.

That was that Newton High would beat, and perhaps even massacre Newton South in tennis on April 14, 1972. But it just didn't happen that way, so everything is now changed.

Newton High was the sup-better team than us. And posed favored team in the maybe this loss will teach us some things. These Newton - Newton South matches are a sometimes friendly - sometimes fierce rivalry. But they are almost always close, and almost always important. Without a doubt there is a tremendous lift and satisfaction for the winning team. And, in this case, it may well mean that once again South will enter June's EMass Tournament seeded ahead of Newton. But it still comes down to who can win in June. So there is hope for Newton, with a new premise that they need a lot of work.

The Tiger's two Suburban League matches for the week were cancelled due to poor weather conditions. Newton will play Cambridge Latin on April 24, and Rindge Tech on May 1. In two makeup matches. Starting with the Cambridge match Newton will play nine matches in ten days, and at least three a week for the rest of the season. A recent addition to the schedule is an away match with Mid-dex on May 15.

The service system of tomorrow. Built into every new Volkswagen today.

Imagine owning a car that can tell you how it feels. When Volkswagen dealerships start to receive their computers later this year, you'll be able to drive in, have your 1972 Volkswagen plugged into the computer, and get it straight from your car what's right or wrong.

How does it work?

Every 1972 Volkswagen has a network of sensors and check points built into critical areas like the engine and electrical system.

These sensors work like nerves.

When they're attached to the computer by a simple socket in the back of the car, the sensors relay the condition of vital areas.

In the time it takes a mechanic to collect his tools, the computer checks things like front wheel alignment, engine compression, and battery voltage.

And gives you the results in plain English.

The computer will be at Volkswagen dealers starting later this year, so you can come in and let our brain take the load off yours.

Newton, is ridiculous. The commuter traffic problem is horrendous, but they (Boston College) always duck this problem. They should consider these things."

Ald. Pines said she did not think the city could wait until the college returns to ask for additional permissive uses to alleviate the parking problem.

"The moment is now for parking," she said.

Ald. Michael Lipof stated: "This is the last unit of housing I will vote for Boston College until the parking problem is resolved."

Ald. David B. Cohen, steadfast in his opposition, reiterated his position, saying he "must oppose the method as much as the proposal itself."

"I oppose a method which demonstrates disregard for the requests of neighbors and which excludes them from the decision making process," Cohen said. "When I think of the large concentration of students in the area, the misuse of a choice piece of real estate and the aggravated parking situation, I have no other choice."

The Board of Aldermen approved the Boston College proposal by a vote of 17-5 with two members absent.

Casting the negative votes were: Cohen, Robert Gaynor, Jackson, Pines and Edward L. Richmond.

Votes for approval came from Aldermen Michael J. Antonelli, Barkin, Wendell R. Bauckman, Richard J. Bullwinkle, Thomas B. Cannon, Harry H. Crosby, Ernest F. Dietz, Peter F. Harrington, Matthew Jefferson Lipof, Andrew J. Magni, Joseph M. McDonnell, Richard McGrath, Jason Sacks, Robert Tennant, Edward Uehlein, and board president Elliot Cohen.

After considerable debate on the semantic interpretations of the Design Committee ordinance, aldermen eventually agreed to leave the wording alone and voted 17-5 to approve the design selection provision and 21-1 to approve the design review provision.

The discussion on the wording, which, in essence says the mayor "shall" choose an architect from the list submitted by the committee for construction in the city involved whether the provision made it mandatory that the mayor choose from the list.

Ald. Harrington said the committee's intent was that the mayor must choose from the list of architects presented to him.

"We hoped to take this decision out of the realm of politics for the mayor," Harrington noted.

Ald. Jackson proposed an amendment to change the wording and strike out the mandatory language.

Jackson argued that it was an "inappropriate maneuver" to introduce an interpretation that was not made clear to voters who acted on the issue in a referendum.

The committee was meant to serve in an advisory capacity, Ald. Barkin said. "I'm sure the mayor would be called to account if he turned down all choices."

"No mayor in his right mind would override all six without good reason," Ald. Dietz stated. "The voters and the aldermen would want to know why if he did."

According to the ordinance, the mayor would receive a list

-Political Highlights-

The situation seems to be that Massachusetts is now in a fiscal and economic crisis and is headed into even more difficult, deeper and darker waters next year.

The solution offered by some politicians is a graduated state income tax which is like throwing a sewer cover to a drowning man.

A graduated tax would drive more top businessmen out of Massachusetts.

"The political image in this state isn't going to win any Academy awards," declared Republican House Leader Francis W. Hatch, Jr., whose words obviously combined into one of the under-statements of the ages.

"Our high taxes frighten business people away from the state," Representative Hatch continued. (So we should scare a few more away with a graduated state tax.)

"The Legislature can help business by making a greater commitment to government reorganization as a means of achieving efficiency and controlling state spending," Hatch asserted. (The reorganization of the state government so far has been a "farce.")

Senator James A. Kelly, Jr., of Oxford, chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, declared that Massachusetts may be missing the boat in not promoting the tourist business to a greater extent and attracting tourists to sections of Massachusetts other than Cape Cod and the coastal towns.

Kelly, one of the most able law-makers on Capitol Hill and one of those who is trying to meet the problem and do something about it, obviously has a point.

But after listening to some of the other speakers, the nitty gritty seems to be that we are drowning now in taxes and that more taxes will be enacted next year.

Crane's Lottery Is Dealing Setback To Organized Crime

A long-time area bookie stopped us on the street, "I'm looking for a job," he said.

"I'm out of business," he explained, when we looked surprised. "People don't play the numbers any more," he continued, "at least not enough to make it worth while for me. I'm folding up."

"They'd rather play 50 cents on this State Lottery than a dime or a quarter on the numbers," he declared.

"State Treasurer Crane has done quite a job in promoting the lottery, and in the process he has put us out of business."

He spoke without bitterness but with a sort of resigned attitude like a bootlegger when prohibition was repealed.

His appearance was such that one would take him to be a store clerk rather than a book-maker.

He lived quietly in a quiet neighborhood and was the father of three children. The situation was bleak for him. He was not trained for anything and could give no references as to what he had been doing.

But the dimes and quarters he had been collecting from people who played the numbers, hoping for a hit, provided the life blood for organized crime in Massachusetts.

Organized crime obviously is engaged in many other activities, some inside and some outside the law. But they depended on the basic income from the bookie collections from those who played the numbers.

Now that appears to be over. Nobody ever really thought it was a crime to play a dime or a quarter on the numbers.

It's just that it's more fun to take part in the lottery and hope for the $50,000 prize or even that million dollars that Crane has somewhere at the end of the rainbow — the prize people dream about.

But the net overall result is that Crane has changed the direction of the flow of quarters, which total millions of dollars, into the treasuries of the financially hard-pressed cities and towns instead of organized crime which depended heavily on those coins.

That is not the least of the accomplishments Treasurer Crane has achieved in running his lottery which at least is providing some revenue for the local communities.

Presidential Primary Can Have Strange Twists in End

It's possible that the Democratic Presidential candidate who gets the most votes in Massachusetts in next Tuesday's Primary might not get the most delegates.

Code-

The present building code, written in 1954, specifies certain types of materials and methods of construction, and has therefore "frozen" construction methods in Newton to exclude modern building techniques and methods.

Hollow metal wall panels, for example, are generally recognized by the building industry but are forbidden by the 18-year-old city building code, according to Aldermanic City Planning Committee Chairman David W. Jackson.

An air-inflated plastic bubble approved by the aldermen in the 1972 budget to allow winter use of the Gath swimming pool would also be forbidden under the present building code.

Committee member Ernest F. Dietz commented that the rigidity of the present code causes an over-abundance of cases to go before the city's Building Board of Appeals. Contractors and architects can't hope to learn all the building codes for all cities, so they either don't build in the city, or don't bother to try to comply fully with the code, Dietz added.

Taglienti urged the aldermen to support a bill now before the state legislature which would institute a uniform state-wide building code. Unless this bill, Sen. 1198, passes, Taglienti said, each city and town will have to go through the expense of updating its own building laws, a project which cost the city of Boston some $300,000.

The proposed state law, Taglienti stated, puts the building code in terms of performance specifications, rather than design and material specifications. This allows more flexibility in incorporating new building techniques into the code.

If the proposed state law is defeated, Taglienti urged the aldermen to adopt the BOCA code prepared by the Building Officials Conference of America. This code is a performance code, he asserted, and the best code available in the U.S. today.

Urging the aldermen to take steps to lobby for the state building code law, Taglienti told the aldermen the bill will also set up a state Building Commission to provide state-wide standards for licensing of building inspectors. The Building Commission would also take responsibility for periodic updating of the building code, would see to enforcement of the code, and would act as a Building Board of Appeals on a state level for communities that wanted to amend the state building code.

In answer to a question from Alderman Ernest F. Dietz, City Planning Chairman Jackson stated that there is presently no way to control aesthetics through a building code, except in historical districts such as Beacon Hill.

The City Planning Committee voted: to call on Newton's state representatives to support the bill; to ask Mayor Theodore D. Mann to send a representative to testify in favor of the bill before the state legislature, and to recommend an amendment allowing towns to add amendments to make the code even more restrictive, with approval of the Building Commission.

Here's how the situation stands on that: The law provides that delegates elected from the state at large to the Democratic national convention must vote on the first ballot for the Presidential candidate who polls the most votes in the entire State.

But the delegates elected from the 12 congressional districts, who control an even bigger bloc of votes, must vote on the initial ballot for the candidate who ran first in his or her particular district.

That is true regardless of how the delegate is pledged on the ballot. A delegate might be pledged to Senator Muskie but be required to vote on the first ballot for Senator McGovern.

But on the second ballot he could shift to anyone he pleased and presumably would swing behind the candidate to whom he was pledged.

Strangely enough, there is nothing in the law requiring a delegate to cast his vote for the candidate to whom he is pledged.

Back in 1940, most of the Bay State Democratic politicians ran pledged to James A. Farley and were elected on that basis. Then Franklin D. Roosevelt decided to seek a third term. Most of the Farley-pledged delegates from Massachusetts swung behind FDR without so much as a twinge of conscience.

Night at Pops By Heart Group Tuesday, May 9

The Women's Division of the Greater Boston Heart Association will sponsor its second annual "Night at the Boston Pops" on Tuesday, May 9 at 8:30 p.m. in Symphony Hall. According to Mrs. Paul D. Slater of Newton, President of the Women's Division, "The Evening at the Pops which proved highly successful last year, is an opportunity to spend a most enjoyable spring evening with the world famous Pops while helping to support the Heart Association's continuing fight against heart disease."

The money raised by the Women's Division last year has greatly helped to support the Heart Association's cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training program. This program is a vital part of the Heart Association's community service program and is designed to train instructors in the life-saving techniques of CPR - closed chest massage and mouth to mouth resuscitation.

Sylvester Plays In NYC Concert

Rowland Sylvester will perform with the Ithaca College Orchestra at a special Lincoln Center Concert in New York City this Saturday, April 22. Sylvester, who plays the trumpet is the son of Dr. and Mrs. R. Emerson Sylvester Sr. of 81 Woodland Rd., Auburndale. A Newton High School graduate, Sylvester is a music education major at Ithaca.

The college orchestra will perform Berlioz' Roman Carnival Overture, Mozart's Symphony Number 29 in A Major, K 201, Stravinsky's La Sacre du Printemps and Karol Husa's Music for Prague 1968.

Home Building Record By Government Subsidy

By DOROTHEA BROOKS

Government regulations and government subsidies provided the chief impetus for 1971's homebuilding record, but the way in which subsidized programs are being used is making the housing problem not better, and probably worse, according to a leading mortgage banker.
Emanuel M. Brotman, chairman of J. I. Kislak Mortgage Corp., of Newark, N. J., and Miami, urged mortgage bankers, homebuilders, and officials at all levels of government to work for a program that will provide right housing, in the right place, for all income groups.
He recommended as "one way to help start doing this, revenue sharing, dispersed in such a way as to induce local authorities to share the burden of proper distribution of housing."

Brotman is president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of New Jersey, a member of the national association's Washington Committee, and a member of the advisory committee to the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA).
"Some of us in the housing industry," Brotman said, "don't think what appears to be an achievement of some 2.1 million housing starts for 1971 is anything the private homebuilding industry can crow about."
"Realistic analysis of these starts shows the industry, without any government subsidies, would have produced much less than it normally did prior to the increase of government-aided programs, such as subsidized low interest rates, partial municipal tax abatements and other forms of local, state or national inducements."

A good deal of the mortgage money available for such construction, he said, has been provided as a result of direct government regulation.
Brotman said "it would appear I think all subsidized homebuilding programs are a good thing — and I do. But," he added, "the way the subsidized programs are now being used, and where the resulting housing is being built is—to put it in the most gentle way I know how—wrong and without forethought about what is happening to our centers of population."

As a result of where the new housing with government aids has been built, Brotman said, "we have been, in effect, playing a game of musical chairs with the lives of our people both in the inner city and the suburbs. People who live in the inner cities now are forced to travel to the suburbs to work, and the people in the suburbs, many,

Deaths

George Yaffe, 72, Central Beef Founder

Services were held at Levine Chapel in Brookline April 19 for George Yaffe, 72, founder of the Central Beef Company in Boston, who died April 15 in Florida. He lived at 10 Hammond Pond Parkway, Newton.

Mr. Yaffe founded the Company in 1946, and remained as its treasurer until his retirement in 1967.

He was a life member and honorary member of the Board of Brandeis University, a member of the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center, the Henry Price Lodge of Masons, AF and AM, and Temple Emanuel of Newton.

He is survived by his wife, Rosa (Tobin) Yaffe; two sons, Cyrus and Monte, both of Newton; one brother, Max; and by two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Shubert and Mrs. Evelyn Price, all of Florida.

Walter J. Cunningham

Funeral services were held yesterday (April 19) for Walter J. Cunningham, 73, of 8 Arapahoe rd., West Newton, who died Saturday shortly after he was taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Born in County Galway, Ireland, he had made his home in Watertown for many years before moving to West Newton three years ago. Prior to his retirement in 1967, Mr. Cunningham had worked as a maintenance man for the Raytheon Mfg. Co. in Newton.

Mr. Cunningham was a member of the Watertown Council No. 155 Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society.

He is survived by his wife, Nora T. (Tarpey) a son, John W. of West Newton; two daughters, Mary A. of Manchester, N.H., and Barbara A. of West Newton; a brother, John and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Rabbitt, Mrs. Ann McHugh and Mrs. Della Kelly, all living in Ireland.

Services were from the T.J. Lyons Funeral Home in West Newton to St. Bernard's Church for the funeral mass. Interment is in Newton Cemetery.

Amable L. Berube

A funeral mass was said Tuesday for Amable L. Berube, 74, of 56 Parsons st., West Newton, who died Friday in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Fall River, Mr. Berube had made his home in West Newton for the last 30 years. For many years he operated an auto repair service.

He is survived by three sons, Paul J. of Cambridge, Edward A. of Auburndale and Newton Police Officer Henry F. of West Newton; four daughters, Alphonsine Berube of West Newton, Mrs. Ann Bouffard of Somerset, Mrs. Marion Riley of West Newton and Mrs. Mary Harris of Newtonville. Mr. Berube was preceded in death by his wife, Mary E. (Delaney).

Services were from the T. J. Lyons Funeral Home in West Newton to St. Bernard's Church. Interment is in Newton Cemetery.

Garage Sale In Newton Centre

A giant garage sale, sponsored by the Mizrahi Women's Organization, will be held next Sunday (April 23) from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., at 107 Hobart Rd., Newton Centre, off Commonwealth Ave.

Miscellaneous small furniture, luggage, toys, housewares, bric-a-brac, and books will be sold. In case of rain, the sale will be held on Sunday, April 30.

Notaries Public

Edward A. Cunningham, 25 Central st., Auburndale; and Frederick T. Brown, 2323 Washington st., Newton Lower Falls, have been appointed notaries public. Their terms expire in seven years.

GUY D. ROSMARIN

Rosmarin Announces Candidacy

Guy D. Rosmarin, Brookline, has announced his candidacy in the Fourth Congressional District race.

Rosmarin, 33, has served as assistant secretary of transportation for the state since July, 1971. Since May, 1970, he has been a special assistant to Gov. Francis W. Sargent, working on transportation and environmental matters.

In this capacity, he serves as the governor's representative on the National Transportation Needs Study Task Force for Massachusetts, and as the governor's staff representative on the transportation subcommittee of the National Governor's Conference.

From 1968 to May, 1970, he practiced law in Boston, specializing in environmental, administrative, and transportation law. He was counsel to conservation organizations concerned with the development of environmental laws in Massachusetts and Washington.

From 1966 to 1968, he was a political-economic consultant specializing in political campaign strategy-planning functions and economic analysis programs.

In 1965, while in law school, he was executive assistant to the Deputy City Administrator of the City of New York, in the office of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, where he assisted in administering municipal health, welfare, and housing programs.

Mr. Rosmarin served in the United States Army and holds the rank of First Lieutenant in the United States Army Reserve.

He attended Columbia College and was graduated in 1962 and attended St. John's University School of Law, graduating in 1966.

Appointed Programmer

Kevin M. Kelley of 82 Arlington street, Newton, was recently appointed New England Telephone accounting programmer in Boston.

He joined the company in 1971 as accounting operations assistant in Boston.

A native of Boston, he graduated from Cathedral High School and Stonehill College, class of 1969.

Kelley and his wife, the former Aileen Crowley of Boston, have one child, Kathleen, 4 months.

On Honor Roll

Suzanne J. Gable of 100 Langley rd., Newton Centre, was named to the honor roll for the winter quarter at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

Baptist income up

Income for the American Baptist Mission Budget for the first six months of 1971 totaled $7,206,443, compared with $6,829,380 in the corresponding period of 1970, an increase of 5.5 per cent. The America for Christ offering for the period was $634,250, up 1.4 per cent over a year ago.

Moon Distance

The moon is an average of 238,857 miles from the earth.

Voters-

Attorney General Robert H. Quinn, state treasurer Robert F. Crane, house speaker David M. Barney, state senate president Kevin B. Harrington, state senator Mary L. Fonseca of Fall River, and Democratic State Committee member Betty Laymor of Newton.

In addition to the members of the two states, former Governor Endicott Peabody and Norfolk County District Attorney George G. Burke are standing for election individually as delegates-at-large.

The main features of next Tuesday's Presidential Primary in Newton are:

1. The Democratic Presidential preference poll, featuring the fight between Muskie and McGovern.

2. The battle between the two slates of candidates seeking election as delegates-at-large to the Democratic national convention.

3. A fight between five slates of candidates seeking election to the Democratic national convention from the fourth congressional district which includes Newton. The five groups are pledged, in turn, to Muskie, Lindsay, McGovern and Jackson. Lindsay, of course, has withdrawn from the Presidential contest.

4. The Republican Presidential preference poll which President Nixon is expected to win easily. Listed on the ballot as candidates against Mr. Nixon are conservative Congressman John M. Ashbrook of Ohio and liberal Congressman Paul N. McCloskey, Jr., of California who withdrew from the Presidential Primary too late to remove his name from the ballot. (The candidates seeking election as delegates to the GOP national convention are unopposed for election.)

5. Democratic State Committee member Sanford A. Kowal, standing for reelection, is opposed by Joseph T. Morrissey of 529 Craft street. Kowal lives at 78 Neshobee road. Both, of course, reside in Newton.

6. A struggle is being waged for control of the Ward 6 Democratic Committee between a slate headed by Congressman Drinan and a second group led by Alderman Sidney T. Small.

Those teamed up with Congressman Drinan on his ticket are: School Committee member Herbert F. Regal, Jean S. LeCompte, School Committee member Dorothy M. Reichard, Ethel W. Sheehan, Peter W. Kilborn, John J. Delmonte, Paul J. King, Patricia A. Daley, Jack Bloom, Daniel Golden, Adele Hoffman, Helen A. Meltzer, Sally A. Regal, Henry G. Barry, Jules T. Sherman, Joan R. Bond, N. Ronald Silberstein, Ernest A. Singer, David B. Stearns, Melvin A. Richmond, Joyce A. Picard, Jacob R. Rottenberg, John T. Keller, Edward B. Kovar, Ernest Winsor, Alfred J. Disciullo, Jr., Diane F. Paulson, Lillian S. Radlo, Marilyn Lewis, Philippine L. Krieks, Ruth D. Sal-Dinger, Pauline R. Katz, Marie E. Fisher, and Susan L. Wolf.

Chapter Holds Drawing

The Newton Chapter of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children is holding their annual grand award drawing.

Prizes include a Las Vegas-Hawaii trip for two, a Bermuda trip for two, and 18 inch color television set and other monthly drawings.

Contact raffle chairman, Mrs. Gerald Shaffet (332-6929) or Mrs. Harvey Chansky (244-7310) to donate time purchasing or selling raffle tickets.

Budd, Nathan Moger, Louis W. Naples, John R. Dinkelspiel, Jacob Cherny, Ruby G. Davis, Ellen A. Griffin, and Judith C. Goldberg.

Democratic State Committee member Betty Taimor of Newton is unopposed for reelection.

Group one candidates for election as Delegates-at-large to the Democratic National Convention, pledged to McGovern, are headed by Congressman Drinan.

In addition to Father Drinan, candidates on that ticket are: Mary I. Bunting, State Senator Jack H. Backman, Ellen M. Jackson, Professor J. Kenneth Galbraith, Roberta F. Benjamin, former Boston City Councilor John L. Saltonstall, Jr., Ruth M. Batson, Alvin, Levin, Mary E. Williamson, Charles F. McDevitt, Mary A. Markel, Jesse Parks, Doris M. Kanin, Salvatore E. Luria, Margaret V. Eagen, F. Christopher Arterton, Patricia A. Simon, Elizabeth A. Chase, and Antonia H. Chayes.

Muskie candidates in Group two for delegates-at-large are headed by Boston Mayor White.

In addition to Mayor White, the candidates on his slate are: Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., Attorney General Robert H. Quinn, Doris Kearns, Lena Saunders, State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, Speaker David M. Bartley, Senate President Kevin B. Harrington, State Senator Mary L. Fonseca, Geraldine Pleshaw, Salvatore Camello, Ronald Glover, Professor Samuel H. Beer, Mrs. Betty Taimor, Ann L. Dunphy, Melvin B. Miller, K. Dun Gifford, Nicholas Mavroules, Irene Lambert, and Anna P. Buckley.

Candidates pledged to Muskie and seeking election as delegates from the 4th Congressional district as Group 1 are: Michael S. Dukakis, Elizabeth A. Cote, former Alderman William Carmen of Newton, Mary M. Sullivan, Carleton E. Blackwell, Kathryn J.

Humphrey, and Richard E. Landry.

District delegate candidates in Group 2 pledged to Mayor Lindsay are: John P. Martilla, James H. Kurland, Helene C. Levine, Frank H. Leone, Janet B. Arterton, Mary S. Ingalls, and Bruce D. Hambro.

District delegate candidates in Group 3 pledged to Congresswoman Chisolm are: Barbara R. Cantilui, Norman J. Farmelli, Jack Hoffman, Helen S. Johnson, Matthew Jefferson, Mark I. Solomon, and Merrylynes K. Turner.

Delegate candidates in Group 4 pledged to McGovern are: Thomas B. Adams, Erskine W. Barrett, John A. Businger, Anita J. Greenbaum, Jerome Grossman, Paula M. Hurley, and Helen Rees.

Pledged to Senator Jackson in Group 5 are: James L. Golden, Jr., Aaron Schindler, Judith J. Wurtman, Frank G. Dewar, Daniel T. Keady, Marguerite A. Seelye, and Moses I. Feuerstein.

Apart from the preferential vote for the Presidential candidates, Newton Republicans will have two contests to settle next Tuesday.

Katherine F. Bruce of 884 Beacon street and Augusta Hornblower of 100 Essex street, both of Newton, are candidates for election as Republican State Committee member from the senatorial district including Newton and Watertown.

Opponents in a fight for election as Republican State Committee member are Joseph I. Weinrebe of 154 Oliver road, Newton, and Robert A. Semonian of Watertown.

Gannon Heads Fund Drive For Guild For Blind

Joseph J. Gannon, well known Boston civic leader will head a special committee as part of a $150,000 fund raising campaign on behalf of the Catholic Guild for All the Blind in Newton.

The Boston businessman has been named chairman of the Guild's Board of Directors Solicitation Committee, according to Thomas J. White, drive chairman.

Gannon is former head of May and Gannon, Inc. He served for three terms as president of the Erie Society, which in 1962, awarded him a gold medal and title "Mr. Erie Society." In 1955, he headed the fund raising drive for the Catholic Guild for All the Blind.

Robert E. O'Brien has been named chairman of the Foundations Committee. Founder and former president of Bio-Dynamics, Inc., he now serves as a consultant to the Institute of Social Technology, San Juan, Puerto Rico and the Department of Agriculture of Puerto Rico.

Gannon and O'Brien are both directors of the Guild, which is the largest professional agency for the blind in New England and employs more than 100 persons who work to better conditions of the blind of all faiths.

New Dental Program At Warren Jr.

Dr. Robert Kirschbaum, Administrator of Dental Services, Newton Health Department, reported to the Faculty of the Harvard School of Dental Medicine on a pilot preventive dentistry and plaque control program at Warren Jr. High School. Dr. Kirschbaum is a member of the Harvard Faculty in the department of Ecological Dentistry.

He and his staff hygienists worked in close co-operation with John Manuelli, science teacher at Warren, in presenting the most recent thought on the causes and prevention of tooth decay and gum disease to seventh grade science students.

The material was tied in with the seventh grade science curriculum and the students took an active part in staining the plaque on their teeth with disclosing wafers and brushing and flossing their teeth in the prescribed manner.

Dentists throughout the country are now aware of the value of the classroom teacher as the dental health educator, and are developing packaged curricula and workshops for training them.

Dr. Kirschbaum has been invited to attend a course in Cleveland supported by the Department of Health Education and Welfare on May 26, 27 and 28 entitled "Techniques For Consultants In A Dental Health Education Program For Upper Elementary School Systems."

Temple Marks Israel State Independence

Newton residents will join with the congregation of Temple Beth Elohim, Wellesley, to celebrate Israel's 24th year of independence by joining in song and prayer in a creative worship service on Friday, April 21 at 8:30 p.m.

Rabbi Herman Blumberg will speak on the topic: "The Limits of our Loyalty to Israel." All are welcome.

On Saturday, April 22 David Eldins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Elkins will be called to the Torah as a Bar Mitzvah at 11:15 a.m.

Regular Religious School Classes will resume at the Temple on Saturday and Sunday.

The Sisterhood Donor Luncheon will be held on Tuesday, April 25 at 12:30 p.m. and on Thursday, April 27 the Project Involvement Group on Reform Judaism will meet at 8:15 p.m.

Mayor Heads Manpower's Area Council

Mayor Theodore D. Mann has accepted an invitation to serve as area chairman of the Ancillary Manpower Planning Board.

The boards will be locally based, geographical sub-councils of the State Ancillary Manpower Council. The area chairman is required to be the highest elected official of the largest populated city, within a designated group of cities and towns.

Mayor Mann's area consists of: Dedham, Dover, Canton, Medfield, Millis, Needham, Newton, Norfolk, Norwood, Plainville, Sharon, Walpole, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Wrentham.

The primary task of the Ancillary Manpower Council, is to advise the governor and Regional Manpower Coordinating Committees of the needs pertaining to the area's Manpower Services. It is to help assist the governor in developing comprehensive Manpower Plans and make recommendations for appropriate program funding. The area boards were created as a line of communication between areas of widespread unemployment and the State Manpower Affairs Department, which coordinates federal and state manpower training programs.

These boards will be made up of planning groups and will reflect equal representation of the client sector, the agency-sponsor sector and the business-labor sector.

Sheriff To Speak At Church Here

Sheriff John J. Buckley will speak on the topic "Reforming Our Prisons" at a Forum to be held on Sunday, April 23 at 6:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Newton Centre.

Sheriff Buckley has just returned from a trip to England where he studied programs dealing with the problems of drug addiction. Following his address there will be an opportunity for questions from the floor.

A second Forum, to be held on Sunday, April 30 at 6:30 p.m., will deal with the "Anatomy of Dissent" and will discuss the factors that come together in the thinking of those men and women who choose to express their moral concern outside legal processes.

The three guest speakers are: Richard D. Clary, an attorney representing the Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts; Dr. Scott Rutan, a psychologist from Boston University; and Father Robert Cunnane, a Roman Catholic priest who has been imprisoned for his anti-war activities.

Both Forums will be held in the First Baptist Church chapel, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Attack Worthless Food Ads Directed At Kids

A scathing indictment of the nutritionally worthless foods advertised on children's television programs was submitted to the Federal Trade Commission by Action for Children's Television, Newtonville, with a request that the FTC set up a Trade Regulation Rule to stop the advertising of edibles on children's TV.

This submission followed two earlier requests to the FTC for rules to stop the selling of vitamin pills and toys to children.

"Our children are being manipulated to demand food that doctors and nutritionists recognize as worthless," said Carol Liebman, ACT board member.

"Ads tell them to eat foods because they are sweet, or fun, or because food is the way to get a present - yet experts know that these foods are not even providing a balanced diet."

ACT outlined the links between diet and health, compared the range of foods advertised to children with that shown to adults, and examined the effect of pressures on the parent-child relationship, and the use of premiums in food selling to children.

The submission contained a 16-page analysis of ads shown to children in a sample week, demonstrating that sweetened cereals, cakes, cookies, candies, drinks and drink sweeteners were the major products advertised.

ACT compared this range of food with the American Medical Association's recommended nutritional daily diet which includes milk, meat, fish, poultry, eggs, vegetables, and citrus fruits - none of which was advertised to children in that week.

Supporting letters filed with ACT's documents include statements from the United Cerebral Palsy Association, which said: "It is exceedingly important that children from an early age be taught sound nutritional practices."

The American Dental Association, stated in a letter: "(We) support your efforts to eliminate the advertising of candies, sweetened breakfast cereals, etc. Certainly it is difficult to persuade a child to limit his intake of sweets when he sees so much television advertising aimed specifically at him."

The submission concluded that television could be an effective tool in promoting better nutrition for both children and adults, and urged regulations which would insure that all food ads contained beneficial nutritional information, on adult programs, while completely stopping edibles product ads from children's television programs.

Waltham Camera Club president Richard Cole and Jim Saret have planned an interesting session with Joseph F. Mahoney, President of the Boston Camera Club, APSA, and MNEC Director.

The two-part program will include a discussion of Mounting and Mounting Techniques and suggestions for a positive approach to reverse color when developing slides for competition.

South Shore photographer Arnold Kaplan, international photography exhibitor, award winner, judge, and popular lecturer will be the featured speaker at the Newton Library - Camera Club meeting on May 15, Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Nonantum Branch Library.

Camera enthusiasts are urged to reserve these dates now - Thursday, April 27, and Monday, May 15, at 7:30 p.m.

The members and guests of the Newton Centre Garden Club recently enjoyed a display of interpretive table settings of different countries on the "Grand Tour," beginning with "Wings over New York" and entitled "Around the World in Sixty Minutes."

The flower show committee chairman, Mrs. Otis E. Stephenson, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Charles M. Wilson, organized the unusual entries in an interesting manner, a member participation event.

Mrs. Wilbur S. Roberts Jr. of Waban, President of the Club, presided at the business meeting. Hostesses for the bouillabaisse were Mrs. George H. Tryon and Mrs. Thomas A. McCutcheon, both of Waban. Mrs. Robert T. Capeless of Newton Highlands poured.

The Boston Pops Concert, scheduled for May 22, will be dedicated to the New England Region of the American Jewish Congress. Arthur Fiedler will conduct.

The AJC has been assigned all seats on the floor. Reservations can be made at the congress' office 72 Franklin St., Boston, or with any member of the committee in charge.

The program for the evening will be in three parts, as is the orchestra's tradition and there will be a special guest soloist.

As part of the concert, the AFJC will issue a souvenir book containing informative and historical material on both the orchestra and the congress itself.

Heading the committee in charge of the affair are Milton S. Altshuler and Mrs. Stanley Trachtenberg of Newton, Mrs. Ethel Calish of Jamaica Plain and Mrs. Robert Ravven of Brookline.

Hunger Hike Afoot Again

The Hunger Hike is afoot again!

The Walk for Development or as it is affectionately known, the Hunger Hike, is planned for May 21.

The walk is sponsored by the American Freedom from Hunger Foundation. The foundation's purpose is to inform people of the causes of hunger and malnutrition. In this way, people are encouraged to become personally involved in the fight against hunger.

Last May, a similar walk was held to benefit the foundation in conjunction with other marches which met at the Boston Common. This year the 25 mile route will begin at 7:45 a.m. at the Newton Centre parking lot. The Newton Centre parking lot will also mark the finish of the 25 mile walk around the city of Newton.

This year the proceeds of the walk will go to a cattle co-op in Mississippi and an agricultural program, "Meals for Millions," in Ecuador.

People of all ages may march in the Hunger Hike and are encouraged to do so. Walk cards are available at schools and libraries throughout the city. You can sponsor a walker for five cents a mile or more; or if you would like to help us in any other way, call 969-9810 ex. 316 or write Walk for Development c/o Newton South High School, Brandeis road, Newton Centre, Mass.

Camera Club Activities

The Newton Free Library Camera Club's year-long schedule of activities continues with two special meetings, on April 27 and May 15.

Club president Jim Saret announces a joint meeting with the Waltham Camera Club next Thursday, (April 27) 7:30 p.m. at the Kennedy Junior High School, Lexington Street, Waltham.

Waltham Camera Club president Richard Cole and Jim Saret have planned an interesting session with Joseph F. Mahoney, President of the Boston Camera Club, APSA, and MNEC Director.

The two-part program will include a discussion of Mounting and Mounting Techniques and suggestions for a positive approach to reverse color when developing slides for competition.

South Shore photographer Arnold Kaplan, international photography exhibitor, award winner, judge, and popular lecturer will be the featured speaker at the Newton Library - Camera Club meeting on May 15, Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Nonantum Branch Library.

Camera enthusiasts are urged to reserve these dates now - Thursday, April 27, and Monday, May 15, at 7:30 p.m.

Reception Kick-Off For "National Library Week"

Library Director, Virginia A. Tashjian, the Newton Free Library staff and dozens of active library users accorded top honors to all Newton librarians and Newton educators who have written books at an informal reception held at the Main Library. The reception was also a kick-off celebrating National Library Week, April 16-22.

Entertainment by the Young Adult Drama Group, jointly sponsored by the Newton Free Library and the Newton Recreation Commission, was a performance of "Who's Bernice?" a play written by Dick Power and Hal Bronk and directed by Dick Power.

Honored guests and friends of the Newton Free Library were guided through the Center for the Visually Handicapped.

An outstanding exhibit of oil paintings and drawings, by well-known artist Arthur Polonsky, added an extra dimension to the afternoon's activities.

A display of books by Newton educators fills the cases along with a special display "Stages of Book Production" which includes original and typemarked manuscripts, folded and gathered sheets from the press, the cover sketch, and the cover mechanical from Al Hurwitz's new book, "Programs of Promise - Art in the Schools."

Al Hurwitz, Coordinator of Art in the Newton Schools, acted as liaison between the Educators and the Library for the book exhibit.

National Library Week is also Amnesty Week at the Newton Free Library. It's the one week of the year when borrowers may return, without charge, all overdue library materials borrowed at the Main Library or any of the branches of the NFL.

Main Library hours are 9-9 Monday - Friday, 9-5:30 Saturday and 1-4 Sunday.

Girl Scouts Active In Several Areas

Junior Girl Scout Troop 1032 of West Newton recently elected Diane DeSouza treasurer and Kathy McHugh scribe. New patrol leaders are Paige Eldredge, Terri Haverty, Rosemarie Lauricella, Judy Ryan, Joyce Smith, and Debbie Tabor.

At a Court of Awards ceremony, with parents as guests, the whole troop received their Gypsy badge for outdoor accomplishments; 15 scouts, the Roller Skating badge. With Mrs. Paul Sheehan, RN, the girls received their training for Personal Health, Health Aid, Home Health and Safety badges.

Inviting the girls into their kitchens, Mrs. Robert White, Mrs. Martha Simmons, and Mrs. Edward Lopez helped the girls earn the Cooking badge. Fun and service projects were products of the ToyMaker badge with Mrs. Paul McHugh, Sewing and Needlecraft badges were awarded for skills learned from Mrs. William Burke and Miss Karen Kelly, sixth grade teacher at Franklin School.

Troop 1032 is now making plans for a weekend camping trip in May, to Cedar Hill in Waltham.

Cadet Troop 596, West Newton, participated in the new National Girl Scouts, USA Program "Try-Its" for the troop's Active Citizen Challenge award. First activity was to attend the League of Women Voters Candidates night, at which eight of the girls passed out programs and acted as messengers. The girls' participation was made possible by the League's Voter Services Chairwoman, Mrs. Myron Simon.

Each patrol spent three months investigating a different aspect of their community in depth. Patrol A chose a variety of subjects, giving service, as well as compiling information.

Guest speaker at a meeting, Hon. John P. Forte, Presiding Justice, District Court of Central Middlesex at Concord, informed the girls regarding juvenile court procedures. There followed an interview with John Penney, Director, Newton Recreation Dept. They found several areas in which they can give service through the Red Cross.

The patrol was invited to attend a PTA Board meeting of Warren Junior High and gathered a surprising amount of information. In the area of Mental Health, they were disappointed that there was no longer a need for volunteers. The girls contacted Jackson Homestead, Newton's Historical Society, and on Girl Scout Sunday, acted as hostesses and guides, some in costume, at the annual Open House.

Patrol B looked into the salt vs. sand controversy. After writing to six aldermen for information, the scouts contacted Mrs. Reed Whittle who has done a most comprehensive study of the "Case Against the Use of Highway De-Icing Salts for Snow and Ice Control" in Newton. She discussed the subject at length and advised them on drawing up of a petition, which the girls circulated, bringing in almost 100 signatures against the use of salt on the roads.

This petition, along with many others, was submitted to the Board of Aldermen.

Patrol C, with great difficulty, obtained information regarding the installation of a traffic-pedestrian light. They drew up and circulated a petition, made traffic and pedestrian counts and a sketch map. Their interest in Cherry St., Washington St., intersection concerned the safety of attendees of the nursery schools and elderly church members, as well as their own access to their meeting place, and other scouts accommodated in the two near-by churches.

Patrol D conducted a study of welfare in Newton, assisted by printed information from the League of Women Voters Welfare Chairman, Mrs. Joel Leighton. They conducted their own poll, circulating the League's "Ten Myths About Welfare - A Quiz", and making a chart and summary showing the swelling rolls of welfare recipients, services and requirements.

After the reports were completed, the patrols shared and evaluated their knowledge. They feel they could do more for their community if allowed. Nola Van Alstine and Jennifer Leith are scribes.

Susan Blakely, Barbara Blaney, Marla Elmonte and Linda Gassett of Senior Troop 545 have been participating actively in the Coed Explorer Police Post 300. Mrs. Lawson Gassett, Newton policewoman, is adviser to the post.

The scouts have been learning about safety and accident protection, working on accident reports; finger printing, through comparison and photography; and studying drugs and dangerous weapons. They visited the Framingham State Police Academy to observe procedures and techniques.

Population Total
Lebanon has a population of about 1,500,000.

Candy Sale For Police Memorial Is Big Success

The Newton Policewoman Traffic supervisor has announced the complete sellout of 576 boxes of candy. Profits from the sale will help to defray the cost of the Chief Philip Purcell Memorial Scholarship, given annually to the son or daughter of a policeman to help further his or her education.

The drive was kicked off by Chief William F. Quinn in his office, purchasing the first box of candy from Chairman Mrs. Clara Mitchell and Co-chairman President Mrs. Mary M. Williams. Immediately following, Mayor Theodore D. Mann and Treasurer Theodore L. Seafidi made purchases at City Hall.

The sale was completed in one week. The Scholarship Association has thanked all those who contributed to make this sale a success.

Committee Selects Stomberg

At a recent meeting of the Student Advisory Committee of the Newton Youth Center, Richard Stomberg was unanimously elected student chairman.

He was elected by the Student Delegates that represent each area of Newton and comprise the teenage half of the Youth Center's 50 man Advisory Committee.

Among the duties of the student chairman is the chairing of the committee's bi-monthly meetings, serving on all Youth Center standing committees, and overseeing the center's city-wide program.

Stomberg, a junior at Newton South High School, lives at 157 Lincoln street in Newton Highlands with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Stomberg. He has been active in the Youth Center for three years having worked at the Newton Highlands branch and serve as program chairman and treasurer on the Student Executive Committee. He has also been active in the schools and in the community, having been involved with the Newton Highlands Congregational Church Youth Group for a number of years.

Five other officers comprising the Student Executive Committee were elected at the meeting: Patricia Monahan, vice chairman, a sophomore at Newton North; Martha Talis, secretary, a junior at Newton South; Frank Luzinsky, treasurer, a junior at Newton South; Nancy Grillo, program co chairman, a sophomore at Newton North; and Aime Handspecker, program co-chairman, a sophomore at Newton South.

McGOVERN WINS ALL OF STATE'S 102 DELEGATE VOTES

SEN. GEORGE S. McGOVERN's smashing victory in the Massachusetts primary gave him all of the state's 102 delegate votes on the first ballot at the Democratic National Convention, near final returns showed Wednesday. McGovern, winning 52 per cent of the vote, also picked up 82 delegates pledged to his candidacy who would likely stay with the South Dakota senator beyond the first ballot. McGovern gained all 102 first ballot votes by virtue of his popular vote victory statewide and in all 12 congressional districts. McGovern's trouncing of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie was so impressive that the Maine senator's slate of 20 at-large delegates—made up virtually of all the big names in the Democratic party, including Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., the House whip—lost almost two-to-one to McGovern's slate headed by Rep. Robert P. Drinan, D-Mass., a Jesuit priest, and Harvard Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith. Muskie received 22 per cent of the popular vote, enough to give him 14 delegates if the Democratic convention goes beyond the first ballot. Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., won five delegates and one was uncommitted, but all six ran on joint slates with McGovern. A confident but cautious McGovern, speaking to newsmen Wednesday morning before flying to Ohio and the May 2 primary, said, "The signs out there are encouraging. There is just a possibility we can pull an upset."

PENTAGON ENCOURAGED BY SOUTH VIETNAMESE SUCCESSES

AS PRESIDENT NIXON finished work on his nationwide speech on the war, the Pentagon said Wednesday United States was encouraged by the success South Vietnamese troops had in blunting the Communists' month-old offensive. "The enemy has taken very major casualties and is on his way to another set of losses similar to the 1968 Tet offensive," said Defense Department spokesman Jerry W. Friedman. "Estimates and approximations—we are not trying to resume body counts—indicate the enemy has suffered half or more losses than he suffered in 1968." U.S. officials estimate 32,000 communists were killed in the two-week offensive four years ago. Friedman gave the military's assessment of the renewed fighting just a few hours before the President's 10 p.m. EST nationwide radio and television broadcast to discuss the stepped-up fighting publicly for the first time. The President reached a decision on future troop withdrawals after four days of consultation at Camp David, Md., over the weekend and after talking with foreign affairs adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, on his return from secret talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow. This will be Nixon's eighth announcement about U.S. troop ceilings in Vietnam.

ASTRONAUT YOUNG CAUTIONS MOON SCIENTISTS

VETERAN SPACEMAN John W. Young cautioned scientists Wednesday against jumping to conclusions about the moon's creation until they have studied the 245 pounds of rock Apollo 16 is carrying back to earth. "It's too soon to be making any major conclusions about the region," Young radioed when informed that eager scientists already had come up with a new theory about how the moon's rocky central highlands area was formed billions of years ago. "It just ain't good science," he said. Young, Charles M. Duke Jr. and Thomas K. Mattingly were firmly in the grip of earth's gravity and steadily accelerating toward splashdown at 2:44 p.m. EST in the Pacific, 1,550 miles south of Hawaii. Weather in the recovery area was reported good. The carrier USS Ticonderoga was standing by to pluck the astronauts and their rock-laden command ship, Casper, out of the water.

UNDERDOG MUSKIE LOOKS AHEAD TO OHIO PRIMARY CONTEST

SEN. EDMUND S. MUSKIE, a front-runner turned underdog, looked ahead Wednesday to a key Ohio primary contest against the same candidates who whipped him to three straight defeats. In Ohio, Muskie again is supported by top Democratic office-holders, led by Gov. John J. Gilligan. But big-name support failed to save the Maine senator in previous primaries and many observers rate Muskie a third choice in Ohio behind Sens. George McGovern and Hubert H. Humphrey. McGovern swept the Massachusetts primary Tuesday to add lustre to his Wisconsin triumph. Muskie finished a sad second. Humphrey meantime won the Pennsylvania primary with Alabama Gov. George Wallace second. Muskie finished third, barely ahead of McGovern. All four candidates are on the Ohio ballot next Tuesday along with Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash. Indiana Democrats pick their choice for the Democratic presidential nomination the same day, with Humphrey and Wallace the only candidates campaigning for Hoosier votes although Muskie will be on the ballot. "I think we're going to win in Indiana," Wallace told an Indianapolis news conference Wednesday.

DELEGATIONS AGREE TO RESUME PARIS PEACE TALKS

WITH BOTH SIDES making concessions, the Allied and Communist delegations agreed Wednesday to resume the Paris Vietnam peace talks today after a five-week suspension. The chief Hanoi negotiator indicated North Vietnam is also ready to renew secret discussions with the United States. Xuan Thuy, who heads the North Vietnamese delegation to the four-sides conference, told newsmen after meeting for 30 minutes with French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann that Hanoi's special emissary, Le Duc Tho, "may come back to Paris at any time now" that the regular talks are resuming. Tho is the seventh-ranking member of Hanoi's ruling political bureau and is a special adviser to the Communist negotiators in Paris. He held 13 secret meetings last summer with U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, who recently returned from secret talks in Moscow. Diplomatic sources said Kissinger's visit in the Soviet capital probably resulted in Washington's decision to return to the negotiating table in Paris. Hanoi dropped its demand that U.S. air raids must stop while Washington eased its position that no negotiations could take place until the Communist offensive was called off and Hanoi and the Viet Cong "negotiate seriously."

IRA DEMANDS VOICE IN ANY ULSTER NEGOTIATIONS

THE MILITANT provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army said Wednesday in Belfast it led the resistance to Protestant rule and demanded it have a voice in any negotiations to end violence in Northern Ireland. Fresh violence underscored the demand. Two bombs exploded and snipers fired at army troops in four separate incidents. The army said it wounded a gunman in one of the attacks. So far, 316 persons have died in 32 months of violence throughout the province.

Fair Practice Code Proposed For City

An ordinance establishing a Code of Fair Practices for the City of Newton has been proposed by Ald. Lois Pines and is currently being studied by the Legislation and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

The code contains general provisions for hiring, housing, city contracts and city schools, and would empower the Newton Community Relations Commission to enforce, regulate and oversee the ordinance in the city.

Ald. Pines said that although the code in some respects duplicates provisions in effect under state law, there has never been a definitive code in Newton. The city does have a directive, she said, that was issued by former Mayor Monte G. Basbas which applies to city contracts. But, she said, it is "limited in scope" and not enforceable.

The code calls for non-discriminatory policies on the part of all city government agencies, and also goes a step further by asking that "positive and aggressive" measures be taken to insure equal opportunity.

The ordinance in summary includes the following provisions:

Article I: Non-discrimination and equal employment opportunity are the policy of the City of Newton in all its decisions, programs and activities. All agencies shall initiate affirmative action programs designed to conform with this policy and the programs will be subject to review by the Newton Community Relations Commission. Any program considered inadequate by them shall be redrawn.

Full Graphic Page Opened To Readers

The Newton Graphic is offering a new outlet of expression to all its readers and to all residents of the Garden City.

Beginning with the issue of May 11, the Graphic will initiate a page of public opinion, published opposite our editorial page, which will contain only letters from our readers.

This offer is open to liberals, moderates, conservatives, left-wingers and right-wingers—to everyone in Newton.

If you disagree with the Graphic or one of its columnists, you will be perfectly free to write in and say so, and we will publish your letter.

News Deadline Is On Monday

Graphic readers are advised of the importance of the new deadlines established for receiving news copy.

We must emphasize that Monday is the last day on which news releases, club and PTA news, church news, statements and reports, can be accepted for publication that week. This covers all news of a general nature. Photos must not be received later than the Friday preceding publication.

Mechanical schedules make these new deadlines necessary. We would appreciate receiving copy earlier than Monday if possible.

The only requirement will be that you limit your communication to not more than 300 words and that you sign your name and address to it. We want to publish as many different letters as possible, but we feel we cannot publish any anonymous or libelous attacks.

School Board OK's Calendar For 1972-1973

The calendar for the 1972-73 school year in Newton was approved unanimously Monday night by the School Committee. Beginning Thursday, Sept. 7, and ending Friday, June 22, the calendar totals 185 school days and stretches over 39 weeks.

In voting the new calendar in, the Committee included Jewish Holidays and Good Friday as days when Newton schools will be closed. Good Friday, April 20, falls within the scheduled spring vacation, and the Jewish New Year, Sept. 9, is on a Saturday.

Other legal holidays for Newton schoolchildren will be: Yom Kippur, Sept. 18; Columbus Day, Oct. 9; Veteran's Day, Oct. 23; and Memorial Day, May 28.

Thanksgiving recess will be from noon on Wednesday, Nov. 22, to Monday, Nov. 27. Schools will close for

Aldermen Nix Open Rink Plan "Monstrosity"

Plans for a $1.2 million skating rink complex that more than likely would have been half federally funded were rejected Monday night by members of the Kenrick Fund Committee.

Voting after a meeting with the mayor and the Recreation Commission, the Kenrick Committee supported a motion by Alderman and Board President Eliot Cohen to pursue the matter of a rink with the Recreation Commission and an architect.

When shown a model of the proposed Cold Spring Recreation Area project, several aldermen labeled it "a monstrosity."

Discuss Fire Dept. New Work Schedule

The Firemen's Welfare Association and the Bargaining Committee of the Newton Fire Department met with the Aldermanic Finance Committee in executive session Thursday night to discuss implementation by ordinance of a 42-hour week for firemen.

The proposal, agreed to in collective bargaining in 1970, involves acceptance of a state statute by the aldermen. The Aldermanic Finance Committee Thursday night approved an ordinance to accept the state statute, putting the new work week into effect.

The new work schedule is to commence May 1. It involves a 10 per cent increase in the number of men employed by the Fire Department. An estimated 23 to 28 new firemen have been or will be hired, at a total cost of approximately $300,000 per year, based on figures in the 1972 budget for the seven remaining months of the year.

There are presently 258

Daylight Time Starts Sunday

Daylight Saving time begins at 2 a.m. this coming Sunday morning (April 30). When you go to bed Saturday night, turn your clocks and watches ahead one hour. If you don't, you will be out of step with the rest of Massachusetts Sunday morning.

You will lose an hour this coming weekend, but you will get it back the end of next October.

Muskie Clobbered 6-1; Drinan Delegation Wins

Senator George McGovern of South Dakota, the most dovish of the candidates for President, swept Newton in Tuesday's Presidential Primary, defeating Senator Edmund S. Muskie by a 6-1 margin as he virtually knocked the Maine Senator out of the contest for the Democratic nomination for President.

McGovern rolled up the whopping total of 10,211 votes in Newton as compared to 1,755 for Muskie. Shirley Chisholm of Brooklyn came in third with 752 votes. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey was fourth with 689.

President Nixon ran away from his two opponents in the Republican Presidential Preference Poll, drawing 1943 votes in the Garden City as against 526 for Congressman Paul N. McCloskey of California and only 167 for Congressman John M. Ashbrook of Ohio.

A state-wide delegate slate pledged to McGovern and headed by Congressman Robert F. Drinan won overwhelmingly in Newton which rejected an "establishment" slate pledged to Muskie and containing most of the top Democratic leaders in Massachusetts.

A ward committee slate headed by Father Drinan won easily in Ward 6 of Newton.

Democratic State Committeeman Sanford A. Kowal was re-elected, as was Democratic State Committeewoman Betty Taymor who was unopposed. She was defeated for election as a Muskie delegate.

A total of 17,890 voters, 14,921 Democrats and 2,969 Republicans went to the polls in Newton. An extremely good job was done by the city election department in tabulating the returns.

In contests on the Republicans side, Joseph L. Weinreb narrowly defeated Robert A. Semonian for the post of state committeeman in the eighth district.

Weinreb polled 879 votes to Semonian's 716.

Katherine F. Bruce handily outdistanced her opponent, Augusta Hornblower, for the post of state committeewoman.

There were 1146 votes cast for Mrs. Bruce and 751 for Mrs. Hornblower.

The slate of delegates-at-large pledged to McGovern polled the same 6-1 margin over the Muskie slate as did the candidates themselves.

Drinan topped all vote getters including McGovern by polling 11,524 votes. Figures for the entire McGovern slate were all in the neighborhood of 10,000.

Boston's Mayor Kevin H. White, head of the Muskie slate wound up with 2,363 votes with the rest of the slate in figures of about 1500.

The margin in the ward 6 committee race, in which a slate headed by Drinan opposed a slate headed by Alderman Sidney T. Small opposed each other, produced a 3-1 margin in favor of the Drinan slate.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

GOP Law-Makers Now Rare Specimens On Beacon Hill

Republican law-makers are gradually becoming extinct on Beacon Hill. There presently is only a thin line of GOP members in the House of Representatives and State Senate which is not numerically strong enough in either body to uphold a veto by Governor Francis W. Sargent.

Indications are that it will be even thinner next year. It seems unreal to recall that three decades ago the Republicans ruled both branches of the State Legislature with a firm hand.

As many as a dozen Republicans who were elected to the Legislature in 1970 may either be out of politics or seeking other offices next fall. There is substantial doubt that other Republicans will be able to hold some of their seats.

Newton Artists Exhibit Works At The Galleries

Two of Newton's best known artists, each a dedicated professional in the field of ceramics and enamels, are featured in the current showing at THE GALLERIES, 464 Washington Street, Wellesley.

Exhibiting a large collection of her unique ceramics is Daisy Brand, the current chairman of the Massachusetts Association of Craftsmen. Mrs. Brand, who has had past exhibitions at the Baltimore Museum of Fine Arts and the Cambridge Art Association, is also exhibiting currently in the "Things" show at the Brookline Art Center. Her selections at The Galleries include an unusual set of eight goblets done in pale browns and pink glazes. Matching these glazes in color are large plates and vases.

She has done a group of covered jars and casseroles as well as larger vases, sculptural forms and wall hanging plates. Her glazes range in color from the very brilliant cobalt blues to pale soft off-whites. Of special interest is a very large earth colored vase with portraits incised on the handles.

Judith Daner is the other Newtonite showing currently, along with Israeli artist Jacob Malka. Her brilliantly hued enamel reliefs and sculptures contrast with Malka's softly hued oils. Mrs. Daner, a graduate of Pratt Institute, also attended the Parson School of Design, The Art Students League and the New School in New York.

She is currently an instructor in enamels at the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln.

Her credits have been many and her works have been shown at the DeCordova Museum, the Copley Society, the Jewish Museum of New York, Wheelock College and the Cambridge Art Association.

She has been an exclusive designer for several commercial enamel giftware and furnishings firms and her works are included in ship interiors of the Italian Line. She is showing a group of approximately 20 of her works at THE GALLERIES.

This show is the largest collection she has exhibited in any one gallery to date, and includes works that combine the classic techniques of repousse and cloisonne with contemporary skills of welding and brazing. The brilliant coloration, plus her strong sense of design, make these enamel standouts in any exhibition.

But we would print a letter taking any side of an issue. If you have a complaint or a few words of praise about some municipal service, send it in for publication on the Graphic's new Public Opinion Page.

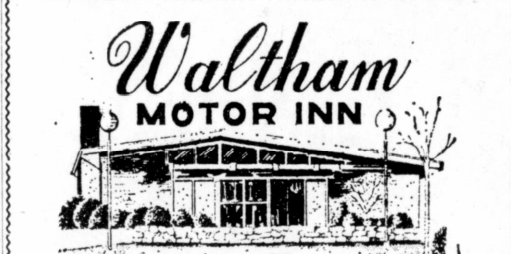

Tell us what you think is good or bad about Newton's school system.

Only a relatively few persons took part in drafting Newton's City Charter. Do you think something was put in that should have been left out or that something was left out that should have been included in the charter?

This is your opportunity to get your ideas printed on any matter of interest to you.

In case the Graphic should get more communications than it can print any week, it will hold those not used and publish them in the order in which they are received.

This special page in the Graphic is intended to provide an outlet for the expression of your opinions. Please take advantage of it.

Plan For Enlarging School Site Reviewed

Members of the Aldermanic Public Buildings Committee have reviewed four alternative plans for enlarging the site of the Underwood School.

Planning Director E. Michael Ferris was asked to make the report after the School Committee, Aldermen, and members of the Underwood School PTA complained that architects Haldemann and Goransson produced an unsatisfactory design because of the cramped nature of the site.

In conference with the Aldermen, Mayor Theodore D. Mann stated that if School Committee and Aldermen were dissatisfied, he would confer with them to select a new architect for the Underwood Annex.

Ferris presented four alternatives, ranging from a proposal to take 18,000 square feet from the Vernon St. right-of-way, part of Farlow Park, and the Boys' and Girls' Library, to a proposal involving the taking of three houses, and the making of cul-de-sacs on Baldwin St., Vernon, and Eldredge Sts.

Ferris said the proposed street closings would have minimal impact on traffic, since the streets were closed off with saw-horses during the school day. In any case, traffic on Baldwin St., he asserted, should be kept to a minimum in any case because of the narrowness of the street.

Cost of the proposals in terms of acquisition of land and related expenses ranged from no expenditure to $100,000. However, Ferris said that the first alternative, while costing the city nothing, left a "very poor" parking situation for school staff, a "poor" playground area, and only a "fair" school-yard. Under alternative 1, a new addition to the Underwood School would be built on part of the play area.

Ferris told the Public Buildings Committee that while the average school-yard in Massachusetts has 4.1 acres, the Underwood has only 2.4 acres. The school staff has said it needs 3.8 acres to carry on existing recreation and physical education programs. After the building of the new addition, there will be less than 1.5 acres, unless additional land is taken. The four alternative plans would add between 18,000 and 70,000 sq. ft. to the site, (that is between .4 and 1.6 acres).

Underwood PTA president Lawrence Bishoff testified that Underwood is the largest elementary school in the city, with an enrollment this fall that topped that of Bigelow Junior High School. Present play space, he said, is "pitiful." He asked that the site plan indicate directions for future expansion.

Several of the alternatives involved building the addition at one end of the school, on land which is now part of the right-of-way of Vernon St. The architects, however, stated that this plan would be less desirable from the standpoint of organization of school activities, than the present design for a square around a central court-yard.

Ferris urged the alderman to act promptly so as to take advantage of a subsidy from

Fellowship Breakfast By Church Women On May 5th

Church Women United in Newton are looking forward to their annual May Fellowship Breakfast which will take place on Friday, May 5, at 9:30 a.m. at the First Unitarian Society, 1325 Washington Street, West Newton.

Mrs. Matthew Jefferson, Chairman of the Day, announces that Mrs. Cecelia Williams Bryant will be the speaker. The theme of this year's May Fellowship is "Behold the Woman" and Mrs. Bryant will develop this topic whose purpose is to seek ways to expand the potential of women to be full participants in society.

Mrs. Bryant received her AA degree in Liberal Arts at Elizabeth Seton College in 1966, her AB degree at B. U. and then was awarded a Martin Luther King, Jr. Fellowship to study political theory in which she received her MA at Boston University in 1970. She was appointed to the Council on International Relations and attended United Nations Conferences in Jerusalem in 1966 and in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1968.

Unlike mortgages, real estate is an investment the value of which is never fixed. . . Nor is it liquid. . . You may sell it for more than you paid or be forced to sell it for less. . . You may not even find a buyer. . . Real estate is often bought in the expectation of an increase in its value. . . It is also an investment for the rental income which it might bring. . . These aspects of buying real estate are more a business speculation than part of a family's saving program although they could, of course, be both. . . Real estate is an investment that increases in value as the cost of living goes up. . . Land is becoming more and more precious as the number of families in the country increases.

Secretary Cowin Addresses Newton Community Council

The high cost of health care will be the number one consumer issue of the 1970's, according to William I. Cowin, Secretary of the Massachusetts Executive Office of Consumer Affairs. Mr. Cowin made his prediction during a recent speech given at the annual meeting of the Newton Community Council and the Newton Community Chest.

Cowin stated that the present governmental system is incapable of providing enough protection for persons buying products or services. Over the years, he said, government has been indifferent to consumers' rights, but this attitude was greatly changed during the sixties.

Newtonville Woman In Million Dollar Drawing

One of the possible 107 eligible for the first million-dollar drawing in "The Game" is Mrs. Jeanne Kelly of 14 Churchill St., Newtonville. At the drawing, scheduled for May 8, Mrs. Kelly will be eligible for one of 15 prizes, 14 other than the million dollars itself.

Her ticket was validated last week at the State Treasurer's office. Of the 107 ticket holders eligible after three drawings approximately 50 have had their lucky tickets validated.

To Be Installed At Women's Council

The B'nai B'rith Women's Council of Greater Boston will hold its annual installation of officers next Tuesday evening (May 31).

Mrs. Harold L. Suvalle of Newton, first vice-president of the Women's District No. one, will retire the outgoing officers and install the new ones, including Mrs. Edwin Kaplan of Newton, the new Treasurer.

Mrs. Julius Wilensky of Newton is assisting in the special program for the evening.

It is the responsibility of Cowin's new office to bring into line what the public expects of government in this field, and to recommend that government is restructured accordingly.

A statewide clearing house for complaints has been established to handle calls from the public. By calling 727-8000, any citizen can register a complaint regarding a consumer matter, and Cowin's office will follow up the complaint on behalf of the citizen.

At the same meeting Mayor Theodore D. Mann gave an account of his first 100 days in office. Mayor Mann also renewed his commitment to demonstrate that cities can be governed effectively, and described some of the innovative approaches his staff are taking to resolve community problems.

Charles J. Doherty of 26 Sterling Street, West Newton, was installed as the new president of the Newton Community Council, Inc., and the Newton Community Chest, Inc., replacing Robert P. Freeto, of 91 Hillside Avenue, West Newton.

Wirtz Speaks At Education Conference

Former U.S. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz spoke at a National Conference on Cooperative Education at the Marriott Hotel last week on the nation's manpower needs.

The conference was designed to explore closer ties between higher education and the business community.

Others participating in the Conference were: U.S. Senator Joseph Montoya of New Mexico; Dr. Frank Newman of Stanford University; and Dr. Paul Samuelson of M.I.T.

Another Bureaucracy?

Two days after the Price Commission had granted the New Haven division of the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad permission to hike the division's passenger fares by 17.39 per cent, it whipped through a cancellation.

A Price Commission spokesman had an explanation ready as the railroad started taking down signs announcing the increase. Those responsible for the division's operations stopped thinking about how they'd put the $4 million extra income to work.

The explanation wasn't too complex. After it had approved the fare hike and notified the railroad, the Price Commission discovered the Penn Central should have petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission before it went before the Price Commission.

No one has ever presented a reasonable plan by which a democracy as large as the United States could operate without bureaucracies. They have been abominated down through the decades. Yet, Americans have somehow learned to live with them.

Instead of cutting back on their numbers, the years have only served to spawn more of them. Efforts to trim them down have only resulted in adding to the growth of their roots.

For the most part bureaus have thrived on red tape and criticism.

The Price Commission is among the very youngest of our bureaus. It was created, as many of the older branches of government were originated, to do something about our economy. Like many of its older counterparts it was to be a temporary governmental tool. It is scheduled to end its life when inflation is brought under control and everything is back to normal.

The average American is all in favor of that. New as it is the commission, in all fairness, is entitled to a trial run and limited absolution for a few errors of omission and commission.

Right now, however, it is disturbing to find it is acquiring some of the hallmarks of old bureaus as it develops a taste for red tape and a respect for the boundaries staked out by another bureau.

European Invaders

There was a day when the typical New England collegian welcomed those spring vacation days. They afforded a chance to get back home, get acquainted with the folks, relish some home-cooked meals and take a breather before the last stretch of academics and those final exams.

Over a recent weekend Logan International Airport knew one of the busiest stretches of its existence. Collegians, as well as some high schoolers, made the big terminal look like it had been built only to accommodate teen-agers and the younger twenties.

They were good-natured and for the most part polite as they pressed the facilities, of the port and its airlines to the limit. Some of them were carrying most of their worldly possessions on their backs.

They were headed for the Old World — London, Paris, Rome, Madrid and way stations.

Airport officials figured about 16,000 were processed to chartered or regularly scheduled planes. Candy bars disappeared as fast as newsstand attendants put them on the display counter but the dining spot operators complained older but smaller crowds produced bigger meal checks and fatter tips.

It's impossible to figure out the average European trip-cost to the travelling young folk. Not many of them will demand de luxe hotel services, and bicycles will substitute for some of those highly-touted trains.

The parents of many of them in the past might have treated themselves to a little wishful-thinking about travelling to Europe "some day." Lots of oldsters by scripping and scarping fly the Atlantic these days but few on return will be able to report the exciting agendas the youngsters will know.

Today Massachusetts reports around 200,000 unemployed and there are between 600,000 and 700,000 persons receiving some kind of public assistance.

Their problems are close to home. They have neither the time nor the inclination to be jealous about the European invasion by youths out of Logan.

Maybe, that invasion is a good sign for the future. Maybe, it means that those youngsters — tomorrow's adults — know how to get things done.

Mt. Ida To Hold Parents Weekend

Mount Ida Junior College in Newtonville, Mass., will hold its annual Parents' Weekend starting tomorrow (Friday, April 28) and continuing until this coming Sunday.

Festivities will commence on Friday with Mount Ida's annual Night at Pops, which for the first time coincides with Parents' Weekend. The Mount Ida Choral Society will present a program of songs under the direction of David Dusing of the Mount Ida faculty.

Other events of interest include a student art exhibition, a gymnkhana on Saturday morning with prizes offered in the various riding events, a picnic on the terrace, "Gymagination," a display of gymnastic skill and grace in the afternoon, and a dance with entertainment in the evening. The program will lose with a buffet on Sunday.

Parents will have the opportunity to meet and talk with faculty members and to explore the buildings and campus.

Mrs. Stanley Robinson of Newton Lower Falls, Education program director and head of the English Department at Mount Ida, is in charge of the weekend preparations.

NOT THE ANSWER

- POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS -

When the present legislative session began in January of last year, there were 10 Republicans in the 40-member State Senate and 62 Republicans in the 240-member House.

Three GOP law-makers, among them Mayor Theodore D. Mann of Newton, have resigned from the House in recent weeks. Nine of the remaining 59 Republican House members have indicated they will not stand for reelection next autumn but will either seek other public offices or retire from politics.

Two Republican House members — Representatives Robert A. Beimeonte of Framingham and Martin A. Linsky of Brookline — probably will seek the Republican nomination for Congress in the district represented by Father Robert F. Drinan.

Representative Richard W. Daly moved from Wellesley to Needham so he would be in the district served by Congresswoman Louise Day Hicks. It is expected that Daly will be opposed in the Republican primary for the congressional nomination by State Senator John M. Quinlan of Norwood.

The Republicans will have no trouble retaining Daly's seat in the Needham - Wellesley district but may encounter more difficulty holding Quinlan's place in the Senate.

Representative James B. Moseley of Hamilton is weighing the possibility of relinquishing his House seat to make a bid against Congressman Michael Harrington of Salem.

Representative Maurice E. Frye, Jr., of Back Bay, John C. Losch of Holliston and Walter H. Hannon all have talked about retiring from the House. Hannon is Mayor of Quincy.

Republican House Leader Francis W. Hatch, Jr., of Beverly is trying to raise $60,000 to finance a GOP comeback in the House next November.

With a Republican Governor presiding over the State government, he should be able to raise the $60,000. But whether he can achieve his goal of increasing GOP strength in the House from the present 59 to 81 members is another matter.

The Republican high command in recent years has allowed a lot of seats in both the State Senate and the House of Representatives to go by default to the Democrats.

Democrats Now Seen Likely To Draft Ted at Convention

This political observer is now convinced for the first time that Senator Edward M. Kennedy may be drafted in July as the Democratic candidate to run against President Richard M. Nixon. Top White House advisers share that opinion and Nixon himself expects that his fight next November will be with Ted Kennedy.

Ted Kennedy genuinely does not want to run for the Presidency this year. He is only 40 years old. He would prefer to remain in the U.S. Senate another few years. If he were elected President next November and then were reelected four years from now, he would be only 48 years old when he came out of the White House to assume a position such as president of some university.

Members of Ted's family live in terror that his life might be snuffed out by the bullet of some nutcase assassin, as were the lives of two of his famous older brothers who were killed at the peak of their careers by murderers whose motives were not even clear.

Up to now we have believed that Ted Kennedy would refuse to accept the Democratic nomination for President, that he would not even attend the Democratic convention in Miami in July but would simply have a spokesman announce that he was not available for the Presidential nomination.

But the indications are that Ted is gradually being positioned so that he would be virtually unable to refuse to carry his party's banner against President Nixon's in next autumn's election.

Our guess is that no Democratic candidate for the Presidency will have enough delegate support to win the nomination on the first ballot at the convention in Miami.

If that first ballot produces nothing but more bitterness within the Democratic party, as now seems likely, that would be the strategic time for the Democratic convention to turn to Ted Kennedy and ask him to accept the nomination for President.

That is based on the assumption that no candidate will emerge from the Democratic pack in the weeks ahead and establish himself as the unquestioned No. 1 Democratic challenger to President Nixon and the Democrat who would have at least an even chance of toppling Mr. Nixon in November.

Senator George McGovern of South Dakota, Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Congressman Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, Alabama Governor George C. Wallace and Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington all will go to the convention with some votes in their pockets. Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm probably will get a few scattered votes. It would be a tremendous surprise if anyone mustered a majority of the votes out of that setup to gain a first-ballot victory at Miami.

The Democratic party probably will be a shambles by next July.

As Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield observed, the Democratic Presidential contenders have spent a lot of time beating each other over the head when they might have been centering their fire on President Nixon.

Mansfield listed four prominent Democratic figures, none of them presently running for President, whom he would be glad to support for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

The problem is that none of the four named by Mike is really well known to the people of the United States outside his own home district. Ted Kennedy is.

Mystified Motorist Tagged 41 Times When Not There

Over a two-year period Samuel Lipman of New Bedford has received a total of 41 court summonses for alleged parking violations in Boston.

Ordinarily, there would be nothing especially unusual about that report except that Lipman declares that during that two-year span he has never driven his automobile to Boston and, in fact, has never had the car outside New Bedford.

Lipman, uncertain as to what he should do about a startling series of events which indicated that he was getting summonses intended for somebody else's parking violations, went to State Senator George C. Mendonca in February of last year after he had received the 13th summons.

Mendonca, who, like Senator William Wall of Lawrence, works hard trying to help his constituents with their problems, has protested, in turn, to the Registry of Motor Vehicles, the district courts and the police.

During the 14 months Mendonca has been trying to straighten out the weird situation, Lipman has received 28 more summonses, averaging two a month. At first Mendonca handled each summons. Then to save time, effort and postage stamps, he let them accumulate and protested them five at a time.

Since that has accomplished nothing so far, Mendonca now plans to save them until he has 10.

Meanwhile, some driver is parking illegally while the punishment for his misdeeds is assessed upon Mr. Lipman.

How the same mistake could be made unintentionally 41 times in recording the number plate of an automobile is a puzzle.

We Should Rest On Laurels On Space Flights To Moon

It may be that the information we have been gathering concerning the background and history of the rock formations on the moon is worth the money we have been expending and the risk in human lives we have been taking.

But here's one observer who does not think so. After the three astronauts splash down on their return from this momentous journey through space, we would prefer that the United States

LETTERS

Urges MBTA Head To Clean Station

Note: The following is a copy of a letter sent to Henry S. Lodge, Chairman of the Board of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority, Dear Mr. Lodge:

We are Bowen School Campfire Girls, grades four and six. On March 29 after school we brought rakes and big plastic bags and work gloves to the Newton Centre MBTA station, to clean it up. There were 11 of us, and two mothers, and we worked for over an hour. We filled 11 bags with trash such as: paper, discarded clothing, glass, cans, plastic food containers, rusted metal, refuse, etc.

We stayed off the tracks, and didn't go behind the signs prohibiting entrance. We also swept steps and paths. Even so we didn't finish.

We did this because we care about our environment.

We would really like to urge you to: clean the tracks and the whole station on a regular basis; put out refuse containers; please repaint the walls of the shelters; and rake leaves and trim the shrubbery.

We would like to hear from you, and would like you to tell us if you want us to help.

Sincerely Yours: Emily Kaplan, Laura C. Seasholes, Crissy Taylor, Sharon Sussman, Cathy Seasholes, Michele Skerry, Julie Miller, Gay Davis, Leslie Pollack, and Elizabeth Kaplan.

New Income Tax Levy Part Of Revenue-Sharing Plan

Washington experts on finance report that when a federal revenue-sharing plan is finally approved by Congress, the bill will contain a provision stipulating how residents of states participating in the plan must pay their income taxes.

Separate state and federal tax returns will be eliminated, if the bill is passed in the form that is now intended. The states will be obliged to change their tax laws to coincide with the federal law in order to take part in the revenue-sharing program.

Some will be forced to make only minor changes in their tax statutes. Others will have to make drastic overhauls of their tax laws.

The exact details of how this would be done have not yet been settled. But generally a state would apply its tax rate as a percentage of the federal tax. Washington experts say this may start in 1975.

Some States, among them Massachusetts, probably would have to amend their Constitutions before they could levy such a tax.

Black Community Is Unable To Unite In Congress Fight

The Black Community has been unsuccessful so far in its efforts to unite behind one black candidate in the contest for Congress in the new ninth district now represented by Mrs. Louise Day Hicks.

So-called Action Caucus '72, which sought to unite black and Spanish-speaking people, behind one of the three black candidates, proved to be a flop.

Hubert (Hubie) Jones, a fellow at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in a special program for blacks and a former director of the Roxbury multi-service center, a community action program, received a big majority of the votes of the 193 people who remained to record themselves on the matter.

Jones polled 175 votes compared to 16 for Melvin Miller, publisher of the Bay State Banner, a black weekly newspaper, and two for George Johnson who is seeking the Republican nomination against two strong GOP contenders.

This caused Jones to acclaim himself as the candidate of the black community which, he maintained, had given him a mandate. His statement, however, was challenged by black leaders who argued that Melvin Miller, publisher of the Banner, is the real choice of the community for the congressional seat.

In fairness, a lot of voters who showed up walked out when they learned that Jones was to be the only candidate in attendance.

'Y' Building Fund Holds Special Meeting In City

The Major Gifts Committee of the "Y" Building Fund for Newton and the Western Suburbs held a special breakfast meeting recently at the Marriott Motor Hotel.

Presided over by Robert G. Hennemuth, Associate Chairman of the campaign, the session marked the first time that all the leadership and volunteers of the Major Gifts Division had met.

Judge Monte G. Basbas, General Chairman of the campaign, spoke of the urgent need for a new, Family "Y", stressing the necessity for high level gifts. Mr. Hennemuth presented a slide program which contrasted existing facilities with those found in a modern "Y". He emphasized that a major portion of the required funds must come from Major Gift prospects, those individuals and families in the community who have substantial means.

This is the second phase of the $3,000,000 Capital Fund Campaign to build a new facility for the families of Newton, Wellesley, Weston and the 91 other communities served by the "Y".

The first phase — the solicitation of "Y" Family members, Ladies' Auxiliary, Board of Directors and Trustees, etc. — has already ended.

Special presentations are currently being made to area corporations, banks and utilities, as well as to applicable philanthropic foundations. Residential solicitation has begun in several Newton Villages, with the rest to follow shortly.

The $3,000,000 Capital Fund Campaign is expected to end on June 30 of this year, with ground breaking for the new building scheduled for March 1, 1973.

In order to receive federal funds from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation the project cannot be completely enclosed. The design submitted, therefore, had a roof and no walls. With four pillars for support, roof turned out to be a maze of beams and supports that gave the appearance of something fashioned from a gigantic erector set.

"I don't think that's the superstructure that $1 million could buy," Ald. Sidney T. Small commented. "It seems to me that we are more concerned with federal funds than with having a structure we can use year-round," Ald. Peter F. Harrington said.

"Let's build what we want," Ald. Edward C. Uehlein said, "and we can get federal funds if we can. Let's not build what looks like a monstrosity."

Alderman Jason Sacks, chairman of the Kenrick Committee, told architects that the "problem" was that "we authorized $800,000 for a rink and imagined it could be used all year."

"We felt for an open building," he continued, "we certainly would not have to pay $1 million."

Ald. Sacks also mentioned a project proposed by a private developer which is a completely enclosed rink at a comparable cost.

The defeated project would have been converted into tennis courts in the summer, and would have been used as a rink in the winter. It included a service building, bleachers, and parking.

Highway Needs
An average four-lane highway built through a rural area requires about 40 acres of far land for each mile of completed road.

Tons of Paper Recycled In A City Program

The City of Newton's paper recycling program has now been successfully operating for two weeks.

Mayor Theodore D. Mann noted that according to Edmund C. Bolduc, Street Commissioner, each day approximately four tons of newspaper have been collected from the curbside of our residents' homes. This means that 25 tons of newspaper are being recycled each week, relieving our incinerator and landfill site of a considerable burden and aiding conservation of thousands of trees.

These figures may seem encouraging. However, Newton's residents consume approximately 90 tons of newspaper per week. This means that 65 tons of newspaper are needlessly incinerated each week.

To reduce its solid waste problem and conserve a natural resource, Mayor Mann urges the citizens to observe the ordinance and save for the monthly pickup. To verify your monthly day of collection, call City Hall at 244-4700.

To Be Feted At Brimmer & May

Miss Catherine B. McCoy, a distinguished educator, is returning to Boston to receive the honors of the alumnae of the Brimmer and May School in Chestnut Hill, where she taught from 1932 to 1962. Besides teaching science at the school, Miss McCoy was also the principal from 1942 and is now a member of the faculty at St. Margaret's School in Tappanahock, Virginia.

She will be the honored guest of the Brimmer and May Alumnae Association at a luncheon to be held on April 29 in the main building of the school. Several other former faculty will also be on hand to meet their former pupils again.

During the afternoon festivities 26 June graduates will be formally received into the Alumnae Association. Among those graduating next month are Miss Margaret Coe, daughter of Mrs. Van Bael Coe of Newton; Miss Patricia Gutman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gutman of Newton Highlands; Miss Trude Huber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Huber of Newtonville and Miss Linda Shapiro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Shapiro of West Newton.

HITTING THE SKIDS for safety sake is Robert L. Cerra of 47 Auburn St., West Newton. Mr. Cerra, a cadet in training with the Massachusetts State Police, recently attended a special Skid Control School at Liberty Mutual Insurance Company's Hopkinton research center. Mr. Cerra was taught the six types of skids which can occur and the best ways to avoid or control them.

-Political Highlights-

Another caucus will be held next month, but the indications are that it will be difficult to achieve a meeting of the minds as to who should be the black candidates in the Hicks congressional district.

In his platform, Jones, incidentally, called for a floor of $6500 a year for a family of four on welfare; guaranteed decent jobs for persons ready and able to work; the end of tax loopholes for the rich; a national health insurance program; a clinically administered program to combat drug abuse; and federal funds for community-controlled schools.

Charge U Mass Head Allows Students To Decide Policy

A sharp controversy has developed on Beacon Hill over the action of University of Massachusetts President Robert Wood in banning military recruitment on his campus until he determines the sentiment of university students on the matter.

Doves in the State Senate and Massachusetts House of Representatives are supporting President Wood's action and assert that as the operating head of the university he should be the one to make policies on such questions.

Some law-makers declare that they are too absorbed in other bread and butter issues to give much thought to whether Mr. Wood is or is not exceeding the proper bounds of his authority in holding up any military recruitment at University of Massachusetts.

But a substantial number of legislators draw a bead on President Wood and fire all barrels at him. They declare that he must consider he is running some privately endowed university such as Harvard, Yale or Princeton.

They charge that Mr. Wood actually is sidestepping the issue of whether or not to allow military recruitment on his campus and is leaving the decision to the students, which they consider improper.

These legislators, some of them of the hard hat variety, say that the students attending University of Massachusetts pay less than a tenth of the actual cost of the education they are receiving. (Tuition at UMass is $200 a year, and the expense of educating a student is in excess of $2000 annually.)

While it is true that the State's taxpayers subsidize UMass and pay over 90 per cent of the costs of its operation, the suggestion that they should have a right to decide whether recruitment is allowed on the UMass campus seems somewhat impractical.

If the legislators are to get involved in the matter at all, they should decide whether military recruitment is to be sanctioned at UMass in Amherst and issue a directive to the dovish Dr. Wood who is also under some fire of criticism for his blasts against the United States bombing attacks upon North Vietnam.

Some of his outspoken critics assert that he has said nothing about the North Vietnam invasion of South Vietnam.

Open House At Day School To Be Held May 7

Dr. Myron Rosenblum, a resident of Lexington and Professor at Brandeis University, and Rabbi Herman Blumberg, a resident of Waban and Spiritual leader of Temple Beth Elohim, Wellesley, will address prospective parents at a coffee hour sponsored by the P.T.A. of the Solomon Schechter Hebrew Day School. This Open House, to which all interested parents are invited, will be held Sunday night, May 7 at 8 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Max Day, 108 Lake Avenue, Newton Centre.

The two speakers will describe the school's integrated curriculum of Hebrew and English Studies. Dr. Rosenblum, a parent of three Schechter Students, will analyze the progressive Hebrew studies program and its full commitment to both its Jewish and American heritage. He will explain the methods used to teach Hebrew Language, Scriptures, history and literature.

Rabbi Blumberg, whose three children also attend the school, will describe the program of English studies for which the school is noted. He will have available materials used in the school and explain the rationale of the school's Social Studies, Science, Mathematics and English courses. The school's program is rounded out with physical education, music and art and special interest clubs.

The P.T.A. welcomes all interested parents to call Mrs. Paula Blumberg at 969-3067, or Mrs. Nancy Kummer at 449-2453 for further information about the coffee hour.

At Belmont Hill, he is also a member of Cum Laude, and on the Student Disciplinary Committee.

Christopher plays varsity football and golf, and was a Bay State Olympiad finalist. He holds the Form Scholarship Medal, a Biology Prize, and a French Prize.

nounces that the proceeds of the event will help to establish a Music Scholarship Fund which hopefully will be awarded annually. Deserving students of the Newton High School Music Department will be awarded special grants annually. The public is invited to attend.

Young people in the lower grades are particularly invited to attend this event which has among its players several Newton students who have come through the Newton music program starting as early as Grade 3. Several of these orchestra members now hold principal seats in the orchestra, along with other positions.

Under the direction of Mr. Gardner, a parents' committee has been formed, who have students in the Music program at the High School Co-Chaired by Mrs. Joseph O'Donnell of Newtonville and Mrs. Arthur Kravitz of Newton.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Frederick Cohen, Auburndale at 969-6430. Other information regarding the concert may be obtained by calling Mr. Gardner at the High School, 969-9810 ext. 348.

... and TRECK PHOTOGRAPHIC, 21 Needham Street, Newton Highlands, 969-8722 have without a doubt the most complete selection of all kinds of photographic equipment including cameras, film, darkroom supplies and instructional material in the Newton-Needham area. And this is your last week to get your Polaroid Square Shooter II with carryall case, one roll 88 film and two flashcubes at just $29.50 a $37.50 value. Hours: 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday-Friday; closed Saturday.

Here are some hints on how to remember things: write a memo on the bathroom mirror using the corner of a damp cake of soap. Lipstick makes striking reminders on counter tops if you have got the new, strong kind of counter covering, that is. Remember, the reason you forgot to do something is because you do not want to do it. No one ever said: "Remind me to pick up my sweepstakes winnings tomorrow." On the other hand, how often have you heard, "Remind me to get the car inspected soon." Or "I wish I could remember to defrost the refrigerator?"

HELPFUL HINT: Be sure to rotate the tires on your car to insure even wear.

MRS. RICHARD S. F. LEHRBERG

Mr. Richard Lehrberg Takes Miss Ogorzaly As Bride

In a private ceremony Saturday evening (April 22) Mr. Richard Stephen Feldman Lehrberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bentley Lehrberg of Newton, became the husband of Miss Catherine Fleming Ogorzaly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry John Ogorzaly of Summit, New Jersey. A reception followed the wedding at the Beacon Hill Club and the couple are honeymooning in Mexico City and Acapulco.

The bride, whose father is a vice-president of the Newfoundland Refining Company and Director of Refining for the Shaheen Natural Resources Corporation, was attended by her sister, Miss Liza Ogorzaly as maid of honor and by her other sisters, Regina, Anne and Mary Frances, and Miss Lee Moseley of Boston as bridesmaids. She wore her mother's wedding gown.

Best man for Mr. Lehrberg was his brother, Roger. Mr. Paul Gateley and Mr. Philip Cohen of Boston and the bride's brothers, Clay and Robert, served as groomsmen. Mrs. Lehrberg, who was graduated from Cornell University in 1969, also attended Marymount International School in Paris.

Mr. Lehrberg is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts and studied at the University of Grenoble, France. They will make their home in Chicago where both are employed by Sears, Roebuck and Co. (Photo by Jules Wolin, Inc.)

First Woman In U.S. House Is A Visitor To City

The first woman in the United States to be elected to the House of Representatives, Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, was a guest recently at Walker House in Auburndale.

Miss Rankin, now 93 years old, came to Boston to give her support to Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, New York Representative, who is running for President.

Miss Harriet Yarrow, a long-time friend of Miss Rankin, invited her to stay at Walker House, one of the homes for furloughed and retired missionaries affiliated with the United Church of Christ.

Three years ago, Miss Yarrow was a guest at the celebrations in Washington, when Miss Rankin's 90th birthday was observed.

Mrs. Robert McCarter, State President of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, accompanied Miss Rankin to her appointments with editors of newspapers and TV program directors.

HEADING FAIR AND FLEA MARKET by the Brookline Group of the Boston Chapter of Hadassah being held on Sunday, May 7, are Committee Members, left to right: Mrs. Leo Lilienfeld, co-chairman; Mrs. Edward Belkin, chairman; Mrs. Sonia Paine, Director and Mrs. Leo Steinberg, advisor. One million dollars worth of valuable wares will be on display from noon until 7 p.m. on the grounds of the Stop and Shop and Hammonds Furniture on Route 9, Newton.

IF MADRID LEFT YOU SPEECHLESS LAST YEAR, MAYBE WE CAN HELP THIS YEAR.

To help you out this year, Berlitz has a Traveler's Aid Course. In French, Spanish, German or Italian. It's our regular course with a new accent; a traveler's vocabulary, plus dress rehearsals of situations you're liable to run into. And in the unlikely possibility that you forget a word or a phrase, we'll give you a traveler's phrase book free.

Once you've gotten the hang of a foreign language, you can strike up conversations, bargain for antiques and even argue with cab drivers. In other words, you can have a vacation on your vacation.

Our Traveler's Aid Courses start on May 1. If you miss them, you could wind up missing the boat.

MRS. PETER M. CIOFFI

Karen Prue, Peter Cioffi Are Married in Millis

Miss Karen Louise Prue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Prue of Spring street, Millis, and Mr. Peter Michael Cioffi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter O. Cioffi of Walnut Place, Newton, exchanged wedding vows on Saturday (April 22) in St. Thomas Church, Millis. The afternoon ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Fay.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satepeau designed with a high collar, bishop sleeves and A-line skirt with scroll applique beading and venise lace trim. Her three tier elbow length veil was attached to a Camelot cap covered with organza and lace and with an organza bow. She carried a cascade of white carnations and yellow rose buds.

Miss Mary Burke of Medway was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Joyce Freedman of Brighton and Miss Frances and Miss Cynthia Cioffi, sisters of the groom. Their gowns were of flocked nylon over pastel underskirts and they carried multi-colored bouquets with velvet ribbons to match their gowns.

Best man was Mr. Michael Baldi of Newton and groomsmen were Mr. Leonard Crossman and Mr. Robert Cheney of Waltham and Mr. Bruce Paige of Wayland.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the VI Caesar's Restaurant in Wrentham. The bride and groom were transported to the reception in their antique 1930 Dodge Sedan. Miss Anne Maguire of Norwood, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside in Milford. (Photo by Perry Studio)

Nursing School Held Open House

The recent Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing Open House attracted a number of high school students from this community. This last in a series of Open Houses held by the school, was planned especially for juniors in high school.

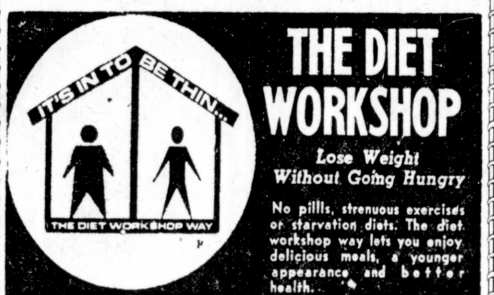

Over 120 students toured the school and hospital and visited with faculty and nursing students while enjoying refreshments in the school's Allen Riddle Hall.

The school launched a new two-year program last fall. This has proved of such interest that there were over 400 applicants for the 60 places in the class which will be entering in the fall of 1972.

Newton High School students attending the Open House were: Elizabeth Carey, Marie Carten and Denise Breton.

SISTERHOOD MEMBERS at Temple Emeth will attend their 30th luncheon next Wednesday in the Krasner - Housman auditorium. This year's event will feature a sherry hour with Unique Boutiques, a gourmet lunch and Stan Porter for entertainment. In charge of hostesses is Mrs. Benjamin Perlmuter, left; Adviser, Mrs. Philip Goldstein and Luncheon Chairman Mrs. Arthur Bass, right.

"Without atomic energy, civilization as we know it, will cease."

These are the words of Glenn Seaborg, one of the foremost authorities on the peacetime uses of the atom and former head of the AEC.

What he is referring to is the energy crisis that faces all industrialized societies.

Quite simply: our need for power is increasing while our supply of natural fuel resources is decreasing.

These are the fossil fuels that cannot be replaced. If we keep using them up at our present rate of growth, they will in time be virtually exhausted.

Boston Edison believes that we must conserve these resources. One way to do just that is here. Nuclear power.

Boston Edison is building a nuclear power generating plant in Plymouth: Pilgrim Station.

In all, three nuclear power plants are now in operation in New England and three others are under construction. And six additional nuclear plants have been announced for the future.

New England produces only 4 percent of the total electric energy of the United States but has turned out 25% of all nuclear power produced to date in the country.

Why nuclear plants?

One reason, we believe, is that nuclear power is the most realistic hope we have at this time of generating electric power in the quantities people will need.

Without stripping the nation of its resources. Without doing serious injury to the environment.

Family Doctor Has Become A Specialist Too

Specialization has made the family doctor a vanishing breed, but at the University of California Medical Center, family medicine training is not only alive and well but a specialty in itself.

According to Dr. Herbert Vandervoort, the head of the UC family medicine program, the pendulum in medical schools is swinging toward a return to family doctor training.

"Studies indicate that about 80 per cent of diseases can be treated by a GP General Practitioner," Vandervoort said. "And a lot of people graduating now want to go into family medicine."

A family medicine specialty was created in 1969 by the American Medical Association, and since then 30 students in each graduating class at UC, or about 25 per cent, have named it as their choice.

"There has been a void due to the trend toward specialization," Vandervoort said in explaining why the family doctor has been disappearing from the medical scene.

"And there has been a myth that GPs were toward the bottom of the academic pole in medical school. Students got the idea that the GP is out there doing a lot of lousy work," he said. "That's just not so."

Support Increases

Another UC family medicine faculty member, Dr. Donald Pansom, said the trend toward family medicine was due to a combination of increased support from medical and government officials, a demand by patients for more personalized care, and more socially conscious medical students.

"But practitioners have also discovered that some of the old models just don't work anymore," Pansom said. "The shift to family medicine is like the shift to ecology."

The family medicine program at UC combines classroom instruction, on-the-job training with family doctors in the San Francisco Bay area and a family practice residency that allows a doctor to bypass his internship and concentrate on family care at a hospital.

A UC freshman medical student can choose family medicine as one of six specialty areas and begin his training by taking a basic course in family medicine.

"We limited the freshman class to 30 students, but 50 wanted in," Vandervoort said.

A student in the freshman class, Lucia Cies, said she was looking for a "new method of reaching people."

"The family doctor concept was an alternative to the clinic model or the teamwork method now being practiced by many doctors," she said. While in the freshman course, the students can volunteer for preceptorships — actually working with a practicing family doctor.

One Family Study

While working with the practicing doctor from six to nine months, the student is assigned one particular family for special study.

"We expect a very detailed report on that family," Vandervoort said. "Some students become very close to the families, and even after the course ends, they continue to keep in touch with them."

The students in the preceptorships are offered a choice of working with a doctor in an urban minority area, an urban majority, a suburban, or rural practice. Vandervoort said the students have selected these options in about equal numbers.

After the basic freshman course, the students can take advanced courses in such subjects as family counseling. At the junior level, some students actually do family counseling at the UC Hospital family clinic.

After graduation, the doctor can apply for a family practice residency related to a university, such as UC's program at Sonoma County Hospital in Santa Rosa, north of San Francisco.

"We have 18 residents at Sonoma, with six slots opening each year," Vandervoort said. "We have 60 applicants for those six slots."

The residency at Santa Rosa focuses on the family practice in a rural, isolated situation, but Vandervoort said a second family practice residency will begin operating this year at San Francisco General Hospital and will specialize in training family doctors for urban areas.

Sally Esquivel, John Corso Wed; to Live in New York

Making their home on Staten Island, New York, are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. John Corso, who were married on Saturday (April 15) in St. Ignatius Church in Chestnut Hill.

The bride, the former Sally Ann Esquivel, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert F. Esquivel of Acacia Ave., Chestnut Hill, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Giacomo Corso of Staten Island, New York.

Performing the ceremony was the Rev. Stephen J. Strouse, New York, formerly of the Congregation of the Mission in Panama, who also baptised the bride while her family was in residence in Almirante, Panama.

For her wedding, she chose a full length gown with high neckline and long sleeves. It was fashioned in A-line with full train and applied with Alencon lace. A bouffant veil of illusion was attached to a matching crown and she carried a traditional bridal bouquet.

Attending her in a gown of pink and white, was her sister Miss Martha Stella Esquivel of Chestnut Hill while Mr. Carmine Cipoletti of New

"Without atomic energy, civilization as we know it, will cease."

These are the words of Glenn Seaborg, one of the foremost authorities on the peacetime uses of the atom and former head of the AEC.

What he is referring to is the energy crisis that faces all industrialized societies.

Quite simply: our need for power is increasing while our supply of natural fuel resources is decreasing.

These are the fossil fuels that cannot be replaced. If we keep using them up at our present rate of growth, they will in time be virtually exhausted.

Boston Edison believes that we must conserve these resources. One way to do just that is here. Nuclear power.

Boston Edison is building a nuclear power generating plant in Plymouth: Pilgrim Station.

In all, three nuclear power plants are now in operation in New England and three others are under construction. And six additional nuclear plants have been announced for the future.

New England produces only 4 percent of the total electric energy of the United States but has turned out 25% of all nuclear power produced to date in the country.

Why nuclear plants?

One reason, we believe, is that nuclear power is the most realistic hope we have at this time of generating electric power in the quantities people will need.

Without stripping the nation of its resources. Without doing serious injury to the environment.

Gourmet Gala At French Center

This year's Gourmet Gala at the French Center on Marlborough street, Boston, is being held next Tuesday (May 2nd) beginning at 10 a.m. A number of Newton women are assisting the Center with arrangements for this affair and planning to attend.

A gourmet luncheon in the French tradition will be the main event along with tables of French pastries, casseroles and other delicacies which will be for sale. Hand-sewn articles and a fashion show will also be offered along with champagne for the enjoyment of the patrons.

Newton members of the Brookline Hospital Women's Auxiliary are working on the clothes," he added, "are a reaction against the sloppiness of the '60s."

Another luncheon highlight, according to chairman Mrs. Bernice Johnson of Newton, will be the presentation of nursing scholarships. Three recipients from Northeastern University College of Nursing will be on hand for the award ceremonies. Representing the College will be Dean Juanita Long. The awards will bring to $15,000 the amount of scholarship funds given by the Auxiliary thus far.

The Oscar Boutique show is being arranged through Saks Fifth Avenue of Boston and will be the first presentation of his new spring line. In Boston last week to address the Boston Fashion Group, the youthful-looking designer told an audience of fashion experts, "The '70s will be a decade of quality clothes worn with impeccability. Sane clothes," he added, "are a reaction against the sloppiness of the '60s."

Oscar, a native of the Dominican Republic, is considered one of America's leading designers not only in the field of women's apparel but also in men's wear, furs, jewelry and home furnishings.

Program chairman for the luncheon is Mrs. Leon Markoff of Newton.

The Friends Of The Jackson Homestead To Meet May 11

The Friends of the Jackson Homestead, Newton's city-owned museum, will meet on Thursday evening, May 11, for their annual meeting and election of officers.

The meeting will take place at the Homestead, 527 Washington street.

The Annual Reports submitted by committee chairmen will be presented by Mrs. Harry Walen, Secretary of the Friends of the Jackson Homestead. The annual financial report will be presented by Mrs. Dwight Colburn, Treasurer.

The Nominating Committee, which will bring in its report at this meeting, is composed of Mrs. Alex R. Miller, Chairman, Miss Helen L. White, and Mrs. Norman Kattwinkel.

Following the business meeting Harry Walen, educator and former Newton Alderman, will give an illustrated talk, "An Orient Adventure." A social hour will follow.

The Homestead's Spring Journal, edited by Miss Betsy Allen, was sent with the notice of meeting to all Friends of the Jackson Homestead.

Couples Club Spring Fling

A Spring Fling will be the theme of the evening for the Temple Emanuel Couples Club of Newton. On Saturday, May 6 at 8 p.m. Temple Emanuel Couples Club will hold its last social of the season at the Community Hall, 385 Ward Street, Newton Centre.

The evening is free to paid up members, and all are invited to attend. Dancing will be to Les Smith's band and a late supper served by the famous Glickman's.

Tiger Nine Splits Two; Austin Wins vs. Brookline

By DAVID SOLOMON

Newton High's baseball team split two close games last week, to bring their league record to 2-1. On April 18 Newton was edged 3-2 at Weymouth North. On April 21, Newton topped Brookline 4-2 at Lincoln Field.

The team that scored first, The first run scored on two ended up losing both games. errors. Paul Austin came in to Newton scored two runs in the second inning against two men to prevent any other Weymouth. Russell D'Argen- damage. He gave up only two ton singled and eventually scored on a wild pitch. Bob Notartomaso got to first on a fielder's choice, and after Tom King walked, scored on a single by Dave Boyajian.

Weymouth North scored once in the third inning. Bob Buckley singled, went to se- con on a passed ball and then scored on an unsuccessful pickoff attempt by Steve Zimbel. Weymouth scored two runs in the seventh, one on a fly to right which was walk, a sacrifice, and a single, and the other when catcher Tom King couldn't handle a pitch which was missed on a bunt attempt.

Newton had six hits in the game and Weymouth North had only four. Weymouth North also had more errors, 2. Steve Zimbel and Paul Austin did the pitching for the Tigers. Zimbel had four walks and two strikeouts.

Brookline opened the scoring lead in the first inning. Newton had six hits, and in the first and second innings.

Newton Stickmen Massacre Milton Academy 18-1

By DAVID SOLOMON

It was never even close. Newton took a 5-1 lead in the first period, and by the end of the fourth the score stood at 18 - 1. Milton Academy was clearly crushed.

This was the first game of the season for the Newton High lacrosse team. Coach Tom DePeter commented that "It was a good game. Milton is a strong team . . . I was particularly happy with the team's play today. Tradition- ally Newton has received a lot of penalties, but we had only three today. I hope that will continue."

Co-captains Wally Cox and Mark Herendeen led the Newton scoring ledger. Each had four goals, Cox from his forward position, and Heren- deen as a midfielder. Ben Friedell had two goals, with Paul Bianchi, Fred Whoriskey, and Wally Cox at attack.

NHS Golf Team Set To Start Suburban League Schedule

By DAVID SOLOMON

Newton High's golf team played in two multi- team matches on the Cape last week, and came away looking good. "Judging from the Cape results, I think we'll do pretty well during the season," commented Tiger coach Jim Ronayne.

On April 19 Newton won a Johnston had three as a team, three - team match at Dan Curtis and Paul Pocasset. The Tigers topped Johnston 4-2 and Milton 5-1. Dan Curtis is presently number one man for Newton.

The following day, a jam- boree at Pocasset was fourth, Bill Tramotozi fifth, postponed in the middle due to Paul Kenyan sixth, and two rain. There were eight teams sophomores, Kevin Ball and competing in the match, and John Carvelli are battling it most of the 63 boys were able out for the seventh position, to complete nine holes. Of other boys on the team are those who did go eighteen Dan Johnston, Hughie Curtis had the second best McDonald, Jim Comeau and score, an 81. In team scoring Melrose was first and Newton was second. Haverhill, Canton, Brockton, Auburn, Barnstable, Brockton. Ronayne said that and Xaverian also took part.

Two weeks earlier, on April 4, Newton beat Duxbury 6-3 in Thorny Lee - I think we'll have a dual match at Bourne. Jim Coleman had the best score, a one of our toughest league three over par. He and Paul Kenyan earned two points for the the Tigers. Mike Bove and Jim other top teams in the state.

Newton North Little League Opens Saturday

The team rosters are complete, the managers and coaches are brimming with energy, and Newton North Little League is ready to play ball.

Opening Day is this Satur- day, April 29th at Albermarle Field. A Bake Sale will com- mence at 10 a.m. at the Field House and continue all day. The committee hopes that every mother will donate something in the line of bak- ed goods and bring them to the Field House prior to 10 a.m.

Team pictures will be taken in the morning fol- lowed by motorcade Parade at 11:30 a.m. which will start at Albermarle and wind through the district. The committee urges parents to plan on joining the parade with their cars to make this a successful opening day celebration.

Senator Irving Fishman will throw out the first ball to begin the opening game at 1 p.m. between the Cardinals and Dodgers and at 4 p.m. the Indians will play the Orioles.

Members of the 1972 Newton North Little League Board of Directors are: Frank Fitzpatrick, President and members Micky Boya- jian, Joe Calabro, Joe Capalbo, Jr., Bill Connell, Don Cullison, Ben Corsi, Joe Farina, Joe Fucci, Paul Guzzi, Frank Leary, Art Karas, Jim Murphy, and Bob Roche.

Injuries Hit Newton South Tennis Team

Newton South's opening day 3-2 upset tennis victory over Newton High proved to be very costly. Jack Starr, who teams with Jim Oppenheim in first doubles, twisted his knee and aggravated an old soccer injury. Doctors predict he will be sidelined for the season.

Coach Bob Franke was disturbed over Starr's injury. "The win over Newton was fantastic," he said, "but now it looks like one of those win one, lose the season deals. Starr's injury is a real shame."

Ben Cohen will be Starr's tentative replacement, but has a rugged task confronting him, especially since, as Franke notes, Starr and Op- penheim complement each other so well.

The Lions' two scheduled non-league matches with Winchester and Roxbury Latin were both called because of rain, last week. They will not be made up.

South opens defense of its Dual County League title, this week, with matches against Weston, Bedford and Lincoln Sudbury.

The South-Billerica game was close for most of the con- test, and, in fact, Billerica led, 1-0, after four innings. The Lions tied it in the fifth, and went ahead, but only by 2-1, after six innings.

South's first big explosion came in the seventh inning when the club erupted for three runs and a secure lead. The eighth inning was anti- climactic, but plenty of fun for the Lions. They exploded for five runs. Steve Schertzer, and Mark Fogel in relief, combined to throw a three-hitter at the visitors.

Newton South had a rougher time with Boston Latin. The Lions carried the lead through most of the game, but Latin scored two runs on a double in the top of the ninth to go ahead for the first time since the first inning. With the pressure on, the Lions, paced by centerfielder Elliot Loew's opposite field double, came back and earned the tie.

South opens defense of its Dual County League pennant this week with games against Weston, Bedford, and Lincoln Sudbury.

Gallagher Unsung Hero For New England College

Henniker, N.H. — Mike Gallagher of 3 Fayette St., Newton, has been voted recipient of the 1971-72 Unsung Player Award by the New England College basketball team.

Gallagher, a senior at the four-year liberal arts college in southern New Hampshire, was presented the award by head basketball coach George Hamilton at the recent winter sports breakup dinner. A guard and veteran of four years of varsity play, Gallagher this past season boosted his career scoring total beyond the 1,000 mark, becoming the first player in NEC's 26-year history to complete the feat.

Newton Recreation News

Samuel Crocetti, Executive Director of the Newton Boys' Club is a happy man these days and with good reason. Teams representing the Boys' Club in the Newton City Basketball League made a clean sweep, winning playoffs in three divisions. According to Recreation Supervisor William J. Barry, this is the first time this has been done.

The Boys' Club took the American B Title, defeating Silver Lake Electronics two straight, 72 to 67 and 74 to 67. The Newton Boys' Club teams also won in the National and Pony Leagues.

Barry announces that the Newton Twilight Softball League will open May 8 with a full complement of 24 teams. The League has three divisions of eight teams. The teams in A Division are Art Carroll, Troubadour, Pop Bryant Club, West Newton Athletic Association, Auburndale Athletic Club, St. Bernards, Capello Bros. and Star Market.

B Division teams are the Telephone Co., 349 Club, Oak Hill, Pat's Restaurant, Knights of Columbus, Elks, Stumblebums and T ??? ? ? ? Chemical.

C Division - The Beginnings, McCarthy's Ezzo, Shamrocks, Riverside Lanes, NCP Club, the MD Club, St. Regis Paper and George's Cafe.

This adult league, 17 years and older, has 17 men on each team. Including coaches and official well over 500 people participate.

Each team plays a 21 game schedule running through the last of July followed by the playoffs with the first four teams in each division eligible to compete. Regular season games are played Monday through Friday nights throughout the City. A two- game is played at Albermarle each night followed by a game under the lights. Two - games are played at the other playgrounds.

Barry notes that the present diamond facilities limit the League to 24 teams although additional teams did apply.

He reports that Hank Henry, former New England Softball pitching ace will hold softball

South Baseball Team Wins Opener Over Billerica 10-2

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN

Assistant Sports Editor

The Newton South baseball team prepped for its Dual County League opener, last week, with a 10-2 rout of Billerica and a 5-5 nine-inning tie with Class A Boston Latin.

The South-Billerica game was close for most of the con- test, and, in fact, Billerica led, 1-0, after four innings. The Lions tied it in the fifth, and went ahead, but only by 2-1, after six innings.

South's first big explosion came in the seventh inning when the club erupted for three runs and a secure lead. The eighth inning was anti- climactic, but plenty of fun for the Lions. They exploded for five runs. Steve Schertzer, and Mark Fogel in relief, combined to throw a three-hitter at the visitors.

Framingham Falls 4-2

Linn Leads South High Lacrosse Team To Win

By LEWIS H. FREEDMAN
Assistant Sports Editor

Roy Linn tallied four goals to propel the Newton South High lacrosse team to its best start in history with victories over Moses Brown, 4-2, and Framingham South, 4-3, last week.

The young Lions surprised and blasted three straight goals to give South the decision.

In the second win, the Lions built a strong early lead of 4-1, on scores by Linn, Paul Murphy, John Bell, and Mark Dixey. Dixey's goal proved to be the game-winner. Framingham, sparked by Jim Curran's two goals, gave the Lions a scare in the fourth period, but they hung on to record their second straight win. The score reading, 2-1 Moses Brown, senior Linn took over time.

Newton Singles Players Key In 3-2 Net Win Over Weston

By DAVID SOLOMON

Three to two may not be as impressive a score as 5-0, but it is nevertheless a win. And Newton's win over Weston last Wednesday was just as important as their 5-0 victory over the same team in the quarter finals of last year's E Mass Tournament.

After losing to South last week, Newton needed a good win to get them back in the groove and to get ready for the crowded schedule of the rest of the season (eighteen matches in twenty-five school days).

Newton swept the singles matches against Weston, and this accounted for their 3-2 win. Richard Birmingham topped Barnaby Kalen 8-6, 6-3 in the number one spot. In second singles Tom Fatin beat Mike Hooven 6-1, 7-5. And in the decisive third singles match David Solomon outlasted Jeff Broderick by a 7-5, 8-6 score. A strong serve and consistent play accounted for this point.

In a reversal of normal oc- curances, Weston swept the doubles matches. Don Abeen and Scott Carney topped Steve Shulman and Matt Schreiner 6-3, 10-8. In second and it may mean a lot."

Tiger Tracksters Lose In Debut To Weymouth North

By DAVID SOLOMON

Winning track meets has been a tradition at Newton High for a long time. It is almost an assumption. But this year Newton is definitely not as strong as in the past, and they dropped their opener to Weymouth North last Tuesday. The score was a close 72 1/3 - 67 2/3.

Friday and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday; and at the clay courts at Burr Park, Park Street, Newton, weekday evenings; mornings and after- noons on weekends.

The lighted tennis courts at Newton South High School, Brandeis Road, Newton Centre will have an attendant on duty from 7 to 10 p.m., Monday through Friday with a reser- vation system in effect during these hours. A tennis permit is necessary to play on the above listed courts. Newton residents may purchase season permits from the attendants on duty at these courts or from the Recreation Department office 70 Crescent street, Auburndale. The fee for adult permits is $5.00 this season by vote of the Recreation Com- mission. Student fee remains at $1.00. Use of other courts are free to the public. The cooperation of the public is requested in keeping off clay courts when they are wet and in not overlightening the tennis nets. This will help save maintenance costs for repairs and service, Penney noted.

Following is a listing of the location of the public tennis courts maintained by the Newton Recreation Department:

Our Lady's Nine Drops 3 In Row

The Our Lady's baseball team would just as soon forget about last weekend which saw the Lancers lose three consecutive games but some- how they won't. There are bad games, hopeless games and times when teams just meet up with an exceptional pitcher. The Lancers experienced all three in losses Friday, Satur- day, and Monday. The only possible good coach Paul Car- roll could see was that maybe the young team learned from their mistakes.

On Friday the Lancers literally fell apart in the field, at bat and on the mound. The pitching staff was racked for thirteen runs, the infield made eight miscues and the team collected a mere 2 hits in drop- ping a 13-2 verdict at the en- joyment of cross town rival St. Columbkille's High. Senior lefthander Mike Buckley's offspeed pitches silenced the O. L. bats as only John Moran's single in the fourth and a double by Bob McDonald in the sixth were the only safeties. Columbkille's however scored all that was needed in the first as three runs crossed home on four hits.

The Lancers were home Saturday as Hudson Catholi- c invaded Cabot Park. This time the Lancers struck first as they picked up a run in the first and second innings while Kevin Haley struck out five of the first six outs as it ap- peared the Lancers were going to have an easy time of it. However chaos broke out in the third which saw the Green Wave collect six runs on three hits, a walk and four errors. John D'Amica singled leading off the third. Stephen Adams walked and Dave Burns re- reached on an error filling the bases. With the infield in Dave Mascierelli hit a grounder to shortstop which Fran Healey muffed for an error scoring the first Hudson run. A passed ball scored number two and a terrific three run clout which hit the building behind the fence in left field was tagged by Ruben Martinez clearing the bases. An error by Rick Paglia and a single ac- counted for the sixth run. O.L. wasn't about to give up. Their reaction came in the fourth which they scored five runs to take the lead. John Moran singled and scored on a double by Healy. A walk and a double by Tony Colella scored another. John Bartielli received a free pass filling the bases. Kevin Haley then pulled off a suicide squeeze and when pitcher Ray Lambert threw to first the ball went into right field sending home the Lancers fifth run of the game. A single by Paglia tied the score and Gary Bearfield's double put O.L. out in front. Hudson put the game out of reach in the sixth on a single by D'Amico, a walk to Adams and a run scor- ing infield hit by Martinez after the runners advanced on a sacrifice bunt. The final tally came on a single by Mike Shay. The infield hit by Martinez was the game clincher as the scoring ended 9-7.

First inning blues by righthander Fran Healey was the only problem of the game Monday against St. Clements of Somerville as the Lancers dropped a 5-0 decision. All runs came in the unsettled first in- ning as Healey was tagged for two doubles, a single, a walk and a couple of errors. After the first Jim Byrne and Healey pitched one of the best games of the young season. Byrne struck out nine and relin- quished just three hits in retir- ing the last eleven men to face him. Healey on the other hand gave up just one more hit in shutting out the opponents the rest of the way. He struck out eight. The Lancers are 1-3 as they will try to get on the win track Thursday when they will host Arlington Catholic.

In the other running events, Peter Waxman and Joe Morella were second and third in the 100. Jim Shaw was definitely missed. Jim Schpeiser came in second in the 440. And in the mile Ken Gorfinkle was second and David Kingsbury.

Newton ended up losing the meet in the relay. Weymouth ran a 1:35 time to top the Tigers' Peter Waxman, Paul Magliocca, Jim Schpeiser, and Dave Douglas.

Newton coach Ed Boyle commented about the meet that "We lost the meet in the events we didn't feel we should lose, like the pole vault. If we had been able to take second in the long jump and the triple jump we would have won the meet. Our lack of depth, which we knew we had, really showed through today. . . We had a tremendous performance from Carleo.

It was the fastest two - mile he's ever run and he looked very good. Seaward also looked good, getting his highest jump ever." Marc Seligman also threw his furthest ever in the javelin.

Newton's meet with Arl- ington was cancelled last Thursday due to the weather. It was re - scheduled for some time this week.

Official Pays Return Visit To Rumford Dump

The chief sanitary engineer of the State Environmental Health Division has paid a return visit to the Rumford Avenue Dump and was reported "pleased" with the city's progress.

Newton's clean-up efforts have forestalled the issuance of a state citation which could have cost the city over $100 for every day it spent in violation of state standards.

Chief Sanitary Engineer Victor Kerian first visited the Rumford site on March 29 and warned city officials a citation would be issued if the dump was not cleaned up. The Board of Aldermen subsequently appropriated $76,000 for a sanitary landfill operation, and work has been proceeding since early April.

Vandalism At NSH Reported By Principal

Newton South High School Principal William D. Geer, Jr. arose in the audience at the Monday night meeting of the Newton School Committee to elaborate on questions from Member Alvin Mandell regarding broken windows at the institution last weekend.

The damage has an effect on the "trial period" granted to students to use the school parking lot as a gathering place.

"There were 20 windows broken," said Geer, requiring $1,048 to replace. "It was a planned act of vandalism," he stressed.

Students may congregate there between 6 and 10 p.m., but the Principal felt the windows were not broken during this period. He said that the police patrol did not discover anything amiss at 10 p.m.

Maintenance men at the High School found the smashed windows early Saturday morning. Mandell asked about the feasibility of a police watch after 10 p.m. to try to stave off similar acts of vandalism, but Geer claimed that it was a "difficult spot" to patrol, being in an isolated area.

The trial period as a gathering place was supposed to last 45 days starting April 1, or about another two and one-half weeks. The students, concluded Geer, "want someplace to go and they're worried about the broken windows and what effect this will have on the situation."

Wo'dworking Class Holds Awards Event

On April 14, an exhibit and awards program took place at Emerson School, Newton Upper Falls. Twenty boys in grades five and six took part in the woodworking class two afternoons a week under the guidance of Gordon Westwater.

This program is under the sponsorship of the Newton Recreation Department, supervised by Senior Recreation Supervisor James E. Murphy.

Three trophies are given each year by the department to the boy who shows the most improvement in his work; second trophy to the boy who produces exceptional quality of work, and third trophy to the boy judged to be the expert in the class.

This year's winners were: Expert Trophy — Tommy Osborn; Quality Trophy — Jay Borges; and Most Improved — Eddie DeMichele.

Present at the ceremonies were Donald Welch, Principal, Gordon Westwater, Miss Catherine Harney and Mrs. Margaret L. Paulin, all from the staff at Emerson School. Representing the Recreation Department were James E. Murphy and Ralph W.E. Hamilton.

Cookies and tonic were enjoyed by the boys at the conclusion of the ceremonies.

Exhibit Art At Brookline Show

Ruth Golub and Charlotte Lockwood, two Newton artists who exhibit extensively, are exhibiting currently at the National Shawmut Bank in Brookline. This show will last until May 1. It includes graphics and water-colors.

Each artist has her own distinctive style. They operate an art studio in West Newton where their students are taught a variety of techniques. Classes are run concurrently with the public school calendar, and a seven-week summer class will start the end of June and continue until the third week in August. There is one night class, mainly for people who work and cannot attend morning classes. A tour of a local museum once a month is included in the schedule.

On Saturday, May 27, from 2 to 6 p.m., the students of the Golub-Lockwood Art Studio will have an outdoor exhibit at 28 Brough Park, Newtonville. The public is cordially invited. For further information call 244-1872 and 891-8559.

Local Students Play In Program At Nursing Home

Orchestra members from the Meadowbrook Jr. High brought their instruments to Braeburn Nursing Home, Waban Square, one morning recently. The program featured many traditional dance pieces.

James Maxey, Conductor, was accompanied by Ellen Kazis, Karen Burnz, Jeff Bellin, Jeff Karol, Mary Ellen Bower, David Frim, and Aylane Green, all playing violins; Amy Ellen Kaufman, Debby Green and Gerald Frim on flutes; Roger Cohen, Michael Miller and John Edenfield playing clarinets and Sylvia Kamowitz at the piano.

In an afternoon program art students from Meadowbrook Junior High with Willard Robinson, art director demonstrated various art techniques to the residents of Braeburn.

The students gave explanations and passed among the residents with paintings, answering questions. The residents were given pictures for their rooms.

Leslie Medoff, student teacher, assisted with the program.

Publishes Story In Yankee Mag.

The May issue of Yankee magazine carries a story titled "The Wood Will Come or the Weather Will Moderate" by Abigail Ann Hamblen of Newton. The article explores the relationship between author Louisa May Alcott and her father, Amos Bronson Alcott, and the influence he held over her life and work.

Mrs. Hamblen earned her B. A. degree from Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa and her M.A. at the University of Nebraska. She has done editorial work with a publishing company and her hobbies are reading and writing. She has written for many periodicals including N.E. Quarterly, N.E. Galaxy, Mark Twain Journal and Western Humanities Review. She is also the author of several novels.

Yankee magazine is a monthly publication of Yankee, Inc. in Dublin, N.H.

Cosgrove Interviewed For Post Of Newton Assessor

Thirty-one-year-old Joseph G. Cosgrove, Mayor Theodore D. Mann's nominee for the vacant post of assessor, was interviewed by the Aldermanic Finance Committee behind closed doors Thursday night.

Cosgrove, a former insurance agent, has had his own real estate office in West Newton for the last two months, and has worked as a real estate broker for one year.

As background for the $13,645 job, he cited a 1963 degree in business administration from Boston College, a degree from Portia Law School (now renamed New England School of Law), and the experience of having built four homes and renovated several others, which he said gave him a good idea of market value. He asserted that he has been buying and selling houses and speculating in real estate over the last seven or eight years.

"This will be a learning experience for me," he declared prior to meeting with the Finance Committee. "I thought it would be a good opportunity, both for myself and to enter a field which will be open to a lot of criticism," he added. He says he would be schooled by the other assessors, and will take classes to learn the field of assessing.

Cosgrove remarked that he is new to politics, and doesn't know yet if he will like it, but that his father, Charles H. Cosgrove, served on the Board of Aldermen with present Mayor Theodore Mann in the early 1960's.

While in executive session, the Finance Committee reportedly offered Cosgrove an alternate position, such as assistant assessor. Finance Committee Chairman Sidney T. Small confirmed reports that the committee had suggested appointing Cosgrove in a different capacity, but did not specify the position for which he was being recommended.

Small, questioned as to why the interview was held in executive session, assured reporters that there were "absolutely no" comments on the nominee's moral character or reputation. The state open meeting law forbids the calling of an executive session except in the case of matters "which might adversely affect the public interest of the city, or the reputation of any person."

Small stated, that the interview was held in executive session as a precaution in case matters which could cause embarrassment might be brought up.

Special Meeting At Union Church

The annual Men's Club Congregation Night will be held this evening (Thursday, April 27) at the Union Church in Waban, beginning with dinner served at 6:30 in the vestry. This is the special meeting of the year to which the entire congregation is invited.

President Dr. Kenneth M. Greene of Lasell Junior College will be the guest speaker, discussing hopeful indications in higher education in the topic "Putting the Pieces Together." Dr. Greene graduated from Brown University and earned his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in English at Columbia University.

President of the Men's Club Robert D. Blakeslee will preside at the meeting.

Chet Huntley Will Address Realty Group

Former NBC newscaster Chet Huntley will be the guest speaker Wednesday, May 17 at a luncheon at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton, sponsored by the Make America Better Committee of the Massachusetts Association of Real Estate Boards.

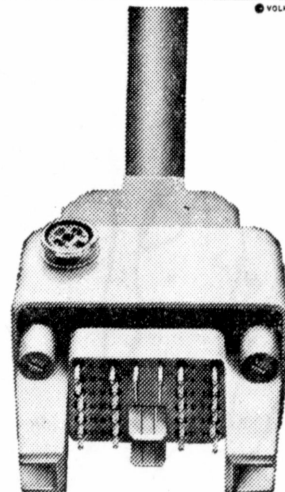

Committee Chairman John M. Peckham, 3rd, president of Data Realty Corp., says Huntley will speak on the future of our cities and towns.

Peckham also noted that the luncheon will feature the presentation of special awards to local Boards of Realtors in Massachusetts by the Make America Better Committee.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by contacting the Massachusetts Association of Real Estate Boards, Prudential Tower, Boston. The luncheon is open to the public.

This is a plug for Volkswagen.

Volkswagen is the world's first plug-in car. No, we're not putting you on. We mean it. Every 1972 VW has a built-in system of sensor points spread throughout the car. They're in the critical areas, like the electrical system and the engine. And they all connect with a socket in the engine compartment of the car.

When that socket is plugged into a computer, the computer automatically checks things like ignition, compression, wheel alignment. All without any chance of human error.

When it's done—and it doesn't take very long—the results are printed out in plain English. Sixty vital service checks. You can read them and discuss them right on the spot with the mechanic.

The world's first plug-in car comes into its own starting later this year when the computer comes on at your Volkswagen dealer's.

If you buy one now, you'll be all set when it happens.

Jaycees To Give Scholarship To Newton Student

NEWTON MAN TO BE HONORED — Dr. Irving Glickman of Manor House Rd., Newton, Tufts University authority on diseases of the gums, will be the guest of honor at an Appreciation Dinner held by the Alumni Association of the Tufts School of Dental Medicine at 8:30 p.m. this coming Sunday night, April 30, in the Colonnade Hotel in Boston.

The Newton Jaycees have announced a scholarship award for a graduating student of the Newton High Schools. Alan Katz, an attorney associated with a Boston firm, has been named as Scholarship Committee Chairman.

The award, according to Mr. Katz, will be given to the student who exemplifies high moral standards, outstanding character and has demonstrated responsible community involvement. The presentation will be made at graduating ceremonies on June 7 at the winner's high school.

Phil Casey, of the Newton-Waltham Bank & Trust Company, was named Activities Chairman to raise funds for the scholarship. Mr. Casey has made arrangements with Sam Cooper's Auburndale Service Center, 2015 Commonwealth Avenue, corner of Lexington Street in Auburndale, to hold a car wash this Saturday (April 29) between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. to raise the necessary funds.

Local Physicians Promoted Primary- At Harvard Medical School

Five physicians from the Newtons, all members of the Faculty of Medicine at Harvard University, have been promoted to professorships. It has been announced by Dr. Robert H. Ebert, Dean of Harvard Medical School.

The men, and their new positions, are: Dr. S. James Adelstein of Waban, Professor of Radiology; Dr. Stephen M. Krane of Waban, Professor of Medicine; Dr. Arthur J. Linenthal of Chestnut Hill, Professor of Medicine at the Beth Israel Hospital in Boston; Dr. John Edward Mack of Chestnut Hill, Professor of Psychiatry at Cambridge Hospital; and Dr. Harry Schwachman of Newton Centre, Professor of Pediatrics at the Children's Hospital.

Dr. Adelstein is currently the Director of the Division of Nuclear Medicine at both the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and the Children's Hospital Medical Center.

Born in New York City, Dr. Adelstein received the B.S. and M.S. degrees in physical biology in 1949 from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the M.D. degree in 1953 from Harvard, and the Ph.D. degree in biophysics in 1957 from MIT.

He is a Trustee of the Society of Nuclear Medicine and a member of these professional associations and societies: Biophysical Society, Association for Radiation Research, Radiation Research Society, American Society for Cell Biology and the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Krane, who serves as Chief of the Arthritis Unit at the Massachusetts General Hospital, has devoted the past 19 years of his professional life to research, teaching and patient care related to man's skeletal tissues.

Born in New York City, Dr. Krane received the A.B. degree in 1946 and the M.D. degree in 1951 from Columbia University. As a medical student at Columbia he was awarded the school's distinguished Janeway Prize.

He is a member of the Corporation, Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, a member and trustee of the Medical and Scientific Advisory Committee, Arthritis Foundation (Massachusetts Chapter), and a member of the Editorial Boards of the "Journal of Clinical Investigation" and "Arthritis and Rheumatism."

In 1963 Dr. Krane was Visiting Professor of Medicine at the University of Bahia, Brazil.

Born in Boston, Dr. Linenthal is certified by the American board of Internal Medicine, and he holds membership in the Massachusetts Medical Society, the American Academy of Child Psychiatry, the Association for the Psychiatric Treatment of Offenders, the American Group Psychotherapy Association and the Northern New England District Branch of the American Psychiatric Association.

He is also a member of the New England Council of Child Psychiatry, the Association for the Psychophysiological Study of Sleep, the Boston Psychoanalytic Society and Institute, Inc., and the Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry.

An internationally recognized authority in the field of cystic fibrosis, Dr. Shwachman recently relinquished his administrative responsibility for the direction of the clinical laboratories of the Children's Hospital Center (a post he held from 1946 to 1971) to involve himself full time in all aspects of cystic fibrosis and other nutritional disorders of infancy and childhood.

At the Children's Hospital Medical Center, Dr. Shwachman founded and developed the Chronic Nutrition Clinic which is recognized as one of the largest cystic fibrosis clinics in the U.S. He also has been an active participant in the teaching and patient care activities of the Hospital's medical service and tumor therapy division.

Hobby Show At The Pomroy House To Be Held Saturday

The Liquid Embroidery Crafts Clubs of Waltham, Newton and the surrounding suburbs, in conjunction with the Senior Citizens of the Rebecca Pomroy House, are sponsoring a Hobby Show, which will be held at the Pomroy House, 83 Eldredge St., Newton Corner this Saturday (April 29) from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Admission is free, and there will be door prizes. Students of these crafts will display their work that has been done during the past year.

Included in the display will be hand-painted items, including velvet paintings and hard surface paintings, as on metal trays and wood plaques. Both freehand and pre-stamped items will be included.

A large area will be devoted to Creative Bowcraft, and many beautiful and original bow creations may be seen. There will be many new ideas for weddings and graduations, in keeping with the season.

A completely new craft to be exhibited will be Paper Pottery, which deals with flat rolls of paper that can be telescoped and shaped into many shapes, such as covered pots, cornucopias, and even animal plaques. A special table will be set up where anyone interested may make a small item out of paper pottery and take it home with them.

Many crafts instructors from the area will be helping to set up and hostess the exhibit, which will also include displays from local nursing homes and senior citizen groups. Assisting Judy Chernin, who is managing the Hobby Show, are Betty Powers, Judy Phillips, and Joyce Ogilvie, all of Newton, and Rita Carroll of Waltham, as well as many crafts instructors from Boston, the North Shore and South Shore areas.

The work entered in the show will be judged before the opening, and ribbons will be awarded in many categories, including the various techniques of painting, paper pottery, and bowcraft, for adults, teens, children and senior citizens. From Newton, Peter Harrington, alderman from Ward 2 and candidate for State Representative, will help in judging the show.

It is hoped that many interested visitors from the area will attend the Hobby Show; the public is cordially invited. For further information, please call Mrs. Chernin of Newtonville.

Gay '90's Melodrama To Be Country Players' Next Hit

With the addition of two dozen Gay 90's tunes, a musical director, choral director and choreographer, the Newton Country Players have transformed their new 19th century melodrama, "Gold in the Hills or The Dead Sister's Secret," into a full-fledged vintage musical extravaganza.

Taking advantage of the abundance of talent available, including a chorus of 30 voices and a cast of 35, Director Danny Kosow of Chestnut Hill researched music popular during the 1890's, both nostalgic and naughty, and was able to cull 24 songs and place them into the script so as to enhance plot continuity.

He three-act romp riot of fun and frivolity, authored by J. Frank Davis, will be interlaced with community sing-alongs and seating will be cabaret-style with tables and chairs. Refreshments will also be available.

Performances are slated for Friday and Saturday evenings, May 5-6 and May 12-13, at 8 p.m., with an early curtain on Sunday, May 7, at 7 p.m., at the Rebecca Pomroy Playhouse, 84 Eldredge St.,

"The Girl Who Came to Supper," "No Strings" and "Jenny."

Included among the dancers are Ryna Jackson, Leslie Stone Koresky and Bethany Gilboard. A sophomore at Newton South, Miss Jackson has appeared in the title role of "Serendipity," the lead role of Julie Jordan in "Carousel" and in "Zorba."

Returning to the Players' after a lapse of four years is Leslie Koresky. Under their aegis, she essayed the roles of the model in "Can Can" and Antonine in "Sam Stiller, Private Eye." Other credits include the lead role of Nellie Furbush in "South Pacific," Blossom in "Artie Spring" and Lesel in "Sound of Music."

A senior at Newton High, Beth Gilboard has portrayed Olivia Stiller in "Sam Stiller, Private Eye" in both the fall and spring run for the Players. Her credits include Joan of Arc in "Chamber Music" the title role in "Anastasia," the daughter in "Dirty Work at the Crossroads," the thief in "Prince and the Pauper," a lady-in-waiting in "Grand Duchess of Gerolstein," and Maria in "Sound of Music" with two productions under the banner of the Magic Circle Theatre, Tufts University. She also appeared in the original multi-media musical "We Live in the City" for information concerning membership or theatre party reservations, phone 969-9737 or write PO Box 9, Newton Centre 02159.

A noted Newton hair stylist, Mr. Dellamano was engaged in his professional capacity for many years for the stars appearing at Carousel Summer Theatre, and was assistant stylist for the Broadway musical shows "Funny Girl,"

Our Lady's School Play

The senior class of Our Lady's High School in Newton will present Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" this Friday through Sunday (April 28-30) at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Students participating will be John Terry, Susan Whelton, Romaine Welch, James Russell, Anne Doucette, Carol Doucet, and others.

The three-act play is being produced and directed by Paul Murphy under special arrangement with Samuel French of New York. Admission is $1.50 per person; tickets may be purchased from and high school student in advance.

Benefit For The Blind On May 17

The Mater Dei Guild for All the Blind is having a Gourmet Luncheon and Fashion Show by Monet of Chestnut Hill at the Chateau de Ville in Framingham on Wednesday, May 17.

This Guild is a small part of the St. Paul's Rehabilitation Center at 770 Centre Street, Newton, which was the first civilian center in this country designed especially to meet the needs of that newly blinded adult. Their co-educational program gives trainees 15 weeks of concentrated rehabilitation training. It was founded in 1954 and it is absolutely inconceivable the "Miracles" they have performed.

Reservations may be obtained from Mrs. Joseph H. Enright or Mrs. Edward E. MacCourt, Turtle Lane, Dover, Chairmen.

Sundae Funday On April 30th

The Sisterhood of Temple Mishkan Tefila, 300 Hammond Pond Parkway, Chestnut Hill, will hold a Sundae Funday next Sunday (April 30) at the Temple Social Hall from 2 to 4 p.m. A special treat for each guest will be the opportunity to make their own Sundae as well as listening to Tony Saletan, folk singer and song leader, who will be the featured entertainment for the afternoon.

Mr. Saletan has been host on Come and See, a 13 month series for WGBH-TV; Sing Children Sing, a nationally distributed weekly music program, now distributed by the National Instructional Television Center; Circle of Lights, public television's holiday special hosted by Pete Seeger; and was the first guest to visit Sesame Street.

Working on the committee for Sundae Funday are Mrs. Melvin Wintman, chairman, Mrs. Arthur Sherman, Mrs. Alan Schwartz, Mrs. Buddy Gitlin, and Mrs. Melvin Rabinovitz.

Admission is $1 per person, and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Central Church Meeting May 3

The Annual Meeting of the Women's Association of Central Congregational Church of Newtonville will be held next Wednesday (May 3) at noon. The election of officers for the coming year and other business will take place in the Merrill Room, conducted by Mrs. Earl Alban, President.

Mrs. Donald Nabseth, Chairman of the Nominating Committee will present the new officers.

The luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. Mrs. George Bagnall is chairman of the event. Mrs. Richard Loud is in charge of the dining room. Table decorations will be provided by Mrs. Robert Monroe and Mrs. Kenneth Bernard.

The musical entertainment for the afternoon program at 2 p.m. will be called "the program with a lilt." Mrs. Almee Burpee Lush, a talented and versatile musician, especially as a whistler, will present a musical program called, "Tone and Tunes." Her whistling is unexcelled in range and tone and she will present musical comedy numbers as well as more familiar ones. A member of the Professional Women's Club of Boston, she is in demand as an unusual entertainer, full of inspiration and humor.

Devotions will be led by Mrs. Clarence Taylor. Reservations are to be made with Miss Alice Boyden by Monday, 244-7828.

Centenary College Luncheon Hostess

Miss Linda Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller of 422 Ward St., Newton Centre will serve as a hostess at a luncheon given by the Centenary College for Women in Hackettstown, N.J. for representatives from social work agencies.

Boston Dinner Opens Two-Day 50th Anniversary For School

An essential task of a secondary school is to instill honesty and virtue in their students, Pulitzer Prize winner Howard Mumford Jones told a gathering of more than 300 persons at a Sheraton Boston dinner last week kicking off a two-day 50th Anniversary fete of the Beaver Country Day School in Chestnut Hill.

"Honesty is one of the most difficult things to master in the history of education," said Jones, Pulitzer Prize winner and Abbott Lawrence Lowell Professor of Humanities, Emeritus, at Harvard.

Speaking at the formal Anniversary Dinner, Jones said that colleges can only take hold of what the secondary schools give them, and this is why schools such as Beaver should insist upon "intellectual and moral rigor."

Donald R. Nickerson, headmaster of the Chestnut Hill school, and Charles Buntingham Jr., president of the Beaver board of trustees, also spoke at the dinner.

Nickerson told the gathering that students today are seeking a different relationship to material and a different school environment, and that curriculum changes at Beaver "move toward a student's having a more intense and deeper involvement with the recorded experiences of man." "A major part of Beaver's future is a teaching staff that does not see itself as mere coverage staff, but rather as harm is done than good.

School Committee Given Presentation On Science

By RICHARD D. HULL

A live alligator, burning candles, and a slide showing Newton schoolchildren, Mr. DeWolf walked around the room with the alligator and challenged the School Committee members to count every one of Sylvester's 82 teeth. None of the members did, but they and the audience all had a chance to feel the skin of the animal.

The report was part of a continuing series of curriculum presentations being made to the School Committee. Earlier showings included the instructional usages of Cable television, and new developments in the mathematics program.

Participating in the event were the following members of the Division of Instructional Program: Miss Elinor Johnson, Elementary Science Supervisor; Daniel L. DeWolf, Elementary Science Coordinator; and Robert Kilburn, Science Coordinator for the Elementary and Junior High Schools.

Also speaking to the Committee members were Vincent Bronson, Acting Science Department Chairman of Newton South High School; and Jacob Skilken, Chairman of the Science Department at Newton North High School.

Miss Johnson discussed learning skills at the primary level. "Science is a process as well as an accumulation of factual ideas," she said; "We have much to offer the children." She passed around scientific guidelines used by the teachers in Newton elementary schools.

The alligator, yard-long male named Sylvester, was displayed by Mr. DeWolf as part of a discussion of the animals which are kept by the staff of the Instructional Program.

Holding the beast aloft in the middle of the room, Mr. DeWolf told of how individual teachers used to keep animals in their classrooms for extended periods of time, which he called "discouraging," as the children would lose interest in them after awhile.

Now, he says, his department cares for a variety of animals in one location, and loans them out to teachers at their requests.

To graphically illustrate the schooling.

Mr. Kilburn gave both the candle presentation and the slide showing, the first to demonstrate how the teachers encourage the pupils to analyze and interpret data. Each School Board member was given a candle to burn, and was instructed by Mr. Kilburn on the methods of regulating the smoke and flame.

The candles were only part of an entire program in junior high schools which exposed the youths to earth and physical sciences, it was emphasized.

The slides shown pictured students utilizing the facilities of the Instructor Program, feeding rabbits, caring for birds, and engaging in scientific and chemical experiments.

Chairman Jacob Skilken, of the Science Department at Newton North High School spoke of "bringing people closer together" with his curriculum. "Our interest is to introduce something different in Science Education," he said; "we now have an interest in Social Science and the Humanities."

Mr. Bronson, his counterpart at Newton South High School, told of moving into a "precision phase" from junior to senior high, when "students should expect a change of pace."

After learning the basics at a lower level, senior high school requires "an effort on the students' part to rework and reread," he asserted.

Mr. Bronson said he "placed a value on curriculum which teachers will follow through on." He emphasized that his department is committed to the development of organized study skills, and that "precision" reading is a necessary part of formal schooling.

Colin Diver To Address The Chamber Of Commerce

Colin S. Diver, Assistant Secretary of Consumer Affairs of Massachusetts, will address the 17th "Newton - Needham Chamber of Commerce Government and Business Forum" luncheon today at noon, (Thursday, April 27) at Valle's Restaurant, Route 9 in Newton.

Mrs. Mann is co-chairman of a special mental health month reception to be held at Newton Guidance Clinic.

Local Man Strangled In Boston

Edward L. Wolfe, 65, a Newton businessman and community leader, has been found strangled in an apartment he owns in the Roxbury section.

Wolfe, of 87 Yarmouth Rd., was found Tuesday night in a third floor apartment at 87 Roxbury St. Several pieces of rope were found near his body, police said.

He was last seen alive Tuesday morning when he left home to inspect repairs at the Roxbury St. building, damaged by fire two weeks ago.

Wolfe, president and treasurer of Amco Realty Co., of the Brighton section, was reported missing by his wife when he failed to return home for dinner.

Police said yesterday they had no suspects.

Store Owner To Give Away Books To Newlyweds

George Gloss of 39 Village Circle, Newton, owner of the Brattle Book Store in downtown Boston, will give away five books to the first 100 couples who can prove they were married during the month of April.

Newton newlyweds are eligible for the donation, which will include books on marriage, love poems, cooking, and interior decorating.

"It's open to the first 100, and they have to be able to show me they were married this month," said Gloss.

The giveaway will take place this Saturday (April 29), so couples should contact either the Brattle Book Store or Mr. Gloss in Newton at 969-4347 as soon as possible.

Fishman Notes Israeli Independence

In observance of the State of Israel's 24th Independence Day, Senator Irving Fishman of Newton reminded the Senate of its Resolutions commemorating this event.

Senator Fishman's remarks to the Senate were in part, "This honorable body adopted Resolutions on February 15 extending its greetings and best wishes to the State of Israel on its 24th Independence Day, which is being celebrated today, April 19.

May the spirit of free men which motivated those Patriots so long ago on the fields of Lexington and Concord and more recently in the Holy Land continue to live and grow as the hope of democracy and freedom on this Earth."

The Resolution passed earlier was forwarded by Senator Fishman to the State of Israel through the Israeli Consul General in Boston, The Honorable Moshe Ofer who has expressed the gratitude of the State of Israel to the Senate for its congratulations. 244-7688.

Mrs. Mann Chairman For Clinic Reception

Massachusetts.

During May, the clinic also will host a series of open houses for the general public. Films and discussions on different mental health topics will be featured, according to Mrs. George Rubin, president of the Newton Mental Health Assn. The association sponsors the clinic.

The reception will formally open the clinic's new facilities. Mrs. Francis W. Sargent, wife of the Governor of Massachusetts and Mrs. John M. Burgess, wife of the Episcopal Bishop of Massachusetts will serve as co-chairmen with Mrs. Mann. Several Newton aldermen and wives of Newton aldermen will serve on the honorary committee.

Mrs. Sargent has been named honorary chairman of the "May Is Mental Health Month" observations in Rubin said.

Art In Motion Program At PTA Council May 4th

What's happening in the arts in the Newton Schools will be featured at the "ART IN MOTION" program, the theme of the Newton PTA Council's Annual Spring Conference next Thursday evening (May 4) at the new Day Junior High School. The public is invited to attend and also be a "participant artist" at the program.

"Spectator" art will come in the group presentation, which will give an overview of the programs, followed by an "Oriental Bazaar" of art forms with demonstrations by students and teachers, in ceramics, sculpture, jewelry, printmaking, painting and drawing, batik and off-loom weaving.

"Participation" art will involve all guests who volunteer to contribute to the "Spring Garden" mural, which will be created by everyone present. Guests will bring their own tempora and chalk.

Coordinating the event will be Joseph O'Donnell of the Council Board. "Nourishing the arts is the prime aim for this program this year," notes Mr. O'Donnell. "Eloquently put by an anonymous art lover, 'A man who sees in Nature nothing but materiality, is no more an artist than he is a musician who, in one of Beethoven's symphonies, hears only noise...'"

Hopefully our young people and teachers will demonstrate to us that they are on their way to knowing the difference."

A "Dessert Smorgasbord" will be served at the end of the program; a 50 cent registration fee will be collected at the door. For further information contact Mrs. Louise Whitteley, 527-5468, S. Wendell Kravitz, 332-5084, or Mrs. Dorothy Lambert, 244-8236.

The changes which the League will support include: Modifying the seniority system, particularly by limiting the years a committee chairman may serve, giving committee members more control over committee operations, reviewing the total committee system in terms of current needs, and greater coordination of the budget and appropriations processes and the development of priority setting mechanisms.

Also included are: increasing professional staff available to Congressmen and committees and improving sources and flow of information, changing the cloture rule so that a three-fifths vote would cut off debate, and requiring open hearing and committee meetings to the fullest extent possible.

For further information regarding the League study of the U.S. Congress, please contact Mrs. Bonnie Orlin 244-9501. For further information regarding the League of Women Voters of Newton, please contact Mrs. Dora Bard, Senate for its congratulations. 244-7688.
